SOUTHERN NOTES.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

GENERAL PROGRESS AND OCCURRENCES WHICH ARE HAPPENING BELOW MASON'S AND DIXON'S LINE.

The Times-Democrat pronounces the gravel roads of New Orleans a success, and far preferable to the shell roads which were first tried. There were 1,140 negro exodusters on a special train that left Wilmington, N. C., Thursday night, all save fifty going to Mississippi. Thousands more will leave Goldsboro at once. While four boys, between the ages of six and eight years, were playing under the edge of a sand bank in Jackson, Tenn., on Tuesday, the bank caved in, burying them under about ten feet of sand. They were dead when extricated. At Richmond, Va., on Monday, Post-office Inspector G. W. Wilde arrested James P. Wright, a letter carrier in the Richmond postoffice, charged with robbery.

A dispatch from St. Louis, Mo., says that the stock of the St. Louis & North Western railway, valued at $15,000,000, was a total loss. Seventy barrels stored in the basement were buried under a brick building valued at $8,000,000. The stock of the St. Louis & North Western railway, valued at $15,000,000, was a total loss. ## HORSE THIEVES AT WORK.

A REGULARLY ORGANIZED BAND OPERATING IN TENNESSEE.

What amounts to a panic exists among the farmers of Davidson and adjoining counties in middle Tennessee. A splendidly organized band of horse thieves has been operating there for months without let or hindrance. It is estimated that within the last two weeks 200 horses have been stolen and run into Kentucky fastnesses, where it is next to impossible to follow them or the thieves. Not one of these animals has been recovered. Gen. W. H. C. Smith, of the famous "Fighting 6888 Central Postal Directory," is reported to have an abundance of horses for sale.

BUSINESS VIEW.

THE WEATHER OF THE WEEK.

R. G. Dunn, the weekly review of trade and business, is usual at the time of the year, but this year the pressure for the season is not quite so great as in previous years.

The Russian influenza, the genuine "La Grippe," has shown itself and probable head in Chicago, and already a large number of cases have been reported. All of these cases have shown unmistakable signs of Russian influenza, and some of them have developed into very serious ones. The "Grippe" is officially ignored at the sanitary headquarters in New York City. Unofficially, the representatives of the health department say that probably 50,000 people in New York are suffering from more or less severe attacks of influenza, but they refuse to give it official recognition. The disease seems to have found a goodly number of victims among the employees of the New York postoffice. Saturday's absences in the general office numbered sixty-five, and in many instances the sick list is expected to be larger.

A prominent physician of Philadelphia says: "There are fully 25,000 persons in this city being treated for influenza in some form or other. All class of citizens are numbered among its victims, and some of the leading business men of the city have been compelled to absent themselves from their places of business on account of the grippe."

The disease has also made its appearance in Detroit, Boston, Baltimore, New Brunswick, N. J., and Kansas City. At Detroit over five thousand are down with the disease. Fifty policemen, are that half the city's officers and their assistants, are laid up, and there is hardly store or factory in the city whose coal and working force is not seriously crippled.

A dispatch from Topeka, Kan., says the Farmers' Alliance, State Grange and Knights of Labor there have formed an offensive and defensive alliance according to the recommendation of the recent farmers' convention and Knights of Labor convention. ## THEY WILL REAP.

THE ADVENT OF THE BRAZILIAN REPUBLIC TO BE CELEBRATED APRIL 7TH.

Letters and papers from Brazil, under date of December 12th, say that the government has urged all political parties to constitute immediately some kind of representation from the different states in view of the rapidly increasing organization and prevailing discontent with the military dictatorship. The advent of the republic will be celebrated April 7th. Some citizens of St. Louis are already organizing a society to honor the new republic.

THE "LA GRIPPE."

INFLUENZA RAPIDLY SPREADING OVER THE COUNTRY.

MANY NORTHERN CITIES INVADED—ONE THIRD OF THE POPULATION OF PARIS DOWN WITH THE PLAGUE.

SOUTHERN HISTORY.

PAPERS READ BEFORE THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION.

The American Historical association, which has been holding its annual meetings at Washington, devoted Tuesday, the last of its session, to hearing papers on southern history. Among these, was one entitled, "Materials for the Study of the Government of the Southern Confederacy," by John Osborne Sumner, of Harvard university. He stated that much of this material of value had been destroyed during the closing scenes of the war. Documents were also preserved which are not yet accessible. There were many executive messages and departmental reports, obtainable, and journals of the confederate congress are said to be in existence. After some reference to the histories written by Jefferson Davis and Alexander H. Stephens as well as to other recent works, the speaker closed with a plea for information on the existence and whereabouts of documents bearing upon confederate history that are as yet unprinted. The final paper of the session was delivered by Professor William T. Trent of the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., comprising a series of notes on the outlook for historical studies in history. He gave an account of a great collection of materials for a southern history now being made in New York, and the condition of various state historical societies in the south, depicting the general pessimism in the work of the southern states.

A Gigantic Lamp.

A volume might be written of lighthouses in this vicinity and of wonderful sights to be seen at the Knoxville headquarters. Down one of the buildings stands the Fresnel lamp in the world, alone cost $15,000. It is built at Cape Hatteras. It is a big lamp from frame to feet 2 inches, and its height of the glass 12 feet, and the whole height of the lamp.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PERMANENT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

THE POPULAR WOMAN.

Who is the popular woman of today? She is the one who wears well-fitting clothes and never minds telling the name of her dressmaker.

She is the one who sees the possibilities of a beautiful young man and cultivates him when everybody counts him a bore.

She is the one who may believe in Christian Science or mind cure, or a special way to remove freckles, or the Turkish bath, or in not wearing corsets, but who doesn't give dissertations on these subjects and insist on converting you.

She is the one who never makes you conscious of the amount of money she has or her lack of it.

She is the one who, when you are a guest in her house, makes you feel that she has simply been waiting for this opportunity to be happy, and that you are the honored guest.

She is the one whose hair doesn't come out, or whose frock doesn't tear when she is in some place where it is not easy to be heard.

She is the one whose children are seen to be heard.

She is the one who doesn't tell people about things, and if she has a bad day, she says to herself, "I'll be like her," and gives no further thought to it.

She is the one who knows that big hair is not for the street and little for the theatre.

She is the one who is loyal to her friends, her enemies, and loves her enemies, and loves her friends.

She is the one who knows that big hair is not for the street and little for the theatre.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

One has always been enough, if one will apply it all.

What others claim for us is not our thirst and our hunger, but our bread and our good.

Men are led by strange ways. One should have tolerance for a man, hope of him; leave him to try to get what he will do.

In family government let it always be remembered that no reproach or de-annunciation is so potent as the silent influence of a good example.

The human race is divided into two classes—those who go ahead and do something, and those who sit still and inquire, "Why wasn't it done the other way?"

The golden moments in the stream of life rush past us and we see nothing but sand; the angels come to visit us, and we only know them when they are gone.

The soundest argument will produce no more conviction in an empty head than the most superficial declaration, as a feather and a guinea fall with equal velocity in a vacuum.

Laziness grows on people; it begins in cobwebs and ends in iron chains. The more business a man has to do the more he is able to accomplish, for he learns to economize his time.

The darkest night that ever fell upon the earth never hid the light, never put out the stars. It only made the stars more keenly, kindly glancing as if in protest against the darkness.

Let us beware of the ideas of which we give hospitality; let us not pick them up at random in any book or journal which falls into our hands. There are ideas which once admitted can be dislodged only with great difficulty.

An Episode of Teeth.

It was about two o'clock of a chill morning when Mr. X. presented himself at the door of a doctor in the village of W., and after a series of blundering knocks at the door with a good deal of vigorous exercise upon the bell handle, succeeded in bringing that gentleman to the window overhead.

"What is it?" asked the doctor.

"Do you pull teeth?" Mr. X. demanded.

"Yes, when I have to," was the reply.

"Then I want a tooth pulled."

"All right. Come back in the morning and I'll take it out for you."

"Come back in the morning?" ejaculated Mr. X. "What do you take me for? Here I've been in torment for these two days, and for the last two hours I've been hunting all over town after a dentist, and now I'd like to have the job done at once if there is any way to fix it."

The dentist at last descended, but at last he came down and get into the room, and after a due introduction, which he made his hasty toilet, Mr. X. was admitted to the house. The chill of the night was everywhere, but Mr. X. was too intent upon getting rid of the troublesome molar to mind that, and he was duly installed in the operating chair and an examination made.

"Hold on there," X. said, as the dentist, having satisfied himself which was the troublesome tooth, took up his forceps and prepared for work. "I want to take gas. This tooth has given me about all the pain I can stand from it."

"Well," the dentist answered, "the gas is a little low, but if you insist I will give you what there is. It will deaden the pain, though very likely you will feel it some."

The conventional breathing tube, of black rubber was produced, and X. proceeded to inhale for dear life. For a moment the dentist allowed him to pump his lungs full from the gas reservoir, and then, taking the breathing-tube away, he quickly whipped in his forceps and whipped out the tooth.

"I did feel it some," X. observed, when he was able to get his mouth in a condition which allowed him to speak.

"Did you?" the dentist asked, sympathetically. "Not much, I hope?"

"Not so very much," X. replied. "I'll know when it came."

Then, a moment later, X. prepared to take his bill, and asked the price, he was surprised to be told a sum which was so small that it seemed that a mistake must have been made.

"Is that all you ask for administering the gas?" he asked.

"Yes," was the smiling answer. "There wasn't any gas there. I only breathe into the tube a little of your imagination."

Not at first knowing whether to be amused, but wisely concluding that the dentist was the better policy, he said, "I'll be home, chucking, and to bed as the first streaks of dawn began to show in the Courrier."

The Great Minds at Sea.

One of the greatest minds of the world have been upon the ocean, but how few of the greatest minds have been conceived in the winter garb.

Men of the highest genius seem to be transformed as soon as they get a distance from land in a rolling vessel. There is an inability to control the mind while at sea, a difficulty in concentrating the attention on the task of even writing in one's diary, or reading even the most trifling fiction. From this experience the best disciplined mind is not free. When at home on mind does not free. When at home on mind does not free. When at home on mind does not free.

The probabilities of Labrador's becoming a summer resort are not great, though the few travelers who do reach its inhospitable coasts report much of interest to be found. I met one of these, John L. McNaughton, of Chicago, last night. He is just returning from the months' trip through Labrador and the island of Anticosti, which he says is the most Providence-forsaken place he ever found.

"The island," he said, "is constantly enveloped by fogs, encircled by swollen rocks and furious currents, and swept by high winds. I was told at Halifax, by shipping men, that in the last ten years upward of a hundred ships had gone down off the treacherous shores of Anticosti, and that fully three thousand lives had been lost there in that time. The Canadian tried to settle it once, but failed, and now the island is practically uninhabited, save by a few hunters and travelers."

"But to my mind," he continued, "it is far better than Labrador, where the natives are forced to hibernate for about eight months each year. During that time the Labradorians live almost entirely on the inside of his rough board hovel, with the winds blowing a hurricane about him. Their dogs, their principal property, live in an open cellar underneath the family living rooms, and fight and howl and raise pandemonium generally. Without their dogs the natives would be in a bad way, for they have no roads in Labrador. Not a mile of made road exists in their whole 3000 miles of coast. But they get along right well with their sleds and dogs. I have been told that they can make ninety to a hundred miles a day with the dogs, but that is from ten to twenty miles better than my experience. The dogs are a quarrelsome, vicious lot of animals when in harness is the signal for a fight in which the drivers, generally engaged with the sleds, and if any women are along, their screams add a picturesque variety to the scene. I can assure you. Summer opens June 1, when the ice breaks up, and then the natives commence their harvest. Cod fishing and mackerel fishing are their industries, and they waste no time for the next three months again and drives them back into their hovels. It is a dreary life, but they know no other and I doubt if they would be contented away from their rocks and hurricanes and mackerel nets. I found them a kindly, hospitable people, as simple as children about the ways of the world."—New York Star.

Electric Sparks Must Be Produced. A very simple apparatus for obtaining an electric spark is made by a German physicist. Round the centre of a common lamp chimney is pasted a strip of tin foil, and another strip is pasted from one end of the chimney to within a quarter of an inch of the top. Then a piece of silk is wrapped around a brick and the interior of the chimney is rubbed briskly. In the dark a bright electric spark may be seen to pass from one place to the other, and the time the spark is withdrawn from the chimney, dust or other particles can be tried with the apparatus.

UTILIZING SKIM-MILK.

An interesting and instructive address by Mr. A. WILSON, from Stockholm, Sweden.

This gentleman, whose name will be known already by many of our readers from the time of his connection with the Delaval Separator, was present at the N. Y. State Dairyman's Convention, held at Ithaca 10th, 12th of December, and gave to the meeting some interesting statements concerning quite a new feature in agricultural progress. The subject of his address was a perfectly new method of utilizing skim-milk and whey, and to prove of what great importance, to a nation like America that question would be.

Mr. W. produced statistical statements from the United States Department of Agriculture, showing an annual manufacture of butter in the States of not less than one thousand three hundred million pounds, and four hundred and fifty million pounds of cheese. Counting about two gallons of skim-milk to each pound of butter and, say about one gallon of whey to the pound of cheese, the enormous waste of public wealth could easily be calculated even if no more than one cent's value to the gallons were allowed. With this new method, however, Mr. W. claimed not only had this waste been remedied, but, as he could prove by a actual fact, the farmer could make a profit of at least six cents a gallon on his skim-milk, which hitherto had been considered quite valueless and almost a burden to him.

The process of manufacture is quite inexpensive. The skim milk is curdled in the manner usual in manufacturing cheese, only that a greater quantity of rennet and higher temperature is used, so as to make the precipitation as thorough as possible. These curds are then placed in a common cheese press, where it however undergoes a harder pressure than is required for ordinary cheese and afterwards put through a simple process of drying, grinding, leaving the product of dry curds as free from water as possible.

These curds, containing a very high percentage of protein, i. e., that which constitutes the basis of all animal tissue, makes it very valuable as an ingredient in feeding cakes for cattle, horses or dogs, in poultry food, etc., as also in bread, biscuits and other kinds of human food.

By mixing only a small percentage of this extraordinary nitrogenous casing into what is called compound feeding cakes, Mr. W. stated, cheap kinds of grains, or milling offals, may be used, yet producing cakes superior to the best rape or linseed cakes. By adding the same to any kind of feeding cake for milk cows, it will render, by its mildness, a finer feed, and will maintain the normal weight of the animal, even while undergoing a butter test. The casing is much richer in protein and of greater nourishment than meat even, and being a prime producer of flesh and blood, will keep the animal in a healthy condition, constantly supplying the waste of animal tissue.

For army horses the casing, mixed into cakes of suitable form, will prove invaluable, especially in cases of long rides or protracted exertions, where it is impossible to carry bulky provisions. The same may be used for mixing into biscuits or cakes for soldiers on active service, sailors, laborers or sportsmen. As a food for poultry it will, whilst maintaining a healthy condition, advance its egg-producing capacity and greatly fattening qualities, without debilitating the bird, as is done by the ordinary method of using fish food.

Mr. W. stated several results of practical tests, which had been made in connection with milk cows.

The whey, remaining after the curdling mentioned above is mixed with an equal quantity of skim-milk and the bulk put through a simple process of evaporation and transformed into solid, nearly water-free cakes, afterwards to be cut, more or less roasted, and intended, whatever purpose may be desired, for use as an ordinary cheese factory could also be used. To this substance had been given the name of "Lactosine," from the Latin Lact, milk, and Sine, whey.

These solids, containing principally azotic or organic substances, are naturally very palatable, and highly nourishing as well as palatable, and sure in the near future to become highly important in human food, beverages and pastries.

Careful analysis of the production, Mr. W. stated, the well known physicians have proved that "Lactosine," mixed with coffee, for instance, produces a beverage which in taste approaches and sometimes even surpasses that of the best moka and coffee, and in nutritive value far surpasses the same. In salubrious respect it produces the same value for the physically weak, the invalids or the physically prostrate, as the beverage where the generally injurious, enervating properties of coffee are reduced to a minimum.

Mixed with cocoa, a chocolate is produced, which is of the best known and most valued cocoa preparations of our time, excelling the "milk" in mildness of flavor and richness.

For household purposes, such as for thickening and flavoring soups and sauces, in preparing desserts and ice of all kinds, etc., it has proved to be of great value. The whey will be found in the confectioner's trade, and also in bread-making in all its branches.

As a "food" for infants and invalids, the lactosine has been proved by most exhaustive analysis to be superior, both in nutritive and salubrious value, to most preparations of the same kind known as yet, and far nearer Prof. Feinberg's standard than any other food, which has however won a world-wide fame.

In view of these facts, Mr. W. thought himself safe in stating that this valuable substance would readily find an open market in America, as it has already done in Europe.

Certified analysis was prominent member of the association, with his vice-president, J. W. Williams, of Sherman, N. Y., as chairman, was appointed, and after a verbal examination reported.

The convention, of December 11th, also closed a very successful session with the following resolutions:

"A new law has been opened by these inventions, leading to fresh sources of profit, and providing access to great wealth. In fact, a road of which we should think all these who sell whey should think, and the effect produced by the choice of in great dairies is thrilling."

which was still used to perform the office now assigned to forks, in the highest and most refined circles of society. At about this time, in fact, was the turning point when forks began to be used as a table-furniture. The ladies of the middle ages and the Renaissance were not less proud of a delicate, well-set hand than those of our own days, and yet they picked the meat from the platter with their slender white fingers, and in them bore it to their mouths. The fact is all the more remarkable, because the form of the fork was familiar enough, and its application to other uses was not uncommon.

The Spirit of a Signature.

"Did it ever occur to you," said a treasury official, "that a forger has but half his work done when he can get hold of the identical pen with which the owner of the signature habitually writes? A great many men, bank presidents and the like, use the same pen for their names only for a year or two without change. A pen that has been used by a man in writing his name hundreds of times, and never for anything else, will almost write the name of itself. It gets imbued with the spirit of the signature. In the hands of a good forger it will preserve the characteristics of the original. The reason for this is that the point of the pen has been ground down in a peculiar way, from being used always by the same hand and for the same combination of letters. It would splutter if held at a wrong angle or forced on lines against its will. It almost guides the sensitive hand of the forger when he attempts to write the name."

A Penny in the Slot.

The idea of dropping a penny in the slot boxes is older than Christianity. In the Egyptian temples devices of this kind were used for automatically dispensing the purifying water. A coin of five drachmas dropped into a slit in a vase set a simple piece of mechanism like a sweep, in motion, and water was forced for an instant and a portion of the liquid was permitted to escape. The apparatus was described in the "Spiritualia" of Hero of Alexandria, who lived two hundred years before the Christian era, and is illustrated in the sixteenth century Latin manuscript, a translation of his work, in which, by the translation of the author's day, with its double force pump valves, lever arms, goose neck, and probably, too, air chamber—but this is a moot point—while the essential feature of the machine of the nineteenth century.

Dr. GRAVENING, of the University of Padua, is said to have successfully performed an operation which hitherto has been vainly tried by various experimenters, both in France and elsewhere. The operation consists in the grafting of a chicken's cornea into the human eye. In chickens the cornea is very thin and flexible, and a portion of the liquid was permitted to escape. The apparatus was described in the "Spiritualia" of Hero of Alexandria, who lived two hundred years before the Christian era, and is illustrated in the sixteenth century Latin manuscript, a translation of his work, in which, by the translation of the author's day, with its double force pump valves, lever arms, goose neck, and probably, too, air chamber—but this is a moot point—while the essential feature of the machine of the nineteenth century.

Bove needs a little experience of the rough places in life if he are to face the world successfully. A fussy, nervous mother who is always trembling for the safety of her darlings, and will not let them do anything that their companions rejoice in, either makes her sons weak and deficient in self-reliance, or plausible hypocrites who pre-learn an obedience which they do not feel.

"Why need it be?" we say, and sigh. When loving mothers fade and die, and the little ones are left to fend for themselves, how often do we find that they have been saved. In many cases these poor women, who are the victims of their own weakness and irresolute, grow out of their affliction, and are able to do for themselves what they were unable to do for their children. This is not true. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Remedy is the only one that will cure the afflicted mother, and under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers of its giving satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it will be refunded.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Remedy, the original and only genuine Little Liver Pills; 25 cents a bottle; one a dose.

Whether on pleasure bent or business, should take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectively on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists.

Deafness Can't Be Cured. By local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or liquid in the ear, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, and cause one of the most agonizing pains which can be endured. We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sent for free trial.

Dispatches from Zanzibar state there is much excitement and conjecture there over the constant arrivals of British men-of-war. The British fleet now in those waters is said to be the largest ever assembled.

The strike on the Mackey system was amicably settled Monday night, both sides making concessions. All the strikers were taken back without prejudice. The terms of settlement are secret, and can be learned no further than above stated.

On Thursday morning fire was discovered in the West Indianapolis hotel, homing mills, and in an hour the immense building, which covers a quarter of an acre, was in ruins. The loss is $75,000. The mill was one of the finest and largest in the country.

It is stated that the steel trade of this country is to be revolutionized by the process for making open hearth steel as cheap or cheaper than Bessemer steel. A test was made a few days ago at Pittsburgh, Pa., which was fairly satisfactory to those interested.

A London dispatch says: A ship laden with petroleum at Sunderland took fire Wednesday, and burning oil floating on the tide way set fire to three other ships. Heavy damage was done before the conflagration could be checked, and one fireman was drowned while fighting the flames.

The grip is spreading rapidly among railroad employes at Galesburg, Ill. On Thursday, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy officials reported forty-two train men ill with the disease. All of the trainmaster's force are unable to work. There are very few cases elsewhere in the city.

The London Times' Lisbon correspondent says: Another note from the marquis of Salisbury was delivered on Monday. It is believed that this note threatens that unless prompt satisfaction is given for Prince's action, there will be an immediate rupture of diplomatic relations. The cabinet was immediately summoned.

Dr. Ball, a physician of Washington, D. C., was arrested about two weeks ago, charged with robbing a grave in the congressional cemetery. On Wednesday his case came up in the police court, and the doctor was committed. He was sentenced to six months imprisonment in jail, and required to pay a fine of $400.

The store of Johnson, Boyd & Co., of New York, has been in notice and night. The fire started in the cellar from a furnace, and quickly ran through the whole building. The stock, which was valued at $85,000, was very badly damaged by fire, smoke and water, and the loss will probably reach $30,000.

Mrs. Southworth, who shot Stephen Pettus some time ago, and who has been imprisoned on a charge of murder, died in her cell in the tomb prison at New York, on Tuesday. Stephen Pettus was a rich and prominent citizen of Brooklyn. It is said that he had cruelly wronged Mrs. Southworth, and she, taking the law in her own hands, shot him down on the streets.

A dispatch from Nebraska City, Neb., says: W. Simpson, ex-county treasurer, has been arrested, charged with embezzling the funds of the county. Simpson had completed a four years' sentence on a similar charge, his term expiring Tuesday.

The total amount of Simpson's embezzlement will never be known, but a shortage of $88,000 was found.

The unprecedentedly low stage of water in the river at Burlington, Ia., is the wonder and chief topic among the people along the Mississippi. At that point it is eight inches lower than it has been during the sixty years since white people came to that section, and it is still falling fast.

The suction pipe of the waterworks and most of the mill and all of the baggage and express matter were destroyed. The passengers managed to get out of the sleepers in their night clothes. Some of them were bruised, but none seriously injured. The sleepers were badly burned. Baggage-master Dobbins was seriously injured.

AT THE CAPITAL.

WHAT THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS IS DOING.

APPOINTMENTS BY PRESIDENT HARRISON—MEASURES OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE AND ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

Congress re-assembled on Monday after a recess of two weeks. The session at "the met" of the house, showed that the fashionable "grippe" had encircled the houses of many statesmen. The spectators were, however, many, but they were treated to an extremely dull show. The great leaders on both sides were in their places, with the exception of Hon. Sam Randall, who is yet confined to his home, but who will, perhaps, soon be able to occupy his old seat again.

A bill was presented by Judge Stewart, of Georgia, in which he requests the executive department to change the extradition laws with Great Britain, so that persons charged with grand larceny, embezzlement and other crimes may be extradited from Canada. Mr. Lester, of Savannah, introduced one providing for $100,000 public building at Brunswick. Senator John A. Ingalls, of Kansas, president pro tempore of the senate, has prepared a speech on the race question, which he will deliver, perhaps, next Monday.

Mr. Carlisle had a resolution passed instructing the speaker to go to the home of Hon. Samuel J. Randall, and swear him in as a member of the present house. Also for Mr. Wilber, of New York, and Mr. Whitthorne, of Tennessee, to take the oath of office before the proper officials at their homes. All three of the gentlemen have been ill since the present congress met, and not having taken the oath of office.

The question, whether or not the members of the house shall reimburse themselves for the Silcott defalcation, will come up during this week. The majority of the investigation committee will bring in a report proposing a deficiency appropriation to reimburse the members.

General Cuthbert, of Michigan, introduced a bill providing for a coast defense service in the coast states. There is to be one regiment for each state, to be appointed by the governor from the state militia. The bill provides for annual encampments at a fortified post within the state, where the regiments are to be trained in the art of defense, firing mines, guns, etc. The expenses are to be borne by the general government, and the regiments to be subject to the call of the federal government.

There was an unusually small number of members present when the House was called to order at noon on Tuesday, and the prayer of the chaplain for divine protection of the sick representatives was listened to with unwonted interest.

On motion of Mr. Carlisle, of Kentucky, (acting under instructions from the committee on rules) a resolution was adopted providing for the appointment of two additional members on the committee on commerce.

The House committee on the world's fair bill took up for consideration the bill introduced by Representative Adams of Illinois, which leaves a blank space for the name of the location of the fair and referred it to a sub-committee, composed of Mrs. Hitt, of Illinois, chairman; Rockwell, of Massachusetts; Holman, of Indiana; McCrary, of Kentucky, and Chipman, of Michigan. It is understood that the members of this committee are divided as follows, in their preferences for the location of the fair: Hitt and Chipman, Chicago; Rockwell, New York; Holman, Washington; McCrary, St. Louis.

NOTES.

The President, on Tuesday, nominated Thomas J. Fuller as postmaster at Waycross, Ga.

Charles W. Buckley was, on Tuesday, appointed by the President as postmaster of Montgomery, Ala.

Judge David J. Brewer was sworn in as associate justice of the supreme court of the United States Tuesday, and immediately took his seat upon the bench.

The President and Mrs. Harrison gave their first state dinner Tuesday night in honor of Vice-President and Mrs. Morton, and members of the cabinet and their wives. The formal decorations were unusually elaborate and beautiful.

In an opinion rendered in the well-known Edselbott customs case, the United States supreme court holds that silk and cotton ribbons are dutiable at 50 per cent, under the provisions in the tariff act of 1893, for "trimmings for hats, bonnets and hoods," and not at 50 per cent, under the provision for the materials of which silk is a component of chief value. The government will, by this decision, be compelled to refund about $8,000,000 to importers in Philadelphia, New York, Boston and other places.

TRADE REVIEW.

DUNN & CO.'S STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION OF THE TRADE FOR THE WEEK ENDING JAN. 4.

R. G. Dunn & Co.'s review of trade for the week ending Jan. 4, says: The new year opens with a most confident feeling prevalent in all parts of the country, and yet with some features which suggest especial caution. The volume of business in progress, though a little more curtailed than in some past years, is nearly, if not quite, the largest ever known in holiday goods, and on the whole close to the maximum. But in several important trades profits have not been commensurate with the magnitude of transactions, and slow collections have caused many failures with apprehensions of more in the near future. The money markets are strained at the east, close at Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit, and closer than before at Kansas City and Omaha, but at other western points fairly supplied. The chief industries are, on the whole, unusually prosperous. A fuller statement of cotton mills' dividends for 1889 indicates that they were larger than in any previous year of specie prices. The leather trade has become hopeful and the consumption of boots and shoes is prodigious, but overproduction pushes prices low for leather quotations and, though sales at an advance are scanty as yet, there is general confidence that the demand will prove equal even to the unprecedented supply. The woolen business is still a case of the cities move to the south, and the sales at Boston for 1889 were 134,000,000 pounds against 166,000,000 pounds for the previous year, a decrease of nearly 20 per cent. Produce markets have been dull. Wheat has risen half a cent, with sales of $500,000 bushels. Corn has risen a cent, with sales of nearly 9,000,000 bushels. Oil is an eighth higher, but pork is half a dollar lower, and lard declines a shade. Foreign trade continues heavy, exports for five weeks at New York falling only 1.8 per cent below those of the previous year, which indicates excess of $30,000,000 or more in exports over imports for December.

Failures in 1889 numbered 10,883 in the United States, or one in every ninety-seven firms, and 1,778 in Canada, or one in every forty-five firms. In 1888, the figures were 10,670 in the United States, and 1,477 in Canada. The aggregate of liabilities was $149,784,387 in the United States, against $133,899,978 in 1888, and $14,778,398, in Canada, against $14,081,000. But the average liabilities for each firm were lower in Canada, $6,870 last year against $7,998 in 1888, and the increase in the United States, if so unfavorable indication was still not enough to denote an unhealthy state of commercial credit for the average in 1889, was but $13,678 against $11,593 in 1888, $17,879 in 1887, and $20,088 in 1886. Failures occurring throughout the country, during last week, number for the United States 991, Canada 81; 833 failures against 988 last week.

AGAINST TOBACCO TRUSTS.

THE GROWERS OF VIRGINIA AND NORTH CAROLINA MEET IN CONVENTION.

The Farmers' Alliance is justly proud of its defeat of the late bagging trust and it has begun an active campaign against the trust on cigarette tobacco. Delegates from the twenty-five counties of Virginia and North Carolina which grow bright tobacco met Thursday morning at Oxford, N. C., to attend what was officially called by the alliance an anti-cigarette trust convention. The convention is a strong body.

The convention, at Casswell county, N. C., was chosen chairman. The convention at once took up the subject of the trust, and agreed to receive representatives of all the great cigarette manufacturers in the country. There appeared representatives of Duke & Sons, Allen & Ginter, King and Goodwin, who made statements to the convention. A committee was appointed to consider these statements, and report. Intense interest is manifested by every tobacco grower in this fight against the hated trusts. This interest is felt by all, whether alienated or not.

TO HONOR STANLEY.

THE AMERICANS IN LONDON TO BANQUET HIM.

Harry M. Stanley has accepted an invitation to attend a banquet to be given in his honor by Americans in London. The date of the banquet can not be definitely fixed, but Mr. Stanley has sent a cable dispatch stating that he will probably be in London about the middle of February. Hon. Charles Layton, minister, will preside. Harry M. Stanley is a member of the Farmers' Alliance.

SOUTHERN NOTES.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

GENERAL PROGRESS AND OCCURRENCES WHICH ARE HAPPENING BELOW MAJOR'S AND DIXON'S LINE.

The newspaper men of Columbia, S. C., have formed a press club.

Wm. Muldoon, Sullivan's trainer, gave $200 bonds to appear on Governor Lowry's requisition.

The American fish company of Florida have made arrangements for making Macou, Ga., their distributing point for the south.

The Times-Democrat pronounces the gravel roads of New Orleans a success, and far preferable to the shell roads which were first tried.

A joint resolution was introduced in the Virginia legislature, on Tuesday, requesting the senators and representatives of that state to support the bill for the free coinage of silver.

A banquet was given by the real estate exchange of Richmond, Va., on Wednesday to Hinton Helper, correspondent of the New York Sun. Several speeches were made in regard to the progress of the south.

G. A. Longworth, manager of the telephone exchange at Florence, Ala., has gone to Canada, leaving a small shortage in his accounts. The company is protected by an $1,500 bond in the American Surety company.

While four boys, between the ages of six and eight years, were playing under the edge of a sand bank in Jackson, Tenn., on Tuesday, the bank caved in, burying them under about ten feet of sand. They were dead when discovered.

Conductor Frank Layton, of the Alabama Great Southern railroad, was knocked from his train by a water tank and killed Friday night. He was leaning out of the door of the caboose too far as the train passed the water tank, and was on the head.

The Dee Denning Grocery company, of St. Louis, on Monday, confessed judgment in favor of Julius Wolf, of New York, in $68,000. Attachments were also filed against the firm for small amounts. Liabilities $242,009; assets $382,000.

Another large glass factory will be erected at Atlanta, Ga. Already most of the stock has been taken, and it is only a question of a few days when active work will be commenced on the erection of the buildings. The concern is to be known as the "State City Glass Company," and the capital stock, outside of the cost of the site, is $300,000, with the power to increase it to $500,000.

Governor Fowle, of North Carolina, on Monday, issued death warrants for the execution of the following criminals: Manly Pankey, colored, of Montgomery county, for the murder of Canales Leak, by shooting him with a shot gun; John Wilson, of Yancy county, for the murder of John Edgeby, shooting him; Samuel Halford and R. P. Wells, of Rutherford county, for burglary. All these four men are to be hanged February 7th.

Mr. M. E. Born, a member of the state legislature, at Raleigh, N. C., was questioned Thursday in regard to the effect of the negro exodus. He says 50 per cent of the negroes in Lenoir county have "exodus" and that by March probably 75 per cent will have gone. While from the treasury of the state are opposed to this departure of the negro labor, the poorer classes of white people want all the negroes to leave. It is a deep seated belief that such a separation will prevent race troubles.

ITS CHARTER FORFEITED.

A COMPANY LOSES ITS FRANCHISE FOR JOINING THE TRUST.

Judge Wallace, in the superior court at San Francisco, Cal., decided the case of the American Sugar Refinery company. The action was commenced by the state some time ago to compel a forfeiture of charter on account of the company having become a member of the sugar trust. The court holds that by joining the trust, the company abandoned all the purposes and objects for which it was chartered by the law of California, and has, therefore, forfeited its corporate franchise. Judgment for $5,000 is also rendered against the company.

"HAYS A LONDON CORRESPONDENT." There was only one newsman now open to Bonaparte. He must either return to France in the snowed character of an enemy to the Republic or retire permanently from public life. If he does the former blackboard and character will mark his path, if he quietly retires he will be the quietest of the quiet.

THE YEAR 1890.

There will be three eclipses this year, two of the Sun and one of the Moon—neither of them visible in the United States—and a Lunar Eclipse.

1. A Lunar Eclipse, June 8. The nearest approach of the Moon to the Earth's shadow occurs at 10.30 a. m., Washington time. Whether a contact of the Moon and the Earth's shadow (Umbra) will occur is uncertain, owing to the uncertainty of atmospheric conditions. If a contact occurs it will be visible throughout the United States.

2. An Annular Eclipse of the Sun, June 17, visible generally through the eastern continent.

3. A Partial Eclipse of the Moon, November 28, visible in the United States.

4. A Lunar Eclipse of the Sun, December 11, visible in the Indian and Southern Oceans.

Morning Stars. Venus, until February 15, and after December 8.

Evening Stars. Venus, after February 15, until August 30, and after December 8.

Planets Brightest. Mercury, January 10, May 8, August 21, and December 28, setting after the Sun; also February 26, June 28, and October 18, rising before the Sun. Venus, October 20, May 27, Jupiter, January 24, Saturn, February 15. Uranus, April 14.

Season for 1890. Winter begins December 21, 1889, and lasts 90 days.

Spring begins March 20, 1890, and lasts 90 days.

Summer begins June 21, 1890, and lasts 90 days.

Autumn begins September 23, 1890, and lasts 90 days.

We have up to the present time avoided placing this paper under obligations to the Farmer's Alliance or any other particular class. We have asked no favors of them in the past and expect none in the future. We have been interested in the order to this extent: We hope it may prove of some financial benefit to its members, because financially their condition is weak—distressingly weak; and by their improved condition all classes might be benefited more or less. There are always to be found some ready to prostitute themselves for self, and such have dickered with the Alliance with the selfish aim of making what they could out of it. We have had enough sympathy for the order and enough respect to refuse to impose upon its membership in that way, and we have never had but a very small patronage from Alliance men because we never sought any of our former patronage coming principally from those farmers who have not needed the aid of the order, financially or otherwise, and who have not united with it. In this county they are not so numerous as the Alliance men, but financially they are much stronger. The Alliance men in their weak financial condition need to make friends rather than enemies, and they have had cordial sympathizers among all other classes on that score.

But if the order is organizing negro Alliances in this State for political purposes, as its Birmingham organ exulting proclaims is the case, then this press is no longer among these sympathizers, for no decent white man nor no decent newspaper will favor such social and political equality. The Alliance can get all that it wants in the Democratic party, and outside of that party in the South it can get nothing. The party who editing this Birmingham paper, had the rights of a pull, is an aggressor, and as who on in re

Politics Past and Present.

The question proposed to be answered this week is, How can we retain the blessings of good government, peace and good order which have prevailed in this State for the past fifteen years?

As already stated, in every popular government there must exist two great parties representing both sides of the general public composing the government. To be efficient each of these parties must represent the entire interest of its own policy. Individuals may differ as to some one or more questions which may arise in the course of time; but wisdom and prudence alike require that individual differences should be surrendered to the superior wisdom of the aggregate party councils. The various church organizations present the necessity of the above rule. In every church there are and always will be differences of opinion, sometimes as to individual matters, but more frequently as to matters of church government. Should such dissensions withdraw from their church, and undertake to set up a worship and church government of their own simply because they differ with their brethren on some minor matters of policy? No good man would sanction such a course.

Compromise lies at the foundation of all free governments and associations of men. Individuals will differ; it lies in the very infancy of our nature. But what then should be done? Break up the organization? or weaken it so it would be powerless for good, and an easily conquered victim by its enemies? To do this would be suicidal. It would destroy your protector, and leave in its place a number of small organizations, without strength for any good purpose.

To apply these rules to the present times: Which of the two great parties represent the interests of the farmers? The greatest grievance the farmers labor under is the present tariff system. The customs laws are framed for the protection of manufactures and mining. The effort is to increase the cost of implements made of iron or steel, and all goods made of wool. The Republican party favors this system; the Democratic party has opposed it, and has sought to procure a reform of the system, and to get rid of its onerous burden to the farmers. The Democratic party has always opposed us, and under the fostering care of the Republican party within the last twenty-five years. At no time during that period have the Democrats been in power in the government. It has done all it could to effect reform; it passed a tariff reform bill in the house, and it was defeated in the Republican Senate. To accomplish these needed reforms the success of the Democratic party is needed; they will never be carried out by the Republican party, because the contrary is embraced in their platform. That party leaves its revenues from the manufacturers and monopolists to carry on elections.

The Scottsboro Progressive Age is in high praise of Mr. Terrell's National Alliance Lectures, reports him as follows:

Terrell said: Since I came Alabama I have been persecuted with the accusation that the Alliance was organized, being perpetuated as an order for mere political purposes. My answer is, suppose it is an organization—what are we going to do about it? I am in this free country right on politics? The Progressive Age is a straight lican paper. Does Mr. Terrell's philosophy is: "If the wicked must be for doing wicked. When wicked I know I am doing is a Democrat the Republican praises, but he may be able it when he lectures 23d inst. error after speaker-avorably of Mr. at that place, markable para-

Under-Commissioner of Agriculture, going over the State and making denunciations against the Montgomery Advertiser passed by the County Alliance? The Commissioner was in Tuscaloosa the day before the County Alliance met there, and when the Alliance met it passed a set of vindictive resolutions against the Advertiser. The resolutions were too close together to prevent a suspicion as to their instigation, and they were of such a tenor as to indicate that they were written by some one who, it is evident, had a special spite against the Montgomery paper. We have no choice for governor, and see no reason why the Alliance should not be permitted to present its man to the convention if it wants to go into politics, as it probably will, but such a public denunciation of the leading Democratic paper of the State is unwise, and will rebound to the hurt of the Alliance and its candidate, if it presents one. We are glad to note that the Northport Breeze which is the county organ of the Alliance in Tuscaloosa, advised against the passage of such resolutions, intimating that a political wolf had already crept into the fold for selfish and destructive purposes.

Edward Bellamy with his novel "Looking Backward," expects to play the part that Mrs. Stowe played with "Uncle Tom's Cabin," in bringing about a revolution. Bellamy's book is now printed in several different languages, and has reached an edition of 250,000 copies the first year, surpassing Mrs. Stowe's work in this particular. The effort was to make the work, like Mrs. Stowe's, an argument ad hominem, and it succeeds in this to some extent. But those who think much of the success of the socialism it sets forth, should read and carefully digest the parable of the talents in the 25th chapter of Matthew, and bear in mind that "the poor ye have always with you."

This will be a quiet year in Alabama politically, after the nominations are made. The Democrats are so thoroughly in the majority, that all the contest likely to be made will be made for nominations. State officers and members of the Legislature are to be chosen in August and Congressmen in November. Not a county officer is to be elected.

The Advertiser is in error in this. County Superintendents of Education are to be elected in all but twenty-one counties next August. Chilton is one of those to elect. Since writing this we note that the Advertiser has corrected its statement.

The Northport Breeze, an Alliance paper, its editor being a member of the order, is doing good work for the Democracy over there. It has spread its canvass over the entire county and is running a big circus for all, while the Tuscaloosa papers have not yet had the courage to establish a small side show. Their timidity is simply ridiculous.

Non. Ben. Terrell.

This gentleman, the National Farmers' Alliance Lecturer, made our city a visit, on last Thursday, for the purpose of addressing our people, and especially the members of the Alliance order, on matters pertaining to that organization and duties devolving upon them, etc.

While here he made our office a visit and we found him to be a very social and intelligent gentleman and well posted on all questions relating to the Alliance. Feeling much interest about the charge that the Alliance was endeavoring to oppose the Democracy by organizing a third party in conjunction with the Knights of Labor, we interviewed the gentleman as follows:

Ques.—Mr. Terrell, we see the Montgomery Advertiser claims that the Alliance has become a third party.

Ans.—I am thankful that assertion is not true. The Alliance will never attempt to control the politics or religion of its members—in that it guarantees perfect freedom.

Ques.—What about the St. Louis demands?

Ans.—They only express the views of the majority of the delegates at that meeting, and are not any more binding than the tariff resolutions at Montgomery, or the Bankers or Wool Growers or any other interest. There was quite a division of opinion, but a majority voted for them and they are the demands of the National Farmers' Alliance, and industrial Union, which is composed of farmers of every political faith. Next year they may have other demands or may have the same. They believe in discussion of all questions for the purpose of education. Ques.—Then each member is left free to vote as he pleases? Ans.—There is absolutely no partisanship in the Alliance—they discuss everything from the standpoint of a farmer, and are free to enter any political party they please, and vote as they choose. Ques.—You say, then, a majority of the delegates at St. Louis are in favor of these demands? Ans.—Assuredly, or they would not have voted for them. Ques.—Does that bind the Alliance to the Independent party action? Ans.—It does not, nor any member of it, nor can it, under the present obligation. Ques.—Then you don't think the members of the Alliance will be called upon to take independent party action? Ans.—Such a thing was never thought of. In my judgment we have no room in the South for another party, and I think all the Alliance men will agree with me. —Eutaw Way.

Cancer of the Nose.

"My father had cancer and my husband died of cancer. In 1875 a lump appeared on my nose, and from its appearance and rapid growth I became alarmed with the idea that I too had cancer. I consulted my physician about it, and he gave me an ointment to put on it, which this did not relieve me he then burnt it off, but the place would not heal. It gradually grew longer and worse, and I had finally made my mind up that I must die of cancer. Friends prevailed on me to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) This I finally consented to do. After taking a few bottles I was entirely cured. Swift's Specific cured me when the doctors and all other medicines failed."

Four Years on Crutches.

"For fifteen years I was afflicted with rheumatism, four years of which I was compelled to grow on crutches. Words are inadequate to express the suffering I endured during that time. During these fifteen years of existence (it was not living), I tried every known remedy without receiving any benefit. I finally began on Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) which from the first gave me relief, and to-day I am enjoying the best of health, and am a well man. I candidly believe that S. S. S. is the best blood purifier on the market to-day."

We have up to the present time avoided placing this paper under obligations to the Farmer's Alliance or any other particular class. We have asked no favors of them in the past and expect none in the future. We have been interested in the order to this extent: We hope it may prove of some financial benefit to its members, because financially their condition is weak—dreadfully weak; and by their improved condition all classes might be benefited more or less. There are always to be found some ready to prostitute themselves for self, and such have dickered with the Alliance with the selfish aim of making what they could out of it. We have had enough sympathy for the order and enough respect to refuse to impose upon its membership in that way, and we have never had but a very small patronage from Alliance men because we never sought any, our former patronage coming principally from those farmers who have not needed the aid of the order, financially or otherwise, and who have not united with it. In this county they are not so numerous as the Alliance men, but financially they are much stronger. The Alliance men in their weak financial condition need to make friends rather than enemies, and they have had cordial sympathizers among all other classes on that score.

But if the order is organizing negro Alliances in this State for political purposes, as its Birmingham organ exulting proclaims in the case, then this press is no longer among those sympathizers, for no decent white man nor no decent newspaper will favor such social and political equality. The Alliance can get all that it wants in the Democratic party, and outside of that party in the South it can get nothing. The party who, citing this Birmingham paper, had the right of an pull, is an aggro, as who on in re-

Political Post and Present.

The question proposed to be answered this week is, How can we retain the blessings of good government, peace and good order which have prevailed in this State for the past fifteen years?

As already stated, in every popular government there must exist two great parties representing both sides of the general public composing the government. To be efficient each of these parties must represent the entire interest of its own policy. Individuals may differ as to some one or more questions which may arise in the course of time; but wisdom and prudence alike require that individual differences should be surrendered to the superior wisdom of the aggregate party councils. The various church organizations present the necessity of the above rule. In every church there are and always will be differences of opinion, sometimes as to individual matters, but more frequently as to matters of church government. Should such dissenters withdraw from their church, and undertake to set up a worship and church government of their own simply because they differ with their brethren on some minor matters of policy? No good man would sanction such a course.

Compromise lies at the foundation of all free governments and associations of men. Individuals will differ; it lies in the very infirmity of our nature. But what then should be done? Break up the organization? or weaken it so it would be powerless for good, and an easily conquered victim by its enemies? To do this would be suicidal. It would destroy your protectors, and leave in its place a number of small organizations, without strength for any good purpose.

To apply these rules to the present times: Which of the two great parties represent the interests of the farmers? The greatest grievance the farmers labor under is the present tariff system. The customs laws are framed for the protection of manufactures and mining. The effort is to increase the cost of implements made of iron or steel, and all goods made of wool. The Republican party favors this system; the Democratic party has opposed it, and has sought to procure a reform of the system, and to get rid of its onerous burden to the farmers. The Democratic party has always opposed usurpation, the fostering care of the Republican party within the last twenty-five years. At no time during that period have the Democrats been in power in the government. It has done all it could to effect reform; it passed a tariff reform bill in the house, and it was defeated in the Republican Senate. To accomplish these needed reforms the success of the Democratic party is needed; they will never be carried out by the Republican party, because the contrary is embraced in their platform. This party lays its revenues from the manufacturers and monopolists to carry elections.

The Scottsboro Progressive Age in high praise of Mr. Terrell said: Since I came Alabama I have been perpetually with the accusation 'the Alliance was organized, being perpetuated as an organization for mere political purposes.' My answer is, suppose it is an organization—what are we going to do about it? man in this free country at right on politics? Progressive Age is a straight Republican paper. Does Mr. Terrell's philosophy nes: "If the wicked must be for doing wicked. When wicked I know I am doing is a Democrat he Republican praises, but he may be able I when he lectures e 23d inst. error after speaking-avorably of Mr. t that place, narkable para-

Our Commissioners of Agriculture.

Introductory resolutions against the Montgomery Advertiser, passed by the county Alliance, the day before the county Alliance met, and when the Alliance met it passed a set of vindictive resolutions against the Advertiser. The resolutions were too close together to prevent a suspicion as to their instigation, and they were of such a tenor as to indicate that they were written by some one who, it is evident, has a special spite against the Montgomery paper. We have no choice for governor, and see no reason why the Alliance should not be permitted to present its man to the convention if it wants to go into politics, as it probably will, but such puerile denunciation of the leading Democratic paper of the State is unwise, and will rebound to the hurt of the Alliance and its candidate, if it presents one. We are glad to note that the Northport Breeze which is the county organ of the Alliance in Tuscaloosa, advised against the passage of such resolutions, intimating that a political wolf had already crept into the fold for selfish and destructive purposes.

Weak eyes and inflamed lids indicate an impure condition of the blood. The best remedy is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It vitalizes the blood, regulates the secretions, and expels all scrofulous humors from the system. Try it. Price $1. Worth 50 cents a bottle.

Edward Bellamy with his novel "Looking Backward," expects to play the part that Mrs. Stowe played with "Uncle Tom's Cabin," in bringing about a revolution. Bellamy's book is now printed in several different languages, and has reached an edition of 250,000 copies the first year, surpassing Mrs. Stowe's work in this particular. The effort was to make the work, like Mrs. Stowe's, an argumentum ad hominem, and it succeeds in this to some extent. But those who think much of the success of the socialism it sets forth, should read and carefully digest the parable of the talents in the 25th chapter of Matthew, and bear in mind that "the poor ye have always with you."

This will be a quiet year in Alabama politically, after the nominations are made. The Democrats are so thoroughly in the majority, that all the contest likely to be made will be made for nominations. State officers and members of the Legislature are to be chosen in August and Congressmen in November. Not a county officer is to be elected.

The Advertiser is in error in this. County Superintendents of Education are to be elected in all but twenty-one counties next August. Chilton is one of those to elect. Since writing this we note that the Advertiser has corrected its statement.

The Northport Breeze, an Alliance paper, its editor being a member of the order, is doing good work for the Democracy over there. It spreads its canvass over the entire county and is running a big circus for all, while the Tuscaloosa papers have not yet had the courage to establish a small side show. Their timidity is simply ridiculous.

Hon. Ben. Terrell.

This gentleman, the National Farmers Alliance Lecturer, made our city a visit, on last Thursday, for the purpose of addressing our people, and especially the members of the Alliance order, on matters pertaining to that organization and duties devolving upon them, etc.

While here he made our office a visit and we found him to be a very social and intelligent gentleman and well posted on all questions relating to the Alliance. Feeling much interest about the charge that the Alliance was endeavoring to organize a third party in conjunction with the Knights of Labor, we interviewed the gentleman as follows:

Ques.—Mr. Terrell, we see the Montgomery Advertiser claims that the Alliance has become a third party.

Ans.—I am thankful that assertion is not true. The Alliance will never attempt to control the politics or religion of its members—in that it guarantees perfect freedom.

Ques.—What about the St. Louis demands?

Ans.—They only express the views of the majority of the delegates at that meeting and are not any more binding than the tariff resolutions at Montgomery, or the Bankers or Wool Growers' or any other interest. There was quite a division of opinion, but a majority voted for them and they are the demands of the National Farmers Alliance, and Industrial

Union, which is composed of firm-

ment of every political faith. Next year they may have other demands or may have the same. They believe in discussion of all questions for the purpose of education.

Ques.—Then each member is left free to vote as he pleases?

Ans.—There is absolutely no partnership in the Alliance—they discuss everything from the standpoint of a farmer, and are free to enter any political party they please, and vote as they choose.

Ques.—You say, then, a majority of the delegates at St. Louis are in favor of these demands?

Ans.—Assuredly, or they would not have voted for them.

Ques.—Does that bind the Alliance to the Independent party action?

Ans.—It does not, not any member of it, nor can it, under the present obligation.

Ques.—Then you don't think the members of the Alliance will be called upon to take independent party action?

Ans.—Such a thing was never thought of in my judgment we have no room in the South for another party, and I think all the Alliance men will agree with me. Edw. W. W.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., JAN. 16, 1890.

The View is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will allow no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral, the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

These advertising advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we should be glad to have you renew.

Mrs. O. A. Duke is visiting relatives in Nashville.

Rev. Mr. Smith preached at the Episcopal Church last Sunday.

Mrs. W. H. Phillips, of Montgomery, is on a visit to her old home.

There were services at the Baptist Church last Sunday morning afternoon and night.

Messrs. Williamson and Bentley now have their law office upstairs in the Allen building.

Dr. J. H. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. McRae, of Georgia, visited relatives in our town the past week.

Buist Bivings came up from Montgomery Friday night to fill the place of operator at the depot temporarily.

Mr. R. C. Lenoir came in and placed his name on our honor roll by paying for two year's subscription. Thanks.

It is a rare thing to see plum trees blooming in January. The editor has a plum tree in his garden full of blooms.

Mullins Bros. opened their new store Tuesday. The public may expect to hear further from this enterprising firm.

Messrs. Jonathan Calloway and Tillman Robertson, of Verbena, came in to see us and subscribe for the View on Tuesday.

Mr. P. Smith is running a restaurant and invites the patronage of the public. Meals at all hours, and the table will be furnished with the best the market affords.

With nearly $500 of volunteer cash subscriptions for a new church building besides the lumber, the Clanton Baptists ought with little effort to have a new building up by summer.

Mr. Jno. Garner has moved to Strasburg where he will go into business. He and Mr. J. C. Woolly are running the Swinford store for Mr. J. P. Allen who recently purchased it.

We recently paid a visit to Duke's Mill. Mr. Duke now has about the best saw mill plant on this road in Chilton, with the exception of the Pratt. He has about seventy-five hands employed.

Rev. T. DeWitte Burkhead preached at the Methodist church last Tuesday night. All who attended enjoyed a good sermon. Clanton people are always glad to listen to such sermons as Dr. Burkhead gives us.

Exposure to rough weather, getting wet, living in damp localities, are favorable to the contraction of diseases of the kidneys and bladder. As a preventive, and for the cure of all kidney and liver trouble, use that valuable remedy, Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm. $1.00 per bottle.

Fertilizers for Sale.

I have contracted for a full supply of high grade fertilizers including Guano, Acid Phosphate, and Cotton Seed Meal, and will have them for sale during the season at the lowest market prices for cash or on time to responsible parties. Give me a call before buying.

Respectfully,

W. L. GARNER.

Outside of the benefit to the particular denomination building a church, such an enterprise would be worth every cent put into it as an advertisement to the community at large. No improvement speaks better of a town to strangers than good church buildings.

Moore & DeJarnette, dealers in fish, oysters and produce of all kinds in Montgomery, have an "ad" in this paper. Mr. M. DeJarnette, of this firm, is so well and favorably known in this section as to need no commendation. Such a modest and kind hearted gentleman deserves the wide popularity he has won.

A negro by the name of William Rudolph was shot and killed at the depot on Wednesday night the 8th inst. A coroner's inquest was held over the body and the following verdict was rendered on the testimony brought out:

State of Alabama,

Chilton County.

We the jury duly sworn to inquire into the cause of the death of William Rudolph find that he came to his death by pistol shot wounds, that the killing was unlawful and felonious and we charge that John Dawson is guilty of murder having fired the shot that caused the death of the said William Rudolph, and E. O. Jones is guilty as accessory before the fact. This, the 9th day of Jan., 1890.

A. E. Bivings,
W. T. Callen,
R. Q. Lane,
J. H. Aldridge,
J. M. Stanfield,
O. M. Mastin.

Jones was arrested and given a preliminary hearing on Monday. He was discharged as there was absolutely no evidence against him. Dawson fled. That the negro was shot without great provocation on his part it is not reasonable to suppose.

Duke's Mill.

Early one morning last week the dwellers of Mill-Town were suddenly aroused by the reports of a gun. During the night the watchman was attacked by a mad dog. After several narrow escapes from the ferocious beast, he made his way to the top of a lofty smoke stack, and there remained in great uneasiness, until the obliging "boss" relieved him of his painful position by putting an end to his pursuer's life.

Mapleville Doits.

The Mapleville Sunday School is the toughest one your correspondent knows of. It keeps on living though the attendance is very small. May the Lord be merciful to those who sit out the depot, while the good sisters do the best they can toward a Sunday school. Look out boys you will need a lot of Sunday school the day you find your accounts large and your credits small. Then it will be too late to make up for lost time.

Judge Callen paid us a flying visit last week.

Ben Glover has come home to remain. We hope his shadow will never grow less.

Orders for the Ala. Midland are coming in lively, and work has commenced in earnest.

Miss Dora Tucker and Mr. Bolding were married last Sunday. May joy and happiness forever be with them.

We enjoyed a sociable and supper at the residence of Mr. Waterworth lately.

Verbena Verbiage.

Miss Mary Williamson, one of Verbena's fairest daughters, is visiting relatives in Nashville. Miss Mary has a host of friends who wish her a pleasant visit.

Miss Maude McDuffie has returned home after a pleasant visit to relatives in Hayneville.

The farmers have commenced work in our section. They have determined to make another fine crop this year, if the seasons continue favorable. We sincerely wish the farmer success for he is the working wheel of the world. The Alliance may benefit him much if it will stick to business.

"It goes right to the spot," said an old man, who was rubbing in Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcano Oil Liniment to relieve rheumatism.

If you suffer from any affliction caused by impure blood, such as scrofula, salt rheum, sores, boils, pimples, tetter, ring worm, take Dr. J. H. McLean's Sassaaparilla.

Physicians prescribe Dr. J. H. McLean's Tar Wine Lung Balm; in it they find no trace of opium or morphia, while its efficacy in curing all throat and lung diseases is wonderful.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, Chilton Co., Mattie Hill, ditto and R. McLean vs. James B. Hill. In Chancery at Clanton 7th District, N. E. Chancery Division.

In this cause it is made to appear by the affidavit of Mattie Hill that the defendant, James B. Hill, is a non-resident of the State of Alabama and further that in the belief of said affiant, the defendant is the age of twenty-one years.

It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the CHILTON VIEW, a newspaper published in the town of Clanton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him the said James B. Hill to plead, answer or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 7th day of February, 1890, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office to Clanton, this 7th day of January, 1890.

AT THE CAPITAL.

WHEAT THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS IS DOING.

MEASURES OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE AND ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

In the house on Monday, Mr. Cummings, of New York, offered a joint resolution for the erection of a statue to the memory of the late Samuel J. Tilden. It asks for an appropriation of $50,000 for that purpose.

Mr. Adams, of Illinois, chairman of the Sillcutt investigating committee, submitted a report, accompanied by a bill appropriating $75,000 for the purpose of supplying the deficiency in appropriation for the pay and mileage of members and delegates, occasioned by the recent defection of the Sillcutt committee.

Senator Mitchell introduced a bill to prohibit the coming of Chinese into the United States, whether subjects of the Chinese empire or otherwise. Those who are now within the limits of the United States and who may hereafter leave, and attempt to return are also excluded. The bill provides that only officials of the Chinese empire shall be entitled to enter the United States and they shall first obtain permission of and be identified by the government. It is also provided that any Chinese person who has landed unlawfully in the United States shall be removed at the cost of the government. A bill substantially similar was introduced into the house by Mr. Clinton, of California.

Among the bills reported from committee and placed on the calendar, were the following: For a bronze statue in Washington of Christopher Columbus; to change the limit of the appropriation for a public building at Jacksonville, Fla., from $125,000 to $175,000; to prevent the introduction of contagious diseases from one state to another, and for the punishment of certain offenses.

A bill by Mr. Ewart, of North Carolina, exempting from the operation of the act service law, soldiers, sailors and mariners of the late war by Mr. Ewart, of Ohio, for a military national park (Chickamauga battlefield) by Mr. Taylor, of Tennessee, for public buildings at Washington and Bristol, Tenn.; by Mr. Harrison, of Tennessee, banking Jackson's day a national holiday.

States were called for the introduction of bills for references. Among the bills introduced were the following: By Mr. Tibbitts, of Illinois, resolution directing the committee on ways and means to report a separate bill placing lumber, salt, hemp, manilla and sisal grass on the free list; by Mr. Morgan, of Mississippi, placing burlap, cotton on the free list; by Mr. Stockdale, of Mississippi, for a public building at Natchez, Miss.; by Mr. Durrell, of Minnesota, to repeal so much of the act of July 1, 1870, as authorizes the leasing of the right to enter in taking fur seals from the islands of St. Paul and George; by Mr. Baker, of New York, (by request) extending the right of suffrage to women.

Among the petitions presented and referred, was one signed by the wives of Chief Justice Fuller, and Justices Field and Harlan, and by the wives of many other distinguished officials and citizens of Washington, praying that in the legislative organizing the international exposition of 1893, provision shall be made for the appointment of women on the board of managers.

On Wednesday the senate took up Mr. Morgan's resolution recognizing the United States of Brazil as a free, independent and sovereign state, and Mr. Turpie proceeded to make a speech in support of it, but the resolution went over without further action. The senate then took up the calendar and passed a number of bills, among them one granting the use of certain lands to the city of St. Augustine, Fla., for a public park.

On Wednesday the house resumed consideration of the report of the special committee to investigate the Sillcutt defection. A vote was taken on the Kemp bill (as substitute for the majority bill) permitting members to sue in the court of claims. It was defeated by a close vote, of yeas 196, nays 198, and a motion to reconsider was offered by Mr. Bland, of Missouri, who had voted in the negative, in order to enable him to make the motion.

The motion was promptly tabled, however, and the vote recurred on ordering the majority bill (appropriating $75,000 to refund members for their lost salaries) to be engrossed and read the third time. This having been done, Mr. Bland demanded the reading of the engrossed bill, but the speaker held that under general parliamentary law this was not necessary. A vote was then taken on the bill, and it was defeated—yeas 196, nays 198.

The senate has passed the concurrent resolution, reported from the committee on finance, requesting the secretary of the treasury not to take any steps towards making a new issue of seal salaries until after February 30th.

The house committee on education of president and vice-president and an act Thursday for a hearing for the defection of colored men, appointed at the convention held at Richmond, Va., some time ago, who desired to speak on the subject of an election law. The delegation did not put in appearance, however.

Although the world's fair bills occupied the attention of the house on Thursday to the exclusion of other matters. Still there is yet a chance to reconsider the vote of Wednesday by which the house refused to appropriate money to pay its members for the loss by the Sillcutt defection.

On Thursday the judiciary committee decided upon a favorable report on the bill recently introduced by Mr. Stewart, of Georgia, for the establishment of two national penitentiaries, one to be located north of the 30th degree of latitude, and the other south of it. The bill appropriated $100,000 for each building, and $100,000 additional for machinery and implements. Atlanta, Ga., is favorably mentioned as a good location on account of the number of prisoners sent from Georgia and neighboring states.

A bill was introduced in the house on Tuesday for marking the lines of battle and position of troops of both armies at Gettysburg.

RAGING IN MISSOURI, ILLINOIS AND KENTUCKY.

ANY LIVES REPORTED LOST AND TERRIBLE DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY.

On Sunday afternoon, a cyclone struck the northeastern section of St. Louis, Mo., making a pathway near a quarter of a mile wide, and leaving death and desolation in its tracks. So sudden was its coming that those residing and near the pathway of the cyclone, scarcely realizing what had happened until it was all over.

In addition to dozens of dwellings and stores in the southern, central and northern sections of the city, more or less wrecked, the following big buildings were damaged: Ancoeur mill, Goodwin candle factory, Kingsland and Ferguson Farm Implement works. The Missouri Pacific hospital, Hogen School, German Evangelical church, Second Presbyterian church, and others are yet to be heard from. Three fatalities are reported. They comprise an entire family, father, mother and child, residing on Mound street, and they met their deaths by the falling of a building on their dwelling. The losses on property are roughly estimated at $100,000, but will likely prove more.

A telephone message from Venice, Ill., opposite the northern part of the city, says the storm was very disastrous there, and several lives were lost. It is reported that a number of passenger cars were blown from the track in the upper part of Mill Creek valley, the western outlet of the Union depot yards.

Brooklyn, a village of about 500 people, seems to have suffered most. It was reported that the little village had been swept from the face of the earth. A number of dwellings are in ruins. The Baptist church is entirely demolished, more or less, and the Methodist church, a frame building, was blown down and turned clear around on its foundation.

A dispatch from Kansas City, Mo., says: A severe blizzard raged Sunday night in Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska. Dispatches from points in Kansas say that the storm is by far the worst of the season, and some points report that it is the worst ever experienced.

At Wichita, Kan., snow is reported fifteen inches deep and badly drifted. All trains on the Santa Fe, Wichita and Western, Rock Island and Missouri Pacific railroads, have been stopped, more or less, on account of the effects of the storm than on account of it. At Abilene, Kan., the storm raged for thirty-six hours, and the railroads are blocked. At Topeka, six inches of snow has fallen, and much interruption to railroad traffic has resulted.

A dispatch from Nashville, Tenn., says: A terrible cyclone swept over the country fourteen miles north of Union City, Sunday night, destroying many lives and houses. At Clinton, Ky., ten persons are known to have been killed and several wounded. Among the dead are Judge Hodge and two children, a family named Gaddis, and the wife of Railroad Agent Rose. At Wyckfield, the section foreman and several children were killed, and near Moscow, three persons named Abraham are reported badly injured.

The first house struck in Clinton, Ill., was the section house of Illinois Central railroad, occupied by John Rhodes and family. The house was blown to splinters, and Rhodes and two children were killed. His wife and one child escaped death, but are both dangerously hurt.

The killed so far as ascertained are: J. A. Rhodes and his two children; Mrs. Wm. Bone, Burnett Bone, Walter Bone, John W. Gaddis and infant; an infant of Judge E. C. Hodge, and one other; Judge E. C. Hodge, wife and two children; G. R. Gwinn, wife, child and father; C. W. Vorhees, child and two relatives, names unknown; Rev. Mr. W. Little, wife and two children; D. #### TRADE TOPICS.

CONDITION OF BUSINESS FOR THE WEEK ENDED JANUARY 11, BY SUN & CO.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: An easier money market and colder weather has helped business some, but it cannot be denied that the opening trade of the year has thus far been a little disappointing for the widely prevalent sickness is, to some extent, responsible, as it interrupts the operations of buyers and sellers in every direction and lessens the retail trade, except in drugs.

WHEAT. The wheat market has been remarkably heavy for three months, and are now falling behind last year's change, which is natural and must be expected to continue. The movement of wheat has not been large in December, with prices comparatively low, and can hardly be expected to increase much with the new crop. The iron trade is still in doubt. Moderate lots are occasionally offered below current quotations, while in bar the feeling is less confident of late. Undoubtedly the enormous building last year sustained the iron trade. At New York and Brooklyn the value of new buildings was $95,000,000 against $70,000,000 in 1889, and in Philadelphia the number was 9,435, against 7,656 in 1888, but construction at such a rate cannot be expected to continue. The coal trade remains dull and affects the prices of blocks, though the average for active stocks is about 50 cents per share higher than a week ago. But sugar trust stocks have been pushed down to about 50, notwithstanding higher prices for raw sugar.

Business failures occurring throughout the country during last week number for the United States $34, Canada 39; total, 373 failures, against 322 last week.

THE MELON GROWERS.

ARE DEPENDENT ON THE OUTLOOK—UNFAVORABLE FREIGHT REPORTS.

The melon growers of south Georgia feel rather blue over the prospect for the coming year. At the last meeting of the South Georgia Fruit and Melon Growers' association, a committee was appointed to confer with the Southern Steamship and Railway association as to correcting its errors as to weight per car. Complaints are made that the weights at Albany are carelessly determined, the cars being weighed while passing over the scales, without being unoccupied. Thousands of pounds of excess weight have thus been put upon the cars. Furthermore, they are re-weighed by each connecting road and in many cases as much as two thousand pounds are added by each road until the overcharge of weight would amount to seven or eight thousand pounds. The committee were met cordially, but no concessions were made.

THE MONTANA MUDDLE.

THE LEGISLATIVE DEADLOCK STILL IN FORCE IN THE HOUSE AND SENATE.

On Saturday at Helena, Montana, Messrs. Sanders and Powers, who were elected United States senators by the republican house and senate, made formal application to Governor Toole for certificates of election. The request was denied on the ground that the election was illegal, and because of the fact that Governor Toole had already given certificates of elections to Messrs. Clark and McGuire, elected by the democrats. The legislative deadlock continues in full force, and the republicans have decided to break it so far as the senate is concerned by unseating Mr. McNamara, a democrat, who is ineligible because of his being a federal official. This will give the republicans full and free control of the senate.

A LOCK OUT.

NEW LARGE SHOE MANUFACTURERS IN HATFIELD, MASS., SHUT DOWN.

Through some trouble with the Shoe-makers' Union, a lockout occurred Saturday at nine large shoe factories at Hatfield, Mass. In at least five of these factories the employees were receiving good wages and were contented, nor was there any anticipated trouble with the union. The factories were running along smoothly, and there was no apparent reason for closing. Three thousand persons shut out are mostly first-class men. The loss will fall heavily upon the manufacturers as well as on the workmen.

THE CYCLONE'S WORK.

GRAND DESTRUCTION IN WICHITA AND CLINTON, KENTUCKY.

There is much suffering at Wichita and Clinton, Ky., in consequence of the recent cyclone. At the former place thousands of houses were destroyed or made uninhabitable, and at the latter some 2000 of the houses are gone.

SIX INDIANS HANGED.

THE INDIANS, AUSTIN, DILLIE, WILLIS, JONES, GOIN and BURRIS, WERE HANGED FOR MURDER COMMITTED IN THE INDIAN TERRITORY.

Austin was a Chickasaw; Dillie, Willis, Jones, Goin and Burris were Choctaws. The victims were all white men and had been the subject of much rumor. Two men, named Charles and John, were hanged in New York. The bodies were taken to New York.

BIG STRIKE ON HAND.

THE SAILORS AND FIREMEN OF NEW YORK CITY DEMAND HIGHER WAGES.

The sailors and firemen of New York City are preparing for a big strike on April 1st. Secretary George W. Reid was instructed to issue a proclamation making known the determination of the union and appealing to the sailors and firemen all over the world for assistance in the coming struggle. Obligations were sent to England, Australia and California, and the sailors and firemen were asked to support the strike.

THE GAME FLOUGHED.

AN AMATEUR HUNTER FIRED INTO A CROWD OF CHILDREN WITH FATAL EFFECT.

In Marion county, S. C., Saturday afternoon, a crowd of colored children were returning from school, when they overtook a negro boy named McNamee, who had been out hunting. Several of the children began "guying" McNamee because he had failed to secure any game. This angered the boy, who suddenly and without warning raised his gun, and shot the crowd of children, killing one, and severely wounding four others, including McNamee, who was killed, and expressed regret for his terrible deed.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

GENERAL PROGRESS AND OCCURRENCES WHICH ARE HAPPENING BELOW MASON'S AND DIXON'S LINE.

The business portion of Flora, Miss., was burned on Tuesday night. The Times-Democrat pronounces the gravel roads of New Orleans a success, and far preferable to the shell roads which were first tried.

The Lee monument in Richmond, Va., will be unveiled on May 15th. The programme will embrace a parade of military from various parts of the south.

A slight, but pronounced, earthquake, shock was felt generally throughout Columbia, S. C., Wednesday night. No alarm was caused by the disturbance.

A fire occurred in Willis Price's warehouse in Macon, Ga., Tuesday. In which nine hundred to 1,000 bales of cotton were entirely destroyed or greatly damaged. The loss is about $45,000.

Craven Bros., on Thursday, started fire in three furnaces in their glassworks at Salem, N. C. Propositions have been made to the locked-out union men, but if they do not accept the terms offered, the works will be run by non-union labor.

While four boys, between the ages of six and eight years, were playing under the edge of a sand bank in Jackson, Tenn., on Tuesday, the bank caved in, burying them under about ten feet of sand. They were dead when exhumed.

Conductor Frank Layton, of the Alabama Great Southern railroad, was knocked from his train by a water tank and killed Friday night. He was leaning out of the door of the caboose too far, as the train passed the water tank, and was on the head.

The one hundred and third annual communication of the grand lodge of Masons of North Carolina began at Raleigh, Wednesday evening. There are two hundred and thirty-five working lodges with an active membership of eight hundred. The total number of Masons in the state, including active and non-affiliated, is estimated at 15,000. One hundred and fifty lodges were represented. Fourteen new lodges were created during the year.

An alliance jubilee was held at Valdosta, Ga., on Wednesday, and was the grandest success ever seen in south Georgia. There were from 7,000 to 10,000 in town, coming from eight to ten counties in Georgia and several in Florida. Among them were the Lowndes County alliance, the Brooks County alliance, the Berrien County alliance, the Clinch County alliance, and alienances from other points. The day was spent in speaking and feasting.

A Birmingham, Ala., dispatch says: Dick Hawes, the condemned murderer, said little, talks less and says he has little or no hope. When asked if he had any hope of executive clemency, he answered: "No; the governor would not dare interfere in my case." Hawes did not leave food Monday night, and had eaten his last Tuesday. The death watch has been set, and he talks only to his guards. He still declines to see any of his friends, or to talk to any one beyond answering a few brief questions.

Negro-affiliation is the scheme to down the Democracy. Negro-affiliation will down the negro-affiliators, as well as make them small.

The Advertiser says Mr. Terrell, the Alliance lecturer did not use any profanity in his speech at Montgomery, and that he is improving in this particular.

We are pleased to note that one after another of the local Farmers' Alliances in this State, says the Mobile Register, are repudiating for the attempt to make the Farmers' Alliance a political organization. Some of the Birmingham papers say that the Democratic papers of the State "stop the noise" they are on making. The noise has just begun, and the Birmingham press, except the News, is lost in the eyes of the Democratic party.

President Adams, of the Farmers' Alliance, has dictated a boycott against the Montgomery Advertiser. This boycott, however, is working only one way, which is considerably to the disadvantage of Mr. Adams.

Poughkeepsie News-Press: One third of the fools of the country think they can beat the lawyer expounding law, one half think they can beat the doctor healing the sick, two thirds of them think they can beat the minister preaching the gospel, and all of them know they can beat the editor in running a newspaper.

Ex-Gov. Cornell gave a party to about 400 prominent gentlemen at his residence in New York, recently. The only beverage furnished was cold water. The crowd nearly walked the carpets from all the floors as they roamed from room to room, peering, hoping, hunting, but not finding what they counted on obtaining by wholesale.

The Birmingham News says concerning the Adams boycott of the Montgomery Advertiser that it is advised that wholly conspiracies against the business of citizens is unlawful, and that Adams and his associate schemers recently from St. Louis will have a monopoly of the clamorous business of boycott and negro affiliation.

The Birmingham Chronicle says a mistaken impression has been created by the Labor Sentinel in regard to the Knights of Labor in that county not being Democrats. The Chronicle says the election records show that the Democratic Knights of Labor vote carried the county for the Democracy at the last election, though there are Republicans as well as Democratic Knights.

The resolutions passed by the County Alliance of Greene, on the St. Louis demands, ring of the true metal, and are what we expected would emanate from the patriotic members of that body. It says: "We protest against any attempt by members of this body to change the spirit and principles of our constitution, which are non-political, by binding us as individuals or as an organization to any course of political action. We furthermore disapprove of any confederation or affiliation with any organization whose interests and aims are distinct from ours."—Eugene White.

The Centerville Enterprise avoids the issue. Does it favor government control of railroad and telegraph lines? That is a portion of the St. Louis platform that is not Democratic, but embraces the Republican idea of centralization in its worst form. Then again, does the Enterprise favor the use of the negro vote to down the Democracy and elect men who will carry out such principles "independent of party caucus"? These two questions constitute the basis of the opposition to the St. Louis amalgamation, confederation or conglomeration. Let the Enterprise answer these questions yes or no, and its readers will know whether or not it is a Democratic paper. Genuine Democracy repudiates the St. Louis platform and the men who brought it forth. "Beating around the bush" is the interest of him or that man will not deceive.

After reading much about the recent amalgamation of the Farmers' Alliance and Knights of Labor we cannot but think that the Alliance has made a grave mistake; for that order is rapidly losing friends because of the confederation. About fifty newspapers of the State which were previously friendly to the Alliance have since become lukewarm and are no longer interested in its success. What are the reasons for this? The most general charge is that the St. Louis meeting at which the federation was brought about was attended only by politicians, and the political representatives of the Knights of Labor had everything their own way, while the politicians of the Alliance grabbed at everything that was offered, without considering whether or not the offer was in conformity to the principles of the order or to the true spirit of our Democratic institutions. All of the delegates from this State, Kolb, Adams, Carlisle, Harris and Lane, are leading Democratic politicians, except Mr. Lane, and this gentleman was the only one of the Alabama delegates that the record shows opposed the federation, and he has openly repudiated the action of the convention as contrary to the declared principles and purposes of the Alliance.

The amalgamation was effected it is claimed for the purpose of securing national and State legislation in the interest of the two orders. But it has been shown that the organizations differ too essentially to effect such a purpose. The Farmers are producers and sellers and desire legislation that will give them better prices for their produce, and protect them from extortion by other classes. The Knights of Labor are buyers and consumers and they desire legislation that will protect them and enable them to buy the farmer's corn, meat, potatoes, &c., at the lowest prices. This is natural enough. The organizations must necessarily work in opposite directions for two different kinds of legislation.

Another point of wide difference is in this: The Knights of Labor favor the equal division of lands and that all the taxes shall be collected from the land owner. This would enable the banks, manufacturers and merchants to escape taxation, which would be manifestly unjust. The Alliance opposes this idea of the Knights of Labor and claims for every man the right to accumulate as much money and property as he honestly can. This is sound doctrine and good Democracy.

This wide difference in the principles and purposes of the two organizations has but served to confirm the impression that the federation was brought about by politicians for selfish purposes. It falls upon the two orders to dispel this impression. Subordinate Alliances all over the State are seceding from the confederation. The Alliance might further relieve itself of the weight of this unfortunate responsibility by selecting other and better leaders.

The Age-Herald would fain be a teacher of journalistic ethics to the benighted press of Alabama, and denounces all who engage in "a personal campaign"; but then its lesson is lost to us all when it threatens to unearth some political skeletons if so much ventilation of the record of its gubernatorial impossibility does not cease. A vain threat. The public is all agog now waiting for the A-H to trot out its skeleton show. Until this is done the threat is a slander upon every other candidate in the State. Let the A-H parade its museum at once. Contrary to its theory every candidate should expect his record to be ventilated when he offers for position, and it is right and proper that the people should know the record before voting. The A-H should have chosen a man without a record. That paper has made for itself a reputation as a Hudibras of the "all dry and no wool" stripe and may not venture to exhibit its skeletons. If it does not the tocsin will then sound from all sides. "Anybody to beat Kolb." Meanwhile the public is impatiently waiting for a rattling of dry bones to the music of the Age-Herald's tom-tom.

In another column will be found an advertisement of a gentleman of Dayton O. In sending the "ad," he writes that a number of parties in his locality desire to remove to this section of Alabama, and he would suggest that all those having property to dispose of, should write to him. See his advertisement for address.

The Veterans Meet.

CLANTON, ALA., JAN. 22, 1890.
Editor, CHILTON VIEW:—There was quite an enthusiastic meeting of Confederate Veterans at the Courthouse today. Resolutions were passed to hold regular meetings here once a month on the first Saturday, with a request that the CHILTON VIEW and "Shelby News," each keep the appointment standing.

The ladies were also invited to come out to our regular meetings, cheer us by their presence and we will try and interest or amuse them by a relation of a few of the stirring scenes of glorious war, anecdotes of adventures and gallant scenes of camp life, and I have no doubt the ladies could tell many stories of privation and adventure during the war, for there was a life of anxiety care and many bereavements.

A specialty of our next meeting will be the reading by J. Fox Meall of a long and interesting account of his and others successful escape from prison at Elmira, N. Y., rejoining their command in Virginia.

L. A. THORNTON.

Dry Valley Locals.

The many readers of the View have not heard any thing in the way of news from this portion of Chilton in several months. Cyrus seems to have broken his protracted silence and now promises to give news items every week.

During the last cold weather many hags came to their death in the Valley. No inquest was held.

The farmers in this section will have hog and hominy plenty.

Rev. Wilson filled his regular appointment at Concord church Sunday.

Prof. J. A. Moore has a flourishing school at Providence church. He seems to be the right man in the right place.

Health of this vicinity remarkably good.

Mr. J. B. Moore visited Shelby county last week on business.

Corn will not sell in the Valley for fifty-cents per bushel.

Pleasant Grove Academy, has on the roll ninety-one pupils.

Miss Lafaris Denwidder has charge of the Primary classes.

Sunday school at Concord in good condition.

Young men will come to see the lilies of the valley—then imagine a smile and a re-smile.

Short news this time, more next.

May the View live long and prosper exceedingly as it richly deserves.

CYRUS.

Dixie Dots.

Mrs. Thos. Farnell's mother, Mrs. Martin, has been quite sick for a few days, but is now much better.

Mr. Oscar Broadhead has returned home.

Many tools and much freight is being shipped to Dixie for the workmen on the Montgomery, Tuscaloosa & Memphis railroad. The work on the new road is being pushed very rapidly.

The Democratic party has done more for the South than the Farmer's Alliance. And Democracy will continue to hold the fort. With the downfall of Mahone in Virginia the south is still solid on that question.

Poisoned With Malaria.

Mr. S. D. Price, a native of this State but now a prominent and influential citizen of Dallas, Texas, writes under date of April 12, 1889: About three years ago, I was living in a malarial district of Georgia, and while there frightful sores broke out all over my body. The poison in my blood was so bad that it ruined my health and prostrated me. I was at length so reduced in health, and apparently incurable after taking large quantities of different medicines prescribed by my physicians, that they, as a last resort, advised me to go to Hot Springs, as it was the only chance of a recovery left, and in this they expressed their serious doubts that I would derive any benefit from the trip. I went to Hot Springs, and while there took a thorough course of medicine under the physicians, which seemed to benefit but did not cure me, for in one month after my return the jaundice reappeared. I immediately began taking S. S. S., which made me permanently well—well from 1889 until now.

That beautiful glossy sheen so much admired in hair, can be secured by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. There is nothing better than this preparation for strengthening the scalp and keeping it free from dandruff and itching eruptions.

Leading physicians recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Old and young take it with perfect safety. It cleanses the blood, strengthens the nerves, and vitalizes the system. Popular experience has long placed this medicine at the head of tonic preparations.

Death of Mr. Henry Olsen.

On Dec. 1st, the expressive eyes of Henry Olsen, one of Verben's most prominent citizens, closed forever on earthly scenes. To his ear alone sounded the fluttering of angels' pinions; his eye alone saw the radiant beauty of heaven. He was a devoted husband, a kind father, a true friend, and a noble soul. He was a native of Norway, and came to this country in 1848. He was a member of the Lutheran church, and a devout worshiper. He was a man of great energy and business ability, and was successful in many of his undertakings. He was a man of great kindness and generosity, and was beloved by all who knew him. He was a man of great faith and courage, and was a true hero. He was a man of great honor and integrity, and was a true gentleman. He was a man of great wisdom and understanding, and was a true leader. He was a man of great love and compassion, and was a true friend. ## WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

WHEN MAY'S DRESS.

In Missouri there is a woman who carries with her a written permit from the governor to wear man's dress anywhere in the state. Left an orphan when a baby, she grew up used to all kinds of shifts, and finding as the age of fifteen that many another woman finds out later, that petticoats are sometimes a barrier to progress, she assumed man's attire as a simple matter of convenience. She has done all kinds of manual labor that men on a farm are accustomed to, and her special delight is in breaking horses, in which she has wonderful skill. Her name is Emily Paxton, and she is now about forty years old.—New York Sun.

A NOVEL TRICKING.

There have been many odd and effective ways of ornamenting dresses this season, but a New York bride made one that has taken the lead in suggesting a unique style of trimming the gowns of the fair maid who attended her at the ceremony. The material of the dresses was soft white goods. All about the skirt in a deeper border was a Grecian pattern done with common pins. The effect was quite pretty and the trimming could not possibly have been more economical, but if there was a chance to follow the ceremony it is quite reasonable to suppose that these young women must of necessity have declined to participate, not wishing to inflict torture on their innocent partners by puncturing them with the pins, and destroying all the poetry of the waltz.—Harvard Times.

GIRLS RUN FOR BEAUTY.

Running is as natural to a healthy girl as breathing, but it is carefully trained out of her at an early age, and it is possible, and who ever saw a grown woman who possessed that supreme grace of motion? To see a woman run is to look at a goose waddling. Did you ever look at a frigate of Greek galleys running in any classic collection? Did it not impress you with its beauty, health and swiftness, its joy in living? Could you look at the round, supple limbs, sleek with grace and freedom, the short tunic, the lightness and poise of the figure without feeling that these large eyed sound limbed creatures were what woman was meant to be? Many disorders of the complexion come from functional difficulties, and to be able to run is to possess strong limbs which bear life's burden easily.—Mrs. Weston.

THE LATEST FEMININE FASHION.

Two young and pretty women entered a Broadway car, each carrying in her arms a little parcel in the most tender and motherly fashion. So solicitous were they over their respective parcels that a halcyon seemed almost bursting from their lips. They were not nurse girls, so they must be mothers, although it was apparent they were young mothers. Half a dozen men jumped up to offer them seats. The girls giggled as they sat down—and no wonder, for the bundles they carried in such motherly fashion had been deftly improvised, under a sudden inspiration, to represent babies. There was little of them except a crook of the arm and a lace handkerchief to cover a suppositious breast, but enough to deceive a poor, trustful man. The giggle was general, for the girls had obtained seats on a new and original plan.—New York World.

ORIGINEAL FILLETS FOR PRETTY GIRLS.

Grecian fillets for pretty girls to bind over a high collar when wearing classic gowns are three hands of gold fastened together, either quite plain or embossed in Greek key design. Silver and tortoise shell fillets are also made, some in single bands, others three together, and some are ribbons of silver, as flexible as silk, to be twisted about the head as the wearer chooses. Spiral fillets of shell or of gold are to be screwed into low, soft coils of hair, to keep them from falling. Shell combs, with high, delicate carving, pointed to one side, or else quite straight, cost, in light and in dark shades, from $5 to $50. Shell fillets are as popular girls' accessories as the year, single or in pairs, merely carried, mounted with gold twists or knobs, or brilliant with diamonds or pearls. Enamelled flowers are also on such fillets. Short amber shell pins are thrust through coils of tight hair to show plainly and cost only twenty-five cents apiece; gold pins for golden hair and silver pins for gray hair.—Harpur's Bazar.

FASHION NOTES.

Tartan is much used in combination with plain colors. Richly colored head trimmings in leaf patterns find favor. Skirts of ordinary dresses seem to be increasing in length. The skirts of home toilets are almost invariably made with trains. Vandyked fur borders are used in very handsome and rich materials. Small-crochet hat-borders are first choice for smooth cloths. Hat buttons are covered with velvet. Edgings and loops of narrow black silk cord furnish a neat, inexpensive trimming for woolen dress goods. Warm jackets for coaching, driving, etc., are made of leopard-skin, walrus, the size deer, mink or black Russian lamb. It is rumored that the short walking skirt is to be superseded by the inconvenient half long dress when a train is not desired. A new material for rough wear much used in London is Harris cloth, which comes in dull grays and browns mixed with white, and is made in simple styles. It is dyed with seaweed, and takes its name from Harris Island, a Scotch island where it is made. White buckskin is coming into use for the waistcoats of cloth gowns, and collar and cuffs of the same material are seen on some English civies. The buckskin may be restored, when soiled, to its pristine whiteness with pipe clay without the necessity of removing it from the garment. Quakenbush, the youngest of the Australian colonies, is three times as large as France and nearly six times as large as the United Kingdom; yet it contains a population of less than 500,000.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

A man who is not ashamed of himself need not be afraid of his early condition. After all, the joy of success does not equal that which attends the patient working.

Hope is itself a species of happiness, and perhaps the chief happiness the world affords.

Familiarity does not breed contempt, except of contemptible things, or is contemptible people.

A man never sees all that his mother has been to him till it is too late to let her know that he sees it.

Happiness is a perfume which one cannot shed over another without a few drops falling on one's self.

Have a purpose. A worthy purpose will speedily fix the mind and spirit of the mumps and measles, dyspepsia and languor.

You find yourself refreshed by the presence of cheerful people; why not make earnest effort to confer that pleasure on others.

Praise never gives us much pleasure unless it concurs with our own opinion, and extol us for those qualities in which we chiefly excel.

There are certain ignoble facts in life which we can best combat by ignoring them. A slight of almost any sort ceases to be when you cease to consider it.

It takes so little to make a child happy that it is a pity, in a world full of sunshine and pleasant things, that there should be any wistful faces, empty hands, or lonely young hearts.

When the term education is used it should suggest to the thinking mind this question: To what for? Weeds may be cultivated as well as useful plants, and also good and evil both can be taught.

If the principle of teaching is merely to assist one in the obtaining of knowledge, for what purpose is the effort made to guide the mind, when it is the very essence of liberty to seek whatever knowledge the mind craves?

Photographing the Stars.

The following is the method of photographing stars. When the photographer places in the focus of the telescope a highly sensitive photographic plate, the vibrations of the rays of light throw themselves assiduously on the plate and steadily apply to the task of shaking the molecules of silver salts in the gelatine film. Just as the waves of the ocean, by incessantly beating against a shore, will gradually wear away the mightiest cliffs of the toughest rock, so the innumerable millions of waves of light, persistently impinging upon a single point of the plate will at length effect the necessary decomposition, and so engraves the image of the star. It will be observed that this process will be the more complete the longer the exposure is permitted, and thus we see one of the reasons why photography forms such an admirable method of depicting the stars. We can give exposures of many minutes, or of one, two, three or four hours, and all the time the effect is being gradually accumulated. Hence it is that a star which is altogether too feeble to produce an impression upon the most acute eye, fortified by a telescope of the utmost power, yet be competent, when a sufficient exposure has been allowed, to leave its record on the plate. Thus it is that, photographs of the heavens disclose to us the existence of stars which could never have been detected except for this cumulative method of observation that photography is competent to give. No telescope is required as the photographic apparatus takes the exact impression.

Counterfeiters.

Counterfeiters, unlike most other classes of "crooks," are drawn from all ranks of society. Many persons of worthy antecedents drift into crime almost by accident. A due engraver, for instance, in a moment of thoughtlessness, tries his hand at an imitation of a Government note as a mere test of skill. Success in deceiving his friends, perhaps by way of jest, gives him a dangerous impulse toward, and in an hour of weakness the temptation to use his powers for bad, and finds him a ready victim. The same may be true of a die-cutter or metal-worker who makes a matrix for a coin even for the adornment of a bit of jewelry or as an advertising device. The policy of the Secret Service has been a uniform one to discourage everything of the sort. The statutes of the United States on the subject are very sweeping, and their interpretation by the courts correspondingly broad. Where there is plainly no fraudulent intent a person discovered making anything which could possibly be mistaken for a Government coin, or note, or bond, or stamp, or, indeed, for any part of one, is, in a quiet, unobtrusive way, ordered to desist, and on non-compliance declared contumacious, and convicted. This often seems like a serious hardship to innocent makers of fancy goods, but the majority of them yield gracefully enough when the principle underlying the rule is explained to them.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Newspapers as Life Preservers.

General Bussey, the Assistant Secretary of the Interior, has a novel use for newspapers. The other day when the weather was sharp he was preparing to go out of the department building for lunch. A reporter who happened to be in the room at the time was surprised to see him unbutton the lower buttons on his vest, fold up a newspaper and, placing it over his abdomen, button the vest over it.

"I always do that," he said in reply to a surprised inquiry from the reporter, "when I am going to be out in the cold. The newspaper is a non-conductor of heat, and when placed over the stomach preserves the supply in what has been called the reservoir of heat of the body. A newspaper is a good substitute for a overcoat, and in most weather is the best device that people with scanty wardrobes can adopt. Insufficient hedging can be reinforced in the same way, and the newspaper may be said to be the poor man's friend in more senses than one. When chilled by sudden cold a newspaper placed over the stomach soon restores the normal temperature of the body and prevents an attack of pneumonia. I have frequently recommended this use of newspapers, but I find that particularly few people really appreciate its value."—Washington Star.

The hop crop on the continent of Europe is reported at three-fourths of a full crop and one-third larger than last year.

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

CORN STUCK IN THE FEED.

That corn alone is not good feed for growing pigs, most practical farmers have learned, but many do not give the true explanation of the fact. "It is too heavy for the weaker digestion of young animals," is the reason assigned most frequently. But it is true that young animals have less power to digest than do those of mature age? We doubt much if this be the fact. Young animals, properly fed, make more growth and fat from the same amount of feed than those animals which have attained their growth. This would seem to indicate that their digestive powers were stronger, and that we believe to be true. But growth imperatively requires a fully balanced ration, which corn is not. It does not contain in sufficient proportions the elements for making bone and muscle that are indispensable in the feed of growing animals. It will take fat, but in a small animal there is not sufficient room to place it. Hence a pig fed exclusively on corn grows "podgy" and fat, without increasing much in size of frame. The upshot of this does not seem to be properly disposed of, because as it produces only fat there is no longer any room for it. No other domestic animal suffers as does the pig from this ill feeding, because no balance is given so concentrated and poorly balanced a ration. Calves, colts and lambs have hay, corn stalks or straw in addition to corn, but where straw or corn fodder are given largely to growing stock, some other food, if only wheat bran, should be added to corn meal, to supplement its deficiencies as a food ration for young animals. Linnseed meal and cotton seed meal are better than corn for mixing with such coarse feeds.—American Cultivator.

WINTER FEEDING OF COWS AND CALVES.

Feeding in winter is costly because of the expense of harvesting the crops used for the feeding, and the larger consumption of food to sustain the animal heat, so largely spent to overcome the cold of the season. It is often made more costly by neglect to feed liberally at the beginning; the stock quickly running down for want of adequate nutriment, and gaining what has been lost with much difficulty on account of the cold weather. Hence, feeding in the winter requires care, for the best results, a wise selection of food through the season. #### HOW TO ROAST A TOUGH TURKEY.

This suggestion is for the housekeeper who keeps her wash boiler as clean as she does her cupboards or panning dishes, not for the one who uses washing compounds and leaves the remains of them on the sides of the boiler, and not for the one who has the least doubt about her boiler being as fresh and free from unwholesomeness as it was the day she bought it. Of course an old boiler is not to be thought of. To roast a tough turkey to suit the taste of a fastidious party is not an easy thing to do, unless you have hot steam or a fastidious party to use; and the housekeeper who is lucky enough to possess a pot big enough to boil without spoiling the shape of the turkey before roasting, may think herself fortunate. Still, boiling will not do for a turkey what steaming will, and it is for steaming that a roomy wash-boiler of a new or fairly clean turkey is for roasting; set a couple of tin cans in the boiler with water not quite to the top of them; rest your turkey on them, cover the boiler, and steam until the meat begins to be tender, then finish by roasting in the oven, as you would ordinarily—and any one who has not seen your method of cooking could not tell the turkey from a young one.—Prairie Farmer.

STROPPING.

Half a cup of milk, of soda half a spoon, two eggs beaten well, and added very much. Stir now to make this stiff enough to roll. Roll thin; cut in squares (you cannot use it whole); try these "stoppings" in hard to a nice brown.

Lay in a deep dish the party favorite down. To boiling water—boil—roll will do. One cup of sugar added; one-third cup butter.

A Little Cooking Guide, and then together.

Then pour the cakes; serve hot, but they are good cold.

Put one-fourth of a pound of butter.

With a pint of water, in a maçoop; as soon as it is boiling, throw in three-fourths of a pound of the very best flour (stiffed) stir quickly for a few minutes, so as to dry the dough, and take it off the fire. Ten minutes later add, one by one, enough whole eggs to make a smooth dough, but not too soft, and add a little grated nutmeg. Have ready some hot lard; with a tablespoon break out the fritters the size of an English walnut, and drop them, one by one, into the fat. There must be plenty of lard to allow the fritters to swim in it, and do not have your lard too hot else they will be fried before being sufficiently cooked, and of course they will then be heavy. To be well cooked, they should take five to ten minutes to be done. Then roll them out and place them in a towel; take them in powdered sugar, with a little cinnamon; dish up and serve.—New York Observer.

Dennis Donahue, a well-known character in Madison, Wis., died recently of a complication of disorders, caused by forcing into his stomach many things that ought not to be there. He was forty-two years old. After his death his body was opened by surgeons, and in his stomach were found five large jack-knives, four of which had the large blades open. He had also, in the course of his career, amused himself by swallowing snakes, toads, mice and other living creatures.

A Big Field of Corn.

Captain E. S. Drake, a prominent farmer of Marlboro County, S. C., has gathered the phenomenal yield of 344 bushels and forty pounds of corn from one acre. This beats the world's record. The highest yield heretofore that is on record in the National Department of Agriculture is 323 bushels and a fraction, recorded by Dr. J. W. Perkins, near Columbia, S. C., in 1882. Captain Drake harvested 344 bushels and forty pounds of corn from one acre.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

STROPPING.

Half a cup of milk, of soda half a spoon, two eggs beaten well, and added very much. Stir now to make this stiff enough to roll. Roll thin; cut in squares (you cannot use it whole); try these "stoppings" in hard to a nice brown.

Lay in a deep dish the party favorite down. To boiling water—boil—roll will do. One cup of sugar added; one-third cup butter.

A Little Cooking Guide, and then together.

Then pour the cakes; serve hot, but they are good cold.

Put one-fourth of a pound of butter.

With a pint of water, in a maçoop; as soon as it is boiling, throw in three-fourths of a pound of the very best flour (stiffed) stir quickly for a few minutes, so as to dry the dough, and take it off the fire. Ten minutes later add, one by one, enough whole eggs to make a smooth dough, but not too soft, and add a little grated nutmeg. Have ready some hot lard; with a tablespoon break out the fritters the size of an English walnut, and drop them, one by one, into the fat. There must be plenty of lard to allow the fritters to swim in it, and do not have your lard too hot else they will be fried before being sufficiently cooked, and of course they will then be heavy. To be well cooked, they should take five to ten minutes to be done. Then roll them out and place them in a towel; take them in powdered sugar, with a little cinnamon; dish up and serve.—New York Observer.

HOW TO ROAST A TOUGH TURKEY.

This suggestion is for the housekeeper who keeps her wash boiler as clean as she does her cupboards or panning dishes, not for the one who uses washing compounds and leaves the remains of them on the sides of the boiler, and not for the one who has the least doubt about her boiler being as fresh and free from unwholesomeness as it was the day she bought it. Of course an old boiler is not to be thought of. To roast a tough turkey to suit the taste of a fastidious party is not an easy thing to do, unless you have hot steam or a fastidious party to use; and the housekeeper who is lucky enough to possess a pot big enough to boil without spoiling the shape of the turkey before roasting, may think herself fortunate. Still, boiling will not do for a turkey what steaming will, and it is for steaming that a roomy wash-boiler of a new or fairly clean turkey is for roasting; set a couple of tin cans in the boiler with water not quite to the top of them; rest your turkey on them, cover the boiler, and steam until the meat begins to be tender, then finish by roasting in the oven, as you would ordinarily—and any one who has not seen your method of cooking could not tell the turkey from a young one.—Prairie Farmer.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

It is not safe to use rubbers on fruit cans after they are stretched out and yellowed.

A scrubbing brush, warm soap suds and plenty of elbow grease will do wonders on an old dingy cloth.

If windows are wiped off once a week on the inside with a slightly dampened cloth it will save washing so often.

If you have a suspicion of moths in your carpets, scrub your floor with hot water and salt before relaying them, and sweep salt over the carpet once or twice during the month.

Silk thread is soaked in acetate of lead to increase its weight, and persons who pass it through the mouth in threading needles, and then bite it off with their teeth, have suffered from lead poisoning.

When trying to thread a sewing machine, a pin or a needle or in any imperfect place, place a bit of white cloth or paper back of the needle eye. By this method the eye can be found and filled much easier.

Where a house is afflicted with chimney smoke, it should be borne in mind that the best preventive to the nuisance is to open the windows of the room ten minutes before the fire is lit, and not simultaneously with the lighting, as is generally done.

To properly sharpen a carving knife, the carver ought to be held at an angle of twenty to twenty-five degrees on the steel. When the other side of the blade is turned, you must be careful to preserve the same angle. Then draw the steel from heel to point against the edge, using only a slight pressure.

The squeaking of shoes is due to the rubbing of the upper upon the under sole. This is prevented by putting soapstone powder between the two thicknesses of leather, which acts as a sort of lubricant. A shoe which has squeaked can be cured by the dealer or a cobbler simply by rubbing the soles apart, putting in soapstone, and sewing or pegging the leather together again.

At Jack-Knives for Fun.

Dennis Donahue, a well-known character in Madison, Wis., died recently of a complication of disorders, caused by forcing into his stomach many things that ought not to be there. He was forty-two years old. After his death his body was opened by surgeons, and in his stomach were found five large jack-knives, four of which had the large blades open. He had also, in the course of his career, amused himself by swallowing snakes, toads, mice and other living creatures.

Sabbatharian Cats.

In illustration of the cat's intelligence, a writer tells of one named Gussardier, which was fed on horse flesh brought to the door. Every secular day during the week he went out and waited for the coming of the cat's mistress, but never did so on Sundays. Another Sabbatharian cat belonging to Mr. Trubson, of London publisher, always went out to meet his master on his return from "the city," but was never known to make the mistake of going to meet him on Sundays.

A Big Field of Corn.

Captain E. S. Drake, a prominent farmer of Marlboro County, S. C., has gathered the phenomenal yield of 344 bushels and forty pounds of corn from one acre. This beats the world's record. The highest yield heretofore that is on record in the National Department of Agriculture is 323 bushels and a fraction, recorded by Dr. J. W. Perkins, near Columbia, S. C., in 1882. Captain Drake harvested 344 bushels and forty pounds of corn from one acre.

The State Order of Knights of Labor in session at Mobile last week adjourned to meet again in Clanton on July 9th.

A negro murderer was hung in Montgomery on Friday last. He was one of the murderers of Mr. Lewis Fugh, who was murdered and robbed last summer at his home in Montgomery county.

Puck gets off some excellent things in regard to party politics. Here is one of the best things it has gotten off recently:

In a Republican Organ's Office—Telegraph Editor—Here's the lynching of two colored men. Managing Editor—Make a first page display head of it. Telegraph Editor—But it happened in Ohio. Managing Editor—Put it on an inside page, with a one-line head or kill it.

A correspondent of this paper who heard Mr. Terrell's lecture to the County Alliance on last Thursday was much pleased with it. He says the lecturer made it clear that he was a sound Democrat and did not favor any third party. The lecturer it seems was allowed, as we find it easy enough to get any sort of opinion wanted concerning the lecture.

In the midst of the general "slaying" of candidates, we note rising from the "wreck of matter and crash of worlds," a star in the east whose destiny appears just now to be the governor's chair at the State house. Capt. James Crook, of Calhoun, seems to be the "coming man" for the place. He is a farmer, and what is more he is a success.

Bro. Terrell says he has not yet received any part of his salary as lecturer for the Alliance. If the quality of the service he is rendering that noble order is to be judged of by his Alabama speeches it is very questionable whether he ought ever to receive any pay at all. If he depends upon the Treasuries Exchange to pay his expenses and salary he will certainly get left for that institution has already "busted" for many thousands of dollars, leaving many of the farmers of that State with more experience and much less money than they formerly had.—Advertiser.

We are told that after lecturer Terrell read last week's View he entered upon a vigorous denunciation of it. We have no objection to that and don't know what it was our loss that he did not make his denunciation public. We have endeavored to give a fair and impartial criticism of his lecture from two sources. The only objection we have heard to it is that it was "all politics." But plenty could be found to say there was no politics in anything the lecturer said. We can't vouch for either of these views concerning the speech because we were too much pressed with office work to attend it. This wide difference of opinion is all the more comical because of the absurdity, and leads one to the conclusion that some of his hearers were either mentally perverse, or mentally blind. We prefer to give the lecture a charitable construction on what we have heard of it, and we hope that it may do good.

The Alabama Sentinel denies there are any Democratic Knights of Labor in Jefferson and asks to be delivered from all such and is so polite as to call them traitors. We showed this to one of the knights here in our office who came in to pay for the View. He remarked: "I am no longer a member of the Knights of Labor if that is the game to be played." It appears to many in this locality that the Sentinel is endeavoring to ruin the organization of which it claims to be the representative. The paper declares that those knights who worked and voted with the Democracy at the last election in Jefferson are no longer in the order, leaving the impression that they have been expelled for no other cause than that they were true to their party's principles, and it throws at them the epithets of traitors and frauds. Here is partnership of the most ultra kind. The true white men in the order will not be led by such an organ.

Mon. Bro. Terrell.

This gentleman filled his appointment to address the county Alliance at this place on Thursday last, and he delivered an interesting and instructive lecture. He told his hearers how they might improve their condition and become better farmers and more prosperous citizens. He told them to stop fighting the merchants and the professional men, and to read the newspapers and keep abreast of the times, and educate themselves in every possible way that might tend to do happiness and comfort and usefulness.

His abuse of the Montgomery Advertiser was unnecessary, and cannot do the Advertiser any harm, because the Alliance men of the county as a rule have never been patrons of that paper. We know this to be the case, because we have for the past eight years been taking subscriptions in the county for the Advertiser.

As to the politics in his talk a gentleman who heard him says: In the beginning of his address he asserted that the Alliance was non-political, and its members free to vote with such party as they choose. The scheme to organize a third party movement he denounced as supremely ridiculous, though he admitted that, as men, they select such representatives, in all branches of government as would accede to the demands of the Alliance, no matter of what political complexion such representatives might be. He charged the Advertiser with being the enemy of the Alliance; with having asserted that the Alliance was in favor of negro supremacy. That the Advertiser's sole design was to kill Kolb politically. He advised them that if upon the examination of the record of Mr. Kolb, they found him their friend, it was a duty they owed to him to make him governor.

With the exception of the criticism of the Advertiser, Mr. Terrell's speech was very generally pronounced a good one. He gave his hearers good advice on practical affairs, and we trust his advice in this line will take deep root and not be soon forgotten.

Phelan on the Negro.

Congressman Phelan, of Tennessee, in discussing the negro question has the following to say:

I do not regard the removal of the negro from the south as even a remotely possible solution of the social and political problem with which we have to deal. Even admitting his political disfranchisement, it would be impossible. I have always regarded the discussion of these mischievous methods as not only trifling with a grave question, but as in a measure insidious. It injures us by belittling the serious problems with which we have to deal. It causes us to imitate the example of the young soldier who was dreaming how he was going to overwhelm his enemies by his sacrifice to Jove, whilst they were surrounding his camp. I regard as an essential element of the so-called negro question, the most explicit recognition of these facts, that the negro will live, propagate and increase in our section of country, and as a citizen. As to whether he ought to retain it or not, depends upon the standpoint from which it is viewed. From the standpoint of intelligence and appreciation of the responsibilities of citizenship, I think every observant southerner will say he is not worthy as a race, or if you prefer the distinction, as a class to have the franchise. But depriving him of the right to vote is only a temporary relief. The real gravity of the question in my eyes, lies in another field. This is the race question. It is true the exercise of the right to vote brings home to us in its most offensive form the fundamental race difference. But the two great questions in my eyes are: How are we to bring about a status which will remove the friction of co-existence during the present period of the negro's brutal ignorance? and how are we to raise the negro to intelligent and moral citizenship without increasing the race friction?

We hear that some of our good friends—the enemy—have been giving the View "down the country." We appreciate all such criticisms, and beg to say that the View has lots of company, and it is good Democratic company.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Mapleville News.

The Randolph capitalists have been down to invest. Mr. Raney has moved his family here and will commence building immediately. Dr. Brand has bought and we would be glad to have the Dr. with us. He is a Christian gentleman and would be of great benefit to our growing town. Frost of Randolph has bought several acres. Much land is changing hands in this county. Our boom is much retarded for want of surveyors. Buildings will be erected immediately after lots can be located.

Mr. Pruit, of Montgomery, was here last week as was Mr. McMullen, of Selma. Mr. L. H. DuBose was here looking after his landed interests which he is now beginning to appreciate.

It is thought Howison will soon erect a saw mill a few miles west of here to save our wealth of lumber.

Mrs. Eva Gandy has moved to her old home here.

We will call our new town for the land holders at the junction, the union of the names DuBose, Foshee and Glover makes the pretty and unique name of DuFoshever.

Dry Valley Locals.

The beautiful weather reminds us of approaching spring. Some trees have already put forth their tender buds. Farmers have come to the front with the work of the farm. They seem to be in earnest about another crop.

Prof. W. A. Reynolds, who has been teaching near Dixie, has returned home. The widow Gentry and Mr. Killingsworth were united in the holy bonds of matrimony last week.

Several of our citizens attended the lecture at Clanton.

Tax assessor E. G. Rollins was at Concord Church Saturday assessing the taxes of the dear people.

Out sowing seems to be the order of the day in some sections.

Prayer meeting at Concord church on Sunday night has been suspended for a while. Hope it will be resumed in the near future.

Miss Maggie Garner visited friends in Calera last week.

Some of our farmers in this section are buying through the Exchange. Sometimes the View raises its destination in the Valley. Then we are sad.

kindest wishes for the View.

CYRUS.

Just after the war when Henry Grady was quite a young man he declared the true policy for the young men of the south as follows, and has worked on that line ever since:

"We honor our fathers for their bravery, and respect them for their unaltered devotion to their conception of duty. We refuse to apologize for, or belittle them, but with all our hearts we accept the settlement of the war devote ourselves to the restored union. Slavery is forever done with, and no coercion will never again be attempted, but our rights as American citizens remain, the south remains and we will make it more glorious than ever. We dedicate ourselves anew to its upbuilding. As to the negroes, we will do all that justice and humanity require; we will guarantee their freedom and insure them an education, but we cannot submit to their rule. Civilization and progress imperatively demand that the whites shall remain the ruling power."

Sixty Dollars in Cash Prizes.

The Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga., the manufacturers of the great blood medicine, S. S. SWIFT SPECIFIC CO.
Atlanta, Ga.

The View job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

We have received from James V. H. Rochester, N. Y., his Floral Guide for 1899 which is something lovely in the way of a pamphlet containing about a hundred pages with covers that will tempt any one to open and see the contents. It includes a complete list and description of both flowers and vegetables as one would want to see. As we have used his seed for a number of years we can recommend them. Send 10 cents and get a copy of V. H. Floral Guide.

If you suffer from itching pains on moving the eyes, or cannot bear bright light, and find your sight weak and failing, you should promptly use Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve. 25 cents a box.

Eminent physicians everywhere recommend Ayer's Cherry Pectoral as the most remedy that can be had for colds, coughs, and all pulmonary disorders. Ask your druggist for Ayer's Almanac; it is the best publication of the kind, and full of information.

The quality of the blood depends much upon good or bad digestion and assimilation. To make the blood rich in life and strength requires constant use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla. It will nourish the properties of the blood, from which the elements of vitality are drawn.

What enhances the beauty of fine features more than a clear skin? Even plain features are made attractive by a good complexion. To secure this, purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has no equal. Price $1. Six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

Sick headache, wind on the stomach, biliousness, nausea, are promptly and agreeably relieved by Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pills, 25 cents a bottle.

Far better than the harsh treatment of medicines which horribly grip the patient and destroy the coating of the stomach. Dr. J. H. McLean's Chill and Fever, by mild yet effective action, will cure. Sold at 50 cents a bottle.

Save Your Hair.

By a timely use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. This preparation has proved as a dressing. It keeps the scalp clean, cool, and healthy, and preserves the color, fullness, and beauty of the hair. "I was rapidly becoming bald and gray; but after using two or three bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair grew thick and glossy and the original color was restored."—Melvin Aldrich, Quana, Centre, N. H.

"Some time ago I lost all my hair in consequence of measles. After due waiting, so new growth appeared. I then used Ayer's Hair Vigor and my hair grew."

Thick and Strong.
It has apparently come to stay. The Vigor is evidently a great aid to nature."—J. E. Williams, Moreauville, Texas.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past four or five years and find it a most satisfactory dressing for the hair. It is all I could desire, being harmless, saving the hair to retain its natural color, and requiring but a small quantity to render the hair easy to arrange."—Mrs. A. A. Bailey, 9 Charles street, Haverhill, Mass.

"I have been using Ayer's Hair Vigor for several years, and believe that it has caused my hair to retain its natural color."—H. C. King, Dexter, Ia Dry Goods, &c., Walsleyville, Md.

LOCAL LACONICS.

A traveling show was in town the past week.

Miss Augusta Evans has taken a music class at Henry Ellen mines.

Miss Mamie Brushwood is visiting friends here in her former home.

Messrs. A. J. and J. M. Scott visited relatives at Elmore last week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. McCants and children are visiting Dr. Bivings' family.

Mrs. O. A. Duke and Miss Annie Loy visited friends in town this week.

Mrs. W. H. Phillips, of Montgomery, is visiting friends in our town.

Lawyer Shepard, a one-armed veteran from Bibb was in Clanton on business last week.

A dog supposed to be mad created a stir on Main street Monday until he was killed.

Miss Annie Lou Carroll has returned home after a pleasant visit to relatives here.

An oyster supper will be given at the courthouse to-night for the benefit of the Episcopal Church.

Tom Marcus says he is not married yet but judging from his published appointment it won't be long.

Mr. L. J. Hand was unable to attend the meeting of the board of revenue because of sickness in his family.

County Treasurer Parish and Tax Assessor Rollins were in town Monday, and Collector Gentry was down Wednesday.

Mapleville and Dixie locals came too late. Friends, can't you get up a little earlier? Must reach us by Tuesday morning to insure insertion.

The county board of revenue met Monday and were in session two days. We publish a report of the financial condition of the county in another column.

Mr. L. A. Thornton brought to our office on Thursday an Indian vessel cut out of solid rock which he plowed up on his farm near town. The vessel is in a rough bowl shape, and Mr. T. thinks it was the kind of vessel used by the Indians in which to pound up their corn.

A Lady's Perfect Companion.

Our new book by John H. Dye, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in childbirth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness and the many other ills attending pregnancy. It is highly endorsed by physicians everywhere as the wife's true private companion. Cut this out: it will save you great pain and possibly your life. Send two-cent stamp for descriptive circular, testimonials, and confidential letter sent in sealed envelope. Address Frank Thomas & Co., Publishers, Baltimore, Md.

Fertilizers for Sale.

I have contracted for a full supply of high grade fertilizers including Guano, Acid Phosphate, and Cotton Seed Meal, and will have them for sale during the season at the lowest market prices for cash or on time to responsible parties. Give me a call before buying. Respectfully, W. L. SANFORD.

Oyster Supper.

The ladies of the Episcopal church will give an oyster supper at the courthouse Thursday evening, the 13th inst.

Mr. Marcus still on the Carpet and Will Call Sunday if Agreeable.

Ed. CHILTON VIEW—I wish to state through the medium of your valuable paper that the article contained in last week's View about me was a false report gotten up by some one who thought they would have a little fun. I hope now they have had their fun, and will not let such occur again. I am certain I knew who it was that started the report, and as it was one of the fair sex, I will have to let it go, hoping she won't let it occur again. I will call on her next Sunday if agreeable.

T. J. MARCUS.

Misrepresented.

The following communication which we find in the Shelby News shows that our town has been seriously misrepresented by some unknown scribe. This reply of "B." presents the case in its true light and exhibits genuine patriotism. We are not aware of the identity of either scribe:

CLANTON, ALA., Jan. 5th, 1890.

EDITOR NEWS—Sometime since there was an article in your paper signed "Citizen" and in your last issue another signed "C." In replying to both of these articles I am under the impression that "C" and "Citizen" are one and the same man. They are both on the right side at any rate as far as suppressing anything illegal is concerned, but while I fully agree with "Citizen" in this, I most emphatically deny that our town is as immoral as "Citizen" would have the readers of your paper believe. There has been whiskey sold illegally in our town, but I think this cannot now be brought against us. Here I would like it distinctly understood that I am not in sympathy with blind tigers or any other law breakers but am writing this article in defence of Clanton.

"Citizen" says in his article "All that is required is that every man shall realize that the good name of his town is involved in the issue and that he has a duty of patriotism to perform." Now this is the reason why I write this article. I realize that some one by the name of Citizen, who can beat any man in Clanton finding blind tigers, is wanting some one to kill them for him. All right fellow Citizen, we are with you if you will show us your blind tiger, but do not abuse our town without cause, for we realize that the good name of our town is involved.

I for one feel that I have a duty of patriotism to perform and that duty is to defend the good name of our town against an unjust charge. As I said before, I believe the prohibition law has been violated, but it is not unjust to charge our town with her own old sins when she has repented of them and is trying bravely to redeem herself?

Jemison Locals.

The Postoffice Department will establish a money order office at Jemison, beginning April the first, next.

Our merchants complain that "commercial travelers" are getting so thick around Jemison they are becoming a nuisance.

Mr. Thomas Harrison has been quite sick for the past few days, but we hope to see him out in a few days.

Mr. S. J. Heath has also been on the sick list, but we trust he will soon convalesce so as to be out among his friends.

Mrs. Thomas Watson died on Friday last, of angina pectoris. We tender our sincerest sympathies to the bereaved family.

Rev. A. J. Briggs of the M. E. church preached to a large audience here on Sunday last.

Mr. S. Allen, of Birmingham is in our town on business.

Mr. C. J. McCary and wife visited friends here last week.

Dr. McNeill has moved to the Lowery place.

Mr. L. J. Hadd has moved to Jemison and is occupying his new residence.

X. Y. Z.

A GREAT POWER—More than thirty-two thousand public schools of the United States have been supplied with a copy of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary. Think what that means. If there is an average of 50 scholars to each school, it means that constantly a million and a half of American youth have the privilege of consulting and studying this great work in the course of their education. Who can estimate the power for intellectual stimulation and development which is thus actively at work all the time? The pre-eminence of the American people for general accuracy and facility in the use of the English language is not likely to be lost. Well and truly has Noah Webster been called The Schoolmaster of the Republic.

Pimples, blotches, ugly skin, spots, sores and ulcers, abscesses and tumors, unhealthy discharges, such as catarrh, gonorrhea, ring worm, and other forms of skin diseases, are symptoms of blood impurity. Take Dr. J. C. Ayer's Sanguinaria.

CAHEEN'S

GREAT HOLOCAUST

ON DRY GOODS, MILLINERY AND GENTS FURNISHING GOODS, THE TALK OF THE TOWN

WE DID NOT FOOL OUR FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS

With a bombastic, alluring advertisement, as is the vocation of the codfish dry goods houses. We gave you all advertised, and more besides. The public well know that CAHEEN'S name is untrammelled in that respect. In the first place it is no trouble for CAHEEN to buy his goods. Manufacturers are continually after us. Why? Because we plank down the hard cash, and that is what they want.

Having the cash in all emergencies of this kind, we have the advantage of twenty-five per cent under fake dry goods houses in Birmingham, who are compelled to buy their stocks from jobbers on six months' time. In having this great advantage, we tender it to our customers, who imbibed pretty freely of our bargains.

WHAT THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS IS DOING.

APPOINTMENTS BY PRESIDENT HARRISON—MEASURES OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE AND ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

In the house on Monday Mr. Wickham, of Ohio, introduced for reference, a bill, the purpose of which is to prevent gerrymandering in the states. It provides that representatives elected to the fifty-second congress shall be returned from the same district as similar representatives elected to the fifty-first congress.

Mr. Blair on Monday resumed his argument in favor of his educational bill. He read extracts from reports of school commissioners in New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island and other states, showing the bad state of things there in a public school point of view.

The bill introduced for reference, on Tuesday, by Mr. Pierce, to create an agricultural commission to investigate the present depressed condition of the agricultural interests of the country, Mr. Hoar introduced a bill to prescribe in part the manner of the election of members of congress, and it was referred to the committee on privileges and elections.

It provides that in all states of the United States representatives to congress shall be for the districts now prescribed by law, and an apportionment of representatives shall be made by congress according to the census to be taken in 1890. The object of the bill is to prevent gerrymandering in the states.

The bill appropriating $100,000 for a public building at Burlington, Ia., was passed. The senate resumed consideration of the bill to provide a temporary government for the territory of Oklahoma.

The bill educational bill taken up, and Mr. Blair continued his opening speech in support of that measure. Without concluding, Mr. Blair yielded to a motion to proceed to executive business, and after a session for that purpose, the senate adjourned.

The house met Wednesday morning in continuation of Tuesday's session. Debate on the proposed code of rules was continued. Mr. Morse, of Massachusetts, in the course of a defense of the proposed code said: "The business men of the country are demanding business legislation, and that the code of rules is nothing but a set of rules for the benefit of the few, and to the detriment of the many."

In the senate, on Wednesday, Mr. Sherman called up the concurrent resolution heretofore reported by him from the committee on foreign relations, congratulating the people of the United States of Brazil on their adoption of a republican form of government. The resolution is in these words: "That the United States of America congratulate the people of Brazil on their just and peaceful assumption of the powers, duties and responsibilities of self-government, based on the free consent of the governed, and on their recent adoption of a republican form of government."

The resolution was passed unanimously. Between 1,800 and 1,900 persons assembled in the house galleries Wednesday evening to listen to the four district proposed code of rules, and had the pleasure of looking down upon about thirty representatives. Messrs. Rogers of Missouri, Lamo of Illinois, Rogers of Arkansas, Springer of Illinois, Brookshire of Indiana, Shively of Indiana, Wilke of Illinois and Henry of Tennessee, denounced the rulings of the speaker, while they were defended by Messrs. Moore of New Hampshire, Dannel of Minnesota, Houck of Tennessee and J. D. Taylor of Ohio.

As usual, on Thursday, the Democrats objected to the approval of the journal; as usual, a roll-call was needed; and as usual, the Democrats refrained from voting, and as usual, the speaker counted a quorum, and declared the journal approved, by a vote 141 yeas, 1 nay. Consideration of the code of rules was then proceeded with.

The senate on Thursday confirmed the nomination of Blanche K. Bruce to be recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia.

It was not Atlanta's colored lawyer, C. H. J. Taylor, as was reported, but H. C. C. Atwood, a white man, who created the sensation at the Riggs House Monday evening.

All members were present at the cabinet meeting Tuesday, including Secretaries Blaine and Tracy. This is the first time there has been a full attendance at several weeks.

On motion of Mr. Gibson, in the senate on Monday, the bill appropriating $900,000 for a site for a public building at New Orleans was taken from the calendar and passed.

The president has signed the proclamation opening the Sioux reservation, in south Dakota, to settlement. He has also issued an order establishing land offices at Pierre and Chamberlain.

SOUTHERN NOTES.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

A general strike is threatened in the Alabama mining region.

The twenty-sixth Bundes Sangerfest at New Orleans, La., was opened with great eclat Thursday night.

Seven hundred bales of cotton were burned at a New Orleans compress Monday. Loss $80,000; insured.

Ed Johnson and Jim Butts, murderers of Captain Miller, who was killed last October, were hanged at Perry, Ga., on Thursday.

Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, is in Charlotte, N. C. He is there to examine the mineral lands of that section, and says he may invest in some mine.

Benjamin F. Lendhart, a general merchant doing business at Lovell, Gaston county, N. C., made an assignment Wednesday to Alfred Andrews. Liabilities about $8,000; assets $2,000.

News comes from Raleigh, N. C., that Northern men are making large purchases of pine lands in Richmond and Moore counties. Several thousand acres have been bought in the past few days.

The bill to incorporate the Pan-American Railway and Navigation Company passed the legislature Wednesday, and went to the governor without amendment.

The Atlanta, Ga., Chamber of Commerce held its first annual banquet on Thursday night. Among the guests were many prominent southern men. Speeches were made in the discussion of the South's interests and progress.

A dispatch from Raleigh, N. C., says: There was no new development Monday in the oyster war matter. The course taken by the authorities is firm and sensible, and the matter will probably go into the courts at once, so that the question at issue can be legally settled.

The contract was let Monday for building the Chattanooga Southern railroad to run from Chattanooga, Tenn., to McLeester's Cove, in Walker county, Ga., a distance of twenty-five miles. The road will open up forests of fine timber and beds of iron ore and coal.

There is a strong movement to have the study of agriculture introduced into the public schools of the rural districts of the South. Hon. P. J. Berghman, of Augusta, Ga., and Hon. Daniel Dennis, of Mississippi, are pushing the matter before the public.

President E. T. Barnes, of the Alliance Peanut Union, who resides at Newsum's, in Southampton county, Va., announces officially that the union has resolved that the minimum price of farmers' stock of cleaned peanuts shall be 6 cents per pound.

The directors of the Tampa, Florida, Branch Alliance exchange met recently in that city to transact important business, and a general invitation was extended to all the sub-alliances in that county to be present and discuss matters pertaining to the welfare of the order.

Citizens of Mobile, Ala., on Wednesday, completed a quarter million dollar subscription to the preferred stock of the Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City railroad, the amount needed to secure the building of the road from Mobile to Jackson, Miss., in one year from date.

Wednesday night all the prisoners in Durham county, N. C., jail made their escape. During the night a rear window was broken, and a key was handed in tied to a long pole. The key fitted the door of the cells. The combination lock was unlocked and the prisoners released themselves.

A dispatch of Wednesday, from Piedmont, Ala., says: A great crowd is here from many states. The sales of lots came to $125,000. In addition to the works heretofore announced, a hundred ton furnace is secured. Main street lots were sold up to $125 a front foot.

President E. T. Stockhouse, of the South Carolina State Alliance, has been to Charleston to organize a sub-alliance in that county, and now there is only one county in the state, Beaufort, that has no Alliance. The total membership now amounts to over 30,000, with a steady increase every month.

The trustees of the State Baptist Female university, on Wednesday, decided by ballot to locate it at Raleigh, N. C. Durham had offered $50,000 and a site for the college; Oxford offered $50,000 and a site; Raleigh offered $35,000 and a site; Greensboro offered $35,000 and a site.

COTTON STATISTICS.

NINE-TENTH OF THE COTTON HAS LEFT THE PLANTATIONS.

Cotton returns of the department of agriculture, for February 7, show that nine-tenths of the proportion of the crop which has left the plantation. The consolidation make 90.4 per cent, leaving 9.6 per cent to still go forward. About nine-tenths of the crop has, therefore, been reported in sight, or in small stocks unreported in the department of commerce, and in transit.

State averages are as follows: Virginia 87, North Carolina 89, South Carolina 90, Georgia 90, Florida 98, Alabama 90, Mississippi 91, Louisiana 89, Texas 92, Arkansas 90, Tennessee 87. The average date of the close of picking is about the same as last year in Georgia, North Carolina, Louisiana and Tennessee, and earlier in the Carolinas, Florida and Arkansas and later in Alabama and Texas.

The average of county dates is December 12, ranging from November to January. The proportion of seed sold to oil mills has been found difficult to estimate, but is apparently not more than five per cent of the crop, possibly between 600,000 and 1,000,000 tons. The largest proportion reported is in Louisiana, followed by Georgia, Arkansas, Texas, Mississippi, Alabama and the Carolinas.

The average state prices, as consolidated, are: Texas, 16 cents; Louisiana, 15 cents; Mississippi, 14 cents; Alabama, 13 cents; Georgia, 12 cents; Florida, 11 cents; South Carolina, 10 cents; North Carolina, 9 cents; Virginia, 8 cents. Returns of quality are very high, except in Virginia and North Carolina, and in Tennessee and Arkansas.

It is reported in all states of the gulf coast, from about the middle of the cotton season, as follows: Virginia, 80; North Carolina, 81; South Carolina, 82; Georgia, 83; Alabama, 84; Louisiana, 85; Mississippi, 86; Arkansas, 87; Tennessee, 88. The damage by insects was the greatest in Arkansas and Texas. In Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and North Carolina it was general, but less severe. Georgia and South Carolina suffered less. The loss from the boll worm was in Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana and Texas greater than that from the caterpillar.

THE AGENTS ARRESTED.

THE PROTEST OF ENTIRE, S. C., OBJECT TO REMOVAL OF THE MEMORIAL.

News comes from Raleigh, N. C., that on Saturday, labor agents, one for the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia, and the other representing the Tennessee and North Carolina, had a lively experience at Raleigh. They had secured about four hundred negroes, whom they were taking away on a special train. The white people there had said they would not permit the labor agents to continue their work of the removal of the negroes. Consequently a couple of men unceremoniously the cars and then stopped the train. Hill and Jones, the agents, were arrested. Upon signing a paper stating that he would never return to that section, Hill was released. Jones consented to be taken to the station on a train, and then took the negroes on to Atlanta.

The case created much stir. The sheriff in that section made all the negroes take their names before they leave, and some have had to pay three times what they were worth. The agents are now in jail.

THE GRADY MONUMENT.

OVER $80,000 RAISED—WHERE THE MONUMENT WILL BE PLACED.

The Grady monument fund has reached about $80,000. The latest addition, received Saturday, through Cornelius N. Bliss, was $1,000, from the New England society. There has been much discussion as to the most appropriate place for Grady's monument. Almost everybody is having one of the Grady monuments, and the society has been asked to place the monument in the city of New Orleans, where the tale of Grady's martyrdom will continually be told and new ones will be added.

THE MORMONS DEFEATED.

SALT LAKE CITY IS NOW UNDER CONTROL OF GENTILES.

A dispatch from Salt Lake City, Utah, concerning the election there, says: Everything is now quiet. Business has resumed its normal condition, and were it not for the decorations upon the houses of the Gentiles, there would be no indication of the great political battle which closed Tuesday night. Official returns show George A. Scott, Gentile, for mayor, a majority of 800; Louis H. Yarns, Gentile, for recorder, 589; J. B. Walton, Gentile, for treasurer, 550; S. R. Clute, Gentile, for assessor, 466; J. M. Young, Gentile, for marshal, 778. The remainder of the general ticket, including fifteen councilmen was elected by majorities ranging from 800 to 400. This gives them control of the municipal council for the first time in the history of the city. Mormon organs while they concede their defeat, specifically charge that it was accomplished by frauds of the most flagrant character, and these they describe in detail. There is no suggestion, however, of anything but submission.

THREATENED TROUBLE.

A GREAT STRIKE MENING IN THE ALABAMA MINING REGION.

Dispatches to the Tradesman, of Chattanooga, Tenn., from the Alabama, involving thousands of coal miners, causing the close of twenty black furnaces to close down. Tradesman representatives have closely investigated the situation, and state that the strike inaugurated a few days ago, when 500 miners of the Debardeleben company quit work threatened by the company with a general strike. The Debardeleben company quit work because the company decided to accede to their demands. First, that they be furnished posts, ties and rails. Second, that no boy under seventeen years of age be permitted to work in the mines. Third, that a committee be permitted to regulate working hours in each mine. Miners have referred the matter to a committee of the Knights of Labor, and await their decision.

SEVEN BOYS DROWNED.

THEY WERE TAKEN A RIDE ON THE RIVER AND THEIR BOATS WERE CAWLED.

A special from New Orleans says: A sad accident occurred Sunday afternoon in Carrollton, Miss. Eight boys, between the ages of thirteen and eighteen, all residents of the upper city, secured two vessels and jumped into the river, intending to take a ride on the river. Their course led them between two empty coal barges lying at the head of Octavia street. There was a strong current running at the time, and despite their efforts, the boys were hurled by the current against the barges, causing both boats to upset and sweep the boys into the river. The boys were thrown into the river and drowned. Their names were: Frank Landry, George Simpson, Willie Winston, Marion Perriere, Louis D. Falds, Alvy Falds, Eddie Knecht, Wilton Bobby, the only occupant of the boat who escaped, saved himself by catching on to one of the overturned boats.

ALL DROWNED.

AN ENTIRE FAMILY OF SIX PERSONS DIED A WATERY GRAVE.

The four children of Jacob B. Clats were skating on the lake at New Orleans, about six miles from Kingston, N. Y. Sunday afternoon, when the ice, which was but a few inches thick, gave way, and the little ones were precipitated into the water. Their shouts were heard by the members of the family, who lived near by, and the father and mother rushed to the rescue. By the time the parents reached the lake, the children had disappeared beneath the ice. The mother, frantic with the thought of the children's peril, rushed upon the ice, which gave way beneath her weight, and she sank below the surface. Mr. Slater then attempted to reach his wife, and he, too, was drowned. The entire family is wiped out of existence.

AMATEUR THEATER.

REHEARSAL, GEORGIA, MAY BE ENTERTAINED BY A BAND OF JOVIAL BOYS.

Quite a sensation was created in Birmingham, Ala., Saturday by the discovery that a number of boys, members of a band of amateurs, had been discovered by the police, and were being taken to the city hall for a hearing. The boys, who were between the ages of ten and fifteen, were found by the police while they were rehearsing for a performance of a play. The boys were taken to the city hall, and were being held there for a hearing. The police were looking for a band of juvenile delinquents, and the boys were found while they were rehearsing for a play. The boys were taken to the city hall, and were being held there for a hearing. The Montgomery Evening Journal is six months old. A bright and interesting paper it merits continued success.

A recent communication from Rev. S. M. Adams, of Bibb county, published in the Montgomery Advertiser gives evidence that the gentleman is illiterate. We sympathize with him in his lack of early advantages as it may not be altogether his fault. Yet if the fault was wholly with others he himself must bear the consequences.

The Alliance Journal published in Montgomery is filling a long felt want in the way of agricultural and horticultural literature in Alabama. It is a pleasure to read such a neatly printed and well edited journal. Its contributors are men of influence and standing throughout the State, and it contains information for all classes of people.

The Mobile Register of the 6th was a splendid paper. It was full of matter going to show that Mobile is the natural gateway for imports and exports to and from the West Indies, Central and South America. The map published also shows the proposed line of the Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City Railroad, the building of which is now an assured fact. Mobile is to be congratulated upon the bright prospect that it opens before her.

We notice in the Tuscaloosa Gazette that one of the Alabama Midland railroad officials states that it is possible that the Midland road will not go to Centerville but may run within five miles of that place and pass through Scottsboro instead of Centerville. Verily, our good friends, the newspaper transcendentalists of Centerville, might find it more profitable to cease their grandiose discussions of politics and get a handle on themselves after that railroad.

A cartoon concerning the infamous St. Louis resolutions, came out last week with about a page of the Bibb Blade denouncing them in toto. Why such exhaustive and vigorous treatment of a "dead issue"? as the Enterprise styles the resolutions. We would like to know where Mr. A. stands in regard to the resolutions. As he has played on both sides we find it difficult to locate him. There is no doubt of one thing, however, and that is that those resolutions are a very live issue, even in Bibb.

R. R. Savage Judge of Probate of Cherokee County was on Saturday last removed from office by the Supreme Court on the charge of habitual drunkenness. The Montgomery Advertiser says: "The case is an unusual one, the first of the sort ever tried in Alabama, and the result has been awaited with general and peculiar interest."

Some months ago impeachment proceedings were instituted against R. R. Savage, Judge of the Probate Court of Cherokee county, on the charge of habitual drunkenness. The trial in the Supreme Court was conducted by able attorneys for the State and for the defense, and the testimony of a large number of witnesses was taken and considered. The decision of the Supreme Court sustains the charge and removes Judge Savage from office.

The Birmingham Methodist Advocate pertinently says: "What do some of our preachers and boards of trustees mean by allowing just any sort of meeting held in our houses of worship? Not long since we read an account of a big Alliance meeting held in a church that we built and dedicated to God years ago. Commissioner Kolb was present and made a big agricultural speech. We protest against anything a desecration of the house of God and insist that it is the duty of presiding elders and quarterly conferences to look into this matter and take proper steps to correct such abuses. See to it that candidates for Governor and everybody else find some other place in which to hold their meetings. These houses have been dedicated to the worship of Almighty God, and should be used for no other purpose.

GEORGIA ALLIANCE FOR THE PEOPLE.

The Order's Overwhelming Opposition Strongly Voiced by Its Organ.

Atlanta Alliance Farmer. The following is clipped from the Sentinel a Union Labor paper published in Chicago.

An open letter to the Alliance and Citizens of Georgia, from M. Davidson, President F. A. 1050 of Georgia.

The letter's most significant paragraph is this: "Select us as men and co-operate at the ballot box. Let us have a State conference in the near future; write to R. L. Burks, Atlanta, and advise him to issue a call for a conference within two months and put in a full State ticket; and a Congressional ticket in every district in the State."

There are two objects in presenting this letter to the readers of the Sentinel, one is to show the true attitude of the Alliance in Georgia as to politics, which has been presented to the world in the Chicago paper, and the other object is to deny that the sentiment therein expressed is the sentiment of the Farmer's Alliance in Georgia, and show why any third party movement would be very bad policy even if it could be justified by principle, which it cannot.

Deep as the farmers of this State are interested in their own financial prosperity, and however much they may desire and strive for conditions that will tend to increase the possibility of making farming a thriving and prosperous occupation, there is one question, now political, that is dearer to them than all their wealth, dearer even, if necessary, than life itself, and that is the social purity and supremacy of the white race. So long as the negro strains for social and political supremacy by casting a solid black vote, just so long must the white men of the South remain "solid" in self-defense.

But aside from the principles involved, it would be a suicidal policy for the Alliance to countenance a third party movement. No class can demand men and measures both without being subject to the accusation of desiring a class government; there always seems to be a perfect understanding, by common consent, that a class candidate must formulate a platform to conform to the wishes of those whose votes they expect to receive. Therefore, a class demanding measures from a party compelled to have their votes is master of the situation and may dictate very advantageous terms, but a class having a candidate instantly becomes a beggar for votes and the only inducement they will have to offer for them will be some concessions in their platform.

The overwhelming sentiment of the Alliance of Georgia is "No partisan action whatever. Let the political parties run the candidates."

The Third Party Movement.

Alabama would be the poorest place in the world to start a third party. The second party indeed is a miserable failure. —Birmingham Chronicle.

But it is started and it will take something more than the old party to stop it. —Wednes Observer.

The observer states the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth in this particular. The third party is here and here to stay. —Alabama Sentinel.

The Sentinel speaks truthfully, but unlike its contemporaries, knows not how to explain its ideas sufficiently to be understood, and thereby calls forth envy and prejudice. If it is the Alliance that is referred to, you can call it a party if you wish, or even a political party, but must not view it as in opposition to the two old and stable parties which the people have looked to for the security and protection of their rights but as opposing combines of capitalists and monopolists who have placed the laboring man between the upper and nether millstones of oppression. —Scottsboro Age.

How is this? From an occasional glance over the columns of the third party papers we concluded that the new party was to oppose both the old parties. But here is the Progressive Age taking a more sensible tack. Will the third party adopt the views of the Age? We doubt it. There is a large grain of humor in the way the third party follows mix things up. Here is what the Labor Advocate says: "Give us something new. Let us do away with both the republican and democratic parties and put Capital and Labor, Wrong and Right, in their places, and crown the whole by electing Terence V. Powderly, President."

So the Advocate wants to mix up both Wrong and Right, both Capital and Labor and install them in power. Good friend, these four fellows are in power already and will be continue as long as time lasts and man governs the world.

Draw Your Own Conclusion.

The Alabama Sentinel says that the View has drawn a false inference from the following: "As we do not wish to do the Sentinel or its order any injustice we publish its own statement to let our readers draw their own conclusion."

A great many people have been misled, like the Montgomery Advertiser, into thinking that the Knights of Labor in this part of the State are antagonistic to the Democratic party. This has been an error created by the Sentinel, a paper published in the interest of organized labor. The Sentinel does not like the Democratic party and it professes to believe that the Knights of Labor in this county are opposed to the Democracy, but a good large majority of them are Democrats of the best kind. There are Democratic Knights and Republican Knights and we know that the Democracy has always had these Knights in its councils and they have done good work in every election. They are as true as steel and will always be right shoulder with the white people of the State. We speak by the record. —Birmingham Chronicle.

The Chronicle is right. The Sentinel does not express the sentiments of the Knights of Labor when it creates the impression that the Knights of Labor are opposed to the Democratic party. In the last election for county officers in Jefferson county there was a fierce contest and it was generally understood that the working men, a large number of them being Knights of Labor, were the cause of the overwhelming Democratic majority in that election. —Alliance Advocate.

If the editor of the Alabama Alliance Advocate had been better posted he would not have penned the above. There was a fierce contest in Jefferson county at the last election in which the Democracy was out-voted, and if justice had been done Jefferson county would today be governed by Knights of Labor officials. But the privilege of the ballot and its sanctity was violated most unblushingly, our victory stolen, our votes accounted and falsified to bring about a so-called Democratic victory, and we are sorry to say that a few renegade Knights, traitors to the cause of the people, assisted in this outrage of the rights of the sovereign people. From such Democratic Knights as these may the Lord deliver us, and they no longer are to be found within our ranks. —Alliance Advocate.

We drew from the above was that the Sentinel had made a wholesale reading out of Democrats from the order. We do not think our conclusion was due to prejudice or bias as the Sentinel infers, so much as it was due to the rather radical and ambiguous style of expression which characterizes the paragraph from the Sentinel. We have not seen such a bitterly expressed charge against the Democracy of any county since Arthur Bingham was running the State Journal during the reconstruction era. "They are no longer to be found within our ranks" may possibly refer only to those Democratic Knights who voted and worked for the Democratic ticket. Who can tell? Guess at it for yourself.

This crude manner of expounding its ideas with reckless vituperation will hurt its cause, and it seems, has brought contempt upon the paper at home, as none of its town papers would notice its charge. Let the Sentinel read the article in this paper taken from the Atlanta Alliance Farmer, and it will find some wholesome suggestions and practical points on class politics.

HAWES LETTER WRITING.

He Evidently Intends Committing Suicide.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Feb. 17th.—Last night Dick Hawes wrote two letters—one to Miss May Story, the young lady whom he married at Columbus, and the other to Ed. Weaver, of Marion, Ind. He gave them unstamped to Deputy Gus Ellard, who turned them over to Sheriff Smith, and he opened them. Both said when the letter was received the writer would be dead, which plainly meant that Hawes intended to commit suicide. The letter to Miss Story said his late confession, in which he claimed that he paid John Wylie to kill his wife and frame was false. He did it to get even with Wylie, who had once, while both were in jail here, betrayed a plot Hawes and the other prisoners had on foot to escape.

Well and Happy.

I take pleasure in submitting the following statement of facts that you may know the great benefit that has resulted from the use of your Specific in the case of my little daughter, now ten years of age. The child, when two years of age, had a severe attack of scarlet fever, which left her with a shattered constitution. Among other evidences of impaired nutrition was what the doctors called softening of the bones. In her fifth year she happened to be a slight accident which resulted in the dislocation of the hip joint, and from the irritation thus set up, terrible abscesses of the hip ensued. The abscesses, despite the best medical treatment that could be obtained, remained for three years, discharging continuously. At this time, through the influence of friends, I put her on your S. S. S. When this treatment was commenced the abscess was very large, having six perforations, pus discharging through them all. During this treatment several spools of bone came out, and by the time she had finished her fifth bottle the abscess had entirely healed, her appetite and general health had been restored; in short she was well and happy and so continues.

We return thanks to Congressman Cobb for an interesting public document.

The View man had lettuce grown in his garden this year on his table last week.

Miss Jennie Wilson, of Ashby, was in Clanton visiting relatives the past week.

Mrs. W. H. McNeil has returned to Montgomery after a visit of a month in our town.

The L. & N. pay car made some of the folks in these parts happy on Thursday.

Mr. C. W. Mitchell, of Verbena, was in town with his usual load of cabbage on Saturday.

Mr. J. B. Timberlake, of Louisville, was in town the past week with his friend, Clerk Foshee.

Prof. A. J. Scott and Miss Annie Mahone attended the teacher's institute at Jamison Saturday.

Rev. E. Stillwell returned from Troy, Ala., Friday, where he had been to attend a Baptist Congress.

Mr. Oscar Mullins and bride occupy the Lewis residence and have gone to house-keeping.

Rev. A. J. Briggs preached two excellent sermons to a large and attentive congregation last Sunday.

Mr. Sinnot will preach at the Methodist church next Monday night. All are invited to hear him.

Mr. S. T. Nelson will not build but has opened a woodwork and blacksmith shop in the McKee building.

County Superintendent Hicks was in town Saturday for a short time. He went up to Jamison to conduct the institute.

We noticed our young friend Lucien Day mending a front gate the other day. That's right. Every young man should mend the front gates that he helps to break down by swinging on them.

Messrs. Williamson & Bentley, have formed a real estate agency as will be noticed by their card in this paper. Any business entrusted to them will secure prompt and satisfactory attention.

Fertilizers for Sale.

I have contracted for a full supply of high grade fertilizers including Guano, Acid Phosphate, and Cotton Seed Meal, and will have them for sale during the season at the lowest market prices for cash or on time to responsible parties. Give me a call before buying.

Respectfully,
W. L. SANNEY.

The L. & N. railroad will erect a new tank near town.

Mr. J. L. Garman has taken a job with the Dora Coal Mining Co. on the Kansas City, Memphis & Birmingham R. R. north of Birmingham. He has a contract to erect cottages for the company during the year.

The Sunday school district meeting of the Unity Baptist Association met at the Mulberry Baptist Church Saturday, the 15th inst. A good representation was in attendance from the churches. The introductory sermon was preached by Rev. W. J. Ruddick. Rev. C. C. Huckabee was elected Moderator.

The reports of the schools were very encouraging. The discussions of the various subjects were interesting and lively. The meeting was quite a success which is attributable to the earnest effort of pastor Burns. Sunday at 11 a. m. Rev. E. Stillwell, of Clanton, preached the missionary sermon to a very large audience, and a collection for State missions was taken amounting to $35.00. The brethren at Mulberry entertained the visiting brethren in royal style. Dr. Caffey and A. J. Brooks represented the Verbena church.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Verbena Verbinge.

The spring weather has caused the budding out in our midst of two young M. D.'s just from their respective Alma Maters. Verbena fears grave results.

Messrs. Boykin & Williams have moved their goods into Mr. Mullin's store. We hope that does not portend the loss to our village of the latter gentleman and his estimable family.

Friday night the Amateurs of Verbena will present at the Academy the result of two week's theatrical preparation. The proceeds go toward a new Baptist.

Dixie Dots.

We are having some very cold weather now. Quite a sudden change. So much spring-like weather has made fruit trees bud out, and some have bloomed.

A few people have planted their gardens, and have some vegetables up and doing well. English peas look fine.

Our friend, Mr. L. C. Parnell left our midst a few days ago for Marion where he will attend the Military school. We wish him much success.

Our depot agent is kept quite busy all the time. So much freight shipped here, some for the new R. R., and a great deal of fertilizer, which the farmers ordered. This speaks well for them.

Messrs. T. E. Callier & Son are doing a fine business in the mercantile line. "Nox."

Stanton Notes.

Rev. Dr. Cleveland filled his regular appointment in the Baptist church here to day. He preached an able and interesting sermon from 6th Chapter 8th verse of Amos; "Behold I will set a plumb line in the midst of my people Israel, I will not again pass by them any more."

Mrs. Thomas, and her daughter Miss Carrie, attended the Teachers Institute, at Jamison, Friday and Saturday, and express themselves well pleased with their trip.

A heavy joke was played on a young man from a neighboring village one night not long since, and we give it as told us. The young man had escorted a young lady home from church, and intended spending a pleasant hour or two, but his pleasant anticipations were cut short by another young man rushing into the house seemingly in the highest stage of excitement informing young man No. 1 that his brother was dying and to hurry home as fast as possible and he made no delay in making his exit. The night was dark, and on his way to the railroad he ran over a stump demolishing his Sunday breeches. He finally reached the railroad, and down it he ran, forgetting in his excitement the cattle guard in which he tumbled, spraining his ankle. At last he reached home, finding his supposed dead brother chopping wood.

Boys these kind of jokes are too serious to indulge in. You might tickle the wrong man some time, like, once upon a time, a cousin of the writer's did.

The missionary society had a Valentine party at the residence of Mr. R. Cox, Friday night which netted $9.00. The affair was enjoyable, and every body found lots of funny things to laugh at.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishings goods.

A Lady's Perfect Companion. Our new book by John H. Dye, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in childbirth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness and the many other ills attending pregnancy. It is highly endorsed by physicians everywhere as the wife's true private companion. Cut this out: It will save you great pain and possibly your life. ## GREAT HOLOCAUST

ON DRY GOODS, MILLINERY AND GENTS FURNISHING GOODS, THE TALK OF THE TOWN

WE DID NOT FOOL OUR FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS

With a bombastic, alluring advertisement, as is the vocation of the codfish dry goods houses. We gave you all advertised, and more besides. The public well know that CAHEEN'S name is untrammelled in that respect. In the first place it is no trouble for CAHEEN to buy his goods. Manufacturers are continually after us. Why? Because we plank down the hard cash, and that is what they want. Having the cash in all emergencies of this kind, we have the advantage of twenty-five per cent under fake dry goods houses in Birmingham, who are compelled to buy their stocks from jobbers on six months' time. In having this great advantage, we tender it to our customers, who imbibed pretty freely of our bargains.

WHAT THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS IS DOING.

APPOINTMENTS BY PRESIDENT HARRISON—MEASURES OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE AND ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

In the senate on Monday Mr. Chandler presented several petitions to the senate from Mississippi, complaining of the suppression of the republican vote in that state, and representing that the "so-called legislature of Mississippi" had recently enacted a law for establishing a new constitution of the state on the 12th of August, 1890; the same not to be submitted to the people for ratification, and that it was the avowed purpose of the democrats to employ fraudulent methods to deprive many intelligent citizens of their franchise. Referred to the committee on privileges and elections. Mr. Chandler offered a resolution calling on the attorney-general for information as to the recent suppression of W. B. Saunders, United States deputy marshal for the northern district of Florida. Mr. Blair presented the credentials of Mr. Blackburn for his new senatorial term from the 4th of March, 1891, which were placed on file. The senate then proceeded to business on the calendar and passed about two dozen bills (unopposed), including the following: To enable the secretary of the interior to locate Indians in Florida upon lands in severalty, appropriating $10,000 for a statue and monument to James Madison in the city of Washington. The Blair educational bill came up as "unfinished business," and Mr. Blair resumed his argument in support of it. He occupied about three hours, but did not close his argument.

The senate, on Tuesday, ratified the British extradition treaty, with minor amendments. The treaty makes the following crimes extraditable, in addition to those specified in 1842: "1. Murder, 2. Counterfeiting, or altering money, or putting the same in circulation, 3. Embezzlement, larceny, obtaining money or goods under false pretences, or receiving the same, knowing them to have been wrongfully obtained, 4. Fraud by bailer, banker, agent, factor, trustee, director, member or officer of any company, made criminal by the laws of both countries, 5. Perjury or subornation of perjury, 6. Rape, abduction, child stealing, kidnapping, 7. Burglary, 8. Pilferage by law of nations, 9. Mutiny at sea, wrongfully sinking or destroying a vessel, or attempting to do so; assaults on the high seas, 10. Crimes and offenses against the laws of both countries for the suppression of slavery and slave trading. Extradition is not to be had for political offenses, nor shall any person, surrendered by either party, be tried for any other offense than the one for which he was extradited. The treaty shall not apply to any crimes committed before its ratification.

The resolution heretofore offered in the senate by Mr. Chandler, calling on the attorney-general for information as to the suppression of W. B. Saunders, deputy United States marshal in the northern district of Florida, was taken up on Wednesday and Mr. Pasco proceeded to address the senate in explanation of the facts and circumstances of the case. Mr. Pasco had not concluded his address when the hour of 3 o'clock arrived, and the education bill came up as unfinished business. Mr. Blair, however, yielded the floor to Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, on whose motion the senate appropriated $100,000 for a public building at Dodge, Iowa, was taken from the calendar and passed. Mr. Blair then resumed his argument in favor of the education bill. In the house, on Wednesday, Mr. Butler introduced a bill for the appointment of patents providing for the appointment of representatives on the part of the United States to the international industrial conference at Madrid, Spain, April 1, 1890. Mr. Howell, Illinois, chairman of the committee on elections, gave notice that he would call up the West Virginia contested election case of Atkinson vs. Peedleton for consideration next Wednesday. Mr. Reid, of Iowa, in behalf of the judiciary committee, called up a bill to regulate the sittings of the United States courts in the district of South Carolina, and it passed. The house then went into committee on the bill for the consideration of the bill authorizing the appointment of an assistant secretary of war. The bill was favorably reported from the committee of the whole to the house, and the Oklahoma bill was taken up. The remainder of the day's session was occupied in the discussion of the Oklahoma bill, but without action. On Saturday afternoon, March 2nd, was set apart for delivery of messages upon the late representative Edward J. Ray, of Louisiana, and Thursday evening, April 3d, was fixed for the delivery of eulogies upon the late representative S. S. Cox, of New York.

CURRENT NEWS.

CONDENSED FROM THE TELEGRAPH AND CABLE.

THINGS THAT HAPPEN FROM DAY TO DAY THROUGHOUT THE WORLD, CULLED FROM VARIOUS SOURCES.

At New York, Thursday, the grand jury handed indictments against George A. Fell, James A. Simmons and ex-President Wallach, of the Lenox Hill bank, charged jointly with conspiracy in defying the State banking laws. The charge against Fell, Simmons and Wallach was grand larceny in the first degree, in taking $31,000 worth of bonds.

A GOOD SHOWING.

NEW ENTERPRISES STARTED IN THE SOUTH WITHIN A WEEK.

The list of new enterprises organized in the south during the week show unprecedented activity in the sale of mineral and timber lands in large tracts and organization of a company with local and outside capital to build new towns and establish new industries. This activity is general, extending from Virginia to Texas. Among the large enterprises reported for the week is a $1,500,000 coal and iron company in Birmingham, the contract for buildings for a $500,000 cotton mill in Florence, Ala., purchased by Alabama capitalists; of two furnaces and mineral property for $900,000; a $300,000 cotton mill in Arkansas, a $250,000 car-building company in Atlanta, a $250,000 brick and tile works in Brunswick, a $200,000 phosphate company in Florida, $200,000 cotton mill company in Georgia, $100,000 pulp making in South Carolina, $100,000 cigar mill in North Carolina, $200,000 cigar and tobacco company in Roanoke, Va., twenty new iron furnaces at Pulaski, Va., two at Johnson City, Tenn., one at Bristol, by Pennsylvania iron makers; one at Begonia, Ga., and a large number of others taking shape at all points. Gigantic enterprises, requiring many millions of capital, backed in many cases by capitalists in Europe, as well as in the north, are being formed for operations in the south.

MARDI GRAS.

THE CARNIVAL IN NEW ORLEANS—A BRILLIANT PAGEANT.

The grand street pageant of the king of the carnival at New Orleans moved promptly at noon on Tuesday, composed as follows: Mounted detachment household troops; platoon of household troops; Buffs and stevedores; king's own royal guards; his most sublime majesty, Rex, king of the carnival; a carnival court in pageant, consisting of nineteen moving tableaux cars, revealing the theme illustrated: rulers of ancient times. His majesty, Rex, impersonating Urhuk, of Babylon, is seated upon a gorgeous throne, and waves his scepter to his loyal subjects as he passes along: Justinian, of Byzantium; Shalmonzer, of Assyria; Solomon, of Israel; Ching Wong, of China; Zenobia, of Palmyra; Ramses, of Egypt; Alexander, of Macedonia; Abdurrahman, of Spain; William, conqueror of England; Cyrus, of Media; Almanzor, caliph of Baghdad; Genserik, king of Vandals, in Africa; Hank, Nook, of Rome; Albion, king of Lombardy; Mene, of Egypt; Cyrus, of Persia. The streets on the promenade moved were crowded with spectators. It is generally admitted to be the most brilliant mardi gras season that New Orleans has ever enjoyed.

WOMEN ON THE WAR-PATH.

A PICKARDVILLE, MO., SALOON DEMOLISHED BY THEM.

A special order from Pickardville, Mo., of Saturday, says: A number of women, armed with rocks, hatchets and axes, proceeded to the saloon of Dury Davis, and smashed the windows, and chopped down the door. They possessed themselves of kegs of beer and barrels of whiskey. Their contents were emptied in the gutter. The fixtures were also demolished. Hamilton Brady, owner of the building, says he will prosecute the women for destroying his property. Davis has nothing to say.

COLLAPSE OF A TRUST.

REMOVED FROM SELLING ON DEFERRED OF ANY OF THE STOCK.

Judge Lacombe, in the United States circuit court at New York, on Friday, granted an injunction restraining the cottee of trust from selling or disposing of any of their property, and commanding them to show cause before him why a receiver should not be appointed. The bill which was filed shows that the trust was organized September 10, 1884, and the proceeds up to May 21, 1887, was over $4,000,000. The proceeds for the year 1887 were over $4,000,000, and the amount of current earnings for 1888 was $4,000,000.

A FATAL COLLISION.

SEVEN LIVES ARE LOST.

A north bound passenger train on the Monon route collided with a freight train two miles north of Mitchell, Ind., Friday morning. W. H. Dillard, of Louisville, engineer, and James Gadinger, of New Albany, fireman of the passenger engine, were instantly killed, and Charles Wright, mail agent of New Orleans, was fatally injured, dying in a short time. The injured are: W. A. Green, news agent, of Louisville; R. M. Smith, of Louisville; John B. Smith, of Louisville; Mervin, mail agent; P. A. Backpack, Bedford; E. T. Smiley, of Lexington. Five other passengers were hurt. The wreck was caused by wrong orders from the train dispatcher, who ordered the freight train south on the time of the north bound passenger.

SOUTHERN NOTES.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

GENERAL PROGRESS AND OCCURRENCES WHICH ARE HAPPENING BELOW MAJOR'S AND DIXON'S LINE.

Officers of six cavalry companies, of Virginia, met in Richmond Wednesday and organized the first regiment of Virginia cavalry.

Dr. W. J. Thomas, one of the most prominent physicians of North Carolina, died in Wilmington, on Tuesday, of diphtheria, aged seventy-two years.

Fire broke out Wednesday morning in Leroy & Wolfson's grocery store, New Orleans, and four stores of the Tour block, on Canal street were burned out.

Captain John C. Cheney, a prominent Allianceman, has been elected general manager of the Southern Exposition at Montgomery, Ala., and will probably identify the Alliancemen of the state with its agricultural exhibits this fall.

The managers of the Semi-Tropical exposition, at Ocala, Fla., have generously set apart Tuesday, February 28th, as "Alliance Day," on which all Alliancemen will be cordially welcomed without the usual card of admission.

The Progressive Farmer, at Raleigh, N. C., edited by President L. R. Polk, of the National Alliance, has entered upon its fifth volume. It has always been a first class Alliance and farmer's journal, and has won deserved success all along the years that have passed.

A meeting of colored citizens was held Thursday night at Nashville, Tenn., at which it was decided to begin the publication of a weekly newspaper there in early May. The capital stock will not be less than $10,000, and of this $5,000 has already been taken.

There has been a great sensation at Smithfield, N. C., the past few days, on account of the trial of J. E. Starling for murder. It has resulted in an acquittal. He was charged with the murder of an aged woman, his mother-in-law, and his boy, his nephew, who was found dead by their skulls crushed, in a branch near home.

The first through train over the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley railway, just completed to Wilmington, N. C., left there on Monday for New York, 248 miles distant. The whole line embraces about 350 miles and is being rapidly extended. The completion of the road, opens new and immense territory to the trade of Wilmington.

A dispatch from Raleigh, N. C., says: It is learned that the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley railroad will build a line from Bennettsville, S. C., to Charleston, on the south, and also build from Mt. Airy to some point on the Norfolk and Western railway on the west. These connections, when obtained, will make it one of the most important roads in the state.

A double tragedy occurred at Charleston, S. C., Tuesday night. Napoleon Laval called at the store of B. Feldmann & Co., and asked to see his wife, who had been separated from him for some time. When the woman came down to Laval shot her, and then entering the store, shot Feldmann. Both of the victims are thought to be fatally wounded. The affair has created a great sensation, as the parties are well known and prominent in business and society circles.

TO CLOSE THE FACTORIES.

AND TO KEEP THEM CLOSED UNTIL A SETTLEMENT IS REACHED.

The members of the Manufacturers' association of Woburn, Mass., at a meeting Tuesday night, voted to close every leather factory represented in the association and to keep them closed until the men return to work at the factory of Beggs & Cobb. This means an enforced idleness of nearly two thousand men as a result of the recently adopted price list. The manufacturers, it is claimed, have all adopted and are now paying the price list of the arbiters and are living strictly up to the letter of the decision of the board, which was practically an increase in wages over what the men formerly obtained of about 15 per cent. They claim, however, that the men are not doing as they agreed to do, and that they have repeatedly violated the agreement.

PREPARING THE GALLOWES.

AS WHERE HARRY WYLY HUNG ON THE SCENE OF HIS MURDER.

Work was commenced Friday on the gallows on which Dick Haves will hang on the 28th. Ed Griffith, the carpenter who is building the scaffold, was one of the persons who carried out Haves. The gallows will be used for hanging Haves in the case of the murder of John Wyly.

MUST BE EDUCATED.

AND CAPABLE OF READING AND WRITING BEFORE THEY CAN VOTE.

A Pierre, S. D., special to the Pioneer Press, says: "In the senate on Tuesday a bill was introduced to amend section 1, article 1 of the constitution, so that it will require every voter to be able to read and write before he can vote."

ALLIANCE NOTES.

Probably $40,000 has been paid by Houston county, Ga., farmers for Kentucky mules and horses within the last sixty days.

The State Exchange of Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee are to be consolidated under one management and its central agency will be in Memphis for the present.

Florida Alliancemen don't want political class in our national council. They passed the following resolution at their recent state meeting: "That no official of the supreme council, namely president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, general manager or members of directory, shall hold any political office or accept or solicit a nomination for any political office in the state or nation as long as he holds office in the supreme council."

The attention of all Alliancemen is called to the fact that the National Alliance has adopted cotton bagging 44 inches wide and of 3-4 lb. weight as the standard. They found that the loose weight bagging of 13 ounces weight answered the purpose

To-morrow, the 28th, is the day set for the hanging of R. R. Hawes, in Birmingham.

Chicago has been selected by Congress as the city in which will be held the great world's fair of 1893, the fourth centennial of the discovery of America by Columbus.

The only matter of much interest of importance now before the people of Alabama is the coming Democratic Convention and the third party contingency. While the third party movement is sure to amount to no more than it has in the past—a fizzle—yet the antics of its fathers are interesting and peculiar, and will bear reading about.

Mr. F. W. Gist, of Centerville, is a young man with an old head, and has succeeded, we think, in flooring representative Adams on the St. Louis resolutions. Mr. Gist writes better prose than poetry. If the campaign is to be kept up at its present pitch in Bibb both sides should raise a fund to hire a man to go around and pour oil on the troubled waters.

The Russell Register says: The colored people are organizing Alliances all over the country. They have a right to imitate and pattern after anything that is not protected by a patent right. We hope they will make the order beneficial to theirs and the general country's good. We know nothing of the workings or intentions or aims of the order. Judging from the utterances of one of the papers of the State and the proceedings of the Knights of Labor convention at Mobile a short time ago, they propose to move the political universe, and beat out Bourbon Democracy. We feel kindly toward the colored people. Wish them well, and do not say that the Alliance means anything but good, but will say that it should be devoted to nothing except to foster and nourish ideas of industry, decency and economy. Any thing else will ruin it.

The Republicans of Newtonville Mass., the other day held an election for postmaster, and on the Australian plan of voting. The member of Congress from the district stated he would recommend the appointment of the nominee of the caucus. Postmaster J. B. Turner, a Democrat appointed by President Cleveland, received a considerable majority of the votes cast, and it is said will be reappointed. The office is a presidential one, with a salary of $2,100 and allowance clerk hire. The Republicans of Brattleboro, Vt., by a vote of 467 to 401, have also declared that they desire the reappointment of F. W. Childs, Democrat. The Springfield Republican says: "This fact attracted wide attention and it will furnish an illustration that may be fairly held to foreshadow the future."—Montgomery Advertiser.

The Centerville Enterprise, the paper that we are mad with, as its editor has persuaded himself to believe, very truly says: Yes the third party is "here to stay" for it will never gain sufficient strength in Alabama to get away. Nor will it ever be able to get the support of the majority of those whose views it claims to represent. The "white laborers of Alabama will never suffer themselves to be led into a party that teaches a doctrine contrary to the principles of the party that rescued our State from negro domination. And the invitation to the "Alliance, Trade's Councils and Labor Union" and "All bodies of organized labor" to meet together in council at Montgomery in March for the purpose of aiding a third party movement will be ignored by the better class of working men all over the State. And especially of the Farmers Alliance which is composed of the backbone of our country and is an organization composed of the best democrats in the State. If the Farmers Alliance should for one moment countenance a movement toward a third party, this grand organization would at once lose its well earned reputation. There may be a few Alliance men who are willing to yoke up with such a team for a "mess of pottage," but the rank and file of our farmers and laboring men will never do it.

The View has expressed its ideas freely on the political situation in the State, not because we thought that was the wisest course, but because we knew that was the best for the people who read this paper. We are in the midst of a campaign which has already proved interesting and exciting. Papers which come to this office from every section of the State show that every other section is taking the liveliest interest in the political situation. This we think is right. There are a few presses that have failed to give an expression of opinion upon any of the important subjects that have been so generally discussed and which will continue to be agitated until after the convention. These papers may have "an axe to grind" or they may not; it is quite certain they have won a well merited insignificance, when compared to the remarkable unanimity which has characterized the press of the State in its expressions upon the crookedness that has already been unearthed in affairs political. The course of the Montgomery Advertiser in inaugurating the work has met with a hearty endorsement from about eight out of every ten papers we have seen—the ninth would probably be "mum" and the tenth antagonistic, the latter class being made up of the Republican and disaffected sheets. But they are better papers than those that have mouths and speak not, for this class are not worth the small end of a puppy-dog's tail to the sections in which they are published. The course of the Advertiser has been marked by a bold aggressiveness that has not heretofore characterized that paper. The chief objection to the Advertiser heretofore has been that it was too much of an organ and too rarely expressed an opinion. It seems to have turned over a new leaf, and spite out its opinions now without dodging behind a brick wall. In publishing Mr. Adams' last letter verbatim et literatim, it won some adverse criticism from certain parties who did not wish to have Adams' illiteracy made public. We think the paper did right, for the people of this district cannot afford to send a man to Congress whose speeches would rebound to their damage when put in cold type just as they may be written. The Advertiser did no more than its duty in this case. Its editorial upon the St. Louis resolutions and its publications relating to Commissioner Kolb have been in the same line of duty. We are not an apologist for the Advertiser. We have not been an admirer of its course in the past, for reasons herein given. But it has changed, and we believe the change will be permanent, and hope it will be. It would be better for the people if not for the paper. Yes, it is fortunate for the State that the Advertiser is no longer trying to please everybody, and we hope it may be better for the Advertiser.

The Convention.
May the 28th is the day fixed for the meeting of the State Democratic Convention. Chilton county will be entitled to six delegates. In the last Convention Chilton county had only five delegates. The increase in the Democratic vote in the county gives the increase in representation. We have two more delegates than Autauga. Dallas leads the list with 30 delegates and Jefferson is second with 25.

"We continued to set type and get up the paper with renewed determination and energy, moved in to the printing office to save the expense of house rent, put the wife of a few months out on the streets to solicit for the paper, and will get there if we can."—Labor Advocate.

We could give you our sympathy, old man, but the above shows that you won't need anything of that kind. Your pluck will be sure to bring success in the end, and hard work will be good for you and help you out of the fix you are in quicker than anything else. We know how it is ourselves.

Wetumpka Times-Democrat: B. S. Griffin, Jr., who is an old Wetumpka boy, and who is growing famous as a violinist, has reached the highest point obtainable in the Boston conservatory of music. He was recently appointed conductor and leader of the orchestra of that institution. This honor is one that few can obtain and speaks well for his abilities as a violinist.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Verbena Verbiage.

The entertainment given for the benefit of the Baptist church last Tuesday night, netted $26.85, and was a highly enjoyable affair. Miss Mary Williamson, and Miss Carlotta Ready are visiting friends in Birmingham this week.

Mr. Ed. Wingate has returned to Birmingham, after a short visit to his family and friends.

Success to the View.

Lomax Locals.
Rev. Mr. Chatman preached for us last Sunday and delivered a most excellent sermon. He says he will preach for us every fourth Sunday in each month, beginning with the fourth Sunday in April.

Mr. Joel Collins has completed his new residence and moved into it in his old age. We hope he will live a long life in his new house.

Tom Marcus is still unmarried, and can be found behind C. J. Stewart's counter punching checks.

Mr. W. M. Stewart has worn out one seat in the cars riding to Birmingham on his pass.

We have a good string band at Lomax.

Train No. 11 going south Saturday night, broke down at this point. Blew out the cylinder head. Nobody hurt.

Messrs. C. R. and Ed. Bruce, Butler Lowe and Lee Watts were all up Sunday to preaching. We hope they will come up to every appointment.

Mrs. Hannah Collins, of this place, is quite sick, and has been so for the last three weeks. We will be very glad to note her recovery.

Mr. E. A. Rider has been sick for a month, and gets no better. He is a poor man and has a large family. He must be looked after.

Mapleville Dots.
The weather continues so mild that gardeners are quite busy and some are luxuriating in early salads and strawberries.

There is much activity in R. R. work from here toward Montgomery, the town is filled with R. R. officials, stepping around with quite a Solomon like air, whether or no this wisdom is real or affected is not for us to say.

Mr. Rany, of Randolph, has moved his family to Mrs. Goodwin's, and he has opened a store here.

Mr. Dean, one of the principal contractors, has moved his family here.

A wonderful stump extractor is being used by the R. R. force, probably it would be well for the farmers to look at it.

Mrs. Moore and several young lady friends, of Randolph, have visited Mrs. Rany.

Mr. Willie Kelly is visiting friends at Mapleville.

Died, near this place, the 21st inst., Mrs. William Atchinson. She leaves a family of small children and a husband, who have the sympathies of the community. She was resigned and died the death of a Christian.

Miss Willie Glover is yet suffering with fever but is pronounced by her physician to be improving. Her mother accepts this opportunity of thanking all her numerous friends for many acts of kindness extended her during her protracted illness.

Teacher's Institute.
JENISON, ALA., Feb. 14.

The Chilton County Teachers' Institute was called to order by the President, Superintendent Hicks. After song, it opened with prayer by J. P. Allen, one of the Institute's warmest friends. The welcome address was delivered in a forcible and eloquent manner by Rev. J. L. Wyatt. This was not only an address of welcome to the teachers, but also contained some valuable and interesting thoughts upon our profession and the grandeur and nobility of the work. The thanks and appreciation of the Institute were then expressed by the Supt. in a few words. He added also that the object of this meeting was to give teachers an opportunity to improve themselves.

"How Much Should the State Educate" was then presented by Prof. J. A. Moore in a well prepared and pointed paper. Prof. Corderie opened the general discussion in his own characteristic, happy style with some objections to the paper, placing more responsibility upon the patrons. Supt. Hicks enthusiastically defended the paper with a most eloquent appeal for the poor children of our State. After a general and lively discussion the Institute adjourned until 2 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.
"How Can Teachers Advance Themselves" was opened by Prof. Corderie with some most practical thoughts, prominent among which were? Ignorance upon the part of a teacher is a sin. You will be expected to explain many difficult questions from your pupils so prepare to meet them. You must not be sparing in your money. Progress or you will fall below the standard.

After a discussion by others of this subject, "Mrs. V. Z. Palmer read a paper on "School Entertainment," which, by its grandeur of thought and flow of language, elicited a hearty applause from an appreciative audience. This was also discussed with great interest.

"How and When Should We Teach Writing" was the next subject. The leader unavoidably being absent, the president called on the secretary to open the discussion. He was then followed by Prof. Corderie and Prof. Speer, both by using the blackboard illustrating the simple methods of penmanship. After some illustration of the simplicity of the Spencerian system by students, the Institute adjourned until 8 p. m.

NIGHT SESSION.
After song and prayer, State Superintendent Palmer addressed the teachers and parents in a plain, practical way. For which this Institute tenders its thanks, and also expresses its recognition of his able and efficient labors in lifting the common schools of Alabama upon a higher plain of usefulness. We endorse him.

SATURDAY.
The Institute was called to order by the President, Prof. Scott spoke upon the subject, "Should Teacher's Teach Subjects not Required by Law." He aroused an interest that did not subside until 2 p. m.

AFTERNOON.
After instrumental music by Miss Annie Mahone, Mrs. P. P. Thomas read a fluent and forcible paper on "Should we Teach Boys and Girls the Same Course." It was too full to need discussion. "The Sounds of the Letters" were then illustrated on the Board by Prof. J. M. Corderie. A paper on "Physiology and Hygiene" was read by J. L. Ruffin, Jr. After a song, and thanks of the Institute to Jemison citizens for entertaining the Institute expressed by Prof. Hicks, we adjourned sine die. The following teachers were in attendance.

Supt. Hicks, Mrs. V. Z. Palmer, Mrs. P. P. Thomas, Misses Effie McCombs, Carrie Thomas, Jennie Wilson, Mattie Ruffin, LaFarris Deadwilder, Ednar Wilson, Messrs. W. A. Reynolds, J. A. Moore, W. J. Martin, E. C. Jones, J. M. Scott, A. J. Scott, J. M. Corderie, J. M. Connell, G. L. Speer, A. H. Hunter, B. W. Jones, J. L. Ruffin, Jr., H. L. Davis, Misses Emily Love, Annie Mahone, Dora Costley, and Mrs. F. H. Davis.

Let quality not quantity be the test of a medicine. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the concentrated extract of the best and purest ingredients. Medical men everywhere recommend it as the surest and most economical blood medicine in the market.

Impure digestion and assimilation produce disordered conditions of the system which grow and are confirmed by neglect. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Blood Purifier, by its tonic properties, cures indigestion and gives tone to the stomach. $1.00 per bottle.

Persons advanced in years feel younger and stronger, as well as free from the infirmities of age, by taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla.

The great majority of so-called cough cures do little more than impair the digestive functions and create bile. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the contrary, while it cures the cough, does not interfere with the functions of either stomach or liver.

You will have no use for spectacles if you use Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve; it removes the film and scum which accumulate on the eye balls, induces inflammation, cures and soothes the irritated nerves, strengthens weak and failing sight. 25c a box.

For sick headache, female troubles, neuralgic pains in the head take Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pills. 25c a box.

Williamson & Bentley.
REAL ESTATE AGENTS.
CLANTON, ALA.

Will act as agents to buy or sell real estate in Coosa and Chilton counties, Alabama. Will give any information as to lands, minerals, etc. on application.

Indigestion
Is not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved, the system is made feeble, the pursuit of insupportable labors. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Ladd, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. While the time mentioned above, my appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, and after a few days each day, and after a few days, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. This medicine has given me a new lease of life."

Frequently accidents occur in the household which cause burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

Thos. H. Watts, Jr., was in our town last Friday.

Mr. Rube Duke spent Monday in Montgomery.

Mr. Glaucus Evans visited relatives here last week.

Mr. W. H. Phillips spent a day in Clanton this week.

Rev. A. E. Burns was among his friends here Monday.

Justice Screws, of Montgomery, visited our town last Friday.

Mrs. DeJarnette and daughter spent last Sunday in Clanton.

Another circus next week. Look out for thieves and swindlers.

Mr. J. H. Gallispie and family have moved to Wadsworth, Ala.

Mr. Pon DeJarnette, of Birmingham, spent Sunday with relatives here.

Miss Nannie Stillwell, daughter of Rev. E. Stillwell is with us now.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Foshee visited relatives at Lilly last Saturday and Sunday.

The illness of the "man of all work" in the View office has thinned us a day behind.

We had a big hail storm here Monday, hail stones as large as a guinea egg fell for about five minutes.

Mrs. W. A. Collier and children have returned home after a visit of a month to Montgomery and Pine Level.

Much of the success of our county teachers institutes is due to the efficiency and energy of County Superintendent Hicks.

Rev. E. Stillwell will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday at 11 a. m. Subject—"God the Supreme Authority."

Mrs. Austin and children, of Eufaula, are visiting Mrs. A. J. Briggs and family. Mrs. Austin is a daughter of Mrs. Briggs.

Col. J. B. Jackson, of Birmingham, was in Clanton last Friday and presented the Methodists with a handsome set of pulpit furniture.

Services were held at the Baptist church last Sunday morning and evening by the Rev. E. Stillwell. All who attended heard good sermons.

We inadvertently omitted W. M. Wilson's name from the list of paid subscribers published in last issue. His name ought to have been there by a great big "jug full."

Pimples, blotches, scaly skin, ugly spots, sores and ulcers, abscesses and tumors, unhealthy discharges, such as catarrh, eczema, ring worm, and other forms of skin diseases, are symptoms of blood impurity. Take Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla.

Fertilizers for Sale.

I have contracted for a full supply of high grade fertilizers including Guano, Acid Phosphate, and Cotton Seed Meal, and will have them for sale during the season at the lowest market prices for cash or on time to responsible parties. Give me a call before buying.

Chickens wanted at this office.

Here is the way that a certain legal luminary very truly explains the eternal struggle: "Here is a shoe shop. One of the men is always busy during the day. In the evening he goes courting some nice girl. There are five other men that don't do any such thing. They spend half their working evenings in dissipation. The first young man by and bye cuts out the others and gets a boot and shoe store of his own. Then he marries and is able to take his wife out riding. The five former companions, who see him indulging in this luxury, retire to a saloon and pass resolutions that there is an eternal struggle between labor and capital."

It Is High Time to Change the Rule.

New York Times.

The requirements of a unanimous verdict is accountable for continual failures and miscarriages in jury trials, and it is doubtful if it ever really serves the purpose of protecting the innocent, though often and often it saves the guilty from deserved penalties. If nine or ten intelligent and honest men on a jury are convinced beyond a reasonable doubt their decision is surely to be as nearly right as anything human can be, whereas one or two men may prove to be dishonest or corrupt or hopelessly unreasonable, why should it be in the power of one such man on a jury to block the wheels of justice and bring long and costly trials to naught? Is it not time to consider seriously once more the question of changing this rule of unanimity, which prevails nowhere but in jury trials?

Can Scirrhus Cancer be Cured?

Swift's Specific has cured thousands of cases of Skin Cancer, and there have been many cases of Scirrhus Cancer reported cured by it. We do say that S. S. S. is worth a trial in any case of cancer. We append a statement from Miss Green, of Tallapoosa, Ga.:

In 1884 I had a small lump in my left breast, which proved to be a cancer. The first remedy I tried was to have it burned off. This did not cure it for shortly afterward it broke out again in a much worse form. I then consulted our druggist, who advised me to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) and after taking about one dozen bottles, was completely cured, and my general health was greatly improved. This has been over six years ago, and my cancer has never appeared since, nor has it troubled me in any way. I can cheerfully recommend Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) to any one suffering with cancer.

How He Kept His Promise.

"Save me, doctor, and I will give you a thousand dollars."

The doctor gave him a remedy that cured him, and he called out:

"Keep at it, doctor, and I'll give you a check for five hundred dollars."

"In half an hour he was able to sit up, and he calmly remarked:

"Doctor I feel like giving you a fifty dollar bill."

When the doctor was ready to go, the sick man was up and dressed, and as he followed the doctor to the door, he said:

"Say, doctor send in your bill the first of the month."

When six months had been gathered to Time's bosom, the doctor sent in a bill amounting to five dollars. He was pressed to cut it down to three, and after so doing he sued to get it, got judgment, and the patient put in a stay of execution. We know lots of people of the same kind.

Old people suffer much from disorders of the urinary organs, and are always gratified at the wonderful effects of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm in banishing their troubles. $1.00 per bottle.

A Lady's Perfect Companion.

Our new book by John H. Dye, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in childbirth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness and the many other ills attending pregnancy. It is highly endorsed by physicians everywhere as the wife's true private companion. Cut this out: It will save you great pain and possibly your life. Floods in the Mississippi and Ohio rivers are doing great damage. At the junction of these rivers the water is reported as extending over a section of country 100 miles in width.

The Eutaw Mirror advertises for an office boy who will answer to the following: "We want one who expects to earn his salary, and grow up to be a useful man; one who thinks more of business and books than of frolicking and killing time." Not many boys are built that way.

Mr. Benj. Terrell, the Alliance lecturer, who has been in Alabama of late, is credited with saying that, "A third party would ruin the country and Alliance, and the farmer who desires a third party desires to ruin the Alliance, or he is a fool." This is certainly very emphatic if not polite to the farmers. But as the festive Benjamin is said to have returned to Texas rather hastily, we do not expect to hear any more from him.—Florence Banner.

We had not noticed that Mr. Terrell left the State so hastily as the above infers. What was the cause?

While other counties and sections are agitated with politics, and the general "tearing of hair" incident to a political campaign is already in progress over the State, yet in our own county everything is as quiet and serene as a summer's day, and little interest seems to be taken in what may be going on in the political world outside. We are disposed to think that this is a very satisfactory state of affairs for our county, especially as the people seem to be attending to business of a more important character.

Montgomery Advertiser: Captain Jas. Crook, of Cahoon, announces his determination to become a candidate for the nomination before the approaching state convention of the Democratic party by tendering his resignation as a member of the state executive committee at its meeting in this city on yesterday. The Jacksonville Republican announced last week that Captain Crook would announce his decision upon the assembling of the committee, and if he resigned his membership it might be taken as an indication that he had decided to enter the contest. He resigned and is a candidate for governor.

The Atlanta Constitution recalls the following in connection with the Hawes tragedy: Saturday, the last day of the week, has figured conspicuously in the life of Dick Hawes. He was born on Saturday. He was married to Emma Pettis on Saturday. He discovered evidence of his wife's infidelity on Saturday, murdered Mrs. Hawes and Irene on Saturday. Their bodies were found on Saturday. The jail riot occurred on Saturday. He was sentenced to be hanged on Saturday. The opinion of the supreme court affirming the decision in the case was written on Saturday, and on Saturday his body will be buried.

A correspondent of the Alliance Journal enumerates the following as some things of importance which the Democratic party has brought about in Alabama, since it came into power in 1874: The public debt has been adjusted satisfactorily, and the credit of the State is now enviable. Alabama 6 per cent. bonds were down to 30 cents on the dollar, nominally, when the debt commissioners were appointed, with no buyers. The annual interest on the huge direct and endorsed bonded indebtedness amounted to $1,600,000. Now Alabama four per cent. bonds are above par and the annual interest on the debt, adjusted, is only about $400,000. The counties in 1874 were laden with immense indebtedness, which has been extinguished in nearly all the counties of the State. The public school fund has been largely increased and will be further augmented from time to time to such extent as the finances of the State will justify. The rate of taxation in 1874 was 7 1/2 mills on each $100 of taxable property, besides half a mill to create a sinking fund. Now the rate is only four mills, just one-half the rate before the State was redeemed from the outrageous and radical rule.

HAWES HUNG!

The Man Who Murdered His Family Meets His Punishment.

The reading public have been satisfied with R. R. Hawes and his horrible crime, and we give the following condensed account of his hanging, a fitting finale to a career, the like of which we hope may never again darken the criminal records of Alabama.

We condense from the Evening News of the 28th: R. R. Hawes the murderer of wife and children was to-day hung in the jail yard at Birmingham. He did not break down under the trying ordeal as had been predicted, but bore himself with calmness and courage throughout.

He was led upon the gallows at 12:50 p. m. and stepped with a firm tread but looked very uneasy. Rev. Drs. Slaughter and Purser and Sheriff Smith and Deputy Love accompanied him.

He wore a close-fitting black suit of clothes, with cutaway frock coat, a neat white shirt, standing collar and black cravat. On the left lapel of his coat he wore a pretty bouquet. In his right coat pocket was a white handkerchief with the edges and corners displayed. Black slippers adorned his feet. Many remarks were heard in the crowd regarding the prisoner's handsome appearance. Then Hawes looked up at the crowd and said in a medium tone: "I just want to say to the congregation that I have made a written statement of all this trouble, which is the truth, the single truth, and nothing but the truth. I hope after I am gone no man can say I came on the scaffold and died with a lie on my lips."

As Hawes spoke he pulled at his mustache nervously but did not break down. He stood firm on the scaffold and the crowd remained silent, everybody being intent on catching every word the condemned man had to say. A death-like and awful silence reigned.

After he ceased speaking Dr. Slaughter who was standing on the scaffold offered a prayer in his behalf asking forgiveness for him and invoking the divine blessing upon him.

THE HOPE WAS THEN READY, and as Deputy Love took his hands from adjusting it, Hawes blushed. His face was very red, and he remarked to Sheriff Smith that the rope was too tight about his neck. The rope was loosened. Sheriff Smith then unrolled a piece of paper and took out the black cap. It was made of black silk, with a black silk cord. At 12:55 p. m. the cap was placed on Hawes' head.

At this juncture the condemned man's fingers twitched. He then told Sheriff Smith and Deputy Love good-bye for the last time, and the two officers stepped down from the scaffold.

All was then ready. Sheriff Smith, standing on the right side of the scaffold, called out in a loud tone of voice:

"ONE, TWO, THREE!"

The same instant the drop fell and Hawes' lifeless body dangled between heaven and earth.

His neck broke.

As the fall reached its limit, and Hawes' full weight was on the rope, a sharp though sudden snap was heard. It was apparent that Hawes' neck was broken. His body did not twitch at all, his fingers lay loosened in their last clasp.

At 1:01 Hawes' heart was beating very faintly. At 1:03 the doctor said it was scarcely perceptible. At 1:05 he was pronounced dead, just seven and a half minutes after the drop.

weights were tied around them, and they were taken out into the lake in a boat and dropped overboard. May was also made drunk and taken to East Lake by John Wiley and disposed of. He still insists that he paid John Wiley $200 to perform the job.

A large crowd was around the jail, several thousand persons, but only about 150 persons saw the hanging.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Snider's Mill.

The recent cold snap has blighted our hopes for early vegetables and floral gardens.

Mr. William Walker was here Saturday looking after lumber with which to build a new residence on his place at Mulberry. He reports that his father, who has been quite sick for a long time, is improving somewhat.

Miss Milford has an interesting school of little girls at Chandler's Mill.

Last but not least, this vicinity of farmers and mill men, are waking up to the importance of first-class educational advantages; and have built a school house and procured the services of Mr. H. L. Davis from Autauga county, who acts as principal over a school here of 17 pupils. It has been growing steadily since its commencement in January. Mr. Davis is a coming man in the educational interests of the county, and we are justly proud of him.

Mr. D. Moore, assistant, is also a promising young man of great moral and exemplary worth in the school and community at large. L. M.

Stanton Notes.

We have had wind, hail and much rain, but no damage from either so far.

Mr. John Adams steps to the front this morning with a horse and rooster tale which I hope the readers of the View will pull through without classing anybody on the Mulholland list.

Mr. Adams' integrity is above the standard, and can be vouched for should any doubts arise. He states that he is the owner of a black horse and a few days ago he saw this horse catch and eat up a grown rooster, spurs, feathers and all. The supposition is that the horse, being very hungry, ran down and eat up his rooster in order to get a bite of corn. Mr. Adams should buy some corn for his horse.

Trains have been very irregular for the past few days. We usually receive the View Thursday evening. The last issue reached us Saturday evening.

Ordet John V. Cox is house from Marion college recuperating his constitution.

It has turned bitter cold within the past twenty-four hours, and all vegetables not protected were killed.

A most remarkable phenomena of the sun was seen here this evening at 1 o'clock. There seemed to be three suns in a line equal distances from each other, the real sun in the center. A half circle extended from the two outer suns fluted with columns of the rainbow, two arrow-shaped lines extended from each outer sun, and two distinct crosses on both sides of the half circle, all fluted with the colors of the rainbow. This was the most remarkable sight your scribe has ever seen. In talking to some men who were raised in the north, they stated that such sights were frequent in very cold climates and was called "sun dogs." Quite a number of Staukites witnessed this strange picture.

The proposition to have the National government regulate congressional elections is a dangerous one.

Although, under circumstances, eminently right, yet it would not receive the support of the people at large, and the party advocating it would be destroyed.

The effective portion of the solid South, the friends, murderers, the beneficiaries of murder and ex-robbers to a man, would be supported by the democratic party at the North, to a man, the floating vote and the mugwumps would all flag that way and the republican party would be overthrown in its righteous attempt to secure fair congressional elections.

The foregoing is from an Ohio Republican paper and goes to show that many northern radicals of the ultra stripe are afraid of the rebound which a Federal election law would make upon their "God and morality party."

The Virtue of Hot Milk.

It is worthy of reiteration that milk heated to as high a temperature as it can be drunk or supped, above 100 degs, but not to the boiling point, is of great value as a refreshing stimulant in cases of over-exertion, bodily or mental.

To most people who like milk, it does not taste so good hot, but that is a small matter compared with the benefit to be got from it. Its action is exceedingly prompt and grateful, and the effects such more satisfactory and far more lasting than those of any alcoholic drink restorative. It supplies real strength as well as exhilaration, which alcohol never does.

How He Did It.

Lawrence American.
Mrs. Lunkins (retiring) home from the mountains. For goodness sake, Heczekiah, where are all my dresses that I left in the closet in my room? And what is that big burnt spot on the front lawn? Lunkins—I'll tell you how it was, Maria. You wrote home that if I wanted the key to the billiard-room I would find it in the dress pocket of your polonaise in the closet. I didn't know a polonaise from a tennis racket, and couldn't have found the pocket anyway. So I took all your dresses out on the lawn, built a fire under them, and fished the key out of the ashes.

Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) has been a blessing to me. Afflicted with rheumatism and female weakness for a number of years, during which time I took a great deal of medicine, nothing giving me relief but Swift's Specific (S. S. S.). What I suffered and endured before commencing on Swift's Specific (S. S. Run in Our Cities.

Toledo Blade.

It is in cities where there is the most discontent; where socialism and anarchy find congenial breeding-places. It is not too strong language to say that these things are produced by the rum traffic—that the poverty is largely due to the habit of intemperance, and that the saloons are responsible for this. The people of this land will have a heavy account to settle—one that will have to be paid in both blood and treasure—if they do not rouse themselves to a realization of the terrible evils of the rum traffic, and of the grave dangers to the people and to the State to which its unrestricted sway leads. They must be roused to see that rum will dominate the land unless they rise in their might and pulverize the rum power.

Coughing

18 Nature's effort to expel foreign substances from the bronchial passages. Frequently, this causes inflammation and the need of an anodyne. No other expectorant or anodyne is equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It soothes the inflamed mucous membrane, induces repose, and is the most popular of all cough cures.

"Of the many preparations before the public for the cure of colds, coughs, croup, whooping cough, and other diseases of the throat and lungs, there is none, within the range of my experience, so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For the last I was subject to colds, followed by terrible coughs. About four years ago, when so afflicted, I was advised to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and to lay all other remedies aside. I did so, and within a week was well of my cold and cough. Since then I have always kept this preparation in the house, and feel comparatively secure."

—Mrs. L. L. Brown, Denton, Miss.

"A few years ago I took a severe cold which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctor gave me up. I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded the most restful recovery of my strength. By the continual use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, a permanent cure was effected."

LOCAL LACONICS.

Mr. J. M. Bell is visiting Mr. O. R. Bell's family.

County Superintendent Higgs was in town Saturday.

Mr. J. Austin, of Eufaula, visited his family here last week.

Tax-Collector Gentry was in town Saturday on business.

Mr. J. A. Maddox, of Jumbo, gave us a pleasant call Monday.

Col. J. M. Falkner, of Montgomery, was in town Friday, on business.

Mr. G. W. Jones, of Lily, was in to see us Monday and subscribed for the View.

Messrs. O. T. Grimes and Wallace Glover, of Pratt Saw Mill, were in town last week.

Prof. B. A. Wall, and Dr. A. A. Green, of Verbena, spent Sunday last, with friends in Clanton.

Editor J. N. Thornton, of the Shelby News, was in town in the interest of his paper this week.

Willie Adams, formerly of Clanton, now of Montgomery, has been visiting friends and relatives in town.

Mrs. E. C. Lawrence has returned from a visit to friends and relatives in Tuscaloosa and Northport.

The young people are practicing for a concert to be given here for the benefit of the Methodist church.

Miss Wolf, of Montgomery, returned home Tuesday. Miss Wolf is a missionary worker, and was the guest of Mrs. E. F. Chilton here.

The damage to the early gardens by the recent cold weather has been considerable in this neighborhood. Fruit trees have likewise suffered.

Rev. S. P. West preached at the Methodist Church Sunday in the interest of Summerfield orphan's home, for which a collection was taken amounting to $135.

Cooper's Station young men under leadership of Jack Gullahorn had a gay and interesting dance on Friday night last. Handsome invitation cards were sent out.

"He tried to kiss me, and I just told him to behave," said an irate young lady after a buggy ride last night. "Well, did he kiss you?" asked her friend. "No, the idiot, he behaved."

Remember that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has no equal as a specific for colds, coughs, and all affections of the throat and lungs. For nearly half a century it has been in greater demand than any other remedy for pulmonary complaints. All druggists have it for sale.

Pimples, blotches, scaly skin, ugly eruptions, sore and ulcers, abscesses and tumors, unhealthy discharges, such as catarrh, eczema, ring worm, and other forms of skin diseases, are symptoms of blood impurity. Take Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla.

Fertilizers for Sale.
I have contracted for a full supply of high grade fertilizers including Guano, Acid Phosphate, and Cotton Seed Meal, and will have them for sale during the season at the lowest market prices for cash or on time to responsible parties. Give me a call before buying.

Respectfully,
W. L. SAMPER.

Rev. A. J. Briggs was one of the attendants at the marriage of a brother minister to a young lady of Montgomery last week.

Judge Callen tells us that there is no perceptible falling off in the number of mortgages recorded this year, compared with last year.

Mr. B. H. Chesnut came down Friday on a more than usually important mission. An occasional increase in his household makes him happier as he grows older.

County Surveyor Williams came in to see us Monday. He has lately been engaged in surveying for the new town site at the junction of the two railroads near Maplesville.

Clanton is now as free from the evils of intemperance and the "blind tiger" as any town could hope to be, so far as we can observe, and there is no good reason why the present state of affairs in that line should not be permanent.

The phenomena which our Stanton correspondent says is called "sun dogs" in the North was visible at this place on Sunday afternoon, though only two suns were visible here. It appears to be a phenomena distinct from both the aurora borealis and the aurora australis.

The Franklin Advocate, published by the Franklin Society of Howard College is on our table. It is a handsomely printed monthly devoted to literature and the interests of the college. Mr. S. J. Strock, of this county, is one of the editors, and the number before us contains an interesting article by him.

Circus day brought a mixed crowd to town but there was less whisky in the crowd than might have been expected judging from the small number of "boozy" subjects that were seen. It is said that one "tiger" man brought red-rye to town for the crowd, but as the crowd was not much on whiskey, he got on a "high lone-some" by making way with his "busthead" all by himself.

An immense quantity of commercial fertilizer has been sold in this section this season. The farmers seem to have more cash, more meat and more corn than ever before, and seem to be putting out their surplus in fertilizer with the determination of raising another good crop. The Ala. Fertilizer Co. writes us that it has orders ahead in this section of the State that will require its entire capacity to fill during the season, and adds that the View is appreciated as a good advertising medium.

The Trackman's Advance Advocate is a new publication from Birmingham that has reached us. It is published in the interest of the Order of Railway Trackmen. The number at hand contains two interesting articles from Mr. G. P. Aldridge, of Clanton. The Advocate says of Mr. Aldridge and his work: "We are proud to know that we have men of influence working for the success of the O. R. T. M. Bro. G. P. Aldridge, of Clanton, Ala., deserves special mention for his persevering efforts. Look through the columns of this paper and see the interest that he has manifested. Go among the trackmen that he has come in contact with and you will see the fruits of his labor."

Card of Thanks.

We desire to return our sincere thanks to the brethren, sisters and friends who so generously supplied us with every needed provision for housekeeping. Indeed, this token of appreciation, assures us what willing hands and loving hearts can do for a pastor. May the Lord supply the riches of his grace, and reward the donors with spiritual blessings from the bountiful storehouse of a loving Heavenly Father is the prayer of your humble servants,
E. STILLWELL,
M. L. STILLWELL.

The Psalm of Trade.

"Tell me not in mournful numbers,"
Advertising does not pay;
For the man's non compos mentis
Who would such absurd things say.

"Life is real! Life is earnest!"
And the man who hopes to rise
To success in any calling,
Must expect to advertise.

"In the world's broad field of battle,"
In the conflict of real life,
Advertising is the secret
Of achievement in the strife.

"Lives of rich men all remind us
We can make our own sublime;"
And by liberal advertising
To the higher, nobler climb.

Trade Journal.

A Lady's Perfect Companion.

Our new book by John H. Dye, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in childbirth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness and all many other ills attending pregnancy. It is highly endorsed by physicians everywhere as the wife's true private companion. (Cut this out: it will save you great pain and possibly your life. ## CAHEEN'S

GREAT HOLOCAUST ON DRY GOODS, MILLINERY AND GENTS FURNISHING GOODS, THE TALK OF THE TOWN

WE DID NOT FOOL OUR FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS

With a bombastic, alluring advertisement, as is the vocation of the codfish dry goods houses. We gave you all advertised, and more besides. The public well know that CAHEEN'S name is untrammelled in that respect. In the first place it is no trouble for CAHEEN to buy his goods. Manufacturers are continually after us. Why? Because we plank down the hard cash, and that is what they want.

Having the cash in all emergencies of this kind, we have the advantage of twenty-five per cent under fake dry goods houses in Birmingham, who are compelled to buy their stocks from jobbers on six months' time. In having this great advantage, we tender it to our customers, who imbibed pretty freely of our bargains.

SOUTHERN NOTES.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

GENERAL PROGRESS AND OCCURRENCES WHICH ARE HAPPENING BELOW MA- SON'S AND DEWEE'S LINE.

Vice-President Morton and party visited St. Augustine, Fla., Tuesday.

The Tennessee legislature has passed a bill requiring a $500 license of speculators in the rice fields.

The Virginia legislature passed a bill on May 28th, the day of the unveiling of the Lee statue, to participate in the ceremonies.

The third annual convention of the National League of Republican Clubs assembled in Nashville, Tenn. Nearly 500 delegates were present.

Nashville will receive an addition of about 13,000 to its population by an act recently passed by the legislature of Tennessee extending the limits of the city.

A dispatch from London, S. C., on Thursday stated that the fire at the cotton gin at S. C. had been extinguished.

A special from Jackson, Miss., says: The supreme court, on Wednesday, affirmed the sentence of the lower court on the case of John E. Lee, who is now in the penitentiary.

The ninth annual Florida Sunday-school convention met at Lake City, Fla., on Wednesday. All the officials were present, and a large number of delegates from various parts of the State, with several prominent workers from other States.

At a meeting of the directors of the Jeff Davis Land company at Jackson, Miss., on Tuesday, eight thousand dollars, the proceeds of stock sold, was turned over to the trustee, Major Morgan, for the benefit of Mrs. Davis and her family.

A dispatch of Monday from Montgomery, Ala., says: Deputy United States marshals, headed by United States Walker, are still engaged in the confiscation of all the timber from lands originally granted to the Mobile and Ohio railroad, titled to which the government now claims.

A Savannah, Ga., dispatch says: Vice-President Morton and party arrived there Monday night from Charleston, S. C., by special train, accompanied by H. B. Plant. The party was met by the mayor and a large number of citizens.

A number of prominent colored men of Louisiana met at New Orleans on Thursday and organized a central association for the State under the constitution of the "United Equal Rights Association."

The meeting was called by E. C. Fitch, who will call a similar convention in each of the Southern States.

Fire broke out in the South Wilkesboro, Pa., mine Tuesday night, which killed the escape of eight miners. A rescue party found the tools of the men who had sought and failed to find the men themselves. It is feared they were burned and were buried to death.

At Richmond, Va., on Tuesday, the house agreed to the senate resolution to appoint commissioners to meet with the committee of foreign bond holders and order over a settlement of the state debt.

The committee as appointed consists of Governor McKim, Lieutenant-Governor Caldwell, Dabney and Taylor.

Reports from all parts of Florida indicate that the cold weather of Sunday and Monday did considerable damage. Very little damage was done to the orange trees or blossoms. The peach and fig trees have been injured generally, and there will be a short crop.

The proposed constitutional convention to be held in Mississippi, is causing much talk in the Mississippi delegation at Washington. With the exception of Senator Wallah, all the members are in favor of a new constitution.

The leading men of the State have been advising with Mr. Justice Lamar, on the question, and it is understood that his hand will be seen in the framing of the new constitution.

Majority and minority reports were made by the legislative committee appointed to examine the office of the State Treasurer of Mississippi. The reports do not differ materially. They express the opinion that where Treasurer Humphreys is credited with $103,530 paid out by him for foreclosures in 1876, and for which no credit can be found on his general books. It will be found that the State owes him more than $3,000.

A Huntsville, Ala., dispatch says: The meeting of the state stockholders of the Alabama railroad, at the annual road company, was held on Thursday as advertised.

SNOW AND ICE.

A BLIZZARD IN NEW YORK—REPORTS FROM OTHER POINTS.

A blinding snow storm set in at New York on Sunday evening accompanied by a brisk south wind. The city was soon covered with a mile of white. Many accidents, due to falls on the slippery sidewalks, were recorded at the police stations and hospitals before midnight.

The temperature fell gradually till midnight, when it stood at eighteen above. The snow blocked the street car tracks pretty effectually, and even the elevated roads suffered, and trains were obliged to run slow because of the blinding snow storm squalls.

About six inches of snow on a level had fallen up to midnight. Parties on both East and North rivers were compelled to proceed on their trips with the greatest care. A dispatch from Charleston, S. C., says: It snowed here for three hours Sunday morning.

The thermometer registered 25 degrees above zero.

A very heavy snow storm has prevailed in the greater portion of New England since Monday. Dispatches indicate a practical cessation of the storm at most points clearing, colder weather following.

Snow on a level has been from twelve to eighteen inches. From St. Augustine, Fla., the weather is still frosty, but it is no longer raining. The mercury was at twenty-five degrees Monday night.

Banana groves and early truck gardens are badly damaged. The orange trees are badly nipped, and in some localities the trees have been killed. There will be a great loss on next season's crop, as the trees are all in bloom.

Montgomery, Ala., reports that the cold weather has greatly injured fruit and vegetables. Corn has not been planted to any great extent.

At Mobile the frost Saturday, Sunday and Monday mornings, including the hard freeze of Sunday morning, did much damage to growing truck crops in that local.

Harrisburg, Pa., reports that for the last forty-eight hours the weather has been the coldest of the season. The mercury crawled down nearly to zero. It is thought peaches, apples and small fruit are killed.

A BAND OF INCENDIARIES.

A MOONSHINE ORGANIZATION DISCOVERED IN PICKENS COUNTY, GA.

A moonshine organization has been unearthed in Pickens county, Georgia, whose members are bound together by solemn oaths for the protection of its members, and the punishment of informers.

"The honest man's friend and protector," is the title of the organization, and its members are sworn to secrecy. It has been in existence about a year and already a number of crimes are charged to its account, the latest the burning of three houses within the past two months.

The burning of a government distillery is also charged to this band. The prime object of the organization is the driving out of the county all who are supposed to have been guilty of the offense of giving information to the revenue officers and also for the purpose of intimidating witnesses. For some months past the revenue officers have suspected the existence of the clan, or a moonshine brotherhood of some sort. Active measures, however, were directed to the ferreting out of the members and their strength and numbers.

When the revenue officers and county officers combined to bring the offenders to justice and effectually break up their organization. The ring-leader and eleven of his associates are now in jail charged with arson and conspiracy, and the names of all other suspected members are in the possession of the officers. Two of the members of the clan have turned states evidence, appearing before the United States district court at Atlanta, Ga., on Wednesday, when the whole history and workings of the organization were confessed.

THE CASHIER SKIPPED

WITH $30,000 OF THE BANK'S MONEY IN HIS POSSESSION.

A dispatch Tuesday from Louisville, Ky., says: William H. Pope, teller of the Louisville City National bank, absconded on last Saturday evening with $30,000 of the bank's cash in his possession. Nothing has since been heard of him. It is supposed he is in Canada. The bank will not be inconvenienced by the loss, which will amount to not more than $40,000, as Pope furnished a gilt-edged bond of $50,000.

ALLIANCE NOTES.

WHAT THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS ARE DOING.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO THE FARMER, GATHERED FROM VARIOUS SECTIONS OF THE COUNTRY.

The Mississippi Farmers' Alliance has $3,893.60 in bank at Winona.

C. S. Meadows, of Wrightsville, Ga., killed an Alliance hog that weighed 573 pounds, and sold for $43.30.

The Polk County (Ga.) Alliance have completed a substantial stone building at Rockmart for their Alliance store.

An Alliance bank is being established at Americus, Ga., exclusively of members of the order for Alliance purposes.

The Farmers' and Laborers' Union of France do not meddle in politics. They devote their work to co-operative and technical matters.

A member of a sub-Alliance in Cobb county, Ga., has been expelled for using foul and having his cotton ginned where the planter used jute.

The offensive and defensive alliance of the Farmers' State guards and Knights of Labor, in Kansas, masses the influence of 125,000 members.

The Farmers' Alliance, of Edgefield county, S. C., has determined to establish a Farmers' Alliance Bank, to be located at some railroad point in the county.

The shares are fixed at $25 each, to be paid in five annual installments.

A few men join the Alliance through speculative motives, and because they can't feel themselves financially benefited. They are, however, they kick out. Such men ought to stay out among the speculators, for they are not fit for Alliancemen.

The Plain Speaker, of Orangeburg, S. C., reports that State Superintendent T. E. Pratt, of the Colorado National Alliance, is delivering addresses full of good advice to the sub-Alliances in various parts of the State, and the negro farmers appear to be benefited by his advice.

A business man in Greenville, S. C., who dealt largely last year with members of the Alliance through arrangements made with the County Business Agent, remarked a few days ago that of more than $18,000 worth of goods sold on time to Alliancemen, there was less than $100 paid due and unpaid, and he considered every dollar of that amount perfectly good.

It would be a shame upon the part of those who have gone into the Alliance to fail to carry out their obligations. Let each member ask himself this question: "If every member of the Alliance should act as I do, would it be a success?" If you are one of those weak-kneed sort you will have to give it up as a failure. Then why will you just merely pretend to be a thing if you are going to be a thing. Be it or not, then make no pretensions.—Buckanan Messenger.

The attempt being made by the land producers to put a tax upon the compound, and the oil, is an unjust measure, and should be defeated. The alleged support of Southern Alliancemen to this measure is false. They are perfectly willing that manufacturers of compound land should be made to put it, so that the people may know what they are using, and may be able to see the superiority of compound or cotton oil over the so-called pure land; but they will never favor this product bearing a special tax and being driven out of the market.

The following preamble and resolutions were adopted by the DeKalb county, Ga., Alliance:

Whereas, The Alliance movement is one man, or of a few men, but of doing the greatest good to the greatest number; and

Whereas, It is not a political organization, after the "loaves and fishes of office" and the "apostles," but grander, nobler and higher in its aims and purposes, with the motto dying at its masthead "principles not men," but men with principles in union with ours.

Resolved, That while there is no inhibition on the members of the Alliance from running for or accepting any office within the gift of their fellow-citizens, we unhesitatingly condemn the idea that any office of the Alliance can use that office to the advancing of his private political ends and his candidacy for any office from ballot to governor; that we draw the line between a man bearing aloft the Alliance banner as its chosen champion for the advancement of its principles, and a man simply using the Alliance as a stepping stone to place and power.

A GREAT SCHEME.

FOR THE RELIEF OF THE FARMER—SENATOR VANCE'S BILL.

Resolved, That we condemn any such practice and deprecate any such action tending to corrupt and degrade our movement.

Senator Zeb Vance, of North Carolina, has introduced into the upper house of congress a novel bill, intended as a relief measure for the farmers. Briefly outlined the bill appropriates $50,000,000 for the erection of agricultural depots and warehouses in each county in the United States where the sheriff and clerk of such county may certify that the average gross amount per annum of cotton, wheat, corn, oats and tobacco produced and sold in the county for the last preceding two years exceeds the sum of $500,000 at current prices.

The scheme is to allow owners of cotton, corn, etc., to deposit the same in the warehouse nearest the point of production, and receive therefor treasury notes, if not in luxury, would equal at the date of deposit to eighty per centum of the net value of such products, based on prices current in the leading cotton, tobacco and grain markets of the United States. The bill authorizes the secretary of the treasury to prepare treasury notes in such amounts as may be required to do business, but no notes prepared are to be of less denomination than one dollar or greater than $10.00.

These notes are made receivable for customs, and are to be legal tender for all debts, both private and public. The main object of the bill is to have the government lend money to the farmers at the low interest of one percent per annum. It will allow a farmer to hold his goods, if he cares to, for a long time without paying the enormous rates charged by banks and unlicensed money lenders. It heads off all trust and combinations, and if it could become a law the supposition is that peace and order would be maintained throughout the land.

THE FARMER'S TALK

THE FARMER'S ALLIANCE OF MINNESOTA MEET IN CONVENTION.

The annual session of the Minnesota Farmer's Alliance met at St. Paul Tuesday, and nearly 400 delegates were present. Deputy State Lecturer Fish of the Alliance through arrangements made with the County Business Agent, remarked a few days ago that of more than $18,000 worth of goods sold on time to Alliancemen, there was less than $100 paid due and unpaid, and he considered every dollar of that amount perfectly good.

A special of Monday from Jefferson City, Mo., it is now considered pretty well settled that State Treasurer Noland is short in his accounts by over $30,000. Even Governor Francis is in doubt as to the exact amount, owing to what he terms irregularities in the books.

One of the results of the wreck at Deatsville on Sunday was the overturning of a car load of whisky. The negro hands repairing the track took occasion to get full, and on Monday night as they were on the return trip to Birmingham one of the drunken negroes raised a row and assaulted a section boss who was endeavoring to keep order, and a bullet from a 44 calibre revolver went through the negro before he was quieted. The shooting occurred as the train reached Clanton. The wounded negro was carried on to Oxmoor.

Dixie Dots.
Winter it seems has come in earnest after so long a time, with the rain and cold wind. Cows, corn and garden truck "bit off." A good many had planted corn and had a pretty stand, but now all is down.

One neighbor bought two cows and calves not long since for $20, common breed. Another, sold a cow and calf in the same neighborhood for $35 cash, good breed. So it does not pay to keep scrub cattle, but it does pay to keep the blood stock.

A Lady's Perfect Companion.

Our new book by John H. Dye, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in childbirth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness and the many other ills attending pregnancy. It is highly endorsed by physicians everywhere as the wife's true private companion. Cut this out and send it to your great pain and possibly your life. With a bombastic, alluring advertisement, as is the vocation of the codfish dry goods houses. We gave you all advertised, and more besides. The public well know that CAHEEN'S name is untrammelled in that respect. In the first place it is no trouble for CAHEEN to buy his goods. Manufacturers are continually after us. Why? Because we plank down the hard cash, and that is what they want.

Having the cash in all emergencies of this kind, we have the advantage of twenty-five per cent under fake dry goods houses in Birmingham, who are compelled to buy their stocks from jobbers on six months' time. In having this great advantage, we tender it to our customers, who imbibed pretty freely of our bargains.

APPOINTMENTS BY PRESIDENT HARRISON—MEMBERS OF NATIONAL INTELLIGENCE AND ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

In the senate on Tuesday the attendance was 37. A bill for the relief of a certain senator was ordered, and after a quorum was thus obtained the journal of Monday was read and approved.

The credentials of Senator Allison for his new term, commencing March 4, 1891, were read and ordered to be placed on file. Among the petitions presented and referred was one from Florida asking a duty of one dollar per box on foreign oranges.

Mr. Blair called up the resolution reported by him Monday for the exclusion from the Bureau of Sentences Interpreted by Mr. Call in the report of his remarks in the discussion with Mr. Chandler some weeks ago. Mr. Call submitted some remarks in his own vindication, and assumed the senate that he had no intention of violating its rule. A vote was taken on the resolution and resulted 37, yeas 11, no quorum. Without disposing of the matter, the senate adjourned.

In pursuance of the agreement made Saturday, the public building bills which that day passed the committee of the whole, came up Tuesday morning for consideration. The bills were passed. They provide for the erection of public buildings at the following points: Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Chicago, Ill.; Columbus, Ga.; Atchison, Kan.; Alexandria, La.; Houston, Tex.; Lynn, Mass.; Lafayette, Ind.; Boston, Mass.; and Trenton, N.J. Also an increase in the limits of the cost of buildings at Newark, N.J.; Scranton, Pa.; Troy, N.Y.; Dallas, Tex., and Springfield, Mo. The measure involves an expenditure of $1,045,000. Mr. Baker, of New York, from the committee on territories, reported a bill for the admission of Wyoming. He asked for the immediate consideration of the bill, which, under the new rule, is a privileged measure. The house decided to consider the bill, and it was referred to a committee of the whole.

The first three-quarters of an hour of the session of the house Wednesday morning was consumed in a desultory discussion as to the status on the calendar of private claims reported from the court of claims, but the speaker reserved his decision. Mr. Cannon, from the committee on rules, reported a resolution, which was adopted, and Thursday for the consideration of the Oklahoma bill. The resolution was adopted and accordingly the whole of the Oklahoma bill, as amended, was taken up. Mr. Kelly, of Kansas, offered an amendment providing that a general survey of Kansas should be made, and that the survey should be completed by the first session of the legislature.

On Tuesday, proceeded to the consideration of the resolution reported on the 10th of February from the committee of privileges and elections declaring that it is a privilege for the senate to elect a president pro tempore, who shall hold office during the absence of the senate, and until another is elected and shall exercise the duties thereof when the vice-president is absent. Mr. George took the floor in opposition to the resolution. Mr. George was speaking when the hour of two o'clock arrived and the educational bill came up. Mr. George's speech was interrupted by the announcement of the senate and he withdrew. Mr. Blair to give the senate a resolution of the time when he was to speak, he said, a great measure of business. Finally it was announced that the senate was in session and Mr. Blair returned to the floor.

The committee on military affairs Thursday reported to the house the military appropriation bill. It calls for $400,000. The secretary of the treasury on Wednesday received a communication from the president of the United States, dated March 18, 1890, in which he requested the committee to report a bill for the relief of the military pensioners of the late General Sherman. The committee on military affairs Thursday reported to the house the bill for the relief of the military pensioners of the late General Sherman. The bill was passed.

made by Mr. Call in the report of the discussion with Mr. Chandler on the 20th of February. The resolution was agreed to—yeas 36, nays 14.

Democrats in congress say that the surplus in the treasury has dwindled during the year of republican administration from $110,000,000 to less than $40,000,000, and the spoliation of public funds everywhere contemplated by the party in power will not be long in reducing the "taunted surplus" to a reminiscence.

Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Wauwauker, Mrs. Russell, H. Harrison, Miss Wauwauker, Mrs. Widon, of Philadelphia; Miss Robinson, of New York; Mr. Russell, H. Harrison and Mrs. Hammond, of Tennessee, left Washington Thursday morning in the private car of J. H. Inman, President of the Richmond and Danville rail road, for a trip south.

The senate, on Thursday, confirmed the nomination of Lieutenant Colonel William Smith, paymaster general, with the rank of brigadier general. Collectors of customs—E. C. Duncan, district of Beaufort, N. C.; Collectors internal revenue, Virginia, P. H. McCull, sixth district, J. W. Brady, second district, H. H. Williams, United States Marshal, south east district of Florida.

The senate on Wednesday confirmed the following nominations: Collector of customs, J. E. Lee, St. Johns, Fla.; Daniel P. Booth, Mobile, Ala.; Simon Mathews, southern district of Mississippi; George L. Cunningham, South Carolina; James W. Brown, western district of Tennessee; William E. Craig, United States attorney, western district of Virginia; Postmaster, Mississippi, W. F. Elgin, Corinth; Virginia, C. P. McCabe, Leesburg; Parke Agnew, Alexandria.

Representatives of the Florida orange growers appeared before the ways and means committee on Wednesday to request an additional measure of protection for their industry. J. E. Hartbridge presented their case in an argument, during which he dwelt at length upon the practice by importers of securing undue reductions of duty upon damaged fruit. He believed that the duty should be fixed at $1 per box, and the provisions for damage allowance should be stricken from the law.

Dr. McCune, a high officer in the attendance, and editor of the National Enquirer, told the committee on agriculture the allotment of the south were divided on the corn and land bill. He said many favored it, and many opposed it. The southern members, however, said he was not correct; that every farmer in the cotton states was opposed to the measure, as it was a direct attack upon the value of their cotton. All the efforts of the southern men are now being exerted to smother the bill and committee.

A BROKEN LEVEE.
 FORTY-SEVEN PEOPLE FLEEING FOR THEIR LIVES.

The levee broke at Sappington Hoop, six miles above Arkansas City, Ark., at 10 o'clock Monday afternoon. The crevasse was very wide and still widening at the time of the last reports received. The break occurred at a place where the levee was largely built of sand. The water backed a foot and a half, being clear up to the top of the levee at a complete surprise. The break was a complete surprise, there being no appearance of weakness in the levee up to within a few minutes of the hour when it occurred. Within twenty-four hours the whole of the river front, from the crevasse to the Louisiana line, will be flooded. The whole of the Texas basin of Louisiana, consisting of four or five parishes, will unquestionably be submerged. The river is rising rapidly, and the people are panic stricken.

WILL THEY COME!
 SOME DOUBTS EXPRESSED ABOUT THE FARMERS COMING SOUTH.

It looks like the southern trip of the fair American will be a very decided failure. Some doubts are expressed as to whether they will go at all. Only two of the delegates have accepted Secretary Blaine's invitation to take the Southern trip at the expense of the government. Twelve delegates have declined, and the others have failed to reply at all. Diplomatic, however, say that the excursion must take place, no matter how few will go on it, for invitations have been sent out and acceptances returned.

NO BONUS.
 MANUFACTURERS WITHDRAW THE BONUS OF TEN CENTS ON COTTON BAGGING.

At a meeting of the Southern Manufacturers' association at Augusta, Ga., Thursday night, it was resolved that cotton bagging and other light material for packing is unprofitable, the bonus of 10 cents per 100 pounds for cotton bagging will not be allowed on next crop.

The United States steamer Iroquois, put in to Port Townsend, Washington, Tuesday, having been blown about the in the Pacific ocean in a disabled condition since December 23d last. A dispatch of Monday from St. Louis states that a large consignment of cotton seed has been received in Oklahoma and will be distributed among the settlers immediately. Planting will begin at once.

Report has it that the large packing and canning establishments of Baltimore have been secured by an English syndicate, or at least 95 per cent of them, whose output of goods amounts to $15,000,000 a year.

There was a long meeting of the sugar trust in New York on Thursday, and before it ended interested parties everywhere had information that a cash dividend of two and a half per cent had been declared for the present quarter. It came out in an English note a few days ago that 100,000 tons of horses had been shipped from that country to Germany and Belgium, to be used in the manufacture of sausage, and that such shipments were a regular thing.

The five-story building owned and occupied by Stern, Mayer & Co., one of the largest and wealthiest clothing manufacturing firms in Cincinnati, was completely gutted by fire Monday morning. The loss is estimated at $450,000; insurance, $250,000.

At New York, on Monday, Deputy Sheriff McGarry and Warden Keating, of Ludlow street jail, were indicted by the grand jury on charges of bribery. They were placed under arrest and taken before Judge Fitzgerald, who placed the bail at $10,000 in each case.

United States Indian Agent Wood notified a cattleman that in accordance with an order from the commissioner of Indian affairs, dated March 3, 1890, he will at once instruct the police to drive from the reservation the cattle of all who use it for grazing purposes under grants made by the Indians.

A. A. Courter, former cashier of the Equitable bank at New York, was arrested by Stern, Mayer & Co., one of the largest and wealthiest clothing manufacturing firms in Cincinnati, was completely gutted by fire Monday morning. The loss is estimated at $450,000; insurance, $250,000.

The thirty-eight cotton mills at Fall River, Mass., with a cash capital of $18,350,000, earned and paid $1,833,000 during 1889, or an average of 9.96 per cent on their capital. Of the entire number, thirteen mills, with $7,350,000 capital, paid from 10 to 24 per cent, an average of 14 per cent.

A dispatch from Jefferson City, Mo., says: Governor Francis has appointed Lou V. Stephens, of Booneville, State Treasurer of Missouri, to serve until the second Monday in January, 1890. The appointment was made late Wednesday afternoon, and at 6 o'clock Mr. Stephens appeared before Judge Block, of the supreme court and took the oath of office. A London dispatch of Tuesday, says: The official correspondence between England and Germany with regard to the coming labor conference has just been made public. Lord Salisbury, in his reply accepting the invitation of Germany to send a delegate to the conference, refused to in any way lend his influence to the promotion of the proposed legal restriction of the house of labor.

A remarkably bold and successful robbery took place at the courthouse at Wash, Ind., on Thursday. While the corridors of the building were deserted during recess, the county treasurer's office was entered from the main hall, and the money drawer under the pny counter forced with a pair of shears. Several hundred dollars in checks, currency and silver was taken. The thief then locked the door and departed.

A NOTABLE GATHERING.
 THE CHARITY BALL AT ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA. A GRAND AFFAIR.

A dispatch from St. Augustine, Fla., on Tuesday ball Thursday night at the Ponce Leon was the greatest success of the season. All New York's four hundred were transported bodily here, and the wealth and fashion of the whole country was represented. The ball was given for the benefit of Alicia hospital, which was built by Mr. Flieger, and will be supported by the Ladies' Hospital association, for whom the ball was given. Among the prominent guests were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin S. Brice, of Ohio; B. F. Jones and wife, Fred Vanderbilt and wife, Admiral Ushar and wife, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Flieger, Annie Flieger, of New York. Le grand Cannon, W. Bayard Cutting, Jacob Lorillard, Jr., and a hundred other distinguished New Yorkers; L. Harrison Dulles, Miss Butcher, Mr. W. G. Warden and daughters, Philadelphia; Robert Garrett and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore, Malory and family, Baltimore; H. R. hotels are crowded to overflowing, and the season is the greatest ever known.

A MINE HORROR.
 ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY PEOPLE KILLED BY AN EXPLOSION.

A cable dispatch from London says: A terrific explosion occurred Monday in Moss Colliery, in Glamorganshire, Wales. Latest advices are that three hundred miners were entombed, and all but 160 were rescued from the workings nearest the mine. Most of those taken out are unhurt, but several have received fatal injuries. Eight bodies, shockingly mutilated, have been recovered from the mine. Great excitement was caused at the pit by a rumor that appeals for help could be heard from the entombed miners. The rescuers were constantly succumbing to the effects of gas, and were obliged to make a speedy retreat.

A STEAMER ADRIFT.
 AT THE MERCY OF WIND AND WAVE FOR TWO MONTHS.

A telegram was received at the navy department on Tuesday from Commander Bishop, commanding the United States steamer Iroquois, announcing the arrival of that vessel at Port Townsend, Washington, on Monday, after having been blown about the Pacific ocean in a disabled condition since December 23d last. On that day, while on her way from Honolulu to Samoa, her piston broke and her machinery became disarranged and she was driven out to sea. Commander Bishop says that the officer and crew are all well and that after he has taken on coal and provisions, he will take the vessel to San Francisco.

A PREMATURE EXPLOSION
 IN WHICH SEVERAL PEOPLE WERE KILLED AND MANY INJURED.

An explosion of dynamite occurred at Brooklyn waterworks, near Rockville Center, N. Y., Thursday, by which several men were killed and a number injured. Dynamite was being used for blowing up tree stumps on the line of a half mile east of Rockville Center. Two laborers, who were walking near, were blown to pieces, a part of their bodies being thrown in every direction. Two others were fatally injured. The shock of the explosion created consternation. Many houses were shaken, and a number of window panes broken.

THE CZAR IN DANGER.
 HE IS THREATENED WITH ASSASSINATION—A WARNING LETTER.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg, Russia, says: The czar has received a threatening letter from a woman who signs herself "Tchobolova." The letter says that unless he modifies his reaction policy, he will meet the fate of Peter II., Paul I., and Alexander II. A copy of the letter was sent to each of the ministers at the same time. The police are extra-watchful, and are conducting an active search for the person or persons of being implicated in the sending of the letter.

WORKING FOR ANNEXATION.
 ORGANIZATION LOOKING TO A UNION BETWEEN "UNCLE SAM" AND CANADA.

A dispatch from Ottawa, Canada, says that a league having for its object the union of the United States and Canada, has within a week founded forty-three subordinate leagues, with a membership of 1,750. The total membership of these leagues now exceeds 8,000, and is increasing.

GENERAL PROGRESS AND OCCURRENCES WHICH ARE HAPPENING BELOW MASON'S AND DIXON'S LINE.

The Kentucky legislature, on Wednesday, passed a bill calling a constitutional convention. The first cargo of Florida phosphate will be exported from Savannah this month for Liverpool.

The Richmond chamber of commerce is making arrangements to entertain the Pan-American delegates. Jacob Fuller, librarian of Washington and Lee university, Lexington, Va., died Wednesday, aged seventy-five years. Arrangements are being made for three large excursions, through Virginia, of representatives of the New England association.

Matilda Ruby, a negro woman, died at Raywick, Ky., recently, aged 123 years. Her mother died five years ago, at the age 183 years. Five prisoners were enabled to escape from jail at Moberg, Ala., recently through a big hole torn in the roof of their prison by a bolt of lightning.

A fire occurred Tuesday morning by which the Durham fertilizer factory, at Durham, N. C., was totally destroyed. The total insurance involved is $17,000. The Tennessee house of representatives on Tuesday enacted what is known as the Dorch decision bill. Myer's registration bill and Carson poll tax bill into laws. They had previously passed the senate.

The Chattanooga, Tenn., News states that ex-Governor Foster, of Ohio, and his party will take the Pudding Ridge property at Trenton, Ga., consisting of about 30,000 acres of coal and iron land at $1,000,000, as fast as the titles can be made out for it.

The trial of ex-President Holden and ex-Secretary Pullen, at Memphis, Tenn., on two indictments charging larceny, embezzlement and fraudulent breach of trust, came to an end Monday. Holden was acquitted on all the counts. The jury found Pullen guilty on the first count and fixed his punishment at fifteen days in the work-house.

The members of the Tailor's union, at Atlanta, Ga., are out on strike. They made a demand upon employers for an increase in wages, which was refused. It is reported that the strikers are organizing into a joint stock company for the purpose of opening a co-operative store and embarking into the mercantile business for themselves.

A dispatch from Richmond, Va., says: Mercie's equestrian statue, in bronze, of General Robert E. Lee, has been accepted. The statue was made in Paris, and will be shipped at once to this country. At the recent session of the legislature, resolutions were adopted accepting the monument on behalf of the state of Virginia.

The Young Men's Democratic club has charge of the affair, and fully $3,300 was realized above expenses. Chief Justice Turney, of the Tennessee supreme court, delivered an address on the life and character of Mr. Davis.

Baxter Brothers, a constable of Hancock county, and three farmers were arrested at Chattanooga, Tenn., Monday, for stealing a raft of logs valued at $1,000. The four men cut the raft loose in the upper portion of Hancock county, their intention being to float it to Chattanooga, and sell it. The owner of the raft discovered the theft a few hours later, and swore out warrants against the quartette, who were placed in the county jail.

THE TEN HOUR SYSTEM
 DOES NOT WORK WELL IN THE VIRGINIA COTTON FACTORIES.

A special from Petersburg, Va., says 100 operatives employed in the Etchell and Batteries cotton factories refused to work on account of the ten-hour system which went into effect in Virginia on Monday and a reduction of two per cent on their wages. It is believed that the hands in all the cotton factories in and near Petersburg will strike on account of this new system, and the consequent loss of ten per cent on their wages.

WORKING FOR ANNEXATION.
 ORGANIZATION LOOKING TO A UNION BETWEEN "UNCLE SAM" AND CANADA.

RUSHING WATERS.

WESTERN RIVERS OVERFLOWING THEIR BANKS AND INUNDATING THE LAND.

Flood news from various points along the Mississippi river and other streams Wednesday morning, is that White and Black rivers, in Arkansas, are on a rampage. Both are over their banks, and overflowing the country on each side for miles. Heavy rains have fallen, and continue to fall, along these streams and a general inundation is looked for. The Black is a tributary of the White, and the White empties into the Arkansas just above the point where the latter pours its flood into the Mississippi. At Fort Smith, on the Arkansas, a rise of over eighteen feet took place in twenty-four hours, and at last accounts the swell was proceeding at a rapid rate. The great rise, added to minor floods pouring out of all the small tributaries below Fort Smith, will greatly add to the volume of water in the Mississippi below the mouth of the Arkansas, and increase the peril to the lower country. All railroads are in jeopardy.

The Kentucky legislature, on Wednesday, passed a bill calling a constitutional convention. The first cargo of Florida phosphate will be exported from Savannah this month for Liverpool.

The owner of the raft discovered the theft a few hours later, and swore out warrants against the quartette, who were placed in the county jail.

THE TEN HOUR SYSTEM
 DOES NOT WORK WELL IN THE VIRGINIA COTTON FACTORIES.

A special from Petersburg, Va., says 100 operatives employed in the Etchell and Batteries cotton factories refused to work on account of the ten-hour system which went into effect in Virginia on Monday and a reduction of two per cent on their wages. It is believed that the hands in all the cotton factories in and near Petersburg will strike on account of this new system, and the consequent loss of ten per cent on their wages.

WORKING FOR ANNEXATION.
 ORGANIZATION LOOKING TO A UNION BETWEEN "UNCLE SAM" AND CANADA.

A dispatch from Ottawa, Canada, says that a league having for its object the union of the United States and Canada, has within a week founded forty-three subordinate leagues, with a membership of 1,750. The total membership of these leagues now exceeds 8,000, and is increasing.

THE COBRA DI CAPELLO.

India's Great Hooded Scourge, Whose Bite is Death.

The cobra di capello, Naja triglabrata has numerous synonyms in different parts of India. It is sometimes called the spectacled or hooded snake; some are marked with a figure like spectacles; others have a single ocellus on the hood; some have no mark. The former are called by the natives of Bengal "gokurrah," the latter "keutah," but they have other vernacular synonyms in different regions. A common general native form is kals kamp, or kals kamp. There are many varieties, both as to pattern on the hood and general coloration, and they are considered by natives as being of different degrees of activity or deadliness; but the probability is that in these respects they are all much the same, any difference being due to temporary or individual causes.

The cobras are all hooded snakes—that is, the neck dilates into an oval disk, caused by the expansion of a certain number of elongated ribs. The body and tail are relatively of moderate length, seldom together exceeding five or six feet. The scales are smooth and imbricated; there is no loreal shield, the nostrils are lateral, and the pupil of the eye is round. The head is short and not very distinctly separate from the neck; the fangs are of moderate size and but slightly movable; there are one or two small teeth behind them in the maxillary bone.

The cobra is a nocturnal snake—at least it is most active in the night, though it is seen moving about in the day. It is oviparous; the eggs, eight to twenty-five in number, are ovate, about the size of those of a pigeon; the shell is white, tough and leathery. They feed on small animals, birds, eggs, frogs, fish, even insects. They occasionally burrow roots and swallow the eggs whole, and prefer to take their food at dusk, or during the night. They are said to drink much water; but it is certain that they will live weeks, even months, in captivity, without touching food or water. They go into water readily and swim well, but are essentially terrestrial snakes. They are not so much feared as the cobra, which can climb, and occasionally ascends trees in search of food. Cobras are not infrequently found in the roofs of huts, holes in walls, old ruins, fowl houses, and among stacks of wood, cello, old brick, old masonry of brick and stone, or among the grass or low jungle; such are the common resorts, and during the rains or inundations they collect in such places of refuge, where they are frequently disturbed by men, who, stepping on or unintentionally disturbing them, at night, receive their death wound.

The cobra sheds the epidermis with the outer layer of the corns frequently, perhaps ten or twelve times a year; the fangs also are shed. The entire snake, when found marked by a single rent, through which the creature has emerged, brightly colored and glistening in the new epidermis. It aids the process of exfoliation by friction against some hard substance, such as the branches of a tree.—(Nineteenth Century.)

Baby's Photograph.

The taking of baby's photograph is always a trying ordeal to a photographer. Baby's mamma and grandmamma, and all of the aunties who usually lend their assistance on such occasions, are so exacting, while baby himself is so indifferent as to the success of

Meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee.

The meeting of the Executive Committee of the Democratic party of Chilton county which was to have been held at the court house in Clanton on March 15th, was postponed until the 5th of April on account of no quorum being present on the day first appointed. A full meeting is desired, and it is hoped that all beats will be represented on that day.

Mr. K. Wells should have been named instead of H. W. Caffey, in the list of members published last week.

D. J. WATERWORTH,
Chairman.

W. L. SANNEY, Sec'y.

In a republic there is no news so valuable to the citizen as political news whether good or bad, and as a public journal we feel it our duty to give our readers (many of whom take no other paper) the latest developments in the State campaign.

The Montgomery Advertiser of the 11th contains this timely paragraph: The National Alliance has adopted cotton bugging 44 inches wide and 3 pound weight the standard. Alliance men should take note of this and not make contracts for other bugging.

Jefferson county is doing a good work in the hanging line. We predict that after several years more Jefferson county will have to go to hanging Anarchists, judging from the tone of some of the papers which are now being published in Birmingham.

The Age-Herald recently discharged its Greenboro correspondent, Col. W. D. Lee, inspector of convicts, because he sent the paper this item:

"Many of our matter-of-fact farmers and business men have lately turned lawyers, and are studying closely the case of McKee vs. Newman, in 58th Alabama."

Naturally enough the A-H is sick of Kolb and all of his cuses.

It is beginning to look rather ugly for Governor Sany's Senatorial aspirations that he has such a man as commissioner Kolb in his cabinet. We heard a prominent Democratic leader from Governor Sany's section remark a few days since that the nomination of Kolb for Governor would disrupt the Democratic party in Alabama. Perhaps that is the reason the disaffected element are endeavoring to secure his nomination.

Hon. E. J. Lowe, of Birmingham, will be a candidate for Congress in the Sixth District subject to the action of the Democratic Convention. We have known Mr. Lowe since he entered the State University as a Freshman in 1875. We believe him to be one of the most capable men in the Sixth District though he is yet but thirty years of age. We hope to see him nominated and elected.

The statutes books will show that the General Assembly of Alabama, under a Democratic majority, has passed more legislation in the interest of the farmer than of all other classes combined. The fact is, the Democratic majority in the General Assembly was made up very largely of farmers. In the last twenty years the Democratic party of Alabama has done everything for the farmer that was best for his welfare and success. The Democratic party of Alabama is the people's best friend, it is the white man's party.

The Birmingham papers reach us very irregularly. We have not received a copy of the Ala. Sentinel in some time. We can't believe the Sentinel is aping the Age-Herald and refusing to exchange because we don't agree with it any more than we do with the A-H. The Chronicle complains of the mail service. We sometimes receive several copies of the evening papers in one mail, several days old. The Labor Advocate reaches us on time occasionally.

It turns out that Commissioner Kolb, who, at the outset of the campaign, got himself into a nest full of "bad eggs" from a high wife to be hatched a lot of dark and dismal steeds to fill various offices under his benign gubernatorial reign, is really and truly the worst egg in the entire "mare's nest." We are but slightly acquainted with Mr. Kolb, and can bear him no ill will. Our sympathies were with him when it first became known that he would be a candidate for Governor, as we knew nothing bad of him, and we had understood that he was a representative farmer and a representative of the farmers, country folks being naturally biased to some degree in favor of the tiller of the soil. We have since learned that Mr. Kolb is not a farmer and is not a representative of the farmers. On the other hand, as a real estate operator he has demonstrated his ability to throw the average Birmingham manipulator far in the shade. You can read for yourself the substance of the case of McKee vs. Newman, published elsewhere under the head, "Mortgage," in which Mr. Kolb figures as selling mortgaged property and obtaining money under false pretences. We are free to say that if such a double crime had been committed by a poor man, he would have had a hard time saving himself from the penitentiary. We cannot but think now that it would be an impeachment of the integrity of any man to vote for Mr. Kolb for any position. We will not say that "if these charges be true" we cannot support Mr. Kolb. There can be no doubt of their truth. They are part of the records of the Alabama Supreme Court. And no man who loves honesty and integrity will cast his vote for Kolb for any office.

"MORTGAGE"

"Watch How You Deal."

Corres. Montgomery Advertiser.

But is Mr. Kolb an honest man? Does he possess those lofty principles of personal integrity and honor that we are accustomed to find and should demand in our chief executive?

This question shall be answered here by a statement of one of his transactions which so clearly illustrates his true character that no other instance need be given. Let it be understood, however, that if any more are needed, they can be produced.

Furthermore, if any one desires proof of or more light on this transaction he can find it by referring to the decision of Justice Manning in the case of McKee et al. vs. Newman, in Alabama Reports, volume viii, page 529.

In the fall of 1866 Mr. Kolb bought of Col. Newman, a Virginian, a farm near Eufaula which he sold in December of that year to Mr. J. C. McKee for $11 to be paid $5,000 cash, and the remaining $5,000 in one year's time. Mr. McKee paid on January 1st, 1867, $5,000 and January 4th, 3,000 dollars, and delivered to Mr. Kolb his note, payable in one year for 3,000 dollars and interest, which note was paid at maturity. Upon payment of the 8,000, Mr. McKee received from Mr. Kolb a deed, properly signed, dated December 26th, and acknowledged January 4th, 1867. At the same time he received from Mr. Kolb the deed from Newman to Kolb dated and acknowledged in Virginia in November, 1866.

Several years after this transaction a gentleman rode up to Mr. McKee's door, introduced himself as Col. Newman, of Virginia, and made the astounding statement that he owned the plantation which Mr. McKee had paid Mr. Kolb for. An investigation followed which developed that Mr. Kolb had never paid Mr. Newman for the land; that he had, on January 1st, 1867, three days after he had written the deed to Mr. McKee, signed a mortgage to Mr. Newman for the purchase money of the land, that he held back this mortgage until January 7, three days after Mr. McKee had paid him for the land, and then delivered it to the agent of Mr. Newman.

Confronted with these facts, Mr. Kolb acknowledged his guilt, and promising to arrange the matter immediately, begged Mr. McKee not to expose him.

Mr. Kolb's promises were not fulfilled, and consequently, Mr. Newman brought suit against Mr. McKee for possession of the land, with the result that Mr. McKee had to pay him for the plantation for which he had already paid Mr. Kolb.

And now we have the amazing and disgraceful spectacle of this self-confessed criminal, saved by the statute of limitations from punishment, asking the Democratic party of Alabama to elect him to the position of the highest honor in the State government!

THE ANNISTON

City Land Company have a large advertisement in this issue. Anniston has an ensign which appellation is true in every particular, a "Model City" in more than name, a synonym of young giant greatness.

A admirably located as to natural drainage, paved and lighted streets, model disciplined schools, large car, car wheel and construction works, largest pipe works in the Union, and various other industries offering a pay roll of $500,000 per week.

Situated in a beautiful valley among the lower peaks of the Alleghenies, where Nature's lavish hand has stored such giant deposits of coke and grate coal, brown and red ore, long-leaf yellow pine, white oak and various timbered forest, kaolins, slate, gold and other minerals hard by.

The Anniston City Land Co. are now offering the most liberal inducements to manufacturers, large or small. Do not fail to see Anniston, the prettiest town in all the region of the Alleghenies.

Out in Ohio the Democratic Speaker of the House is applying Speaker Reed's ruling to the Republican opposition, and it hurts dreadfully, to judge from the uproar. One furious legislator defied the speaker, challenged the sergeant-at-arms to attempt his removal, and raised a terrible row, thereby displaying a woful lack of appreciation of the parliamentary practice of the Speaker of the national House.

Ayer's Medicine has been satisfactory to me throughout my practice, especially Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has been used by many of my patients, one of whom says he knows it saved his life.—F. L. Morris, M. D., Brookline, N. Y.

That tired, debilitated feeling, so peculiar to Spring, indicates depraved blood. Now is the time to prove the beneficial effects of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It cleanses the system, restores physical energy, and restores new life and vigor into every fibre of the body.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which cause burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

A Peculiar Case.

Dr. H. C. Edmunds, of Elberton, Ga. writes: "A very peculiar and strange case of blood poison came under my attention a short time ago. A gentleman came here from Athens, Ga., where he had been bitten on the hand by a vicious mule that he was invoking to work. The wound was in a horrible condition, and the inflammation was rapidly extending throughout his entire system. Every knuckle on his hand was an ulcer that was deep and sloughy. He stated to me that he had consulted several physicians, and taken their medicines without deriving any benefit. I gave him a course of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) and in a few days he reported to me a marked improvement, and in one week from the time he commenced taking S. S. S. the hand was healed up and the poison entirely eradicated from his system. It is my opinion that he would have lost his life had it not been for the health-giving properties contained in Swift's Specific. He frankly admits himself that S. S. S. did the work."

CONSUMPTION,

If the first stages can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Even in the later periods of that disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by this medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a persistent cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."—J. B. Eldon, M. D., Middleton, Tennessee.

"Several years ago I was severely ill. The doctors said I was consumptive, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day."—James Birchard, Danbury, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted a severe cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B. ### LOCAL LAUNDRY.

Peach trees are blooming.
Chancery court was held last week.

Dr. H. W. Caffey, of Verbena, was in town Saturday.

Steps are being taken to complete the Methodist parsonage.

Mr. E. T. Gullahorn has recovered from his serious illness.

Mr. John Frymire is visiting his former home, Hartselle, Ala.

Mr. M. Aldridge's new residence in West Clanton is nearing completion.

Miss Lula Hurst, of Lowndes county is visiting relatives in our town.

Mr. Gus. Middleton, of Letcher county, visited relatives in Clanton Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Scott, of Elmore, filled the pulpit at the Methodist Church on Sunday.

W. S. Cary, Esq., of Montevallo, visited our town on professional business last week.

Some notice of dissolution of co-partnership existing between Messrs. Hand and Heath.

Mr. J. M. Ponder does not think his poor trees have been materially injured by the cold.

Several young ladies from Jefferson have been visiting the family of Mr. J. H. Hunt this week.

What has become of the county Confederate Veterans' Association? There was no meeting last month.

It is unnecessary to call attention to Alex. Rice's attractive advertisement as it speaks for itself.

A gripe or something worse attacked our household the past week and the paper bobs up a day late.

Mr. Robt. Middleton, of Birmingham, came down Sunday to spend the day with his father's family.

Mr. D. J. Waterworth Chairman of the County Democratic Executive Committee paid us a pleasant visit Saturday.

Col. G. A. Northington, of Verbena, was in town on business at the courthouse last week and gave us a pleasant call.

Mr. S. A. Johnson and family who have been visiting relatives at this place have returned to their home in Birmingham.

Tax Assessor Rollins failed to make his appointment at Clanton on the 13th, 14th and 15th as published. He was probably "under the weather."

Mr. Otto Stoelker was in town Saturday with other Montgomery capitalists. They went out to look at the George mineral lands with a view of investing.

Died at Cooper's Station, on the 18th inst., Mr. John Elands. He was one of the oldest and best citizens of that section, having been born in 1814.

The subject for the morning services at the Baptist church next Sunday will be "The Failure of Works followed by the Success of the Election of Grace." All are invited to attend.

On Monday a woman, two boys and a little girl who had walked to the Gap to this point on the Montgomery v. v. succeeded in getting up a collection here to pay the railroad fare for the return of the trip.

Pimples, blotches, scaly skin, ugly spots, sores and ulcers, abscesses and tumors, unhealthily discharges, such as gonorrhea, syphilis, ring worms and other forms of skin diseases, are symptoms of blood impurity. Take Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla.

Fertilizers for Sale.
I have contracted for a full supply of high grade fertilizers including Guano, Acid Phosphate, and Cotton Seed Meal, and will have them for sale during the season at the lowest market prices for cash or on time to responsible parties. Give me a call before buying.
Respectfully,
W. L. SMITH.

Mr. J. W. E. Gullidge was in town Monday with his application for appointment as census enumerator for beats four and five of this county. His petition has been very numerous signed by citizens of both precincts. We have not heard of any other applicant for the position and as Mr. Gullidge is a deserving gentleman, we hope he may secure the appointment.

Verbena Verbings.

The statement that was noticed in your paper of the horse eating up a rooster is sustained by a corresponding story of a lady of this place who was an eye witness to a colt's eating up a hen. Their appetite reminds us of the preachers.

We are sorry to say that our young friend, Dr. O. J. Brooks, happened to a slight accident the other day. Dr. Gus. Green was absent at the time, tending a call in the country.

Regardless of the bad and cold weather, farmers are planting generally.

Maj. Gibson has recently fitted up a nice neat looking cottage building for the Post office and an office for Dr. H. W. Caffey. Miss Annie Reddish, the P. M. has moved into the building.

Messrs. Boykin & Williams have moved into the Mullin's building.

Dr. B. Baldwin and Mr. Joe Barnett, of Montgomery, and Mr. Barnett Merrimether, of Birmingham, are on a visit to relatives in this place.

Dr. Wright, the Baptist minister gave us an interesting sermon last night, from the text, "My Grace is Sufficient for You." Among other remarks he said "he had no patience with a man who would come up in a whining tone and say Brother I was overtaken in a fault on yesterday, I went to town and got drunk," when in fact he had run after the fault and overtook it," and he said "who ever heard of a bottle of whiskey running after a man, or a pack of cards. In nine cases out of every ten the man was running after the fault, and not the fault after the man."

Mr. F. A. Gullidge done some very fine farming on a small scale the past year. He has, he says, about three acres in two lots around his house, upon which he raised about 5 bales of cotton, averaging about 540 lbs. to the bale. There was about 600 lbs. of seed cotton put into them that did not grow upon said lot.

The trains killed a fine young short horn Durham cow for Mr. F. Thornton, and a young Jersey for Mr. J. G. Farley.

The Oak and other trees are said to have been killed by the late cold snap.

A large quantity of Commercial Fertilizer has been hauled away from here this season.

In one of our justice courts on Saturday, there were 18 cases set for trial.

Teach Them to Read Newspapers.

Teach the boys and girls to read the newspapers — not sensational trashy, snappy sheets, but clean respectable plain-spoken papers. It will give them food for thought. It will cultivate the taste for more extensive reading. It will cause them to love home better. It will make their intellects keener and their hearts happier, purer and better. Then as they grow in wisdom, they should also be supplied with first-class magazines and good books. Such opportunities will be worth more to them than a mine of gold. By all means cultivate a taste for reading among the children, and a good local paper is the best to begin with, as the children can read about things that are familiar to them—about their town and county, and concerning men and things of which they have personal knowledge. From this they can go step by step until they rank among the most intelligent people of the land.—E.

Meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee.

The meeting of the Executive Committee of the Democratic party of Chilton county which was to have been held at the court house in Clanton on March 13th, was postponed until the 5th of April on account of no quorum being present on the day first appointed. A full meeting is desired, and it is hoped that all bona fide representatives will be present on that day.

D. J. WATERWORKS,
Chairman.

W. L. SAMPEY, Sec'y.

Commissioner Kolb spoke at the courthouse to a small audience on Saturday morning. His subject was divided into three heads: "Fertilizers—The St. Louis Exposition—The Advertiser." It is said that he gave them all the 4-1. The Commissioner has conducted his canvass for Governor in such an unwise manner, that it would be a work of supererogation to oppose him further. He insists that the Advertiser has not damaged him any. He gave as a call at his office, where he impressed us as an agreeable gentleman, and we had an hour's conversation with him on the subject of his candidacy for Governor. However, at his request, that he had to say for himself is not published.

The South has by no means a monopoly of oranges and never has had. A young man engaged in revival work in Metairie, Ill., whose preaching did not suit the local taste, has been threatened with a coat of tar and feathers, and is forced to have a guard of disreputable armed with Winchester when carrying on his work. Two or three months ago a party of citizens in Whitehall, Wisconsin, took a man from his home and hanged him for "general encephalitis." They are well known, and there has been a farce called a trial, but it is well understood that their punishment will amount to nothing more than a light fine, which their appreciative neighbors will pay. Strange to say, neither of these incidents has received editorial comment from Northern Republican contemporaries.

Capt. Kolb states in his open letter that he is a straight convention Democrat. He made the same declaration in his speech at Clanton Saturday. Yet he says that he is the Alliance candidate and that he is sure of the support of the Alliance, if there is no chicanery in the county conventions. It will appear to most of us here that he made a bad break by such a declaration in this county, because the great majority of the Alliance men here are opposed to conventions, and never take part in the work of a convention. Shortly after this declaration was made, we asked an Alliance man if he was for Kolb for Governor. He replied: "No; Kolb is a convention Democrat, and I am opposed to conventions. Kolb will not get the support of the Alliance here for the same reason." The name of this Alliance man will be furnished if wanted. Mr. Kolb should have had some one to give him a tip as to the peculiar political condition of "this district" before he made his speech.

This is how an accomplished society reporter on a Dakota paper gives its readers an idea of a soiree, with a description of the costumes worn by the ladies of the party:

"Mary Monroe, red frock, white sack, and hair lunched; Emma Latrobe, yellow dress and high-heeled slippers; Marion Willoughby, some kind of thin stuff, white, and tied up with blue tape, and hair frizzled; Jennie Murphinson, black clothes and feather in her hair; Ella Wadford, red hair, and gray suit, flat in front and stuck out behind; Pauline Tuley, dressed to the top branch—she had a velvet outfit a mile long and six feet wide, and had a lot of vegetables in it; Florence Ross, green dress, clipped with velvet, and hoisted up at the side with a white check-rein; Venney Hamner, white network with red streak, and hair frizzled."

MAMMOTH CAVE.

DISCOVERED AT MAPLEVILLE.

Editor CHILTON VIEW: Dear Sir—Although I am not a professional newspaper correspondent, yet if you will permit me I would be pleased to occupy a small space in your paper.

My first statement is there are many more subterranean caverns than the mammoth cave of Kentucky. You, Mr. Editor, are the first one to whom I have related my story. And, although, what I am about to relate may be regarded as some, and fill columns with incredulity, but to all such and all others who do not know me by my nom de plume, you may as liberally give them my real name, and assure them for me that it they were here I could give them ocular demonstrations of what I am about to describe.

One pleasant afternoon as I was walking through the forest near Mapleville, the beautiful village in which I reside, I started a rabbit through its burrow, when it ran through a small opening and disappeared. Following on I found the space through which it ran quite small, scarcely sufficient for me to pass through, but by stooping very low I managed after considerable exertion to edge through. It was fully as ragged, and difficult to get through as going between the knees of a wire fence, but once through I found I could stand perfectly erect. Being alone and after hesitating a little, I determined to examine more closely the beauties of nature that met my eyes on every hand. I started and walked down, down, down, every step downward, I suppose some five or six hundred feet, and found before me about such another obstacle as the former, but with the same difficulty I pressed through, and with a few steps came to what I verily believe was once a wagon road, for certainly there were the prints of the wagon wheel plainly to be seen.

What! is Mapleville above a subterranean cavern? Are we, the citizens of Mapleville, living above what was once the home of a pre-historic race? Will wonders never cease? I followed this road but a few steps when I came to a running stream with a beautiful pebbled bottom, and as I stepped across I scared some fish in an eddy part of the brook. I am told the fish found in the mammoth cave of Kentucky are without eyes. It was light enough where I was to distinctly see these fish were well blessed with the organs of vision. Although I was many feet below the bed of the railroad, I think I could hear the sound of a moving train. I am certain I heard the whistle of the locomotive. As we are to have a new railroad running through or near our village, I made an effort to discover mineral or anything else to give a new impetus to the collapsed boom near our place, but I was unsuccessful in finding any deposits of coal or iron, yet I am certain I found a place where gold could be accumulated in a considerable quantity. I am not certain how far this road would have led me, or what beauties of nature were in store for me. As it was nearing night, and not wishing to remain in such a place after dark, I endeavored to retrace my steps which I did and reached my way home well pleased with my evening's tramp.

It is not every time man knows over what wonders he is standing. It may be near some dangerous precipice, or above monuments of former grandeur or over ruins of ancient cities, awaiting to be brought to light by Dr. Schliman or some other archaeologist.

The Lodge Bill.

Not since the days when the force bill was pending have southern representatives been so much exercised over any measure before Congress as over the Federal election bill introduced by Henry Cabot Lodge on Monday. It is the unanimous opinion of the southern men that while the bill on its face, appears to apply to the whole country, it was only intended for the south and can only affect the south. In the northern states, they say, no man of either party would dare to impugn the honesty of the state officers by questioning the Federal government to take charge of their elections. In the south, however, it is different. No trouble will be experienced in getting up such a petition as the bill provides, among the negroes. It will, therefore, they said, be only applicable to the south. The bill absolutely puts the whole machine-ery in the hands of Federal judges and appointees, and past experience demonstrates that everything will be conducted in a one-sided and partisan manner. Such a measure only demonstrates the desperation of the republicans and the lawless extremities to which they will go to retain power. It further demonstrates that the moment the first of white unity is broken in the south that the worst elements of both races will obtain control. It is nothing to be sought, new issues or exciting new issues of faith for Democrats, who have always voted for the rights of the people and the rights of the states.—Advt. piece.

For Congress.

We are authorized to announce that Mr. W. F. Foster, of Macon, county, a candidate for Congress in the fifth district at the ensuing election in November. Mr. Foster has a wide reputation as a lawyer and orator, and needs no introduction to the people of this portion of the district. He made a most creditable reputation as Speaker of the Alabama House of Representatives, and he is a Democrat and true. It is an honor to have such a man in the convention.

Friendship.

Composition by Jodie Dee Edwards, Student of Third Grade in Clanton Academy.

What is friendship? It is intimacy based on mutual esteem. It is the sweetest and most satisfactory connection in life. It relieves our sorrows, our hopes, and increases our fears. Friendship preserves happiness, and alleviates misery by doubling our joys, and dividing our griefs. It is the sweet attraction of the heart toward the merit we esteem. The language of friendship is as varied as the range and weakness of humanity. It is ready to leap a highway band, it is ready to sympathize with the sorrowing; to the timid and cautious, it speaks words of encouragement. Its influence dispels every thought of envy, and spreads abroad in the heart contentment, happiness and peace. True friendship will bloom only in the soil of a noble and self-sustaining heart. There it enjoys perpetual summer, defying a sweet atmosphere of love, peace and joy to all around. It can only be molded by the experience of time. The attractive face, the winning tongue, or the strong need of some person is not the test of the union of the hearts. We want a more substantial proof than any of these. Oh! the blessing it is to have a friend to whom one can speak fearlessly on any subject, with whom one's deepest, as well as one's most foolish thoughts, can be simply and safely, Oh! the comfort, the inexpressible comfort of feeling safe with a person having neither to weigh thoughts nor to measure words, but pouring them all out just as they are, chaff and grain together, certain that a faithful friend will take and sift them, keep what is worth keeping, and with the breath of kindness blow the rest away. Concerning the one you call your friend, tell me will he faithfully receive you to your feet for actions for which others are ridiculing and censuring you behind your back? And lastly, when death shall last and ever, will he shed a tear upon your grave, and think of the dear remembrance of friendship in his heart? It is of this that I am thinking. False friendships are like shadows, keeping close to us while we are in the sunshine, but leaving us in the instant we cross into the shade. False friends are like ivy; decay and ruins the walls it embraces. But true friendship gives new life to the object it supports. Love your friends. If they repay you, thank them; if they grieve you, forgive them; be very slow to give up an old friend. A true friend is such a rare thing to have, that you are blessed beyond the majority of men if you only possess but one of this kind. Old friends! What a multitude of deep and vaporous emotions are gelled up by the utterance of these two words! There is magic in their sound, and the spell is both mild and pleasing. We have all heard the beautiful saying: "The two most beautiful things in the universe are the stars and the stars in the human soul." They are as reliable as the everlasting rocks. Suppose that we have no friends to share with us our success in life; that we look not back to those to whom we owe gratitude, how would we feel? Why is it so many people go through life and keep all kind words and pleasant thoughts bottled and sealed? Listen to stories of love or sorrow, and show that you rejoice or sympathize with them, this is friendship. It is the old story of the traveler and his cloak over again. When the wind blew coldly the cloak was only wrapped more closely about him; when the sun shone warmly in a cloudless sky, the cloak was discarded. Every kind word, and every pleasant thought will bear blossom that will give credit to us in the "Beautiful Beyond."

The Fire of Disease is Always Driven From the System by Swift's Specific (S. S. S.).

Do you feel that the terrible fire of Blood Poison is consuming you?—that the poisonous virus is vibrating and corrupting your physical system?—that it is invading your moral nature and stunting your aspirations for manliness and domestic happiness? Does the thought of a nightmare face you at night and say that you are a victim of this monster which has been on the war path for five centuries, scourging the human race by the thousands and tens of thousands, and which is regarded and acknowledged by many learned men to be incurable? Then we say, come to us and we will cure you. Toss your back on the old worn-out poisons as mercury, potash, arsenic and like compounds so ruinous to health, and take S. S. S., which we assert does cure, and we are prepared to prove it.

How They Started.

Most of our millionaires laid the foundation of their fortunes by saving.

It is said that Senator Farwell commenced life as a surveyor.

Cornelius Vanderbilt began life as a farmer.

A. T. Stewart made his first start as a school teacher.

Postmaster-General Wanamaker's first salary was $125 a week.

Cyrus Field began life as a clerk in a New England store.

Andrew Carnegie did his first work in a telegraph office at $3 a week.

Moses Taylor clerked in Water street, New York, at $2 a week.

Whitely Reid, our minister to France did work as correspondent of a Cincinnati newspaper at $5 a week.

Geo. W. Childs was an errand boy for a bookseller at four dollars a month.

Jay Gould canvassed Delaware County New York, selling maps at $1.50 apiece.

And to the above names, which are familiar to most people might be added hundreds of the others whose fortune and fame had the same origin beginning.

The same or better opportunities exist to-day for bright intelligent young men to succeed that existed when the above millionaires began their business life, but to accomplish it, the same perseverance and economy which characterized their early career must be observed. (Scientific American.)

The Peers Help The Gospel.

Some one might say to me: "How can you talk thus of the newspaper press when you yourself have sometimes been unfairly treated and misrepresented?" I answer that in the opportunity the newspaper press of this country and other countries have given me week by week to preach the Gospel to the nations, I am put under so much obligations that I defy all editors and reporters the world over, to write anything that shall call forth from me one word of bitter retort from now till the day of my death. My opinion is, that all reformers and religious teachers, instead of spending so much time and energy in denouncing the press, had better spend more time in thanking them for what they have done for the world's intelligence, and declaring their magnificent unanimity and unending loyalty, moment of it all for beneficent and righteous purpose.—Tribune.

Coughing

It is Nature's effort to expel foreign substances from the bronchial passages. Frequently, this causes inflammation and the need of an anodyne or local anesthetic or anodyne is equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It assists Nature in clearing the mucus, allays irritation, induces repose, and is the most popular of all cough cures.

"Of the many preparations before the public for the cure of colds, coughs, bronchitis, and kindred diseases, there is none so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For years I was subject to colds, followed by terrible coughs. About four years ago, when so afflicted I was advised to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and to lay all other remedies aside. I did so, and within a week was well of my cold and cough. Since then I have always kept this preparation in the house, and use it comparatively secure."

—Mrs. L. J. Bennett, Decatur, Miss.

"A few days ago I took a severe cold which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctor gave me up. I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which cleared my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded the rest necessary for recovery of my strength. By the continual use of the Pectoral, a permanent cure was effected."—Thomas E. Edwards, Rockingham, Va.

Married at the residence of the bride's parents near Verona, Ala., on the 27th ult., Mr. J. A. Wells and Miss Louie Lloyd. We wish the young couple a future of joy and prosperity.

Hon. Thos. J. Carlisle, candidate for State Superintendent of Education was in town Saturday with Commissioner Kolb. He was engaged looking after his own interests. He is now clerk in the Commissioner's office.

A Washington dispatch says, Dr. L. W. Spratlan, of Verbona, Ala., who was today appointed Alabama's Assistant Surgeon, is a native of Costa County, Alabama, and was educated by an aunt who resides in the State.

Mr. Stephen B. Johnston, of Birmingham, dealer in paints and wall paper, desires the trade of this section and has a card in the Anniston to which attention is invited. He carries a varied and extensive stock of goods, and is known for his cordial and friendly relations to him.

News of J. H. McNeil, a colored man, who was shot and killed by a white man, is being circulated in Clanton. The man who shot him is now in the State Prison. The man who shot him is now in the State Prison.

Dr. J. H. McNeil's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

Fertilizers for Sale.
I have contracted for a full supply of high grade fertilizers including Guano, Acid Phosphate, and Cotton Seed Meal, and will have them for sale during the season at the lowest market prices for cash or on time to responsible parties. Give me a call before buying.

Respectfully,
W. L. SAMPSON.

Rev. A. J. Briggs, of Clanton, will deliver a sermon at the Methodist church on next, the 5th, Sunday. Mr. Briggs is well known as one of the most eloquent young divines in Alabama, and every one who attends this service will be able to attest the truth of this statement.

It was reported, Thursday that two white men who were arrested in Birmingham were the parties who robbed the Clanton, Ala., Express. Mr. W. A. Collier, who was arrested, reported that they were not the parties wanted, but were being held by the U. S. authorities for violation of the revenue law. A third party has since been arrested and he was brought to Clanton and jailed.

CAHEEN'S GREAT HOLOCAUST

ON DRY GOODS, MILLINERY AND GENTS FURNISHING GOODS, THE TALK OF THE TOWN

WE DID NOT FOOL OUR FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS

With a bombastic, alluring advertisement, as is the vocation of the codfish dry goods houses. We gave you all advertised, and more besides. The public well know that CAHEEN'S name is untrammelled in that respect. In the first place it is no trouble for CAHEEN to buy his goods. Manufacturers are continually after us. Why? Because we plank down the hard cash, and that is what they want.

Having the cash in all emergencies of this kind, we have the advantage of twenty-five per cent under fake dry goods houses in Birmingham, who are compelled to buy their stocks from jobbers on six months' time. In having this great advantage, we tender it to our customers, who imbibed pretty freely of our bargains.

The Bibb Blade has absorbed the Centerville Enterprise. Another evidence that a county without a large town can support only one paper.

Wanted, a bright and intelligent boy who has had some experience in a printing office and who desires to learn something of job work. Must be fifteen or sixteen years of age. Address this office.

All the candidates for State Superintendent of Education are ex-editors except Maj. Carlisle. Mr. C. W. Brown, ex-editor of the Scottsboro Citizen; Maj. Harris, of the Alabama Baptist; Col. M. C. Burke, of the Marengo News; and Col. Palmer, of the Guntersville Democrat.

It is given out that the Alliance has made a recent ruling that no editors but those conducting "strictly agricultural publications" are eligible to membership in the order. Under this ruling are we to suppose that the editor of the Alliance Herald will soon be expelled? We notice a great deal more political than agricultural matter in the Herald.

We have seen a campaign document issued by the Carlisle campaign club of Brundidge, Pike county. At the top of the circular is a handsome picture, which the document claims is a representation of Mr. Carlisle, who is the candidate from Pike for State Superintendent of Education. After looking upon this handsome picture and then getting a sight of the only original Mr. T. J. Carlisle the voter is liable to be sadly disappointed, so we advise the Major or the Colonel to stay close at home and let those pictures do the work for him. And if he gets there, the howl of "false pretenses" will come to late to do any harm.

Chas. W. Brown, Esq., of Scottsboro, stopped in our town a short while last week and gave us a pleasant call. Mr. Brown is a candidate for State Superintendent of Education. He is worthy and well qualified, being a graduate of both the academic and law departments of the State University, and in addition has been clerk in the State Superintendent's office for two terms, where he acquired a thorough knowledge of the duties of the position. We think he would fill the office with a competency, but when it comes to choosing between such good men as Harris, Brown and Burke, we must ask to be excused. May the best man win.

COUNSEL WORTH HEEDING.

Our Continued Prosperity is in Unity and Harmony Among the Whites.

To the Chilton View:

The controlling question among the Southern people now is "White Supremacy." As compared with its importance every other interest pales into insignificance, and should be made subordinate to it. In its proper adjustment are involved the religious, social, political and material well-being of all classes of our citizens, not excepting those who have been regarded as the inferior race. The continued ascendancy and control of those who have been the regnant power in elevating our country to its present proud position is essential to the progress and further development of the grand resources opening up on every hand, and which are yet in their infancy, and properly fostered, and preserved against the withering touch of political partisanship, are destined to make the sunny South the most magnificent region upon which the sun of heaven shines. Every motive then that can appeal to human pride and influence human ambition should prompt this people to a union of hearts and hands in this mighty work.

Resources without limit, variety of productions surpassing the most favored lands of earth, fertility of soil upon which the rains and sunshine of the skies descend with fertilizing and fructifying influences known to no other people, and an ancestry and history which any nation might well look upon with pride. These and a hundred other motives which might be named conspire to beckon us onward to the victories of a glorious future, and nothing but our own perverseness and folly can prevent the winning of the prize. What then constitutes one of the main factors of success in this all important struggle? I answer, union! union! union!!!

In the light of past events it is a demonstrated fact that we have strong and malevolent enemies working for our overthrow, and they have allies of the most powerful character as willing auxiliaries in their nefarious schemes. The Republican party, nations, State and county, have been active and unremitting in this direction. Every plan that a malignant ingenuity, prompted by Satan, could invent, or an unholy power clothed with unequalled appliances have been brought into requisition for our destruction, but patience, fortitude, self-reliance, wisdom and union of our people, led by the grand intellects of the Democratic party, have met and thwarted their most astutely devised schemes. Their only hope for our overthrow lies in promoting internal dissensions in our ranks; so long as we remain united we are invincible. Their motto is "divide et impera," divide and govern. Shall we respond to their wishes in this? The wise man says: In vain is the snare set in the sight of any bird. The transparency of the device should prevent the most unsuspecting from falling into the trap.

But one says I acknowledge the force of what you say as to national and State politics, but in county matters more liberty of action is permissible, and we are unwilling to submit to the control of a few individuals in county affairs. But beware unless in attempting to avoid Scylla you plunge into Charydis. Let those who claim that Democratic principles have been violated by party leaders lay the blame on their own neglect of the duties of an intelligent citizenship, and instead of turning to weak and utterly powerless organizations as indicative of their disapproval, and to use a homely but expressive phrase, "bite off their own noses to spite their faces," let them unite their efforts with the only organization capable of meeting and successfully combating the fearful perils by which all we hold dear is menaced. Any other course is mere "midsummer madness," and is portentous of untold evils.

Sloughing off from the party in county matters is simply paving the way for more disastrous defections. Remember the aphorism, "facilis est descensus avari," the downward road is an easy one. In the light of a common peril by which we are environed, involving a common calamity to every important interest of this fair land, can we not forego past irritations, bury the differences of other years, and closing up our ranks march shoulder to shoulder against the common enemy under a banner inscribed with the device, "White men must and will rule this country." CITIZENS.

COUNTY CONVENTION.
Room of the Executive Committee of the Democratic and Conservative Party of Chilton County:
CLANTON, ALA., April 5, 1890.
To the Democracy of Chilton County:
A Convention of the Democratic and Conservative party of Chilton County is hereby called to be held at the Court house in Clanton at 10 A. M. Saturday, May the 3rd, 1890, to nominate a candidate for County Superintendent of Education, to nominate a candidate for the Legislature, to elect Delegates to the Democratic State Convention to be held at Montgomery, May the 24th, 1890, to elect Delegates to the congressional convention, if found expedient, and to elect an executive committee.

The election of Delegates to the said County Convention is hereby directed to be held at the several polling places of Chilton County, on Wednesday, April 23rd, 1890. The representation in County Convention has been apportioned as follows, to wit:

The following named persons are hereby notified that they have been appointed Managers of the election to be held April 23rd, 1890, for the election of delegates to the County Convention, to wit:

Beat 1, Mineral Springs, B. F. Robinson, H. C. Young, and James McKee.
Beat 2, Jemison, L. J. Hand, Dr. H. T. Coffey, and G. W. Deramus.
Beat 3, Providence, James Gasser, and C. C. Cry, and J. P. V. n'te go.

Beat 4, Benson, G. W. Jones, B. T. Ramsey, and D. A. White.
Beat 5, Macedonia, G. L. Spear, J. L. Williams, and Jackson Palmer.
Beat 6, Clanton, W. L. Sampey, G. C. Hanks, and W. H. Foshee.
Beat 7, Coopers, P. C. Dennis, James Griffith, and Moses Robinson.
Beat 8, Verona, K. Wells, F. A. Gulligoe, and J. R. D. Ydin.
Beat 9, Kinchison, A. C. Poole, J. W. Scott, and D. F. Jacks.
Beat 7, Mapleville, Thomas Daboe, L. W. Gullahorn, and Robert Walker.

Beat 8, Dixie, J. W. Broadhead, W. A. Smith, and Wm. Parnell.
Managers of the election for delegates to the County Convention are earnestly requested to conduct said election in conformity to the election laws of the State, so far as the same are applicable, restricting the ballot to Democrats who abide the actions of the Conventions of the party, and make returns of the delegates elected to the Chairman of the Executive Committee as soon as practicable.

By order of the County Executive Committee.
D. J. WATERWORTH,
Chairman Co. Ex. Committee.
W. L. SAMPEY, Secretary.

[The managers of the election at each voting place are requested to mail or send the VIST of the delegates elected, for publication, immediately upon closing of polls.]

No Race Issue Here.
Of all the States in the Union, Mississippi is the one where, according to Republicans, the colored people fared the worst. One would suppose, to read Republican papers and listen to Republican speeches, that the colored people in that State are in a position to envy the political prisoners in Siberia. It is a fact of national interest, therefore, that as the recent session of the Mississippi Legislature was about to close, L. W. Moore, colored, in behalf of the six colored members, presented to the Speaker of the House a handsome silver tea set as a testimonial of their appreciation of the impartiality which he has displayed in his rulings. In the presentation, address Mr. Moore said:

"Notwithstanding you are a Democrat and a white man, presiding over an almost white and Democratic Legislature, during the session of which divers great race and party questions have shown up in its deliberations, you bravely stood on the firm rock of justice in your rulings; and so pure was your conduct that prejudice, with its scornful head, dare not approach your stand. I was born in Mississippi; but raised in a Northern State; associations there led me to regard the Southern white man as a foe to the negroes. But receiving, such cordial and unprejudiced association upon this floor by the entire Democratic party here, these previous suspicions have been eliminated from the bosoms of the feeble six, and for them I am authorized to speak. You are our best friends; we are here together and from preference and stubborn intention should the spirit manifest; by this body prevail throughout the South, it is a sure and certain solution of the race problem in Mississippi."

OVER THE COUNTRY.
Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Dots From Benson.
It rains, it rains. Farmers are backward in their crop movement. But very little planting has been done. The crop will be a failure in this neighborhood. Fruit will be very rare and scarce this summer.

A man traveling through this vicinity recently, as agent for the sale of fruit trees, has turned out to be a detective, looking after the illicit distilling of grain and other whisky materials. Upon the strength of this information some parties have skipped out.

Mr. James Kincaid is very low with malarial fever.
Mr. John Dennis, of Little Rock, Ark., is on a visit to relatives and friends in Mulberry. He is in low health and will spend the summer in Clanton for the benefit of his health.

Prof. G. L. Spear has an interesting school at Green Leaf Academy.

If Mr. Adams, who owns the chicken eating house, will give the horse the following articles well mixed, that horse will eat no more chickens: 1 oz pulverized sulphur, 1 oz pulverized copperas, 1 oz spirits turpentine and 14 chicken gizzards all stewed up in a quart of Burgundy pitch, let it cool and give a tablespoon full every hour until the horse dies.

Success to the View.

Jump to Jettings.

We are having some nice warm spring-like weather.

The farmers have begun to plant corn and potatoes. They have also begun to garden a little, and are having good success.

English pears are extraordinarily fine. Wheat, oats and rye, though stunted with the cold, are coming out, and prospects are good for a fine crop.
Peach trees are blossoming and are promising for a bountiful crop, though fatal as the prospects have been.
The neighbors are afraid to visit each other in our neighborhood on account of the measles. The boys are afraid to go to see their sweethearts for fear they will not be admitted, and the girls are afraid to see their fellows come. So, boys, you had better content your self at home for a short while.

Mr. G. W. Jones, of this vicinity, killed a fine turkey gobbler the other day. We wish we could have a ch god luck as this. G. Y. Z.

Mapleville Note.

Mr. Thos. Foshee was an honored guest of the Montgomery banquet.

We are such law abiding people there are no startling events of record this week.

The measles has spent its force, and all these afflicted are convalescing.

Mrs. Annie DuBose is visiting her mother, Mrs. N. Goodwin.

We are sorry that all efforts to discover the wonderful cave near here have proved vain.

Miss Katie Brand's friends are enjoying a visit from her this week.

Forces for railroad work are camping around every few days.

Look After the Little Ones.
S. S. S. is the remedy for children because it is a simple vegetable compound, prepared from the roots gathered from the forest, and contains no mineral at all nor any poisons of any kind. It cures by dissolving the impurities of the blood, thus assisting nature.

If there is or has been any consumption in your family, you should give your children S. S. S. It will gently stimulate the action of the lungs, and enable nature to properly develop the child. If here is scrofula, you should not fail to give S. S. S. It is the only remedy which has ever cured this disease. For boils, pimples, blotches, etc., on children S. S. S. is superior to all other medicines. It acts gently, it forces out impurities and builds up the child from the first dose.

All this talk about ending Gove, say to the Senate is all hush. Let well enough alone—Pugh and Morgan are the right men and can not be improved on. Little Joe Wheeler is also where he belongs, and where he can do the most good for his constituents. Disturb not the peaceful waters.—Tusculum Dispatch.

Indigestion

Is not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system embolized, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Bruckway Centre, Mich.:
"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and lived with strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

The preachers' meeting of the Prater District last Wednesday, and Thursday, notwithstanding bad weather, was quite a success. Eight ministers were present, and the spiritual and financial condition of the district, was thoroughly discussed. Plans were adopted for success in every department of church work, and each preacher returned to his home feeling blessed by the meeting and pleased with the hospitality of Clanton. The sermon by Dr. Urquhart on Thursday to the preachers, was an exceptionally fine one, and well received by all.

Lecture.

Rev. P. T. Hale, of Birmingham, will lecture in Clanton, Monday night, April 28th, for the Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church.

Bro. Hale has traveled in Germany, France and Scotland, and will give a very interesting account of these travels. The proceeds to be applied to the purchase of hymn books for the Baptist church.

Only One Excuse.

"Advertise by the year," said an old experienced business man. "It is cheaper and yields a better return in proportion to the money invested. An advertisement should always be before the public in some shape; if it disappears it is soon forgotten, and those that remain have the superiority and advantage of the competitor. There is only one excuse for the discontinuance of an advertisement—that of retreating from business."

CLANTON, ALA., April 4th, 1890.
Editor—CHILTON VIEW.

Dear Sir,

I read an article written by "A Father" of this place a few days since in the Shelby News, with regard to the costumes and morals of the rising generation. My idea is to convert the heart, and then the morals will be what they should.

According to our views of the character of God so will be our conduct. The corruption of morals, which degraded and destroyed the heathen world, was the natural result of what infidels have designated "their elegant mythology." The abominable characters of the heathen gods and goddesses were at once the transcript and the provocatives of the abominations of their worshippers, but wherever the true God has been known—wherever the character of Jehovah has been proclaimed, there a new standard of morals has been erected, and even those by whom his salvation is rejected are induced to counterfeit the virtues to which they do not attain. True Christianity and sound morals are indissolubly linked together, and just in proportion as men are estranged from the knowledge and service of God, so shall we find their actions stained with the corruption of sin.

Where in all the boasted moral systems of Socrates, Plato, Cicero, Aristotle, Epictetus, Seneca, or the rest of the Greek and Roman philosophers, shall we find anything comparable to the purity and beauty of the virtues enjoined by Paul in the Romans? Even modern writers on Ethics, when departing from the only pure standard of virtue, discover the grossest ignorance and inconsistency. But Paul righting without any of the aids of human wisdom draws his precepts from the fountain of heavenly truth, and inculcates on the disciples of Jesus a code of duties which, if habitually practiced by mankind, would change the world from what it is—a scene of strife, jealousy and division, and make it what it was before the entrance of sin, a paradise fit for the Lord to visit and for man to dwell in. So if we follow the dictates of a Christian conscience our morals will take care of themselves.

Jack Billings' Philosophy.

The public judge of a man by his success.

Avarice eats up everything, even economy.

Hope is a blind guide, but where did you find a better one?

Indolence may not be a crime, but it is liable to be at any time.

I am satisfied there is more imaginary trouble in this world than real.

The text which has been most preached from by the human family is vanity.

I like a wide-awake Christian, one whose virtue has got some karyenne pepper in it.

There are as many old phoos in this world as young ones, and the old ones are the silliest.

Most of us, when we repent of our sins, think it is a change of heart, when in fact it is only a fear of punishment.

I have sometimes thought that the man with many vices was safer than one; for many vices often wear each other out, while the one wears the man out.

The duty of gratitude is that a beggar can be as grateful as a prince, and the power of gratitude is that "I thank you" makes the beggar equal to the prince.

I thank heaven for one thing, that there is not in this wide world a human or inhuman being that I would not rather help than hurt. I find this sentiment in conscience, or I wouldn't dare claim it; and I know my own conscience better than anybody else does.

Fits Anywhere.

The late Horace Greeley is accredited with having written the following truths:

If you want to keep a town from thriving, don't build any more houses than you can conveniently occupy yourself.

If you should accidentally have an empty building and any one wants to rent it, ask them three times its value.

Demand a Shylock price for every foot of land that God has given you a stewardship over.

Turn a cold shoulder to every mechanic and business man who seeks to make a home in the community.

Look upon every new comer with a scowl, and give him to understand that he is an unwelcome intruder.

Fail to advertise in your local newspaper lest people abroad should know there was any business going on in the place.

Wrap yourself up in a coat of impervious selfishness, put on an air of unctious piety, and if you fail in killing the town; you will succeed in damning your own soul.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

A THIRTEEN LADY.

A veil is a necessity to woman, who cares for appearance. In the first place, it keeps the wind and dust from the hair. Miss Hallowell, who spends six months of every year collecting art works from American and European stores for the Chicago exposition, is never without a veil. "If I didn't wear one," she says, "I should wash all my time washing my face and combing my hair. As my time is very precious, I put my hat and veil on when I get up in the morning and keep them on until night." There are veils of all colors, crepe, plain and dotted net, gauze, baize, knitted silk, small and invisible tissue which oculists contend have been the ruin of American eyes and are still productive of expected children. Be this as it may, the veil is as firmly fixed as the stars and stripes, and the consumption among women who go about a great deal averages fifty per year. The Hallowell veil was short-lived, for the reason that phenomenal beauty, or pronounced beauty, was necessary to peer through its gloom. The veil, however, suggested the wire veil, the novelty of the stock, which is nothing more than a semicircle of point d'esprit gathered on a wire, by means of which it can be adjusted to any hat-box or bonnet frame. No pins are needed. All one has to do is to pinch the wire and it stays where it is placed.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

SPRING MILLINERY.

Indications, as foreshadowed in the first of the importations of millinery for the spring season, favor much use of lace straw and fancy braids. The lace straw is extremely delicate, and the braids are very beautiful. Some of them, with web of horse-hair, are wrought in foliage and blossom figures, sometimes dotted with tiny buttons, and finished with a spiral or twisted pearl edge. There are many models in toques and capotes with the crown of plain braid, about one-third of an inch in width, so loosely woven of very fine split straw as to be transparent, the lace braid described forming the brim, and also the upright band around the open space of a shawl with the open ends. Little capotes, with the head-piece of the loosely woven braid, and the brim of the lace braid, have the crown covered with a straw lace butterfly; and here we will take occasion to remark the overcropping of the fancy for the lace straw and capote, and the butterfly, dragon-dies and simulations of other insects with gauzy wings.

Toques and capotes are shown with very slightly curved oval crowns in melon volutes, shelving up from the back to the front, made of the lightest lace braids, with the brims of the braid bands with pearl edge; and capotes are shown of lace braid gathered in a bunch at the base of the crown and stretched out to form the head-piece, somewhat after the idea of a scallop-shell. Hats of the lace braids are also one of the leading features of the coming mode.

The horse-hair Neapolitan braids have had unusual revival, and Milan braids will unquestionably reassert their claim to utility for headpieces for the warmer seasons, and will again have standard importance.

The key-note to the shapes in the spring hats was struck in the shapes of those that came out in the autumn. The principal variation in the large hats finds form in low crowns, and brims widening from the back to broad and projecting in front. In some models the brim is very close and narrow at the base of the crown at the back, and in some showing several rows of brim in width. In some models the brim is distinctly flat; in some it droops a little all around, and in many it has a standing band, or a reversed band all around. Suspicion of the capacious is noticeable now and then in exceptional shapes, but there is less freakishness in the new hats than have been seen for several years in the general effect.

VASHION NOTES.

English ladies wear plain gauze veils in blue or bright red when yachting. The perfect in elegance in thinblues is reached in an article of plain gold and diamonds set irregularly upon its surface.

Broadies are generally chosen by matrons for evening toilets. The design are of a set character, similar to those in vogue during the first empire.

Gowns of black lace over deep yellow silk—a very fashionable combination—are frequently elaborated by stylish crepe decorations of gold tulle.

There is a furore in Paris and London just now for orange, gold and copper garnitures. Passementerie bands in these colors are used in every conceivable way.

Genuine tartan cloths are seen in the newest Scotch plaid gingham, especially the gay Stuart plaid and the dark blue and green plaids so much favored in woolsen goods.

Other India silks have fine pea dots all over them, and are then strewn with flowers. Sometimes the flowers are massed near the selvage, forming a border which is used as trimming.

Owing to the light quality of India silk a slight drapery is necessary in the skirt. The silk foundation skirt has a short ruffle in the back, and is more trimmed at the foot than last year.

Chantilly insertions, headings, black or white lace, ribbons of satin, gros grain and velvet and cream embroideries in open patterns figure as trimmings upon gowns of India silk now being prepared for next season.

The India silks with black figures on light grounds, blue, pink, green or cream, introduced last summer, are again shown, and will be made up with trimmings of black lace or mousseline de soie, with black ribbons.

The land of Central Park, New York, which originally cost the city $100,000, is now valued at $100,000,000. It cost to keep it up $400,000 a year.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Beautiful to forget, and your friends need the world after.

The greatest man living may stand in need of the means, as much as the meanest of men.

Some men are so unselfish as to be willing to live in luxury, and obtain work for fear they will rob the poor laborer of his means to obtain a living. The progressive man depends upon what he learns, but the man who is proud of what was taught to him will exhibit his ability to follow the usual custom.

Men and women, to lead worthy lives, must have a just respect for themselves and a just respect for others. Whatever tends to realize and to strengthen these promises human welfare.

The worst things are the perversions of good things. Abused intellectual gifts make the dangerous villain; abused sensibilities make the accomplished tempter; abused affections engender the keenest of all misery.

Not a day passes over the earth but men and women of no note do great deeds, speak great words and suffer noble sorrows.

Of these obscure heroes, philosophers and martyrs, the great part will be known to the world, when men that were great shall be small, and the small great.

Many persons think that there cannot be too much of what is so good a thing as sympathy. The duty of its cultivation is clear; but it is not yet so clear that a wise cultivation is as promising as it is desirable. So long as it is abundant it is not expected to be discriminative, and thus sometimes, running to seed unchecked, it develops into rank injustice.

The People of New Guinea.

Little knowledge of the interior of New Guinea, the second largest island in the world, can be obtained from its peoples, which consist of a great number of isolated tribes, differing much in appearance and language. These communities live at constant feud with one another, and can give little information of tribes beyond the limits of their respective domains. There are a variety of types among the people, the prevailing characteristics of race being those known as the Papuan, which are especially in the southeast of the island. In this type is found long first hair, which is dressed by its owners into the form of a mop; a skin removed just a shade from black; a prominent aquiline nose, depressed at the point; and protruding lips, which cause the chin to appear to retreat. Leprosy, elephantiasis, and other diseases are common among the New Guinea natives, and fully a third of them are afflicted with a malignant ringworm caused by a microscopic insect. Among certain coast tribes of the island the intermixture of Arab and Malay blood has produced a fair type of people, called the Papuan; other New Guinea tribes resemble the Polynesians. In the mountainous northern part of New Guinea, at Andai, are the Arfaks, which are described by D'Alberty as a fine, tall, strong people, superior to natives of the coast. The type of the mountainous tribes is generally Papuan, and the expression of their countenance is melancholy. Among them, according to this explorer, are albinos; and some tribes have the woolly hair of the genuine negro. Among the natives the level of civilization varies, but all are in the stage of the average Pacific island standard. They have no single name for New Guinea, nor any idea of its extent, only using terms signifying "great land" to distinguish it from the adjacent islands.

Wax Mines.

The wax mines or ockerite deposits of eastern Galicia, which a syndicate of American capitalists have leased or purchased, said D. M. Fox, of Pennsylvania, who recently returned from the fields of Austria-Hungary, "form one of the most curious fields of industry imaginable. They are in and around Borys, which is also the center of the eastern oil district of that part of Austria. They have been for generations in the possession of people who have worked them in the most primitive manner. The wax lies in beds, the clay, at the bottom of the mine, is 800 feet. Shafts are sunk in the beds. The sides are curved with timber, but in such a careless and unsystematic way that they are constantly caving in and burying workmen in their depths. From four to six men are killed in the wax every week. The owners of the mines are persistently refusing to go to the expense of making their shafts safe, and the laborers are at their mercy."

The Borys wax field is only fifty miles in extent, and upon that small area of land have been sunk twelve thousand live and work on that tract. The owners of the deposits have made immense fortunes from the product, as it is very valuable, bringing eight cents a pound at the pits. Its use, until within a few years was confined solely to making candles, but the manifold uses to which paraffine has been adapted has given this Galicia deposit a much wider utility. The ockerite lies in veins, six inches thick. It is dug out with shovels, and raised from the shaft with buckets and winches. The owners are the only merchants, bankers and hotel keepers in the region. Everything is mortgaged to them. The men shave their heads, leaving only a tuft of hair on each temple. The women also shave their heads, wearing mohair wiglets instead of their natural head covering.

Cutting Stone by Wire.

In the well known marble quarries at Carrara, Italy, the operation of cutting is performed in an efficient and satisfactory manner, by the aid of mild steel wires. A cord barely one-quarter inch diameter is made to travel at the rate of about thirteen feet per second, while the diameter is reduced, and the speed slightly increases to the length of the blocks. The twist of the cord causes it while running to turn upon itself, thus becoming more evenly over its whole surface, and on its becoming so worn as to be incapable of carrying along the sand and water, it may still be used for firing, and for a variety of purposes. It is stated also, that before being worn out, a cord of 150 yards is capable of cutting to a depth of nearly seventy feet in fifteen feet blocks, or of producing nearly 600 square feet of area surface in marble. In a block of marble fifteen feet long the rate of cut is four inches per hour, and in granite about one inch.

Now is the Time

To purify your blood and fortify your system against the debilitating effects of spring weather, as so often occurs in the latter part of the year, is a most important matter. The blood is the life of the body, and its purity is essential to health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier known. It cures all skin diseases, and all diseases of the blood. It is a most valuable medicine, and is used by all who care for their health.

Until very recent years the communication of the district in the north of Norway, which is the most fertile, was almost entirely cut off from the rest of the country.

All that can be done for labor against capital will never amount to a row of pins, unless the laboring class can be prevailed upon to turn their backs on the saloon, take care of their wages, burn that old deck of cards, and go home to their wives and children when their day's work is done. This done, in less than twelve months they will begin to rise above the waves, their independence will be seen and felt in the land, and all this noise about strikes will be heard no more.—Entaw Mirror.

An editor who had been pounding away at his delinquent subscribers for some time, finally brought them to their sense of duty with the following poetical parody:

"Lives of poor men oft remind us that honest toil don't stand a chance, the more we work we leave behind us bigger patches on our pants. On our pants once new and glossy, now are patches of different hue, all because subscribers finger, and won't pay up what is due. Then, let us be up and doing, send in your mite be it ever so small, or when the snows of winter strike, we shall have no pants at all."—Bozeman Appeal.

It is hinted around that if Kolb is not nominated for Governor, he will head an "Alliance" and run against the Democratic nomination. We think this all stuff. While we have not a very high opinion of Capt. Kolb's wisdom or foresight, yet we believe he is too shrewd to head a bolt against the Democratic party of Alabama. All of the farmers of Alabama are not in the Alliance, and we know that many members of the Alliance do not favor Capt. Kolb for Governor, and there are probably as many more who are as true to the party as the needle to the pole who would not bolt its nomination for the sake of gratifying the overweening ambition of any man. Then are we to imagine that those farmers who are in the Alliance, and who favor Kolb to such extent as to be willing to support him as an independent candidate, are stronger numerically than the Democratic party of the State? It is too silly to deserve a second thought. Mr. Kolb has common sense enough to know that if he was a bolter, in such an event he would be sure to be bolted.

The meeting of the County Democratic Executive Committee last week opened the political campaign in this county. As there are only two offices to fill—Representative and Superintendent of Education—there may not be as much interest excited as usual. Very little interest is yet taken here in State politics. This paper has no choice of candidates until the democracy nominates a ticket. Yet we hold our columns open for a full and free discussion of all political questions, and will admit communications which may be adverse to our opinions as readily as we would admit those with which we may agree. Our interests and your interests, if you are a Caucasian, are with the organized democracy. You may not agree with us in this, but we can have no doubt of the correctness of this opinion. The usurpations of the national republican party are daily growing more intolerable, and may end only in the passage of a law controlling federal elections; and such a law would result in no good for Southern white men or for the business interests of the Southern States.

We will be pleased to have all who feel able to do so to subscribe for the View during this year. During the past nine years in which the paper has been published we feel sure that it has done every citizen who has read it more good than harm. We are not particular about whether you agree with us or not. Whether the course of the paper has pleased you are kept you mad is immaterial to us. This would be a very dull world if we were all of the same way of thinking. One of the ancient Grecian philosophers said that every reasonable creature is at times angry; and if the View has occasionally put you in a huff you can congratulate yourself upon the fact that it has thereby demonstrated that you are occasionally a reasonable being, a matter of some satisfaction to you. If it has pleased you, then you owe it your substantial encouragement. In continuing to work for the true interests of the county we shall endeavor to be not strong-headed but stout-hearted.

The Race Question.

A correspondent writes us: "In your editorial, 'Stand from Under,' in Friday's Herald, you express the belief that a law to control federal elections and the attempt in general to get out the full negro vote in the Southern States would cause such serious disorders in that section of the country as would be ruinous to its industries and make unprofitable or bring to loss the Northern capital invested in those States. You suggest, therefore, that Northern public opinion should be aroused to oppose such legislation. Now I want to ask you whether if the negro has the vote, Congress is not right to pass laws which will secure him this right?"

We answer our correspondent: In the article which he correctly describes we did not discuss the right or wrong of the negro's political situation. We undertook to warn the Northern owners of capital invested in the South that if the Republicans carry out their announced Southern policy they will create such general disorders in the South as will make life and property insecure and interrupt and prostrate all industrial enterprises and ventures in that region and thus cause very great and ruinous losses.

About that we have no doubt. The attempt once more to put the heels on top by laws which will require troops to enforce them, to subject intelligence and property in the Southern States to the control of banded and organized ignorance and poverty, cannot succeed without flinging that unfortunate section into such disorder as would bring ruin on every enterprise and put a stop to its industrial development.

In the years immediately following the war, when the negro, under carpetbag management, misruled in the Southern States, the North had nothing at stake—Northern capital and Northern enterprise had not then gone down there. Matters have greatly changed since then. The South is now the promised land of Northern enterprise and capital. A great many millions have been invested down there in mills, mines, railroads, factories and works of all kinds. A great many thousands of Northern men are either there or peculiarly interested there. No great calamity can nowadays overtake the South without being very seriously felt all over the North.

The South was at peace for eight years. President Arthur and President Cleveland had no "Southern question" in their message to Congress. The races were getting on quietly with each other until the Republicans came in again and began at once to stimulate the hopes of the negro demagogues for a new return of negro rule. The negroes in all the South are banded together politically, with no relation to the wants or policies of the States in which they live. Their attitude is not that of citizens, but of outsiders looking solely to their own selfish interests, their ambition being to control for their own advantage. It is a combination of the ignorance and poverty of those States, in seven or eight of which the colored men outnumber all the other voters. The Republican scheme is by laws, which, as we have said, will necessitate the use of troops—because without troops the negroes will not stand their ground—to incite and force this combination of the ignorance and poverty of those States to take control of the State and local governments; to lay and spend the taxes in States and counties, to make the laws, to administer courts.

We say confidently that the policy will bring on race troubles in the South which will make life and property insecure, will disturb and prostrate the industries of that region, and will force in this way a great calamity on the whole country. We believe that will happen if the Republican programme is carried out, because the people of New York, of Massachusetts, of Ohio or Iowa, would not stand quiet and see themselves and their party swamped by a combination of voters representing the banded ignorance and poverty of these States. Therefore, we say that for the welfare of the North as well as the South—and of Northern interests even more than of the Southern interests—it is expedient for Northern public opinion to make itself heard in opposition to the Republican programme.

Our correspondent asks whether Congress ought not to pass laws to enforce the negro's right to vote. We answer: No. To do so is only to encourage the blacks to band together against the public interest and welfare. Congress ought to leave the negroes alone. It has nothing to do with them as negroes. When the federal power turns its back on them, and not till then, will they become citizens in the true sense and begin for the first time since freedom and citizenship were bestowed upon them, to vote as other men do—with regard to the general welfare, and not as a self-seeking "combina-

COUNTY CONVENTION.

Room of the Executive Committee of the Democratic and Conservative Party of Chilton County.

CLANTON, ALA., April 5, 1890.
To the Democracy of Chilton County.
A Convention of the Democratic and Conservative party of Chilton County is hereby called to be held at the Court house in Clanton at 10 A. M. Saturday May the 3rd, 1890, to nominate a candidate for County Superintendent of Education, to nominate a candidate for the Legislature, to elect Delegates to the Democratic State Convention to be held in Montgomery, May the 28th 1890, to elect Delegates to the congressional convention, if found expedient, and to elect an executive committee.

The election of Delegates to the said County Convention is hereby directed to be held at the several polling places of Chilton County, on Wednesday April 23rd, 1890. The representation in County Convention has been apportioned as follows: to wit:

Beat 1, Mineral Springs, 2 delegates; Beat 2, Junction, 3 delegates; Beat 3, Benson, 1 delegate; Beat 4, Benson, 1 delegate; Beat 5, Cooper's, 3 delegates; Beat 6, Verbera, 7 delegates; Beat 7, Kitchener, 2 delegates; Beat 8, Dixie, 3 delegates; Beat 9, Dixie, 3 delegates. The following named persons are hereby notified that they have been appointed Managers of the election to be held April 23rd, 1890, for the election of delegates to the County Convention, to wit:

Beat 1, Mineral Springs, B. F. Robinson, H. C. Young, and James McKee.
Beat 2, Junction, J. J. Hand, Dr. H. T. Caffey, and G. W. Parnass.
Beat 3, Providence, James Garner, S. A. Curry, and J. P. Vanderver.
Beat 4, Benson, G. W. Jones, B. T. Ramsey, and D. A. White.
Beat 5, Cooper's, G. L. Speer, J. T. Williams, and Jackson Palmer.
Beat 6, Verbera, W. L. Sampey, G. C. Hanks, and W. H. Foshee.
Beat 7, Kitchener, P. C. Dennis, James Griffin, and Moses Robinson.
Beat 8, Dixie, K. Wells, F. A. Gullidge, and J. B. Boykin.
Beat 9, Dixie, A. C. Poole, J. W. Scott, and D. F. Jacks.

Beat 7, Mapleville, Thomas Dugan, L. W. Gullahorn, and Robert Walker.
Beat 8, Dixie, J. W. Broadhead, W. A. Smith, and Wm. Parnell.
Managers of the election for delegates to the County Convention are earnestly requested to conduct said election in conformity to the election laws of the State, as far as the same are applicable, restricting the ballot to Democrats who abide the actions of the Conventions of the party, and make returns of the delegates elected to the Chairman of the Executive Committee as soon as practicable.

By order of the County Executive Committee.
D. J. WATERWORTH,
Chairman Co. Ex. Committee.
W. L. SAMPEY, Secretary.

[The managers of the election at each voting place are requested to mail or send the View a list of the delegates elected, for publication, immediately upon closing the polls.]
"A Northern Republican" writes to the Gadsden Leader as follows: "I have traveled in the past four months through Mississippi, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Tennessee, and Alabama. When I left home my friends and relatives kissed me and said: 'God take care of you!' To them, I, a Northern Republican, was going to be insulted on every possible occasion; that I would see poor negroes maltreated, and whipped at posts on every street corner; that the Southern man was ignorant, and lots more of the same stuff. It is needless for me to tell you how base and false their ideas were. I have written to the newspapers in my county weekly letters, in which I have tried to tell them of the courtesies I have received; the kind treatment bestowed upon me; that politics never is 'broached.' There have been a good many letters of this kind written, we have no doubt, but these county newspapers, I their politics is Republican, do not always print them. The statements made in them are diametrically opposite to those the papers have made.

Of Interest to Farmers.

Thousands of dollars may be saved to Alabama farmers by paying attention to a State law in regard to employing laborers. The Code says:
"Any person who with intent to injure or defraud his employer, enters into a contract in writing for the performance of any act or service, and thereby obtains money from such employer, and with like intent, and without just cause, and without refunding such money, or paying for such property, refuses to perform such act or service, must on conviction be punished as if he had stolen it."
So when you hire a man to work for you and advance him money or other property, make him give you a written contract or you cannot recover the money if he deserts you. The simplest contract will bind him and be your security.

The Great Spring Tonic.

W. H. Gilbert, Druggist, Albany, Ga., writes: "We are selling large quantities of Swift's Specific for a spring alternative and general health tonic, and with the best results. It is now largely used as a preventive and cure for Malaria. There are many remarkable evidences of its merit in this section."
Rev. L. B. Prince, Macon, Ga., writes: "We have been using Swift's Specific at the orphan asylum as a remedy for blood complaints and as a general health tonic, and have had remarkable results from its use on the children and employees of the institution. It is such an excellent tonic, and keeps the blood so pure that the system is less liable to disease. It has cured some of our children of Scrofula."

A Lady's Perfect Companion.

Our new book by John H. Dye, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in childbirth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly explains why many women may become mothers without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness and the many other ills attending pregnancy. It is highly endorsed by physicians everywhere as the wife's perfect companion. Cut this out; it will save you great pain and possibly your life, send two-cent stamp for descriptive circular, testimonials, and confidential order sent in sealed envelope. For sick headache, female troubles, neuralgic pains in the head take Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pills. 25 cents a box.

HIS UNBROKEN RECORD.

That is What One Candidate for Governor is Running on.
The Age-Herald tells of a campaign story that is going the rounds in that city, and which will be read with much interest throughout the State.

A gentleman from the country was in Birmingham the other day. He was uncertain among the conflicting claims of the candidates for Governor, whom he would support.

He had heard that they were running on some particular platform, and he called on Capt. Joe Johnston to get his special title to eminence and fame. The following conversation is said to have ensued:
"What are you running on, captain?"
"On my unbroken record as a Democrat. I swallowed everything the party ever offered and never gagged."

"That isn't what I mean. I mean two of them are running as farmers, one as a military man and so on. What is yours?"
"Well," answered the captain, "I was raised on a farm, and when a small boy did some involuntary plowing and hoeing, but I don't consider myself a first-class farmer."
"I went to the army as a private when a lad, fought the four years through and got to be a captain, but I don't consider myself a great warrior."

"After the war I read law and practiced seventeen years. I made a good deal of money, and took care of my clients the best I could; but I don't consider myself a great lawyer."

"Then I went into banking and have been fairly successful, but I don't consider myself the greatest financier in the State."

"I would call myself a good combination family horse, one that goes all the gates, none very fast; one that women can drive and children ride with perfect safety, and will stand unhitched."

The funniest thing yet in political circles is the Alabama Sentinel supporting Capt. Joseph F. Johnston, a Bourbon Democrat from the black belt, and a capitalist, and president of a national bank. What next?

If your kidneys are inactive you will feel and look wretched, even in the most cheerful society, and miserably on the hottest occasions. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm, will set you right again. $1.00 per bottle. Jan 31 t ap 30

Sick Headache

Is a complaint from which many suffer and few are entirely free. Its cause is indigestion and a sluggish liver, the cure for which is readily found in the use of Ayer's Pills.

"I have found that for sick headache, caused by a disordered condition of the stomach, Ayer's Pills are the most reliable remedy."—Samuel C. Bradburn, Worthington, Mass.
"After the use of Ayer's Pills for many years, in my practice and family, I am justified in saying that they are an excellent cathartic and liver medicine—sustaining all the claims made for them."—W. A. Westfall, M. D., V. P. Austin & N. W. Westfall Co., Burnet, Texas.
"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered stomach and liver. I suffered for over three years from headache, indigestion, and constipation. I had no appetite and was weak and nervous most of the time. By using three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured."—Philip Leach, Wood, Topka, Kansas.
"I was troubled for years with indigestion, constipation, and headache. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills, used in small daily doses, restored me to health. They are prompt and effective."—W. H. Strout, Meadville, Pa.

Rev. P. T. Hale's Lecture.

Remember that Rev. P. T. Hale will deliver a lecture Monday night, April 23rd, in Clanton, describing Westminster Abbey,

Napoleon's tomb, and other interesting places of note in France,

Germany and England.

At the last meeting of the Board of Revenue of Chilton county the sum of $335.70 was appropriated to the support of the thirty paupers who are now presenting claims. This is a quarterly appri-ation, and multiplied by four aggregates $1342.80, as the total amount set aside during the year for this purpose.

The Montgomery Evening Journal contains the following dispatch: VERBENA, April 10.—There was a big lumber fire yesterday morning, by which the Pratt Lumber Company lost over 200,000 feet of dry lumber.

It is not known how the fire started, but it is supposed that the heat from the furnaces of the kiln became great enough to ignite the lumber above. There was no insurance and the total loss will be about $15,000.

The following which we find in the Montgomery papers is an item of local interest:

Notice was given several days ago of the dissolution of the grocery firm of Wilson, Jurey & Co.,

Mr. L. H. Jurey having retired on account of ill health, and the firm of Wilson, Pickett & Co. has been established.

The new firm is composed of Messrs. Alex Wilson and A. H.

Pickett, of this city, and H. J.

Callen, of Clanton, Judge of Probate of Chilton county. Judge

Callen, the new member, is well known in Montgomery. He is a man of means and high business character and brings to the firm additional capital and prestige.

Capt. Alex Wilson and Mr. A. H.

Pickett are both thorough business men and they are too well known to the people to need any commendation. They will continue the wholesale and retail grocery business at the same stand on Commerce street.

GREAT HOLOCAUST

ON DRY GOODS, MILLINERY AND GENTS FURNISHING GOODS, THE TALK OF THE TOWN

WE DID NOT FOOL OUR FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS

With a bombastic, alluring advertisement, as is the vocation of the codfish dry goods houses. We gave you all advertised, and more besides. The public well know that CAHEEN'S name is untrammelled in that respect. In the first place it is no trouble for CAHEEN to buy his goods. Manufacturers are continually after us. Why? Because we plank down the hard cash, and that is what they want.

Having the cash in all emergencies of this kind, we have the advantage of twenty-five per cent under fake dry goods houses in Birmingham, who are compelled to buy their stocks from jobbers on six months' time. In having this great advantage, we tender it to our customers, who imbibed pretty freely of our bargains.

WHAT THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS IS DOING.

APPROPRIATIONS BY PRESIDENT HARRISON—MEMBERS OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE AND ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

In the house, on Saturday, immediately after reading the journal the consideration of the contested election case of Waddell against Wise was resumed. The majority resolution, declaring Waddell entitled to the seat, was adopted. Yes, 104, ayes, 104; and that gentleman appeared at the bar of the house and took the oath of office. Public business was then suspended, and the house proceeded to pay fitting tribute to the memory of the late James Laird, representative from Nebraska, and at 4:30 adjourned.

The calendar was taken up soon after the adjournment on Saturday, and a number of bills were passed under the five minute rule. The only bill passed of importance to the public service was the senate bill to increase the efficiency and reduce the expense of the signal corps of the army. The bill transfers to the department of agriculture the weather bureau, leaving the signal corps of the army to remain in the war department. The weather bureau is to consist of one chief and such civilian employees as congress may annually provide for. The signal corps of the army is to be transferred to the department of agriculture. The signal corps is to consist of one major, one captain, one lieutenant, and four first lieutenants, and such other personnel as congress may see fit to provide for. The signal corps of the army is to be transferred to the department of agriculture.

At the close of the session on Saturday, the speaker of the house, Mr. Waddell, delivered an address to the members of the house, in which he reviewed the session of the house, and expressed his confidence in the future of the country. He also expressed his confidence in the future of the country. He also expressed his confidence in the future of the country.

ALLIANCE NOTES.

WHAT THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS ARE DOING.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO THE FARMER, GATHERED FROM VARIOUS SECTIONS OF THE COUNTRY.

The Farmers' Alliance of the United States has concluded to establish the Alliance Agricultural Works at Iron Gate, Allegheny county, Virginia. The works will employ from 300 to 500 hands, and their products will go to every Sub-Alliance in the country, representing 4,000,000 members.

The chiefs of the Alliance organization throughout the United States, report to the New York Herald a membership of about 2,000,000; of these there are some twenty-five union and non-union men have quit work in the Pennsylvania yards and in all the yards there are about two thousand who have left. A list of ten grievances has been given to every company now. Superintendent Starr, of the Fort Wayne road, says he will not treat with any persons except his own men, Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh and Western road officials have expressed themselves in similar terms. They say that three days is enough time for the railroad to decide the matter, and a general strike may be expected at any hour. Very likely five hundred men more will leave work at once. A meeting was held and protracted until a late hour Wednesday morning, and it will doubtless be decided to go on a strike within twenty-four hours. At the present hour it appears that the movement will assume colossal proportions, and that the strike will go to a limit heretofore not thought possible, and that the bloody scenes of 1877 may be repeated.

An Indianapolis dispatch of Wednesday says: The carpenters' strike is on in earnest, and the conditions are fair for a long, bitter fight. The situation is changed by a meeting of contractors held Tuesday night at which resolutions were passed offering 374 cents per hour as the standard price for the best workmen from now until November 1st next, and nine hours work, and the same wages until April 1st, with eight hours work. No attention whatever was paid by the contractors to the journeymen's request that a committee be appointed to confer with the union's committee.

The indications are that on May 1st the strike of the soft coal miners of Illinois, Indiana and Pennsylvania will go out on a strike, and that after that the whole supply of soft coal will be limited. In view of this fact many of the railroads are putting in large supplies of soft coal, a recent purchase of the Atchafalaya, Toledo and Santa Fe amounting to $75,000. Many of the coal dealers in Chicago have, within the last thirty hours, received orders that they cannot fill within a month.

The employing carpenters, masons, bricklayers, painters and plumbers of Portland, Me., Tuesday night decided that ten hours should constitute a day's work. Wednesday morning, when Anderson & Jenkins, carpenters, informed their men of the result of the meeting they left work in a body. Carpenters employed by Wm. A. Hodgson, and painters employed by W. J. Sampson & Co., also quit work. These firms employed the largest number of men in the city in their respective lines. Indications point to a general strike.

Special cable dispatches from Vienna, Austria, say: The strikes are multiplying here and spreading throughout the empire. The strikers have joined the masons, and building operations have ceased. The streets are thronged with idle men. The police protection for workers is insufficient. Men are forced to leave work as soon as the strikers approach. The methods of the latter are not violent, but extremely effective. Solicitation, persuasion and covert intimidation are employed, and the socialist agents are working industriously among the trades which have not struck, stirring up discontent and inciting the men to join the movement.

SOUTHERN NOTES.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

GENERAL PROGRESS AND OCCURRENCES WHICH ARE HAPPENING BELOW MASON'S AND DIXON'S LINE.

A gang of forgers of Italian and Spanish bonds has been captured at Trieste. The Mississippi State board of health at Jackson on Tuesday ordered the quarantine to commence at the port of Pascagoula May 1st.

Monday was the day, according to Erickson's prophecy, in which San Francisco would be destroyed, and the cranks were encamped on the hills outside of the city, awaiting the news which never came.

Spotted fever is raging as an epidemic in Union county, Ky., near Henderson. The people are terrified, sixteen deaths having so far occurred at Henderson. The disease is so violent that people are fleeing by scores. The state health board have asked for help.

News has been received of a desperate attack by convicts in Rockingham county, N. C., upon a guard named E. V. McKinnis. He was knocked down, badly beaten and robbed of $75. His gun and revolver were also taken by the convicts, who then made their escape.

The Anniston, Ala., Hot Blast notes that the clergymen of Birmingham are having a lively discussion over the kirkman, which is being held in that city, under the auspices of the Episcopal church. Twenty-three ministers of the city, at a conference, passed resolutions denouncing the entertainment.

Rule Smith, of Lamar county, Ala., was on Friday morning, at Waynesboro, Miss., convicted of train robbery. He will not get more than ten years' sentence. Rule Smith was with Rule Barrows, the noted outlaw, in holding up the Mobile and Ohio train, near Buckatuna, Miss., September 23, 1889, when two thousand dollars were taken from an express car.

Under the charter of the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad, proceedings have been commenced at Thomasville, Ga., to condemn the right-of-way in that city, and also for terminal facilities. A jury of six citizens have been appointed to make the awards. After all the preliminary arrangements have been completed, it is expected that work on the road there will commence immediately.

A meeting of the New Orleans cotton exchange was held Tuesday for the purpose of considering the Buttermilk bill. President Parker, who presided, made an address, stating that this bill became a law it would affect the business of $200,000,000 and $400,000,000 yearly business and have a serious effect on the trade and commerce of this country. Resolutions were passed strongly protesting against the passage of the bill and calling upon each member of the exchange to do his utmost.

Tuesday was the first sale of lots at New England City, Ga., a town established a few months since by New England people. The town is located fourteen miles south of Chattanooga. Several hundred ex-convicts, from New England, came in on a special train. Three hundred and fifty lots were sold, aggregating $108,000. Fully two thousand people were attracted to the town. Most purchases made were by New Englanders and people. The lots averaged about $30 a front foot.

A GREAT DAY.

PREPARATION FOR OBSERVING MEMORIAL DAY AT ATLANTA, GA.

The following notice, drafted by the Committee on Encampment, has been sent to the ordinary of every county in Georgia: "Dear Sir—In view of the fact that the Fulton County Veterans' Association has inaugurated a general confederate veterans' mass meeting, to be held in Atlanta, Ga., from the 25th to the 27th of April, for the purpose of having a reunion of our old comrades-in-arms and celebrating Memorial Day, and living the corner-stone of the Confederate Veterans' home, we have decided to address the ordinaries of every county in the state, requesting them to extend a cordial invitation to all of the old soldiers in said county to come to Atlanta at said time to assist in the celebration of said memorial and other services. Invitations have been extended to all of the old generals of the confederacy, a large number of whom have accepted. All organized bodies of eight or more will be furnished with coats, 300 having been pitched in Grant park for the accommodation of visiting veterans. A cordial invitation is extended through you to all brother veterans, and we sincerely hope that you will exert yourself in notifying all of our comrades in your county."

Ben Ezy one of the negro murderers of J. W. Meadows was hung in Birmingham Friday.

The editor of Kolb's Herald, having had his mental machinery and nervous system shattered by imagining that there are plutocrats in Alabama trying to get into office, might have his attention called to the fact that the only wealthy man who is a candidate for a State office is Capt. Johnston, of Birmingham, who, by the way, is supported by the State organ of the Knights of Labor. And this latter paper gives good, sound reasons for its course. Perhaps all plutocrats are not plutocrats.

The J. J. Club, of Birmingham, appears to be made up of a lot of hustlers who are working for Joe Johnston for Governor. Their plan of campaign is active and interesting. Among other things the club has ordered that the View be sent to its address regularly for two months and of course every other paper in the State not committed to some other candidate has been subscribed for, for a like time. The Johnston men propose to move things, and if their candidate is not in the lead now, he probably will be when the Convention meets unless the other fellows get in some very lively work.

The Alabama Sentinel says that it expresses the sentiments of the Alliance and the Knights of Labor in its support of Capt. Johnston for Governor. If this is true why don't the Herald of Montgomery, which claims to represent the Alliance, come to the assistance of the Sentinel and help to "whoop him up." Say Herald, you can't do anything for Kolb. His cake is dough. Better try Johnston. But it may be too true that Kolb is the plutocrat whose money is helping to run the Herald, and if so, there is no hope for that paper, and we sympathize with those subscribers that have paid for it. There are members of the Alliance here who consider it a reflection upon the order as well as a huge display of gall that Mr. Kolb should persist in claiming that he has the support of the Alliance. But it is safe to say that Kolb has as much Alliance support as Johnston. It is time now for Col. Jones to publish a campaign joke about how his "pap" made him plow and hoe when he was a boy, and then it will be time to hear from Judge Richardson and the others.

Kolb's Herald, which is published in Montgomery under the delusive title of "Alliance Herald," contains editorials every week that seem to begin just anywhere, and run on without end, on such subjects as "Plutocracy" and "Despotism." The editor must be getting desperate for lack of something better with which to fill the large vacancy that the columns of the Herald exhibit each week. Words and nothing more. He has described this sort of stuff in his columns as "racket," whatever that may be. It could just as well be described as "slush." He is evidently anxious to turn the world over and put the bottom rail on top. If egotism amounted to anything as a lever power his purpose could be accomplished without difficulty. The Herald predicts that the days of the plutocratic press are numbered. Where is the plutocratic press? Has the Herald grown big enough and rich enough exchanging its so-called "racket" for the hard-earned dollars of the farmers to burst the New York Herald, the Philadelphia Press or the Chicago Times? Those presses may be somewhat plutocratic. But the real relation of the Herald's political and mental troubles lies in the fact that its editor was once an independent candidate for Congress in the second district, and was permitted to stay at home. We venture that if he lives a century longer he may be found as usual straddling the great political fence, and singing the familiar song his fathers sang: "Dad's a good time or comin' boys, but it's a good time or comin' boys." And then if he dies the so-called plutocratic press will be on hand to let him down easy and publish his obituary gratis.

CONGRESSIONAL GATE.

No Answer to the Questions Proposed by the Farmers' Alliance and Blazen the Way for the Plutocrat and Aristocrat.

The following is a Washington special to the Atlanta Constitution under date of April, 14th:

The Farmers' Alliance questions are having as much effect upon the average Southern Congressmen as a hawk in a hen roost. Indeed, they are fluttering and fuming in delirium as to how they shall answer them.

Colonel Oates, of Alabama, with his usual nerve, today blazed the way for the more timid Congressmen. He has answered the questions, and he has not hesitated to express his views just as they are. To the sub-treasury scheme for the establishment of a warehouse in each county in the United States in which the farmer may deposit his non-perishable products, and borrow eighty per cent. of their value from the government in greenbacks to be issued for the purpose, and at one per cent. interest, he is opposed, and so expresses himself in unmistakable terms. As to the St. Louis convention resolutions, he says he had no copies of them, or he would answer. However, he remembers to have read them, and says some he approves and some he does not approve.

THE SUB-TREASURY PLAN.

As to the sub-treasury plan, he says two bills to that effect have been introduced in Congress, both by request. Then he writes to the Farmers' Alliance Association of his district, which Association recently sent him their questions as to the sub-treasury and other schemes, to be answered before they can support him for re-election. Here is what he says:

Each bill provides for a loan of money by the Government of the United States on warehouse receipts, and without discussing the details of either, I tell you in all candor that I can't conscientiously vote for either of said bills for the reason that the government of the United States has no power under the Constitution to loan money, under any circumstances. Section 8 of article one of the Constitution declares:

1. That Congress shall have power to levy and collect taxes, duties, imports and exports to pay the debts, etc.
2. To borrow money on the credit of the United States.

To regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several states, etc.
"Then there follows twenty-five grants of power which cover the whole field of powers granted, and not one of which, even by inference or strained construction, authorizes the United States to loan money. I have taken an oath to support the Constitution, and cannot support these measures without violating it. If either of the bills should pass, which I tell you is impossible, it is presumed that the President would veto it, and if he did not the Supreme Court would be bound to declare it unconstitutional and void. I think I could show other objections to the scheme in the matter of the multiplication of Federal offices, and the impracticability of it, and the issuance of unlimited greenbacks until they would be worth but little more than Confederate money during the war. But it is unnecessary for me to discuss these matters, as I am confronted by the constitutional question at the very threshold and cannot go any further.

"I have never known a Democrat worthy of the name who did not favor an observance of the Constitution as our fathers made it. If Democracy does not mean this it is no better than Republicanism. The evils which cause the present depression of the farming industry of the country cannot be met and overcome by any such measure as that proposed by the sub-treasury and warehouse bills. No, these evils and that depression result from the burdens of insidious over-taxation, the combination of monopolies and trusts, and partial class legislation."

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

"The union between the Farmers' Alliance, and the Union Laborers' Association, in my judgment, was an unfortunate one for the Southern farmer. The Knights of Labor have been for years, and are now besieging Congress in behalf of class legislation. They insist on a law that all government employees shall work but eight hours for a full day's pay, and that they shall have from fifteen to thirty days in the leave of absence with full pay. The farmer has to work ten or twelve hours to make one-half as much, and frequently not one-third as much per day as the government employee makes, and if the farmer takes any leave of absence to enjoy a rest, he is not paid wages for that time, and let him remember that the wages paid him from the treasury are taken largely from him in taxes. These labor organizations are all the time besieging Congress for more pay and higher wages. Last winter the Knights of Labor had such an influence over Congress, and so exercised it that they made the bureau of printing and engraving for the government set aside and abandon the use of a lot of labor saving machines to make room for two hundred more laborers to do the work by hand at $4 per day each. That money is taken from you in part by taxation. There are numerous instances, but I cite these merely for illustration.

A BLOW AT THE FARMERS.

"A large percentage of the profits which the Southern farmer makes on cotton is what he can realize for seed. Refused cotton seed oil clean, pure and wholesome, and is now largely used in compounding with lard, which makes a cheaper and more wholesome article than the pure hog lard. A bill is now pending in the House, and favorably reported, to impose a tax, although the Government does not need the revenue, on compound lard to discriminate against it in favor of hog lard. This is directly to the full extent of the tax, a burden on the cotton producer, just in the same way that a tax on cotton ties is a burden. Yet the Knights of Labor have in their grand council recommended the passage of this bill. I am in favor of requiring the manufacturers of articles for interstate commerce to brand their goods, showing just what they are, but I will never vote to discriminate in favor of one individual, or a class of individuals, against another. The whole financial problem, applicable alike to nations, states and individuals, consists in the proper understanding of interest and economy of expenditure. If a man's annual expenditures in the aggregate are less than his income, and if interest runs at all, let it run to him and he is prosperous and happy. But let his expenditures exceed his income to any extent, and interest runs against him, however low the rate, and he is on the road to insolvency and misery. Don't borrow a dollar, even at one per cent., if it can be avoided, should be the motto of every farmer. The United States owes fourteen hundred millions of dollars, borrowed during the war, on which they are paying forty-eight millions of dollars each year for interest. The rate paid on the bulk of it is 4 per cent. So, if it were constitutional to loan money, it could not be done without loss for less than the United States pays, with an addition for printing, for the salary of officials, additional public buildings, etc., so that such loans as the pending bills contemplate could not be made for less than 6 per cent. Unfortunately some of our farmers have so long indulged in the bad practice of borrowing that they are now compelled to have recourse to it to some extent. If such are oppressed by the exactions of usury by private lenders, the proper remedy for this is in the hands of your own Legislature. You can change the law so as to make the entire usury forfeit and lose the entire debt. Such was the law once in the State of New York, and it was sustained by the courts."

BURNED TO THE GROUND.

The Atlanta County Jail in Ashes.

PRATTVILLE, ALA., April 17th. At 1 o'clock this morning the county jail of Atlanta county was in flames and it burned to the ground before the flames could be subdued. At the time of the fire there were eight prisoners confined. The flames covered the approaches and these had to be taken out from the roof. One white man, Daggle, was seriously burned. The others are uninjured.

Pimples and Blotches.

Having for the past four or five years been troubled with pimples and blotches on my face and body, and finding no relief in any of the chemically prepared soaps and medicines prescribed for me by physicians, I concluded to try your S. S. S. remedy and have found great relief in the same, four bottles clearing my skin entirely. I cheerfully recommend your medicine to all who are in the position that I have been in. You can use this letter and my name as a testimonial to the merits of the S. S. S. remedy. ALFRED P. ROBINSON, 320 Sanson St., San Francisco.

About the New Railroad.

Beginning at Prattville the grading on the M. T. & M. for eight miles northwest of here except a small swamp that will be graded by the company, is ready for the tracklayers. Several of the contractors are making preparations to go to grading beyond Maplesville, which they will do as soon as the line of survey beyond that point is relocated. Prattville is getting nearer and nearer to Montgomery and Tuscaloosa each day.—Prattville Progress.

A special, composed of an engine, baggage car and coach, passed through on the Midland Monday, having on board a party of railroad officials on their way to Bainbridge. The engine was the "Herbert Richmond" No. 26, of the M. T. & M., and the coach the "Tuscaloosa," belonging to the same road. The party was joined by several prominent citizens of Troy.—Troy Messenger.

It is expected that the grading on the section now under construction from Montgomery through Prattville to Maplesville, Ala., forty-one miles, will be completed by May 1. The route beyond Maplesville has not been located, but the next fifty miles toward Tuscaloosa will probably be under construction by April 15. The work is rather heavy. Jas. M. Brown & Co., 115 Broadway, New York city, and Montgomery, are the general contractors for all the work. Two iron bridges will be built, the first over the Alabama river and the second over the Cahaba river. The first will consist of a 600-foot draw and two fixed spans of 150 feet. The exact character of the Cahaba bridge is not determined. It will probably consist of two spans of 250 feet. The present route will necessitate an 850-foot tunnel, but this may be avoided by the locating survey. Birmingham News.

The following from the Pacific slope correspondence of a Tennessee paper, shows something of how the west is boomed.

"I hear some talk of raising $5,000 by subscription for the purpose of advertising Nashville. I am led to wonder what can be done in that direction with $5,000. It would not reach as far as Louisville. Why out in Portland, Oregon, where I live, they would think no more of $5,000 than people do in the east of it? It is not in 1888, the business men donated $12,000 every month during the whole year, the amount being expended by the board of emigration. Some firms subscribed $50 per month, many, $25, among whom were several Chinese merchants and bankers. Scores gave $10 to $20 a month, and every mother's son in town gave something. That's the way the west does her booming."

The Carlisle campaign clubs of Pike county have flooded the State with campaign literature in favor of Mr. Carlisle for Superintendent of Education, judging from the amount received at this office. It does not seem that this literature has converted very many in this neighborhood, however, and we believe Maj. G. D. Harris is by far the strongest candidate with the people of Chilton for the office mentioned.

CLANTON, ALA., April 17, 1930.

EDITOR CHILTON VIEW: Dear Sir—

I would like to state a few facts concerning our school, to the citizens of Clanton, through the medium of your paper.

The first question one asks when looking for a place to locate in is, "Have you a good school?" Everyone that has a family should, above everything else try to have a first-class school in the place or town where he lives. A first-class school can only be had where the citizens are of one mind and are all united in matters of interest to all. Here in Clanton we have an Academy and that owned and furnished by Prof. A. J. Scott, our present teacher. This is quite an item to our citizens, for if we had to build and furnish a school house, I think we would be minus a school. Prof. Scott is fully qualified and makes us a first-class school, if we will only do our part, support and patronize him. We should let all side issues alone, and give him our united support and encouragement. Clanton is too small to support more than one good school, and the sooner her citizens realize this fact and act accordingly, the better for all interested. Prof. Scott had a full school during the first of this session, and his assistant advanced his pupils well, they gave their pupils their undivided time and attention, this was noticed by the most casual observer.

Miss Annie Mahone, his teacher in music is a lady well fitted for the position she occupies, and all of her scholars attest what she has done for them in her department. The school could not afford to lose her another year, for with her great energy and gentle management of her scholars there could be none other than success in her department. Will the citizens not have a called meeting between now and the time when this session will close, and see that these teachers are retained another year, and devise some plan by which our Academy will be supported, and kept what it should be, a first-class institution of learning? Let some one suggest when this meeting will be held, and let every citizen that has a child attend. Something ought and should be done at once, before it is too late and we have no school. "United we stand, divided we fall." F. L. A.

A Manly Talk.

Mobile Register.

Congressman Oates' manly talk to the farmers of his constituency is being universally commended. He comes down flatfooted and unequivocally on a very silly scheme, one that only a crank could favor.

If you spit up phlegm, and are troubled with a hacking cough, use Dr. H. McLean's Tar Wine Lung Balm.

Our new book by John H. Dye, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in childbirth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness and the many other ailments attending pregnancy. It is highly endorsed by physicians everywhere as the wife's true private companion. Cut this out: It will save you great pain and possibly your life. Send two-cent stamp for descriptive circulars, testimonials and confidential letter sent in sealed envelope. Address Frank Thomas & Co., Publishers, Baltimore, Md. feb18-3m

THE STEADY-STATE BARBERS

WILL FURNISH A SHAVE.

A circular has been received at this office announcing that the Republican of Clanton county will meet at Lomax in mass convention on Saturday May 10th, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Republican State Convention which meets in Montgomery June 4th, also to nominate a candidate for the Legislature and one for Superintendent of Education for Clanton county.

The circular concludes with the information that Mosely, Bryan, Birmingham and other big rads are expected to attend and address the convention and sweep things up generally.

The circular is signed "E. A. Wilson, Chairman Republican Executive Committee of Clanton Co." Can anyone furnish us the names of the other members of the committee? Or is it only a committee of one? There are many who would like to know.

It is impossible in this great big world, where many men of many minds discuss many questions and rush with conflicting interests in the pursuit of various goals, that all people should agree or that all our views should be one. It is the height of wisdom and the summit of intelligence for men to realize that even their friends must differ with them on questions that are vital to their own feelings and to their own interests, and it is weak, and foolish, and impolite and unchristian to indulge in bitterness toward those who following their honest convictions go wide apart in view and pursuit from ourselves. The scripture is full of injunctions to this broader charity of opinion, and there is in this life no greater place for the exercise of this Christian charity than tolerance of opinion and tranquility of temper toward those whose convictions are far apart from our own. We should all be better and happier, and longer lived, if we would be willing to credit others with the same honesty and sincerity that we claim for ourselves and our own views will be just as likely to succeed and to triumph, if we separate them from bitterness and bigotry and intolerance.

The View has swallowed every thing the Democracy has handed out in the past and expects to follow the same course in the future.

Query: Will Governor Kolb order an investigation of the accounts and vouchers of Commissioner Kolb? We give it up.—Tuscaloosa Times.

We think the best way out of the political muddle in our country, in fact, the only way out, for both sides to make all reasonable concessions in favor of a united white Democracy.

A single issue of a country paper in Kansas recently contained nine advertisements of Sheriff's sales, in most of which mortgage companies were the plaintiffs. A volume on the subject could not more plainly or impressively depict the financial distress and hardships under which the people of that State are laboring, than this single incident.—Florence Herald.

"Why don't you run a newspaper like that?" said a grocery merchant in a country town to his editor, throwing out a Chicago daily. "For the same reason you don't run a grocery like that," the editor replied, turning to an advertisement of a Chicago house showing a twelve-story building. The grocer looked attentively at the picture a moment, and then said: "I never looked at it in that way before."

While the Alliance of other counties have been endorsing Kolb and recommending him for governor the Alliance of his own county has not said a word in his favor. It passed resolutions condemning the Advertiser but said not one word about Kolb. It is stated that a resolution endorsing him was introduced but promptly voted down. Their silence alone proves that they do not care to recommend him to the people of this state.

The matter of town building in this county is being, like almost everything else, reduced to a science. The South just now is the most popular field of operations, and Alabama the leading State.

The resources of the South as yet are almost unknown. But with the present interest that is being taken in developing its hidden wealth by New England and other capital and the awakening of its own citizens, the day is not far distant when it will shine forth in its true glory.

The columns of the Manufacturer's Record are used freely by the projectors of new towns, and make a fair index. Their last issue contained advertisements of more than thirty towns in the South in the embryo state.

There is probably no doubt as many more will be noticed in future issues. The claim of each for these candidates for public favor is "unexcelled natural resources and location."—St. Payne Journal.

The following from the Asheville Eagle meets with our endorsement. There is really more importance connected with the selection of delegates to the state convention than in any other matter relating to the campaign. Before the next state election rolls around, it may be necessary for the people of this great commonwealth to feel assured that they have a man at the helm of state whose state patriotism is only exceeded by his powerful backbone (figurative) and his brain. These may be the essential qualifications of the governor of Alabama in the next four years, and it is our conviction that St. Clair county should send a delegation this time to aid other delegations, at Montgomery, not carried about in some candidate's pocket, to bring out such a man, one who will have the grit to have arrested and thrown in jail any man or set of men under any claim of authority whatever other than that of the state, who seeks to interfere with the state's authority in conducting its elections whether for its representatives in Congress or otherwise. Such a man may be needed, and should be, we hope that he will be found in the executive chair.

If it becomes clear that the fools, fanatics and frothy revolutionists of the republican party in congress intend to pass a law to regulate congressional elections in the states let the Alabama legislature pass an act declaring it a penal offense for any citizen of this state to pretend to supervise, on the day of an election at any of the polling places in this state, an election, not so authorized by authority of the state; also subjecting anyone coming into the state on the day of an election pretending to have authority from any source to supervise such an election, to fine and imprisonment. Our word for it, if Alabama will put such a law on her statute book, the political office stealers, who hold their positions; as most of them do, will give this State a wide berth with their supervisors. In their revolutionary bluster, they dread a contest in the supreme court with a state upon their lawless measures to subvert the government of the states—they will avoid this, and all the states have to do is to stand up for their rights under the constitution.

Of Interest to Land Owners.
We clip the following interesting article from the Huntsville Independent of recent date. The editor of said paper has but recently come to Alabama, having heretofore, for several years resided in the Northwest, hence, knows whereof he speaks:

The farmers of Madison county should thank kind providence that just after the war they had no credit. In the South the women, who had never done housework, who had been cultured in Italy, France, England, and pleasure resorts in the North, found themselves with their husbands, brothers and fathers impoverished, with no ready cash, and no credit. These heroic souls donned a calico gown, rolled up their sleeves and went into the kitchen. False pride was thrown to the winds. In the majority of cases the people of the South have builded up their lost fortunes on the solid rock of their own industry and resources, and own their homes free from debt. Has not this had a purifying, ennobling effect? It has. With broadened minds and true hearts, they rest secure in their loves, their friendships and their homes.

How different is the contrast with the farming classes of Illinois, Nebraska, Kansas and Dakota. The bureau of statistics show that Illinois farmers have a mortgaged indebtedness of $416,000,000. Is it not a hard thing for them to keep up their interest payments? Their corn crop in 1889, was worth $38,000,000, and the cost of raising and marketing it was $63,000,000. In Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas, they have raised more corn and wheat than was demanded by home consumption; the price of corn goes a-begging at 15 cents a bushel, and wheat at 35 and 40 cents. Yet the railroads get their price for hauling to the far distant markets, no matter what the price may be. High taxes and usury, long distance to the eastern market in connection with drought in the summer and long cold winters with high priced coal, all combine in Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas to make the lot of their farmers a severe one. On these bleak prairies of the Northwest, huddled in a little shanty, intelligent and refined people from eastern cities have twisted hay to keep from freezing; misled by land sharks and the flaming statements of railroad companies, they have gone West to get a pre-emption and homestead of Uncle Sam's domain. Lack of rain falls for some years has scarcely enabled them to get their seed back. Mortgaged to the vast loaning companies, no means to pay interest, their farms are being sold for the mortgages. Is there not a chance here for the commissioner of immigration of Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi to do a little good missionary work? The writer heretofore has lived twelve years in Dakota, and he asserts that it would be a God's blessing to induce these American farmers of Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas to come South, where they can raise and make all that they grand climate and soil yields in horticulture, agriculture and live stock. Many of them can still rake up a few thousand dollars, and to such only an intelligent presentation of facts regarding this country, combined with a few excursions, is necessary to induce their location; but to the others, the impoverished, if our rich land owners, would cut up their large plantations of from 5,000 to 10,000 acres into small farms, sell on long-time to these people, they can inaugurate little colonies, such as will shortly demonstrate a grand and permanent improvement in the agricultural and social advancement of this section. These people want to work, and they are industrious, intelligent workers; they are not drones, simply living for something to eat; but the best American blood of the New England and north middle states.

They are what we want in the South, white Americans owning our lands in small holdings, assimilated and identified with us in the occupancy and building up of God's best country.

ABOLISH RACE TROUBLES.

A Georgia Paper Discusses Prohibition and the Race Question.
The Savannah News, of recent date contained the following editorial. This Democratic paper's appeal to Senator Colquitt to push prohibition in Georgia as well as in the north, is a rebuke to those liquor organs that have branded the Senator's Prohibition work as "undemocratic."

Senator Colquitt addressed a meeting of the American Temperance Union at the Union Tabernacle Church, New York, on Sunday, and, in the course of his remarks, speaking of race troubles in the South, said:

"They tell us of the bitterness and animosity that the whites have for the blacks. I have a remedy to propose. Shut the dram shops in all sections of the South, at every crossroad, and in every town and hamlet where whites and negroes intermingle in the same community, and I will pledge you that where you hear of ten cases of bloodshed now, you will not hear of one. It is a liquor conflict, not a race issue."

The abolishing of the dram shops would not, of course, settle the race problem, but it would very nearly put an end to those crimes of violence which are now attributed to race prejudice. In those counties in this state which have prohibited the selling of intoxicating liquors within their limits conflicts between white and black men are of very rare occurrence. The races get along together very well. Neither the whites nor the blacks are aggressive, and both are more prosperous than they are in counties in which whiskey is easily obtained. Senator Colquitt, instead of delivering temperance speeches in the North, might render his own state excellent service by advocating Prohibition in each of his counties. By so doing he would assist in strengthening a reform that has already done a vast amount of good, and which is certain to do a great deal more.

It is impossible in this great big world, where many men of many minds discuss many questions and rush with conflicting interests in the pursuit of various goals, that all people should agree or that all our views should be one. It is the height of wisdom and the summit of intelligence for men to realize that even their friends must differ with them on questions that are vital to their own feelings and to their own interests, and it is weak, and foolish, and impolite and unchristian to indulge in bitterness toward those, who, following their honest convictions, go wide apart in view and pursuit from ourselves. The scripture is full of injunctions to this broader charity of opinion, and there is in this life no greater place for the exercise of this Christian charity than tolerance of opinion and tranquility of temper toward those whose convictions are far apart from our own. We should all be better and happier, and longer lived, if we would be willing to credit others with the same honesty and sincerity that we claim for ourselves and our own views will be just as likely to succeed and to triumph, if we separate them from bitterness and bigotry and intolerance.

The View has swallowed every thing the Democracy has handed out in the past and expects to follow the same course in the future.

Query: Will Governor Kolb order an investigation of the accounts and vouchers of Commissioner Kolb? We give it up. Tuscaloosa Times.

We think the best way out of the political muddle in our country, in fact, the only way out, is for both sides to make all reasonable concessions in favor of a united white Democracy.

A single issue of a country paper in Kansas recently contained nine advertisements of Sheriff's sales, in most of which mortgage companies were the plaintiffs. A volume on the subject could not more plainly or impressively depict the financial distress and hardship under which the people of that State are laboring, than this single incident. Florence Herald.

"Why don't you run a newspaper like that?" said a grocery merchant in a country town to his editor, throwing out a Chicago daily. "For the same reason you don't run a grocery like that," the editor replied, turning to an advertisement of a Chicago house showing a twelve-story building. The grocer looked attentively at the picture a moment, and then said: "I never looked at it in that way before."

While the Alliance of other counties have been endorsing Kolb and recommending him for governor, the Alliance of his own county has not said a word in his favor. It passed resolutions condemning the Advertiser but said not one word about Kolb. It is stated that a resolution endorsing him was introduced but promptly voted down. Their silence alone proves that they do not care to recommend him to the people of this state.

The matter of town building in this country is being, like almost everything else, reduced to a science. The South just now is the most popular field of operations, and Alabama the leading State.

The resources of the South as yet are almost unknown. But with the present interest that is being taken in developing its hidden wealth by New England and other capital and the awakening of its own citizens, the day is not far distant when it will shine forth in its true glory.

The columns of the Manufacturer's Record are used freely by the projectors of new towns, and make a fair index. Their last issue contained advertisements of more than thirty towns in the South in the embryo state.

There is probably no doubt as many more will be located in future issues. The claim of each of these candidates for public favor is "unexcelled natural resources and location."—St. Louis Journal.

The following from the Asheville Eagle meets with our endorsement. There is really more importance connected with the selection of delegates to the state convention than in any other matter relating to the campaign. Before the next state election rolls around, it may be necessary for the people of this great commonwealth to feel assured that they have a man at the helm of state whose state patriotism is only exceeded by his powerful backbone (figurative) and his brain. These may be the essential qualifications of the governor of Alabama in the next four years, and it is our conviction that St. Clair county should repudiate a delegation this time to other delegations, at Montgomery, not carried about in some candidate's pocket, to bring out such a man, one who will have the grit to have arrested and thrown in jail any man or set of men under any claim of authority whatever other than that of the state, who seeks to interfere with the state's authority in conducting its elections whether for its representatives in Congress or otherwise. Such a man may be needed, and should be, we hope that he will be found in the executive chair.

If it becomes clear that the fools, fanatics and frothy revolutionists of the republican party in congress intend to pass a law to regulate congressional elections in the states, let the Alabama legislature pass an act declaring it a penal offense for any citizen of this state to pretend to supervise, on the day of an election at any of the polling places in this state, an election, not so authorized by authority of the state; also subjecting anyone coming into the state on the day of an election, pretending to have authority from any source to supervise such an election, to fine and imprisonment. Our word for it, if Alabama will put such a law on her statute book, the political office stealers, who hold their positions, as most of them do, will give this State a wide berth with their supervisors. In their revolutionary bluster, they dread a contest in the supreme court with a state upon their lawless measures to subvert the government of the states—they will avoid this, and all the states have to do is to stand up for their rights under the constitution.

Of Interest to Land Owners.

We clip the following interesting article from the Huntsville Independent of recent date. The editor of said paper has but recently come to Alabama, having heretofore, for several years resided in the Northwest, hence, knows whereof he speaks:

The farmers of Madison county should thank kind providence that just after the war they had no credit. In the South the women, who had never done housework, who had been cultured in Italy, France, England, and pleasure resorts in the North, found themselves with their husbands, brothers and fathers impoverished, with no ready cash, and no credit. These heroic souls, dressed in calico gowns, rolled up their sleeves and went into the kitchen. False pride was thrown to the winds. In the majority of cases the people of the South have builded up their lost fortunes on the solid rock of their own industry and resources, and own their homes free from debt. Has not this had a purifying, ennobling effect? It has. With broadened minds and truer hearts, they rest secure in their loves, their friendships and their homes.

How different is the contrast with the farming classes of Illinois, Nebraska, Kansas and Dakotas. The bureau of statistics show that Illinois farmers have a mortgaged indebtedness of $416,000,000. Is it not a hard thing for them to keep up their interest payments? Their corn crop in 1889, was worth $58,000,000, and the cost of raising and marketing it was $68,000,000. In Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas, they have raised more corn and wheat than was demanded by home consumption; the price of corn goes a-begging at 15 cents a bushel, and wheat at 35 and 40 cents. Yet the railroads get their price for hauling to the far distant markets, no matter what the price may be. High taxes and usury, long distance to the eastern market in connection with drought in the summer and long cold winters with high priced coal, all combine in Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas to make the lot of their farmers a severe one. On these bleak prairies of the Northwest, huddled in a little shanty, intelligent and refined people from eastern cities born, twisted hay to keep from freezing; misled by land sharks and the flaming statements of railroad companies, they have gone West to get a pre-emption and homestead of Uncle Sam's domain. Lack of rain falls for some years has scarcely enabled them to get their seed back. Mortgaged to the vast loaning companies, no means to pay interest, their farms are being sold for the mortgages. Is there not a chance here for the commissioner of immigration of Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi to do a little good missionary work? The writer heretofore has lived twelve years in Dakota, and he asserts that it would be a God's blessing to induce these American farmers of Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas to come South, where they can raise and make all that this grand climate and soil yields in horticulture, agriculture and live stock. Many of them can still rake up a few thousand dollars, and to such only an intelligent presentation of facts regarding this country, combined with a few excursions, is necessary to induce their location; but to the others, the impoverished, if our rich land owners, would cut up their large plantations of from 5,000 to 10,000 acres into small farms, sell on long time to these people, they can inaugurate little colonies, such as will shortly demonstrate a grand and permanent improvement in the agricultural and social advancement of this section. These people want to work, and they are industrious, intelligent workers; they are not drones, simply living for something to eat, but the best American blood of the New England and north middle states.

They are what we want in the South, white Americans owning our lands in small holdings, assimilated and identified with us in the occupancy and building up of God's best country.

ABOLISH RACE TROUBLES

A Georgia Paper Discusses Prohibition and the Race Question.

The Savannah News, of recent date contained the following editorial. This Democratic paper's appeal to Senator Colquitt to push prohibition in Georgia as well as in the north, is a rebuke to those liquor organs that have branded the Senator's Prohibition work as "undemocratic."

Senator Colquitt addressed a meeting of the American Temperance Union at the Union Tabernacle Church, New York, on Sunday, and, in the course of his remarks, speaking of race troubles in the South, said: "They tell us of the bitterness and animosity that the whites have for the blacks. I have a remedy to propose. Shut the dram shops in all sections of the South, at every crossroad, and in every town and hamlet, where whites and negroes intermingle in the same community, and I will pledge you that where you hear of ten cases of bloodshed now, you will not hear of one. It is a liquor conflict, not a race issue."

Conflicts between white and black men are of very rare occurrence. The races get along together very well. Neither the whites nor the blacks are aggressive, and both are more prosperous than they are in counties in which whiskey is easily obtained. Senator Colquitt, instead of delivering temperance speeches in the North, might render his own state excellent service by advocating prohibition in each of his counties. By so doing he would assist in strengthening a reform that has already done a vast amount of good, and which is certain to do a great deal more.

LOCAL LAOCHICS.

Gardens are now growing finely.
Mr. Berry Cast is at home sick with the measles.
Willie Armstrong is visiting friends in Elmore.
Mr. W. H. Johnson visited relatives here the past week.
All true Democrats will endeavor to avoid factional fights.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

The View is in favor of less politics and more peace here at home.

Mrs. J. L. Sampey has returned home after a stay of two months in Clanton.

Mrs. Briggs and Miss Minnie have returned from a visit to relatives in Eufula.

Mr. and Mrs. Bivings have been visiting relatives in Montgomery the past week.

The great majority of the Democratic party will not favor any political legendism.

Chairman Waterworth, of the Democratic Executive Committee was in Clanton Monday.

Our quondam friend and typist Oscar Boykin, of Verbena, was here Sunday visiting relatives.

Saturday is the day for the meeting of the County Democratic Convention. An interesting time is expected.

Mr. John Roberson, of Providence neighborhood, is in a dying condition from cancer of the tongue and jaw.

Mr. D. H. Chesnut has completed his engagement with Messrs. D. A. Childs & Co., in Birmingham, and is again at home.

Mr. John Marcus, of Jumbo, sends us word that he caught a fish weighing 200 pounds the other day. Who can beat it?

We would be glad to have you send us a new subscriber during court week. And if you can't do that send or bring us $1.50 on your own subscription.

W. F. Lyles and Tobe Simms, the two parties charged with robbing the safe of the Jenison Lumber Co. had their trial continued until next Monday, and were remanded to jail.

Dr. J. P. Givhan, Mr. L. J. Hand, and a number of others from Jenison, were in town Monday to attend the trial of the two parties charged with robbing the safe of the Jenison Lumber Company.

Some of our neighborhood correspondents seem to have crawled into holes and pulled the holes in after them. They do this periodically and may be expected to come out alright again after a little respite.

Our readers will bear in mind that communications we may publish do not always reflect the views of the paper. Furthermore, we are always disposed to give both sides a hearing on any important public question.

Rev. P. T. Hale, pastor of Southside Baptist church, Birmingham, delivered a very interesting lecture at the courthouse Monday night. A very respectable audience greeted the lecturer, and the most undivided attention was given. Bro. Hale's visit will be of great service to our town as the "Magic City" will know what a promising future lies before us.

For Representative.

To the CHILTON VIEW:

We want to suggest to the people of the county the name of a good man for representative in the Legislature. A man upon whom the jarring elements may unite. A man who is well qualified, and who we think will consent to make the race if nominated by the County Democratic Convention. We speak of Dr. Hugh T. Caffey, of Jenison.

THOSE RESOLUTIONS.

Republished By Request.

DIXIE, ALA., April 28.

MR. W. H. LAWRENCE: Dear Sir—As there is a good deal of dispute about the language used in the resolutions that were introduced by Mr. A. J. Brooks in mass meeting, calling a primary election four years ago, and also a note afterwards sent you by Mr. Brooks, explaining more particularly the meaning or intent of the resolutions, would it be asking of you too much to republish them in your next issue?

I often hear the whole thing so miserably misquoted and misconstrued, that I would be glad to see them republished, believing that it would go far toward correcting error.

X.

Complying with the above the following are the resolutions:

Whereas, it is democratic that a majority of the qualified voters should govern the country and in order that this object may be fairly and intelligently ascertained, therefore be it

Resolved 1st, That the Chairman of the County Executive Committee shall order a primary election not later than Saturday, June 19th, to ascertain who are the people's choice for the county offices to be voted for this year.

Resolved 2d, That he shall appoint three managers who are intelligent and true Democrats to conduct such election on the same plan and during the same hours of State elections: every Democrat shall be entitled to vote and no others at such primary election.

Resolved 3d, That all voters shall vote for the persons of their choice for the different offices on the same ballot and the managers shall count out and return tally sheets with ballots to the chairman of the Executive Committee within three days after said primary election. The managers shall sign the tally sheet and certificates.

Resolved 4th, That within two days after the election the chairman of the Executive Committee, with the assistance of the Central Committee, shall open all the returns, count the votes and proclaim the result in THE CHILTON VIEW.

Resolved 5th, That the persons receiving the largest number of votes for the various offices shall be the nominees of the party for same.

Resolved 6th, That we hereby pledge ourselves to support such nominees under this rule, and work for their election.

The resolutions were adopted by the mass meeting without a dissenting vote.

The note referred to by our correspondent, and which was published sometime after the mass meeting, is as follows:

Editor View:—I wish to say through your paper that in introducing the resolutions for a primary election in this county, I understood the phrase, "Democrats only shall vote" to mean what the State Executive Committee defines, that is, those who vote the Democratic National and State tickets.

Respectfully,

A. J. Brooks.

July 13th, 1886.

Jenison Locals.

At 8 o'clock Sunday eve death entered the home of the estimable Mrs. McLondon and claimed her son Erasmus aged 18 years. While at the grave Monday evening and viewing the grief of his bereaved mother and sisters, we could but exclaim, Oh, God! pity the widow and orphan.

Peaches will be scarce. Apple blooms now in full beauty. Gardens on a boom. Farmers are pushing from dawn until dark to make corn, and some of them to make cotton with which to pay their guano debt if nothing more.

May the View with its best aims ever remain in the interest of the farmer.

In Memoriam.

At a meeting of the Masonic Lodge at Jenison, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, Almighty God, in his inscrutable Providence has seen fit to remove from our midst, by death, on the 22d of April, 1890, in the 43d year of his age, our beloved and honored brother, Sargon J. Heath, therefore, be it Resolved 1, That we bow with meekness to the summons of the Supreme Grand Master of the Universe, who removed from our midst, our beloved Brother Heath, who was apparently in the very zenith of manhood and the prime of life.

Resolved 2, That in the death of Brother Heath our community has lost a most excellent neighbor, his country a worthy citizen and Masonry a zealous votary.

Resolved 3, That we gratefully acknowledge the goodness of Almighty God in giving us such a life as that of our departed Brother, and we commend his virtues as a kind husband, a faithful friend, a true citizen and a devoted Mason as worthy of emulation.

Resolved 4, That a page of the records of the proceedings of this Lodge be set apart sacred to the memory of Brother Heath; that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes; that a copy be furnished the widow of our deceased brother; that a copy be forwarded each to The Montgomery Advertiser and THE CHILTON VIEW for publication; and that the usual badge of mourning be worn for thirty days.

A Lady's Perfect Companion.

Our new book by John H. Dye, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in childbirth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness and the many other ills attending pregnancy. It is highly endorsed by physicians everywhere as the wife's true private companion. Cut this out: it will save you great pain and possibly your life. ## ALLIANCE NOTES.

WHAT THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS ARE DOING.

THE ORDER OF THE FARMERS, GATHERED FROM VARIOUS SECTIONS OF THE COUNTRY.

It is asserted by the farmers on the farm of the late Hon. Pinckney Jones, that the first bale of cotton this year will come from that farm. He says the examples and methods of Colonel Jones are being strictly followed on that farm.

The County Alliance of Shelby county, Ga., favors the holding of primaries in the different militia districts to nominate candidates for the general assembly, and for delegates to the next congressional convention and for governor.

The cotton bagging factory for America, Ga., is an enterprise already secured for that wide awake city. It is an Alliance necessity, and the thirteen adjoining counties invited to take stock in the enterprise should respond with alacrity.

A grand reunion of the Alliance of that section of Georgia, and the old soldiers will be held jointly at Flat Rock camp near a head county, July 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th and 29th. The Alliance and the old soldiers will be invited to take stock in the enterprise should respond with alacrity.

If the farmers Alliance continues to increase for a year or two, the rate at which it has been gaining during the last twelve months it will soon be the largest organization ever known in this or any other country; and if it sticks together and properly exercises its great power it will be easily able to accomplish such a revolution in the legislation of the country as will result in giving the farmer not only his rights as a citizen, but after breaking up the trusts and combines which now rob him of much of his earnings, will also place the farmer in the position to become a legislator in the interests of his county and his claims.—Ex.

Our farmers are taking more real interest in their farms this year than we have known before; there are more terraces, and the soil is better prepared than at the same time any previous year in the history of Georgia. At least, this is our opinion after a careful observation. We believe further that this state of things is due mainly to the Alliance movement. Then let the movement that has brought such a result go on in its proper sphere until the "red old hills" of Georgia are made to blossom as the rose, every farm is free from mortgage, and the inmates of every home contented and happy.—South Georgia Alliance Farmer.

The Southern Alliance Farmer (Atlanta, Ga.), has the following to say regarding one of the dangers that confronts the Alliance: If all Alliancemen will be true to the cause and withhold their votes from men who are not, and have never been, in sympathy with the struggling masses, and will support only those who have records, not only in office but at home, show plainly that their hearts are with the people, and that they are of pure character and worthy of confidence, their success is assured. Our danger lies in division. Alliancemen have their personal friends among the politicians, and may be induced to vote for them when they know they are in full sympathy with the Alliance. Sectional unity, or town pride, should be left out of the question. Men who are true to our interest are the men to support. As we have said before, simple ability will not do, for if it is turned against us it would do great harm. The heart must be right. We can no more afford to turn our legislation over to men who serve the money powers than we can afford to leave our children's inheritance to the hands of a few desperadoes. Being a farmer or an Allianceman only, being in full sympathy with the people, and having the will and ability to work to their interest, does make a worthy support. Where will you find such men? The time when a few politicians in each county, district or state, can meet together and apportion out the different offices is at an end. The people will take a hand in this year, and have determined to have representation.

In Col. Polk's argument before the senate committee on agriculture at Washington, on Tuesday, he sketched the decline in agricultural values in the face of the marvelous progress and development of their industries and interests during the past decade, and insisted that something should be done for the farmers. He charged the fault upon the financial system of the government, which had resulted in high-priced products. The remedy, Colonel Polk suggested, was three-fold—first, restore silver to its dignity and place as money metal with all rights of coinage and all the qualities of legal tender which gold possesses; second, issue sufficient amounts of currency direct to the people, at a low rate of interest, to meet the legitimate demands of business of the country, and which shall be legal tender for all debts, public and private; third, secure to such issue equal dignity with money metals, by basing it on real tangible, substantial values. Mr. Polk was followed by Dr. W. C. McCreary, chairman of the national committee on legislation of the Alliance, who addressed himself more particularly to the merits and details of the system of warehouses as outlined in the bill. He asserted that merchandise thus stored would not deteriorate below the market standard, and that the system had proved feasible and practicable in the United States, where the Grangers' bank, in 1878, loaned $3,000,000 on warehouse receipts to the farmers on what deposited in warehouses owned and controlled by them.

DROWNS HIS CHILDREN.
AND ATTEMPTS SUICIDE—HORRIBLE CRIME OF AN INSANE FATHER.

A well-to-do farmer named Morrison, living two miles from Shelbyville, Ont., after drowning three of his children in a barrel of rain water, attempted to drown himself in a creek. Some of his neighbors found him lying by the creek in a precarious condition. There is no hope of his recovery. The reason can be assigned for the tragedy.

NEGROES RETURNING.
THE FIRST FRUITS OF THE LATE REBELLION TO THE MISSISSIPPI DELTA.

It is learned that a number of families of negroes who recently followed in wake of the exodus to the Mississippi delta and of their own sacred paying their expenses going and coming, have recently returned to North Carolina from the Georgia coast.

IF HE WERE PRESIDENT.

THE NEW YORK WORLD ASKS THE PUBLIC THIS QUESTION: "WHAT WOULD YOU DO IF YOU WERE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES?"

Among the answers which have caused most comment is one by Mr. Julius L. Brown, of Atlanta, Ga. Mr. Brown's answer contains food for thought and we here reproduce it from the issue of the New York World dated Sunday April 18, 1900.

In response to your question to the public, "What would you do if you were President of the United States?" I suggest some few things which are thoroughly Utopian, because I will never be President, and because if I were party spirit is too ripe for either one of the present parties to adopt them.

If I were President of the United States and I did not have a Congress thoroughly in accord with me, I would execute the laws of the United States impartially, whether in Indiana or in Georgia. If I were President of the United States and had a Congress in thorough accord with me so that my recommendations would be adopted, I would:

First—Be president of the whole United States. I would not be President of any party and would not be President of any section.

Second—I would leave the Mississippi and Missouri rivers and prevent dissipation of waters, and would connect them with the lakes and thus form a perfect waterway through the center of the United States.

Third—I would build gun factories and armories, fortifications, etc., and put the whole country in such a position of thorough defense that we would not be at the mercy of foreign powers.

Fourth—I would build a large canal, perfect, modern navy, so as to defend our commerce, protect our citizens in foreign countries and resist insults.

Fifth—I would improve our rivers and harbors and make them available for the same reasons which induce private persons to improve their estates.

Sixth—I would amend the navigation laws so as to make the United States the leading maritime nation of the world and place our country's flag back on the seas from whence Admiral Sumner drove it.

Seventh—I would subsidize steamers sufficiently to provide ready and cheap facilities for building up a trade with Mexico, Central and South America and the islands, in all of which the balance of trade is against us. I would do this for the same reasons which induce private individuals to donate rights of way for railroads through their lands, and when these lines were started enough to stand alone I would withdraw the subsidy.

Eighth—I would readjust the tariff, raise it in some things and lower it in others, so as to thoroughly protect every American industry and enable this country to produce everything it needed, so that in case of war we need not buy anything we desired from other countries.

Ninth—I would put everything on the market that we did not produce, whether diamonds or coffee. I would not demagogue about taxing luxuries.

Tenth—I would put books (except piratical reprints of American books, which I would not permit to be imported), maps, engravings, pictures and statuary, and everything of that kind which educates our people on the free list. I would make luxuries so cheap that the poor could afford to have them.

Eleventh—I would provide by general laws for the erection of public buildings in every city having a population of ten thousand or more, and would not permit the government to be a tenant in such buildings.

Twelfth—I would provide by general laws for the erection of public buildings in every city having a population of ten thousand or more, and would not permit the government to be a tenant in such buildings.

Thirteenth—I would write the emigration of honest people, whether English or Chinese, who desired to become citizens of this country. I would prevent the ownership of lands by aliens. A man has no right to have his life or property protected by a government to which he owes no allegiance.

Fourteenth—I would provide by general laws—changing the Constitution if necessary—so as to have uniform laws upon the subject of marriage, divorce, estates, mortgages, conveyances of real estate and such matters as are common in business between persons of different States, and thus prevent the confusion which now exists.

Fifteenth—I would assume that the motive which impels a man to fight for his country is patriotism and not a desire for gain, and would reduce the pension list and pay pensions only to a poor soldier absolutely needing it, his wife, widow, who was his wife when he was a soldier.

Sixteenth—I would extend Charles Sumner's idea. I would repeal the laws preventing a Confederate soldier from coming an officer in the United States army. I would erase the names of the battles in the late civil war from the flag. I would destroy all battle flags. I would have the Confederate dead in the same way as the Federal dead are now cared for. I would point with pride to their valor, and I would glory in the fact that they were equally American soldiers.

Seventeenth—I would appoint no man to any local Federal office who did not command the respect and confidence of the people among whom he was living.

Eighteenth—I would instill a love of country instead of a love of party in the hearts of our entire people, north, south, east and west, so that no matter where an American citizen might be, he would say with pride, I am an American.

Nineteenth—I would be roundly cursed by demagogues, those stirrers up of strife north, south, east and west, who live, move and have their being in sectional and party agitation, but I would be honored and respected by the great American people who have the honor and the respect of the whole country at heart and who wish sectional bickerings to cease.

FORCES OF INTERESTS RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

WHAT'S SAID BY FARMERS AND GARDENERS.

We have made repeated trials with barrowing wheat in spring with a barrowing harrow, the work being done first in the morning and then in the afternoon, and the results were as follows:

At the last harrowing the barrow was passed over the wheat twice, the first before sowing the clover-seed, the last after the operation. Any slant-harrow, with numerous fine teeth, will answer. The teeth should be sharp, provided they are sufficiently so to mellow the crust; generally, however, the sharper the better.—New York Tribune.

We put in ninety-one "mature" wethers weighing seventy-one pounds each; fed, for grain, corn and oats, mixed at rate of four bushels to a ton; and hay, fed part of the time; and corn and hay alternately, and then beans and stalks; always fed by daylight and only twice a day. Keep clean water and salt by them, and keep well bedded. Result:

At the same time eighty days, drove over three miles, and weighed; weight, 91.2-3 pounds, an average gain of 21.2-3 pounds per head, and this, too, on a small class of sheep. Farmers here who have tried "fattening" sheep on straw and grain alone do not get near the gain.

WHAT THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS IS DOING.

APPOINTMENTS BY PRESIDENT HARRISON—MEASURES OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE—AND ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

By appointment of the speaker, Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, acted as speaker pro tem in the house on Saturday. On motion of Mr. Lee, of Virginia, a bill was passed appropriating $7,000 to construct a road from Alexandria, Va., to the national military cemetery near that place. The house again went into committee of the whole on the legislative appropriation bill. A call of the house was ordered. Only 101 members responded to their names. The dreary scenes attending the call of the house were then enacted, while the sergeant-at-arms was engaged in the task of hunting up absentees. After five hours consumed in this weary manner, further proceedings under call were dispensed with. The house then, at 11 o'clock, adjourned.

In the house, on Monday, the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill passed without division. The house then went into committee of the whole on Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, in the chair on bills relating to the district of Columbia.

In the senate, on Monday, Mr. Blackburn introduced a bill for the admission of the state of Arizona. Referred. Mr. Call gave notice that on the 15th of May he would address the senate on the joint resolution, heretofore offered by him, as to opening of negotiations with Spain to allow Cuba to establish a republic. The land forfeiture bill was then taken up. The pending question being Mr. Call's amendment in relation to railroad lands in Florida. The two Florida senators carried on a colloquial discussion for over two hours. The bill went over without action. Mr. Plumb giving notice that he would ask the senate to act on Tuesday.

In the senate, on Tuesday, after the transference of some routine business of little public importance, the consideration of the land forfeiture bill was resumed. The debate on Mr. Call's amendment, was continued by Messrs. Plumb, Berry, Mitchell and Call. The bill passed without division. The McKimley customs administrative bill was then taken up, read and amendments recommended by the committee were agreed to. Other amendments were submitted by Messrs. Evans, Dawes and West, and went over without action. The senate then adjourned.

In the house, on Tuesday, a lively bout was witnessed in the Speaker and Mr. Miles, on a question of personal privilege. The postoffice appropriation bill was reported and placed on the calendar. The house then went into committee of the whole on the bill providing for the classification of woolen cloths as woollen. The committee then rose and reported the bill to the house. On the passage of the bill no quorum present. Mr. Dingley, in view of the fact that a republican caucus was called for the evening, at 7:30 moved an adjournment, which was carried.

On Wednesday, after the reading of the journal, the house proceeded to vote upon the passage of the bill for the classification of woolen cloths as woollen. The bill was passed—yeas 188, nays 9. The speaker counting a quorum. The text of the bill is as follows: "That the secretary of the Treasury be, and he hereby is, authorized and directed to classify as woollen cloths all imports of woolen cloths, whether known under the name of 'worsted' or 'diagonal' or otherwise." Mr. McKimley, of Ohio, from the committee on rules, reported a resolution providing for the immediate consideration of the senate service pension bill, to which the Morrill service pension bill may be ordered as a substitute. The previous question to be considered as ordered at 4 o'clock. Mr. Carlisle, of Kentucky, protested against the adoption of resolutions of this character, which took away from the committee of the whole the right to consider many bills, and forced the house to vote upon them after a brief debate. Mr. McKimley argued that the resolution was justified under the present code of rules. The resolution was adopted, and Mr. Morrill, of Kansas, took the floor in explanation and support of his bill. This act of justice, he said, had been too long postponed. If the government were to grant a service pension it should grant it without delay. The total number of persons put upon the pension roll under the provisions of the bill was estimated at 440,000, at an annual cost of $20,000,000. The object of the bill was to render aid to every soldier over sixty-two years of age, to every disabled soldier without regard to age, and to the widows of deceased soldiers who needed assistance. Mr. Ramsey, of Missouri, opposed the bill because it made no discrimination between a soldier who served three months and a soldier who served three years; because it made no distinction between disability arising

ALLIANCE NOTES.

WHAT THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS ARE DOING.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO THE FARMER, GATHERED FROM VARIOUS SECTIONS OF THE COUNTRY.

The Farmers' Alliance of Kansas is organizing a campaign against Ingalls and protection.

The Newton County Ga. Farmers Alliance passed resolutions Friday endorsing the sub-treasury plan, now before congress.

The Farmers' Alliance Exchange of South Carolina has been in operation two months and a half, and has done a business in that time aggregating $50,000.

There are 138 county Alliances and about 3,800 county sub-Alliances, with a total membership of about 65,000 males and 20,000 females in the State of Georgia.

The Alliance is on a tremendous boom in Forsyth, Milton, Grinnell and Wilcox counties, Ga. In Grinnell alone there are forty sub-Alliances and a very large membership.

We now have twenty-eight States and Territories organized in our grand Union. North and South, with an estimated membership of nearly three millions.—Weekly Teller.

Remember, Alliancesmen, that your enemies are now at work to get up strife among our membership, attempting to blacken the fair names of your chosen leaders. This is done to divide your forces and cripple your influence. Money and corruption go hand in hand when the enemy decides to ruin you.—Southern Mercury.

Oppression beyond endurance is the motive power or incentive to determined resistance, and is clearly shown by the unprecedented rapid coming together of the industrial classes of Kansas, where the corn is fifteen cents a bushel and burned for fuel, and where many societies eighty farms out of every hundred are mortgaged and foreclosed made at the rate of 200 a week in the State. Farmers are slow to move, when driven to resist the oppression, who be to the oppressors.—Weekly Teller.

What is the Alliance good for if it can't accomplish something on this line? Is it any disgrace for it to go to politics for the protection of the farming interests of the country? All it needs to do is to be aware that it is not hoodwinked by arch-schemers, who are sure to seek its influence for their own personal aggrandizement. The prosperity of the whole country depends upon that of the farmer, and we want them to take hold of the government and establish themselves on an enduring basis of prosperity.—Leedsburg, Leesburg, Pa.

Read a good word and a strong one for the Alliance which we clip from the Middle Georgia Argus: "The people of Butts county are more united now than ever before on all questions. The Alliance has done more than any one thing to bring about this state of things. This is just one of the many good things which the Alliance has done. A little later the papers will say: 'The people of Georgia and the South are more thoroughly united for their mental, moral, social and financial improvement than ever before, and the Alliance has done more than one thing to bring about this state of affairs.' The Alliance wants to do nothing but good, and that good for all.—Southern Alliance Farmer.

The following ruling set forth by Felix Curren, Chairman Executive Committee S. F. A., in the matter of five cents per capita required for dues to the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union, will be read with interest: "In order to meet the requirements of the National Farmers' Alliance by resolution passed at its annual meeting on the 23d day of August 1889, increased the yearly dues of the County Alliances in the sum of five cents per capita, it becomes the duty of the state secretary to change the name to the various County Alliances, arrange on these increased dues will deliver the county from representation as provided in Sec. 8, Article 3, of the constitution and by-laws for County Alliances."

Washington dispatches say protests are coming in from every section against the Butterworth "options" or "futures" bill, which places a heavy license fee upon dealers in futures, together with a tax upon every pound of hush of certain specified articles to be bought or sold. Its object is to break up the speculative dealings, or "corners" which have taken place in the grain, cotton and great markets of recent years.

SOUTHERN NOTES.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

GENERAL PROGRESS AND OCCURRENCES WHICH ARE HAPPENING BELOW MASON'S AND DIXON'S LINE.

A Scotch-Irish association for the state of Alabama was formed in Birmingham Saturday.

The New Orleans cotton exchange denies that there is any danger to that city from the high water.

The congressional committee investigating the timber case of Alabama, were in session at Mobile Tuesday.

Roma, Ga., is hurrying over the fact that a $1,000 spiggle iron furnace is soon to be erected in that prosperous city.

In a letter received at Louisville, Ky., Mary Anderson, after confirming the report of her engagement to Navarro, states that she will never again appear before the footlights.

The house of William Holder, near Cumberland Gap, Tenn., burned Wednesday night. Mr. Holder, his wife and one child perished in the flames. Six other children escaped in their night clothes.

The towns of Seneca, S. C., was visited by the fire fiend on Sunday morning, and an entire block of buildings in the business center was laid in ashes within a few hours. Over 15,000 worth of property was destroyed.

Twenty-three years ago Mrs. M. A. Schaeffer took charge of the Monroe, Ga., postoffice, and has held the position constantly ever since. One of the most remarkable facts in connection with this long tenure is that she has never lost a day on account of illness.

Nearly all the leading merchants and importers of New Orleans met Wednesday to protest against the passage of the McKimley bill. A resolution was adopted condemning the bill and delegating the chairman to go to Washington to put the matter before congress.

The labor unions and organizations of Brunswick, Ga., have been seriously agitating the nine hour movement. This movement, however, is being made no longer a meeting of the building and trade council of Brunswick, will be put into effect on the first Monday in next September.

A Birmingham, Ala., dispatch of Monday, says: Some excitement prevails at Nottingham, over the disappearance of Gary Pittman, cashier of the bank of Nottingham, and diligent search is being made for him. Pittman is also treasurer of Albany, Ga. The condition of the bank is not known except through reports.

The steamer H. B. Plant, one of the best known of the St. John's river craft, burned to the water's edge Tuesday morning, in the middle of Lake Beresford, 108 miles from Jacksonville, Fla., while on her way to Sanford. Three lives were lost, all colored. The men are supposed to have drowned while attempting to swim ashore.

Mrs. Sallie E. Haynes, on Tuesday, filed a suit in the Atlanta, Ga., City Court against the Western Union Telegraph company for $4,500. A message sent to her announcing her husband's death, was made to read erroneously so that she did not know of his death until after it was too late to see his face again. She therefore sued for $4,500.

The river improvement and levee convention met at Vicksburg, Miss., on Wednesday. Three hundred and fifty delegates from Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky and Missouri were in attendance. Resolutions to congress were adopted that the question of river improvement and navigation is best aided from a national standpoint by an effective system of levees.

A New Orleans Picayune Bayou Sara special says that the old levee in front of the hermitage and Pointe Coupee side-caved Wednesday and letting water against the new levee caused it to give away and the crevasse is now between 500 and 600 feet wide and widening. This break will prove disastrous to the river at West Baton Rouge and Eberville and also put grose Teles levees to a severe test.

At the recent meeting of the Southern Press association at Charleston, S. C., a resolution was introduced by Hon. Patrick Walsh, of the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle, and unanimously adopted, urging southern representatives and senators to use their best endeavors to secure the defeat of the government telegraph scheme. A resolution was introduced by Mr. S. D. Pool, of the New Orleans Times-Democrat, relative to government improvement of the Mississippi river, which was adopted.

MAKING THE MONEY PLAY.
 "What is posterity doing for us?" "Well, I'll tell you," said Chollie's Sister. "My posterity is helping me to get rid of the surplus."

A LIVELY TIME EXPECTED

AS A RESULT OF THE MANY MAY DAY DEMONSTRATIONS.

On Monday morning the Boston Globe published an article showing the situation in New England, regarding the labor demonstration to take place May 1st. It says that Boston and Worcester will be the main battle grounds for the state. The contest will be for a working day of eight hours. The greater part of the 8,000 carpenters employed in Boston will strike for eight hours, but they may demand for an increase of the hour rate of wages. They believe that a decrease in hours will cause an increase in wages according to the law of supply and demand.

In several cities the plumbers, bricklayers and masons will demand nine hours. Quarrymen and granite cutters in Quincy will probably strike, as the bosses, unwilling to grant the nine hour system will raise the price per hour demanded by the workmen. Strikes are expected among the granite cutters at Westley, R. I., Concord, N. H., and Hallowell, Maine. The mechanics at Portsmouth, N. H., and carpenters at Portland and Lewiston, Me., demand nine hours.

A dispatch of Thursday from Denver, Col., says: The labor situation in Colorado Springs is growing more complicated. Most of the contractors have decided to grant the demand of the carpenters for nine hours, with ten hour's pay, but a few have held off, and the men say that the boss carpenters all concede the request by May 1st, there will be a general walk out. The quarry and brick men are asked to supply no building material until the trouble is settled.

The Washington, D. C., workmen are growing restive and are threatening to join the eight-hour strike. It is reported that the brick layers, carpenters and plasterers will demand on May 1st that thereafter eight hours be constituted a day's labor. Refusal on the part of the employers may lead to a general strike. Meanwhile attention is centered on the outcome of the movement in Chicago.

THE ARBITRATION TREATY.

THE CROWNING ACT OF THE PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE.

The representatives of about ten of the American nations signed the arbitration agreement recommended by the Pan-American conference at the state department at Washington on Monday. Among the nations which signed the treaty were Brazil, Bolivia, Colombia, Ecuador, Guatemala, Salvador and Honduras.

Arbitration treaty is one which was agreed to in the Pan-American conference and recommended to the various governments represented in the conference. It could be adopted by the representatives of these countries in conference, but was referred by them to their home governments, which have authorized their ministers to the United States to meet in Washington and sign for them. It is believed all the countries in the conference will sign it eventually. This is the crowning act of the conference, as this was the principal business for which the conference was called.

MEMORIAL DAY.

ITS OBSERVANCE IN ATLANTA, GA., AND OTHER PLACES.

The observance of Memorial Day at Atlanta, Ga., was a glorious success. Thousands of veterans from all points of the compass thronged the streets, while the well-arranged programme of the day was faultlessly carried out. The first duty to be performed was to lay the corner stone of the house which will shelter the disabled veterans who fought for the lost cause. The hour for the laying of the corner stone was purposely appointed early in the day in order to give everybody an opportunity to be present, and yet to return to the city in time to take part in the memorial services at the opera house and appear in the procession. The early morning trains brought great crowds of visitors to the city. Several military companies were among them. By noon the crowd had moved toward Marietta street, and a half hour later the sidewalks and streets near the old capital and DeGraw's opera house were thronged.

By 3 o'clock the opera house was full. The Confederate generals and a few prominent citizens occupied the stage, with Gen. Joseph E. Johnston and Gen. Kirby Smith occupying seats close to each near the center of the front row. When the generals took their places on the stage they were lustily cheered. As Gen. Johnston and Gen. Smith took their places they were given an ovation. The opera house rang with the cheers of the veterans, the ladies waved white handkerchiefs and men and women stood up. The generals bowed their acknowledgments and took their places in the center of the stage.

Gen. Clement A. Evans then introduced the orator of the day, Hon. J. O. C. Black, of Augusta, Ga. Major Black delivered a beautiful and touching eulogium in commemoration of the dead heroes. He said that the day was a day of mourning, and a day of prayer. He said that the day was a day of mourning, and a day of prayer. He said that the day was a day of mourning, and a day of prayer.

In the cortes, at Madrid, Spain, a bill was introduced Tuesday morning, which prohibits the employment of boys under ten and girls under twelve years of age. The measure also prohibits all minors from being employed in mines, crosses, or in any unhealthy occupation. All holidays, Sundays and festive days are to be secured to such minors, and a maximum day's labor is to be five hours.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

BY THE UNITED STATES COURT IN THE "ORIGINAL PACKAGE" CASE.

The United States supreme court at Washington, D. C., on Monday, rendered an opinion of great interest to all States in which prohibition prevails. Qu Lacey & Co. are beer brewers in Peoria, Ill. They sent some of their products in metal kegs and cases, by means of railroads, to Keokuk, Iowa, where their agent, a non-resident, offered it for sale in original cases. The liquor was seized by A. J. Hardin, marshal of Keokuk, under the prohibition laws of Iowa. Lacey & Co. brought suit against the marshal, alleging that the seizure was unconstitutional and void, being in violation of the clause of the constitution giving the United States exclusive right to regulate interstate commerce. The Keokuk court decided in favor of the liquor men, but on an appeal to the supreme court of Iowa, the prohibitionists won, whereupon the liquor men brought the case to the United States court where the decision of the law was reversed, and the liquor was returned to the brewers. The case is now before the supreme court of the United States, where the decision of the law will be made.

It is rumored that the great fire which destroyed the gas works in Madrid was of incendiary origin. Banks, churches and prominent residences were guarded by soldiers and armed citizens.

San Francisco trade crop this year promises to be unusually large, and the greater part of it will probably be sold, as dried fruit has sold better than usual.

Mr. Kirtland:—I see it stated that "there will be another convention in this county composed of anti-Kolb Democrats." I hope for the peace and good of the Democratic party of this county that no such action will be taken. If it is to be called, who are to call it? Will the bolters and independents who refused to abide by the action of the regular called and regular organized convention of last Saturday, the 24, call it? There are enough Democrats in Chilton county, who never split, or voted the Independent ticket, who will elect the same class of men, if not the same men to this "another convention." Those bolters need not think they will have "a walk over" in the next convention if it is called.

The above communication, coming from the source it does, is somewhat of a surprise to us, because of its evident bad temper and hint at bulldozing and overriding a second convention, should one be called. We have not yet been able to get anything authentic as to whether another convention would be called. But suppose it should be, would it not be the wisest course for the men who made up and who are willing to abide by the action of Saturday's convention, to have no connection with a second convention? If the same men should take part in a second, would not that be a tacit admission that the first convention was not regular, and that they are merely disorganizers? Our individual opinion is that the first convention men should stand up squarely for the regularity of their convention and have nothing to do with any other thing a dozen be called. And if a second convention is called, and another set of delegates elected to the State convention, then the State Convention has full authority to decide which is right, and in this way an opportunity offers for satisfactory settlement and union.

There is no necessity for displays of bad temper or aggravating discussions by partisans of either side about a question which can only be settled by the State Convention, and we will not publish any further communications on the subject that may be likely to arouse bad feeling.

We have warm friends on both sides of the question, and we think that both sides should show the faith that is in them by being willing to submit to the State Convention test as to which is right. Let it be a question of union, not of disunion. With this object in view we think a second convention might effect a good work.

Saturday's Convention.

We have long wanted to see a united white man's party in Chilton county. Since the convention of last Saturday, we are disposed to think that such a consummation is but further delayed.

The assembly may have been representative of the yeomanry of the county, yet the manner of its selection, and the justice of its authority to act as a convention of the regularly organized Democracy, were the questions that caused some delegates to refuse to take part in its proceedings.

It may also be true that expediency dictated wise nominations on the part of the body, and that the ticket nominated could be elected, there can be no doubt. Northington and Hicks are Democrats, say from way back since the days of Yancey and Tombes, if you will, and we know that one of them, Mr. Hicks, who is a warm personal friend of the writer, did not expect any favors from the assembly, and is yet debating the question of the propriety of his acceptance of the nomination tendered him for Superintendent of Education.

One objection urged to the work of the convention is its endorsement of a man for governor who has been pronounced by the Supreme Court, the highest tribunal of the State, a corrupt man and a dishonest man. But we can not say that that objection is a very valid one in a political sense, though in a moral and business sense it would be. Politics, you know, are proverbial for filth and corruption. And any body of men may endorse Satan himself if they choose, but unless they be properly selected and accredited representatives they could have no authority to commit others to that endorsement.

Nevertheless, this press has been so anxious to see a united white man's party in the county that we would be willing to see the six delegates vote for Kolb (as six votes could not nominate him) if the object of union could be accomplished thereby. We are no enemy of Mr. Kolb's, but we cannot conscientiously favor his nomination.

The question at issue is—Will the State convention recognize the Saturday convention, and admit the delegates selected by it? Though we may have no other convention in the county, until the foregoing question is answered in the affirmative, we cannot endorse the work of Saturday's convention.

We have been asked what right the county executive committee had to prescribe rules for holding primary elections? There are many good, sound Democrats who concede the committee this right. However, we are not sufficiently acquainted with the machinery of party politics to be an authority on the question. It can be settled only by the State convention, and its discussion elsewhere can but prove aggravating and profane.

We have learned that in the State of Ohio the law makes it a penal offense for a voter to take part in a primary election who has not theretofore voted with the political party ordering such election. Such a law would not amount to much in Alabama, as nearly every white voter here votes the State and National Democratic ticket, and all such, according to our State Democratic committee, are Democrats. We have noted that many good Democrats consider this rather a pernicious definition on the part of the State committee as to what constitutes a Democratic voter, and they claim that if the State committee has authority to prescribe who are Democrats in the State, the county committee has a higher authority in prescribing and defining for the county, since the State committee is more a creature of the county than vice versa.

The View is never a fence straddler, and proposes to work in the harness with that part of the white Democracy which the State convention decides is the regularly organized Democratic party in Chilton county, whether it be weak or strong in numbers. It may be that either side may care naught for our endorsement, yet we will feel privileged to work with that side which is pronounced right, by the highest authority of the party. Even then the paper will not be an organ for either side. It has never aspired to the distinction of being an organ for anything or any party. That is a breaker we have always avoided. Nor is it a leader, having sought to be but a humble follower of the principles and purposes of the Democratic party. And it cannot deny that measures and methods must some times be considered as well as men.

We sincerely hope the action of the State convention may obliterate the division in our county and unite both sides as one.

We will abide that action.

Proceedings of the Convention.

The following are the proceedings of the convention which met at Clanton Saturday. Before the body was called to order Chairman Waterworth of the "regulars" made an excellent speech in which he said:

"There are two parties in this county, there is no use in denying that. I am bound by an oath to the Alliance, and I am the chairman of the Democratic party committee. The flag of the Chilton county Democracy is trailing in the dust. The executive committee have deserted their chairman and gone back upon the call they issued in ordering the primary election in requiring that only those who had voted the Democratic ticket in the past should be allowed to vote in the Democratic primaries, and hence the result is the composition of the convention to-day. I can not serve the Alliance and the Democracy both in politics, and I am a Democrat first. The fires of true Democracy are burning low, the embers are smoldering, and the outlook is gloomy and dark, but the spark will be rekindled, success and triumph will yet come to the efforts of those who are true and steadfast in the path of right and who stand by Democratic principles."

I can not call the assembly to order as a Democratic convention," and taking his hat left the house amid the jeers of a few on the outside of the railing who called to him, "Leave us a look of your hair."

After the retirement of Mr. Waterworth, the dead silence of a few moments was broken by Mr. W. L. Sampey, who moved that Mr. G. A. Northington be made temporary chairman and upon being elected that gentleman took the chair, and after the appointment of a temporary secretary, declared the convention ready for business.

A Committee on credentials, consisting of one from each beat, was appointed, which, after a recess of an hour reported no contests, the delegation from Clanton beat having settled their troubles by admitting Mr. W. L. Sampey, who was the only regular Democrat asking admission from that beat. Maplesville beat was not represented, the three delegates from that beat not going in. The temporary officers were then made permanent. The chair said he was as good a Democrat as anybody, had always voted that ticket, and pledged himself when he voted in the primaries to support the action of the convention. He denied that the Alliance was in politics. Politics were not considered at its meetings but when business was over, the doors were opened and political matters discussed. He did not say that any outsiders were admitted and it was the same old attempt at avoidance and virtual confession of the indictment that the Alliance was in politics.

Resolutions expressing confidence in Mr. Waterworth were adopted, and the Convention repudiated and condemned the jeers and indignities offered him. The Chair stated that they were made by persons not members of the Convention, for which it was not responsible. He knew Mr. Waterworth to be a good and an honest, conscientious man, and when he went out his heart went with him but he differed with him in his ideas of affairs in this county.

The first order of business was the election of delegates to the State Convention. A delegate offered a resolution instructing delegates to the State Convention to vote for R. F. Kolb for Governor first, last and all the time, which the Chair ruled out of order, because there were yet no delegates to instruct.

The following delegates were elected to the State Convention: J. H. Bostwick, J. R. Kemp, P. M. Moore, J. A. Logan, W. A. Wood, and L. H. Reynolds. On motion of Mr. Bostwick the delegates to the State Convention were instructed to vote for R. F. Kolb for Governor; provided they did not find a better and stronger man when they went to Montgomery. Mr. Bostwick said he was willing to instruct now for Kolb; they had been fighting for him up to this time, and if a better and stronger man was not found, the delegation would vote for him.

The election of delegates to the Congressional Convention was postponed till some future time.

For County Superintendent of Education R. E. R. Hicks and J. W. Moore were placed in nomination. The vote stood Hicks 20, Moore 15, and Mr. Hicks was declared the nominee.

For Legislature, Mr. Bostwick placed in nomination the name of G. A. Northington who, he said, was a worthy Alliancedman, deserving their confidence, possessing high legal ability as well as good moral character.

Mr. J. A. Logan nominated O. M. Mastin who had been in the Alliance true and tried, and was worthy the support of Alliancedmen.

Candidates were asked to define their position on the Alliance platform of demands, particularly the sub-treasury or warehouse bill, now pending in Congress; also on the election or appointment of Commissioners and Boards of Revenue by the Governor.

Mr. Northington said he had not any matured views on the measure, not having been made fully acquainted with the provisions. He thought it would be a good thing for the farmer but would bankrupt the government. He favored the election of Commissioners by the people.

Ballot was taken, which resulted, Northington, 25, Mastin 7, and the Chair declared himself nominated for the Legislature.

The following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That the Secretary be instructed to furnish a copy of the proceedings of this Convention to the Chilton View, Age-Herald, Alliance Herald, and Montgomery Advertiser, and those newspapers be requested to publish the same. An Executive Committee was then elected and the meeting adjourned.

The following is the executive committee:
Beat 1—W. H. Bean,
Beat 2—J. O. Jeffers,
Beat 3—D. A. White,
Beat 4—W. L. Sampey,
Beat 5—J. H. Bostwick,
Beat 6—J. R. Vinson,
Beat 7—J. L. Letcher,
Beat 8—J. A. Stephens.

Some of this committee state that they will decline to serve unless the convention is recognized by the admission of its delegates to the State convention.

As the Secretary of the convention has neglected to send us the proceedings, we obtained the foregoing from another source.

NOTES.

The short speech of Chairman Waterworth was a bit of vigorous rhetoric and exhibited sound principle. Mr. W. is an Englishman and fully understands handling his mother tongue.

We hear that a prominent member and officer in the Alliance is disgruntled at the action of the convention, and charges that it was engineered by the delegates from beat 5 and Lieutenant Harry McCall.

Squire Jesse R. Jones says he will have to vote for Northington. Says he has known Mr. N. for forty years and that he has always been an ultra Democrat.

One of the opposition men tells us that the plan on foot among the regulars is to call a mass meeting and send up a protest to the State convention against the admission of the delegates.

It is all a very muddy muddle, and the end appears not yet.

Wednesday morning after the adjournment we received the secretary's report. The only variation that we notice is in the statement in the secretary's report that Mr. Waterworth called the convention to order, which statement we herewith publish as official, though Mr. Waterworth's friends in Clanton stoutly deny that he called the body to order.

RALLY DEMOCRATS!

Under this heading a circular has been sent over the county which reads as follows:

The Democrats of Chilton county who have heretofore abided by the action of the Democratic Conventions of the county—who desire to maintain the organization of the Democratic party are requested to assemble at the respective places of voting in said county, on Saturday, May 10, 1890, at 10 a. m., to take action.

Mr. Foster Withdraws.

Macon county having instructed its delegates to the congressional convention to vote for Judge Cobb, Hon. W. F. Foster has very graciously withdrawn from the race in a published card.

The "Life of the flesh is the blood thereof," pure blood means healthy functional activity and this bears with it the certainty of quick restoration from sickness or accident. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier gives pure rich blood, and vitalizes and strengthens the whole body. $1.00 per bottle.

Slight derangements of the stomach and bowels may often be corrected by taking only one of Ayer's Pills. Through not having the Pills at hand, your disorder increases, and a regular fit of sickness follows. "For the want of a nail, the shoe was lost," etc.

You can be cheerful and happy only when you are well. If you feel "out of sorts" take Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla.

The most delicate constitution can safely use Dr. J. H. McLean's Tar Wine Lung Balm. It is a sure remedy for coughs, loss of voice, and all throat and lung diseases.

Take It and Be Well.

Gathered from field and forest are the component parts of Swift's Specific. There is nothing in it which comes from the chemist's shop hence it is the great remedy to help nature to ward off disease. In the spring months is the best time to brace up the health. Take S. S. S. when you feel dull and heavy—take it when your blood is too thick and slow and your feelings will tell you when. Every man, woman, and child would be the better for having taken a few bottles of S. S. S. in the spring.

The quality of the blood depends much upon good or bad digestion and assimilation; to make the blood rich in life and strength giving constituents use Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier; it will nourish the properties of the blood from which the elements of vitality are drawn. $1.00 per bottle.

Commissioner Kolb having admitted in his open letter that he became a bankrupt immediately after the war, and has been one ever since, how are the people to feel sure that he will not bankrupt the State if he becomes governor? It is bad management that makes bankrupts. A man who has a record of poor success behind him, should not be placed in charge of the affairs of a State.

Coughs and colds come uninvited but you can quickly get rid of them with a dose of Dr. J. H. McLean's Tar Wine Lung Balm.

Life will acquire new zest and cheerfulness return if you will impel your liver and kidneys to the performance of their functions by taking Ayer's Liver and Kidney Balm will stimulate them to healthful action. $1.00 per bottle.

Savages expect to imitate bravery by drinking the blood of their brave enemies. A more enlightened method of vitalizing the blood is by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It braces up the nerves and gives strength and fortitude to endure the trials of life.

Take one of Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pills at night before you go to bed and you will be surprised how laxative and vigorous you will feel the next day. Only 25 cents a box.

Rheumatism.

BEING due to the presence of uric acid in the blood, is most effectively cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony:—

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months, and am pleased to state that it has effected a complete cure. I have since had no return of the disease."—Mrs. E. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th St., New York.

"One year ago I was taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and mental health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."—Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H.

LOCAL LACONICS.

Miss Camilla Reid is visiting relatives in Clanton.
Mrs. E. Chilton is visiting relatives in Montgomery.
Mrs. Armstrong, of Birmingham, is visiting Mrs. R. Q. Lane.
Willie Vines visited his old home at Clanton last Friday.
Miss Minnie Bowdoin is visiting relatives in Birmingham.
Miss Anna Lou Duke has been visiting relatives at Deatsville.
Squire Robt. Martin, of Maplesville, was in Clanton Saturday.
Miss Minnie Briggs visited friends in Montgomery last week.

The pupils of the Academy had a picnic Friday at Corder's mill.
Mrs. E. C. Lawrence is visiting relatives in Tuscaloosa and Northport.
Mr. G. W. Haden and Mrs. Patton, are visiting the family of Mr. Collier.
Mr. Bentley, of Montgomery, visited his brother, Mr. O. P. Bentley in Clanton, Sunday.
Little Bell Driver, a daughter of Mr. I. Driver, of Clanton, died on the 3d inst., aged ten years.
Miss Mary Ella Thorington has returned home after a pleasant visit to relatives in Clanton.
Col. R. M. Williamson has returned from Elmore circuit court where he was engaged in several important cases.

Our neighborhood correspondence came in this week "all in a lump," when press of other matter has crowded it out.
Col. J. B. Stanley, of Butler, the leading candidate for Secretary of State, was in attendance upon the convention Saturday.
It has been reported that James Judkins, Esq., of Elmore would accept the Republican nomination for Congress in this district.
Col. Virgil Murphy, who is well known in this part of the State, died in Montgomery on Thursday last. Col. Murphy was a brother of Mrs. Moorey, of Clanton.
Mrs. R. Ehrman requests us to announce that Mr. Smith, the Episcopal rector, will fill the pulpit at the Episcopal church next Sunday morning and night.
Chilton county should make an exhibit at the State Fair this fall. The Alliance of the State are asked to do as much as they can in this direction, by Dr. Bird.

The Methodist Church will be dedicated on the 4th Sunday in this month. Rev. G. W. Briggs, of Florence, a brother of the pastor, will preach the dedicatory sermon.
The Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church will give a strawberry and ice cream festival at the court house on Friday night of this week, for the benefit of the church.
The dank and decaying vegetables of regions newly cleared of timber, exposed to the rays of the sun are sure to breed malaria. Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure, by mild and gentle action will radically cure. 50 cents a bottle.

A Clanton correspondent informs us of the death of Mr. Madison Raspberry, in that neighborhood last week aged eighty-two years. He had lived in this neighborhood forty-two years.
The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Church will give an ice cream and strawberry festival in front of the church building, Wednesday night, May 14th. Everybody invited.

W. L. SAMPEY

General Merchandise,
At Clanton, Ala.
Respectfully solicits your patronage. Good goods at reasonable prices.

Jameson Locals.
A party of our young folks went to Dormany's mill fishing and picnicking last week. They reported a pleasant time.
Several of our citizens leave for Fort Worth, Tex., to-morrow to attend the South. Baptist Convention. The party includes Rev. A. E. Burns, Mr. I. N. Langston and your correspondent.
Some of our citizens claim that our worthy Justice P. C. Bean, Esq., was seen plowing last week. With the view of ascertaining the truth your correspondent interviewed Mr. Bean and we are glad to report that he denounces the charge as libelous.
One of our fellow townsmen has patented an ingenious plan for supplying the country with first class watches. His plan in all its details does not appear, but we are informed that he planted his watch in some rich soil in his garden, and expects by fall to furnish his neighbors with young watches warranted to keep first-class time.
Miss Mary Belle Scott, of Montgomery, is lending her sunny presence to the society of our town just now, much to the delight of some parties we might mention.
Mr. W. H. Jefferies was down from the Magic City again last Sunday to see his sweetheart. We hear it hinted that he will not come back again, but "some how or other" we don't give the report credence.
Mr. Claude Mooney has removed to Siluria, where he will engage in mercantile business.
X. Y. Z.

Dots From Benson.
Crop prospects are flattering. Farmers are all done planting, and are working over the little plants. Weather soft and fine, nothing to hinder. If the farmers will use industry, and economy, the reward next fall will be extensive. People, generally, have plenty of corn and meat to answer their purposes without going in debt for such things. And with proper management, what is produced on the farms this year, will be clear gain.
Mrs. W. J. Fleming is very low with malarial fever.
Rev. A. E. Burns filled the pulpit at Mulberry Church last Sunday, and delivered one among the best sermons ever preached in this vicinity.
Dr. J. S. Johnson is busy administering pills and comfort to the sick.
Mr. B. F. Hammon designs taking a trip to Missouri soon, on business.
Prof. Hunter has an interesting school at Isabella church.
The Sabbath school at Mulberry church is in a flourishing condition.
The readers of the View would like to know what has become of the horse that at times, had a fowl-stomach (the chicken eater).
Long live the View.

BENSON.
Mr. H. G. McCall, late editor of the Alliance Advocate, was in town Saturday as one of several "delegates" from Montgomery, to the convention held here. He says the folks here were calling him "Kolb's lieutenant." In a conversation with him, we inquired how it was that he was still working for Kolb after that gentleman had so unceremoniously ousted him from the editorial management of the Advocate, as is generally understood to be the case. He replied that Capt. Kolb had nothing to do with his connection with the Advocate, as was charged. Mr. McCall says he has planned a trip for the press association from Montgomery to Brunswick, Ga., and from thence by ocean steamer to Ferdinandina, and thence through Florida. On the route from Brunswick to Ferdinandina is Cumberland Island, on which is the beautiful Dungeness castle built by a wealthy Scottish nobleman, now owned by Andrew Carnegie, the Pennsylvania iron king. On the island are buried the remains of Gen. Henry Lee, famous in the annals of the revolution as "Light Horse Harry," and no less famous as the father of Gen. R. E. Lee. The island and the beach at Ferdinandina are said to present the finest views on the south Atlantic coast. Altogether the trip may be a very pleasant one if the ink-slingers will be careful to carry along ample supplies of chill killer and malaria antidote, especially while going through Florida. A trip through Florida in June is likely to develop an epidemic of malaria among those of us from the hill country.

Some of the dailies are publishing tables showing the relative strength of the gubernatorial candidates. As none of these tables present the same showing it looks very much like guess work. Yet from the present outlook it is pretty certain none of the candidates can count on a nomination on the first ballot.

The Alliance store at Tuska-loosa has been closed by the Sheriff on attachments for debt. Evidently too much politics and too little business.

We would second the nomination by the Florence Banner of Mr. Rufus N. Risles, of the Birmingham News, for President of the State Press Association.

At the meeting of the Southern Press Association, recently held in Charleston, S. C., it was decided to hold their next meeting in Memphis, Tenn. W. W. Scrives, of the Montgomery Advertiser was elected President.

Had tried Politics. Great Statesman (to married daughters)—"My dear, your husband will never amount to anything if you don't spur him on. Why don't you persuade him to go into politics?"
Daughter—"But, pa, he has tried, and he can't stand it. The whiskey makes him sick."

Every editor that is not in factor of Mr. Kolb is a body to the Advertiser according to the Alliance. Now come down to the fact of trading which sounds the more tony and aristocratic, "a body to Mr. Kolb," or "a body to Mr. Advertiser." Not a bull frog in the gang, all bodies—Prattville Progress.

The Tuscaloosa correspondent of the Birmingham News says
"An alliance from a rural district, who was in town this morning, stated in the presence of a number of gentlemen that he would vote for Kolb if he should catch him (Kolb) stealing a mile from someone's stable. He didn't catch what Kolb did, he would vote for him."

This shows to what extent a crane will carry a man.

The Savannah News makes this comment on a point from the Alabama canvass:
"A rumor comes from Alabama by way of Mississippi, that Agricultural Commissioner Kolb, of Alabama, will accept the Greenback party's nomination for Governor. This rumor is vouched for by Chairman Davidson, of the Alabama Greenback party. It is notorious that Commissioner Kolb is seeking to be Governor of Alabama, but if he accepts the nomination of the Greenback Party all the corn will be shelled from his cob. That's certain."

Republicans for Kolb.

A gentleman informed us a day or two since, that he met recently on the cars a prominent Republican of North Alabama, who told him that all the Republican members of the Alliance were for Kolb, and were doing all that they could to help him get the nomination for governor, and that they were doing this not with the hope of seeing him elected, but because they thought if he was nominated that he could be beaten. The Republican programme being to hold a convention in June and nominate a Democrat for that purpose, showing very clearly that the object is if possible to split the Democratic party. —Tuscaloosa Gazette.

The Canvass for Governor.

Barbour county has failed to endorse R. F. Kolb for the office of Governor, though that is his home county, and he was on the grounds at Eufaula on the day the primary election was held and devoted himself assiduously to strengthening his forces. Eufaula, his home beat went anti-Kolb by a majority of 123, Mr. Kolb receiving 162 votes and the votes against him being 285.

In spite of all this, the refusal of his home people who know him best, to give him their endorsement, the Alliance is rushing like mad men to his support.

The Alliance is disposed to shoulder a disgraceful responsibility in supporting a man of blameworthy reputation for any position, and the people will bear in mind, should Mr. Kolb be nominated, that the Alliance alone is responsible for the disgrace.

Kolb is using the Alliance as a tool, and when this fact becomes patent to the membership, disap-fection and disunion may be expected.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS

Of the Recent County Convention Are Wanted for Future Reference.

At the request of Chairman Northington the proceedings of the recent county convention as furnished by the secretary are herewith published. They would have been published last week if they had reached us in time.

Convention called to order by
D. J. Waterworth, who retired after making a short address to the assembled delegates.

On motion, L. A. Northington was elected temporary chairman, and L. H. Reynolds was elected temporary secretary, and W. L.
Sampey, assistant secretary.

On motion representatives of the press were invited to seats on the floor of the convention.

On motion the following named persons were appointed as a committee on credentials, viz: J. M.
Scott, J. O. Jeffers, A. Glascock, J.
E. White, E. N. Manning and H.
C. Gandy.

While they were getting ready to report a recess was taken until 2 p. m. On reassembling the temporary officers were made permanent.

The committee on credentials reported only one bona fide having a contested delegation and recommended that the following named persons be recognized as delegates from that beat, viz: W. L. Sampey, J. A.
Logan, D. B. Rogers, O. M. Mastin, and J. W. Cox as delegates from beat 1.

The following resolution was offered by J. H. Postwick and unanimously adopted: Resolved, that this convention endorse the action of D. J. Waterworth, chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic party of Chilton county in calling this convention together in the regular form and tenor of our sincere thanks for the graceful manner in which he surrendered his trust, the chairmanship of the executive committee, to this convention.

Resolved further, That we denounce the jokers that were cast by Mr. Waterworth as he left the hall.

On motion, the chair appointed the following committee on order of business, viz: W. L. Sampey, J. H. Postwick, and E. N. Manning, who reported as follows:

1st, selection of delegates to the state convention; 2d, selection of delegates to the congressional convention; 3d, nomination of county superintendent of education; 4th, nomination of representative to the State legislature; 5th, the selection of one executive committee from each beat to form the county executive committee.

On motion, the report was adopted, except that on motion of W. L.
Sampey the selection of delegates to the congressional convention was stricken from the order of business.

The convention then proceeded to ballot for delegates to the state convention, and the following were elected, viz: J. H. Postwick, P. M.
Moore, J. E. Kemp, W. A. Wood,
On motion, the delegates were instructed to vote for R. F. Kolb for governor.

Nominations for county superintendent of education being next in order, R. E. R. Hicks and J. W.
Moore were placed in nomination, and Hicks received a majority of the votes and was declared the nominee of the party.

Nominations for member of the legislature being called for G. A.
Northington and O. M. Mastin were placed in nomination, and Northington received a majority of the votes and was declared the nominee of the party.

The manner of selecting a new executive committee was discussed, and on motion it was decided to let the delegates from each beat choose the committee from that beat and these men so chosen were to choose their own officers.
The following were reported by the several beats as executive committee: W. H. Pan, J. O.
Jeffers, D. A. White, W. L. Sampey,
J. H. Postwick, J. R. Vinson, J. J.
Letcher, J. A. Stephens.

On motion a resolution was adopted requesting the publication of the official proceedings of this convention in THE CHILTON VIEW, Age-Herald, Alliance Herald, and Montgomery Advertiser.

G. A. NORTHINGTON,
Chairman.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Secretary.

Has Faith in the Lord's Mercy.

Yesterday was an other field day for Mr. Kolb, and he now prances well to the front as the leader in the gubernatorial race.
But Mr. Kolb is not yet the nominee for governor, and is not likely to be—unless he can capture the nomination on the first ballot.
He has the hostile opposition of the A. L. and cannot hope to draw strength as other candidates fall by the wayside. It is likely to be a case of "so near, and yet so far," with the gentleman. We still have faith in the mercy of the Lord and the integrity of the yemen of Alabama.—Tuscaloosa Times.

The dank and decaying vegetable of regions newly cleared of timber, exposed to the rays of the sun is sure to breed malaria. Dr. J. H. McLean's Tonic and Cure, by mild and gentle action will radically cure. 50 cents a bottle.

The Republicans.

A correspondent writes us concerning the meeting of the Republicans at Lomax on Saturday last.

"I was not at the meeting but I heard that in one of the speeches the negroes were promised that if the Republicans got into power they would be given equal rights with the whites, and that they would be on an equal footing in every respect."

They say that they will meet again the third Saturday in July and will have the biggest crowd together that ever met in Chilton county. Very few white men were present. They were J. S.
Edwards, R. H. Knox, and H. A.
Logan, of Clanton, and R. A. Mosley, of Montgomery. You can imagine how things looked with the "blackbirds" backed up making speeches. Men who will mix with the negro in such a way ought to be made to eat drink and sleep with them."

We clip the following account of the meeting from the Age-Herald.

CLANTON, May 11.—The Republican county convention met at Lomax yesterday. The convention was called to order by H. A.
Wilson, who nominated Col. R. H.
Knox as chairman, who was unanimously elected. Upon taking the chair Col. Knox delivered an eloquent address to the convention.
Among other things he said that the outlook for the republican party of Alabama was never better than now; that they were upon a victorious ground; that the farmer's alliance had built the breast-works of the party, and union and co-operation was all that was necessary to lead them to a grand and glorious victory; that it was the time, when our opponents were disputing among themselves, to strike a blow for the cause that would be felt throughout Alabama; that when the Greeks met Greeks then comes war between themselves, and the Persians could then win the laurels; that as the Democrats were warring among themselves, the Republicans, by fact and energy, could place themselves upon a basis in Alabama as superior to the rocks of Gibraltar.
Colonel Knox's speech was received with hearty applause.

The convention then proceeded to select an executive committee and delegates to the state convention. The executive committee are as follows: John Robinson, J.
P. Siskaklin, S. S. Campbell, Sin
Williams, Jesse S. Edwards, S. J.
Cones, J. B. D. McDuffie, Richard Mahall, B. J. Neely, Berney Lawrence and Horace McGee, all of whom were elected.

The delegates to the state convention were H. A. Wilson, Robert H. Knox, S. G. Jones, and W. M.
Hates. After speeches by H. A.
Wilson, and R. A. Mosley, the convention adjourned sine die.

The "Life of the flesh is the blood thereof," pure blood means healthy functional activity and this bears with it the certainty of quick restoration from sickness or accident. Dr. J. H.
McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier gives pure rich blood, and vitality and strengthens the whole body. $1.00 per bottle.

Slight derangements of the stomach and bowels may often be corrected by taking only one of Ayer's Pills.

your disorder increases, and a regular dose of sickness follows. For the want of a mail, the shoe was lost," etc.

Cures Cancer of the Skin.

Mr. A. C. Tilly, of Arcadia, La., writes the following under date of March 25th, 1889:
"I have suffered with a malignant form of scrofula for twenty-five years, which after developed into a cancer. In 1875 I had the cancer cut out, but not cured. Shortly after the scrofula broke out all over my head and body in ulcers and eruptions, the ulcers were full of humor and continually running. I was in such a horrible condition from its effects that I could not sleep, and the strain on me was so great that I feared I would lose my mind. I consulted physician after physician and took thousands of dollars worth of medicine without receiving any benefit. Early in the spring of 1888 I was induced to try Swift's Specific
(S. S. S.) That medicine had a wonderful effect on me, and in a short time I was entirely cured of the cancer and scrofula that I had suffered a living death from for twenty five years."

the elements of the blood from which the elements of vitality are drawn. $1.00 per bottle.

CONSUMPTION,

IN its first stages, can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Even the later periods of that disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by this medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice.
This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."—A. J. Edson, M. D., Middlefield, Mass.

"Several years ago I was severely ill.
The doctors said I was in consumption, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day."—James Birchard, Danvers, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted so severe a cold that for some days I was confined to my stateroom, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my trunk,
I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B. Chandler, Junction, Va.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THIS GREAT ORGANIZATION.—LEGISLATION, NOTES, ETC.

The Alliance is growing rapidly in the Indian Territory. Over one hundred organizations are in working order now.

Fifty Alliances have been formed in Sedwick county, Kansas, the past six months, with a membership of over 2,000.

A golden sign of progress is seen in the calm intelligent manner in which reforms are being pushed by all organized farmers.

Tennessee, Missouri, Georgia and North Carolina lead all other States in Alliance membership. Missouri is in the lead with 2,000 Alliance.

The Alliance in Putnam county, Fla., tell the county commissioners that they must be more economical in the disposition of the county funds.

The Farmers' Alliance of Lincoln county, South Dakota, has decided to start an Alliance newspaper with. They see the importance of supplying the news with-out its being poisoned by passing through the monopoly press.

Hon. L. F. Livingston, president of the Georgia Farmers' Alliance, has been invited by General S. D. Lee, president of the agricultural college near Starkville, Miss., to deliver the annual address on the 18th of June. The invitation was accepted.

Cherokee is the banner Alliance county in Kansas, having a membership of 3,000. One hundred and twenty-seven delegates representing thirty-eight Alliances, attended the meeting of the county Alliance at Columbus, April 3d.—Admiral Opinion

There is just one way congressmen should resist standing with the people and that is to secure at this session the passage of measures of relief. If they don't do it, then they should not object to their constituents trying some else.

A letter from Secretary Turner at Washington says the petitions on the anti-trust bill are rolling in like a western snow storm. That's right, bank congress in with them till their only escape is to pass it. Let every Alliance and Nationalist club that has not already done so forward at once their petitions.—De la Ruralist.

The Alliance is only a few weeks old in Michigan, but already ten counties are on the march. There is something magic about the touch of the Alliance, when you get into it, you feel that you are shoulder to shoulder with the "patriotic liberty loving people" of the country. A people who live above partisanship and love their country better than any political party, and who would not haggle about the methods or names so long as the people are freed from the grasp of monopoly.—Alliance Sentinel.

A delegation representing the Farmers' Alliance appeared before the senate and means committee at Washington Tuesday morning to advocate the passage of the bill to create sub-treasuries in different parts of the country for the reception of staple crops produced by farmers. The spokesman was Dr. C. W. Macune, chairman of the legislative committee of the Alliance, and editor of the National Economist, a paper devoted to the objects of the organization. The others present were Alonzo Wardell, of South Dakota; Benjamin Terrell, of Texas, national lecturer; L. F. Livingston, president Georgia State Alliance; R. M. Humphrey, general superintendent colored Alliance, and J. J. Rogers, of the Virginia State Alliance. In addition there was present a number of members of Congress, principally from the Southern States.

Dr. Macune began his address by describing the depressed state of agriculture which, he said, was the prime cause of the trouble in other pursuits. If the existing conditions continued, he warned the committee that labor would become desperate and a great revolution would ensue. History showed that wealth had always lacked intelligence to meet in time the necessities of labor, and on its part labor had never adopted the proper means to remedy the faults it complained of. The objects of the Farmers' Alliance was mental, social and financial improvement. At the St. Louis convention 2,000,000 farmers had been represented, and they had proposed to remedy out in the but as the first step in the right direction. If it was rudely framed and the idea instinctively expressed, they relied upon the wisdom of the committee to give it the proper form, but they believed they had found a remedy for their ills. The farmers asked no favors and no class legislation. They did not ask the enactment of any unconstitutional measure, but as a great debtor class, as men who had gone out in the West after the war and laid the soil under contribution with borrowed money, they protested against the concentration of the money at a time when their debts became due, and asked that the conditions be restored to what they were when the money was borrowed. They asked justice, pure and simple.

Dr. Macune was questioned by members of the committee respecting the details and probable effect of the sub-treasury bill. Mr. Bayne wanted to know if one effect would not be to encourage over-production. Dr. Macune replied that it could not, for just as soon as the farmers' calling became more profitable than others, there would be an influx of men into that business, which would result in a reaction and finally the restoration of equilibrium. To his mind, no fixed volume of currency—no matter how great—would meet the needs of agriculture. It wanted an elastic medium. The farmer sold his crops in the fall when prices were the lowest and bought his supplies before harvest when prices were highest. Crops were marketed in two or three months of the year, and this marketing annually caused a great stringency in money.

Mr. Flower feared that the plan would lead to banking on live hogs, iron, lead and silver ore. They were getting along now in the latter direction at the other end of the capital. In time we would have everything "in hock." In the course of ten years, the government would be nursing children and women working in the field. The true remedy for the farmers' ills was the manufacturers' plan. They should regulate production. Baise only enough produce to meet the people's wants, and thereby get fair prices.

Dr. Macune proceeded to explain the process proposed to regulate the use of produce certificates. He said that for necessity for necessity imports of agricultural products was to be preserved. The certificates would constitute the soundest and best kind of money in the world. Probably not one-half of the $300,000,000 appropriation asked for to put the new machinery in action would be required, but the sum should not be absolutely at the minimum, as in time it would be necessary to extend the system to include all products of labor not covered by patent. In conclusion Dr. Macune said that the National Alliance had not sent out a single printed petition, and that these petitions and demands were now pouring in upon congress from the spontaneous offerings of farmers of the United States, who were convinced that they knew what they wanted and were going to have it.

Mr. Flower said, in commenting upon the argument, that the farmer would be well to manage his domestic affairs without government interference. Among the Alliancemen present was Terrell, the lecturer. He said: "We do not trade with any party. We are not patriotic partisans. We are tired of sacrificing the interest of the people for party. We have got nothing to do with the democratic party. We are in favor of the Alliance measures. Where a state is democratic, we want elect statesmen who will work in the interest of measures promulgated by the Alliance in convention. The republican members of this order will make the same effort to send men here who are friends of a party. Again, a candidate nominated by the Alliance would be a class candidate, and therefore would be opposed."

The hearing of the Farmers' Alliance representatives was continued before the ways and means committee Thursday morning. Mr. Livingston, national lecturer of the organization, taking up the argument. He said that he had found much misapprehension in Washington respecting the objects of the Alliance. They had not been congress, but as Mr. Flower had suggested, they had been attending strictly to their own business. A wrong impression—one without a word of truth—was that the Alliance was clandestinely seeking to displace the ruling parties. The farmers had been told that a proper adjustment of the tariff and of the silver question was all that was necessary for the farmers' relief. The tariff had nothing to do with the measure recommended by the Alliance. The tariff fixed the price of the farmers' purchases; the sub-treasury bill fixed the price at which he sold his goods. The Alliance representatives had not been insolent; at least there was no intention of insolence. They had talked plainly, straight from the shoulder. They asked, demanded—he was not sure about the terms—that congress do what it could to save the sub-treasury bill. Fifty-eight honest farmers—had been sold at auction in Connecticut in one day this week.

The farmers wanted relief, and they knew how to get it. They had about made up their minds to let partisan politics alone, for awhile at least. Representative Clements, of Georgia, had sought to have the farmers' lands taken as security in national banks. Somehow congress had refused to do it. The national bank system must be broken up. The farmers had to secure loans at excessive rates of interest. There was no justification for that under God's broad heaven.

Mr. Flower asked if a manufacturer did not have to pay some interest. Mr. Livingston replied that he did not. There was difference between watered stock concerns and the farmer's real estate, yet the latter was made the worst security in this country. Continuing he quoted President Lincoln's prophecy that corporations would be enthroned; that the property of the country would be concentrated, and that the republic itself would be overthrown. Thank God, the last prediction had not been fulfilled. But the others had been. One-twentieth of the people of this country owned three-fifths of the property. He also quoted Garfield, Jefferson and Calhoun, and said that what they had recommended was what the Alliance asked. If congress refused to approve the sub-treasury bill plan, then let it remove the restrictions on holding in the national banking system. The farmers would care nothing about trusts and combinations, and the concentration of money, if they could hold their crops in the sub-treasury, and were not compelled, as at present, to sell them at stated times. Life could thus escape the speculators. It would be a God send to this country to pass the sub-treasury bill, for the reason, if for no other, that there would not be a bucket shop left in the United States. The day of speculation in crops would be done away with, and the producer and consumer would be brought together. It had been charged that the farmers would form a trust. It was against the farmer's nature. He had to rush his crop to market. If crops went up an eighth of a cent every farmer would be seen hitching up his team the next morning. He would be afraid that one-eighth of a cent would get away from him. Then the farmers would have but a year's privilege, while banks had twenty years. This plan was not held out as a perfect measure. All legislation was the result of a compromise. The gentleman from New York (Mr. Flower) had said that children would be put to work in warehouses and women in the fields. The interference was that men under the parental government would be too lazy to work. Mr. Livingston denied that such a thing would follow. Could there be a government more parental than this—parental to banks, he meant. He did not favor parental government. If the highways were opened to enterprise and energy, the farm would be satisfied. But the farmer had stood around waiting for long enough. He had to have relief; it was a ground-hog case. Sixteen millions would build all the ware-houses the Alliance wanted. What good were river and harbor improvements to the debt-ridden, oppressed farmer? Never more than a third of the cotton crop would be ware-housed. When the certificates issued on that crop came in they would meet the needs of the wheat crop, and then the tobacco crop, and so on. There would not be excessive changes in the volume of currency.

Mr. Flower asked why the ware-houses were to be used for wheat, corn, tobacco, and cotton? Why not put in the wool, and rice, and cheese, and pork, etc?

Mr. Livingston replied that these staples were protected by the high tariff—seventy-five per cent for wool alone.

Mr. Flower read a table to show that staple crops had fluctuated more than fifty per cent within thirty years, and asked if that did not demonstrate the instability of the proposed currency. May heaven have mercy upon this country when a thousand millions of currency suddenly called in, as it might, be under such fluctuations.

Mr. Livingston replied that the fluctuations had been caused by the fact that the farmers had been caused by the fact that the farmers had been compelled to sell crops at adverse times—something he had proposed to remedy. In conclusion, he said that if the committee thought that a landed basis was best, if they could not accept the crop basis, let them put it in. Do something to relieve the farmers. Report the bill to the house in some shape, so that it could be acted upon. Do make it a question of tariff, of politics, but let the bill stand on its merits.

THE SECRETARY IN A HURRY.
"Mr. Rusk," said the office boy, with a grin on his face, "Mr. Benson is in the outer office and wishes to see you."

"Benson!" cried the unsuspecting Secretary of Agriculture. "Who is Benson? I don't know Benson." And the laugh which followed showed the secretary that he had fallen into a trap.—Miner's Weekly.

The chairman of the democratic meeting in DeKalb county would not allow republicans and independent to run over that body. He told them there would be a republican meeting in a few days, and that the enemies of the democracy could take part in that but that they cannot take charge of a Democratic convention. He thereupon asked all genuine Democrats to come forward and be enrolled as participants, and only those who were known to be of this designation would be recognized. This deprived the Kolb men of their element of strength from the opposition and they had no further interest in the proceedings.

"The Combat Thickens."

The latest returns from the Democratic primaries give Kolb 201 votes in the State convention according to the Age-Herald's count and 179 according to the Advertiser's. The Age-Herald, being partial to Kolb, is trying to beat the Advertiser counting votes for him. It is not the safest plan to under-estimate an opponent's strength, as we think the Advertiser is doing. From all the indications, we fear that Kolb may go into the convention with a small majority of the delegates instructed for him.

President Adams of the Farmer's Alliance has issued a manifesto to all the Presidents of county Alliances to assemble in Montgomery on the day before the convention meets. The Advertiser apprehends that this means an effort on the part of Adams & Co., to brow-beat the convention and force upon it the nomination of Kolb on the first ballot. Yet the Kolbites are not so sure of getting through in such a hurry, as the Kolb organ advises them to come prepared to spend three, or four days in the city, and they will be furnished with "soup and things," at the Alliance Exchange.

Suppose Kolb is nominated, there will be thousands of honest Democrats who will refrain from voting at all at the August election, and the Republicans, whose program is to nominate a straight Democrat, will stand a chance to get in their man. Will Adams & Co. be satisfied with such a result?

The speech of the Chairman of the Republican convention of Chilton county published last week might be a warning to the Democratic hosts. The party of spoils and official corruption now sees the doors opening to it in Alabama, and it proposes to re-instate itself in power if possible upon "a basis as lasting as the rock of Gibraltar." That party will not hesitate at riveting its chains firmly if it has the power to make the laws.

We still hope that Kolb may not be nominated. The Alliance could find a better man in its ranks. If the order will bring forward that man and he is nominated, it will then be learned that the war has been upon Kolb and not upon the Alliance. And it will yet be seen and admitted that the press of the state has but performed a duty in its continued warnings.

Some one says you might read all the books in the British museum, if you could live long enough and remain utterly an illiterate, uneducated person. Then, again, if you read ten pages in a good book letter by letter—that is to say, with real accuracy—you are forever more, in some measure, an educated person. It is only in a measure that a person can be educated. When there were but few books it was possible for one person to know their contents. Science has widened and the butter of intelligence must be spread thinner. The ripe scholar is one who is ready to drop off. Only boarding school girls finish their education. The bald-headed professor who has been studying all his life feels confoundedly ignorant in the face of the many things he does not know. A child can ask him questions he cannot answer. The young man goes to college to be educated. The most college can do for him is to put him on the road to knowledge. It takes everybody to know everything, and very little of anything, is yet known. Run away from the man who claims to know it all. He will make you tired exposing his own ignorance.

To the Democrats of Chilton County and No Others.

At a meeting of delegates held by authority of the Democrats of Chilton county who did abide the action of the last Democratic convention held in Chilton county at Jewison, after organization a committee of three consisting of K. Wells, T. J. Lenoir and J. F. Maull was selected, whose duties were defined by several resolutions as follows:

Whereas, the Democratic party of Chilton county did fail to hold its convention according to the call of the Chairman of the Executive Committee on Saturday, the 30 day of May, by reason of the attempt of the Independent and Republican to assume the right to participate in the councils of the party, and whereas the Democratic party was not in fact a Democratic convention, the Hon. D. J. Waterworth, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the party did refuse to call said convention to order as a Democratic convention, and whereas, it is meet and proper, and our right, that the Democrats of Chilton should have an organization, therefore,

Be it resolved, That we, the representatives of the Democrats of Chilton county duly selected at meetings held in pursuance of a call in the several places of voting in said county, on Saturday, the tenth day of May, to maintain an organization of the Democratic party of the county, deem it proper that a Democratic convention be composed of Democrats to be convened to be held at the action of the Democratic conventions of the county, and who are elected as delegates to said convention by Democrats who have heretofore abided the action of the Democratic conventions of the county, should be held to select delegates to the State convention and to nominate candidates for Representatives to the General Assembly of Alabama, and Superintendent of Education of the county, and to elect an Executive Committee of the party.

Be it further resolved, That for the purpose of carrying into effect the purpose of the foregoing resolution, that the Democrats of Chilton county who have heretofore abided the action of the Democratic conventions of the county and NO OTHERS, be requested to assemble at the several places of voting in Chilton county, on Saturday, May 24th, 1890, and elect delegates to a Democratic county convention to be held in Chilton on Monday, May 26th, 1890, for the purposes aforesaid.

Be it further resolved, That the Hon. D. J. Waterworth, chairman of the Executive Committee be requested to direct to make all appointments and publications and calls necessary to carry into effect the intention of these resolutions.

Be it further resolved, That whereas it has been spread abroad by some malicious party or parties that the Democratic party of this county is antagonistic to the Farmer's Alliance, that we as true Democrats representing the real Democracy of the county, do declare and affirm that this is false, and that we deem the objects of the Alliance as set forth by the principles of the order to be good and beneficial, except where it assumes a political significance as a whole to control political affairs.

A CALL.

is hereby made for the Democrats as defined in the foregoing resolutions, to meet at the several voting places in said county, Saturday, May 24th, 1890, by two o'clock p. m. for the purpose of electing delegates to represent the Democratic party in convention at Clanton, on Monday, May 26th, 1890, to nominate candidates for the Legislature and County Superintendent of Education and elect delegates to the Democratic State Convention to assemble at Montgomery, Ala. ## Is This Time for Folly.

The present is a critical period in the history of the South and of the country. Recognizing the fact that the Republican party is sure to lose in the next congressional election in the North and West as a result of the carnival of spoils and extravagance now in progress at Washington, a Republican organ admonished the Republican national committee that "what we lose in the North we ought to make up in the South." This is the obvious purpose of both the Lodge and the Hoar bills—to place the elections at the South in charge of the Swaynes and Mizells, acting under orders from Quay and Dudley.

In view of this fact, and the need of the South presenting an unbroken front in defense of local self-government, we ask those Democrats who are now treading the devious paths of class politics if this is a time for folly? Grave issues are before the country, issues affecting the solution of the race question and the rights of the people of the South, and yet here in Alabama, one of the progressive states of the South, we find a large number of Democrats who are shutting their eyes to everything but the silly schemes of political cranks. Is not this the height of folly?

Those members of the Farmer's Alliance in Alabama who believe that their material prosperity depends upon the election of Kolb as governor, and upon enacting in to law the resolutions of the St. Louis conference, have for the time being bid adieu to common sense and sound reason. They have either been duped by designing men, or by extravagant enthusiasts. They have left the hosts of the Democracy where they are camped on the hills of Democratic principles, and are following ignis fatui in the swamps of political charlatanism.

We ask these wanderers to stop and think. They claim to be good Democrats, but they have put the Alliance above the Democratic party. To their first allegiance is given. They claim to love Alabama, but no practical measure advances its interests claim their attention. When those who have faithfully and courageously defended Alabama and the South on the floor of congress ask endorsement from them, they question them as to their willingness to support crazy schemes that stand no more chance of getting through congress than Ben Butler stands of being president.

If the Republican party is really hoping to make up in the South for some of its expected losses in the North and West, how important it is that the South shall put forward its best men for congress, men of broad statesmanship, undoubted ability, practical views, and possessing knowledge of affairs. It is worse than folly to seek to make candidates for nomination or re-nomination pledge themselves to the support of such measures as the sub-treasury and bonded warehouse plan. No man deserving of a seat in congress can do so.

When the bubble that the Alliance extremists are following at last bursts, and they come to their senses again they will see nothing more clearly than that at a time when Alabama needed the support of all her sons, they deserted her to follow a delusion and a snare. Then their folly will become evident to them.—Mobile Register.

A Sad Condition.

I suffered for years with the worst form of Blood Poison, at which time I was attended by the best physicians I could find, and tried numbers of proprietary medicines without any beneficial results. I continued to grow worse all this time, until my whole system was destroyed by the vile disease; my tongue and throat having great holes caused by it. I then commenced taking Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), and in a few months I was entirely cured, and to this great medicine do I attribute my recovery. This was over two years ago, and I have had no return, or any effects of the disease since, and my skin is today as smooth and clean as anybody's.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THIS GREAT ORGANIZATION.—LEGISLATION, NOTES, ETC.

Georgia has 2,160 and Kentucky 1,325 sub-alliances.

An Alliance war house is to be erected at Chester, S. C.

Tennessee has ninety-two county organizations and 2,588 sub-alliances.

The Farmers' Alliance will save the Western people.—Triumph Advertiser.

Merchants in Central Kansas kick against the co-operative stores of the Farmers' Alliance.

Virginia has six hundred county and 900 sub-alliance, sixty charters being granted last month.

Three hundred manufacturing establishments started in the cotton States within two months, employing 80,000,000 capital.

Five hundred and fifty-five delegates attended the last meeting of the National Alliance, held recently at St. Paul.

The Teller, of Nashville, Tenn., says there was over two hundred Alliances chartered in the past sixty days, and forty weeks in the same length of time.

The Newberry (N. C.) Daily Journal says: "When in the course of human events an Alliance rises, it will be justified by a political action, it will be justified by a summons to halt and deliberate upon the situation."

The Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union Milling Company, of Washington county, Arkansas, has filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State. The capital stock is $3,500, and the principal office will be at Farmington.

The cornerstone of the Alliance Co-operative Manufacturing Company's building at Iron Gate, Va., was laid last Thursday. Colonel G. T. Barber, President of the National Alliance, and others, conducted the ceremonies.—Baltimore, N. C., Progressive Farmer.

Mr. J. T. McKibben, State business agent of the Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association, in Illinois, announces that he has made arrangements whereby the farmers will get their wheat at a saving of from $3.00 to $4.00 on every car load less than trust prices.

Every farmer, whether he belongs to the Alliance Union or not, should stand by the demands of the Alliance. Surely the National Alliance is a better protection for the needs of the farmers and laborers than the convention of any party. Fauquier County (Ark.) Wheel.

The Agricultural Wheel and the Farmers' Alliance of Texas, organized at a meeting held in Fort Worth a few days ago. The consolidation will be known as the Texas Farmers' State Alliance. Among those who attended the meeting was L. J. Polk, President of the National Alliance.

The Alliance of Georgia is entirely in accord with every principle and every policy adopted by the national convention at St. Louis. It is a perfect unit in its demands for complete control of railways by efficient commission, and for the sub-treasury plan which promises so much to the producers of the country.—Arkansas Dispatch.

Quite recently a State Alliance was organized in Indiana, and now the word comes that in August next the state of Pennsylvania will be organized. The agricultural and laboring classes are suffering as they are here, and in Lancaster county, the banner farming county of the United States, the depression is very great. The "home market" theory does not appear to work well there.—Southern Alliance Farmer, Atlanta, Ga.

Some days ago it was telegraphed over the country that the papers had been filed and that suit would be brought against the officers of the Texas State Alliance for the recovery of $1,200,000, which was alleged to have been misappropriated in some way. The fact that since that news came, the Alliance and Wheel in that State have held a meeting and consolidated, the two organizations ought to show that the members of the Wheel in the State, who were in a position to know the facts as to the status of the Alliance, had no fears of a big suit or anything else.

WORK OF THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE DURING DELIBERATIONS OVER MATTERS OF MOMENTOUS INTEREST.

On Tuesday, June 4, the House and Senate resumed their deliberations on the bill to establish a United States district court in Baltimore, N. C.

Mr. McKinley, of Ohio, submitted the conference report upon the customs and coinage bill. The report was adopted, yeas 127, nays 19.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the river and harbor appropriation bill.

Various amendments making appropriations for the river and harbor were offered and rejected.

Pending a decision the committee rose and the House adjourned.

The Senate on Tuesday resumed consideration of the bill subjecting imported liquors to the provisions of the laws of the several states, the question being on the amendment reported Monday from the judiciary committee providing that liquors transported shall, when their actual and continuous transportation shall have terminated, be considered as having ceased to be subjects of commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and shall be a part of the common property within the state, and be subject to its police regulations.

The vice-president announced the appointment of Mr. Blackburn as a member of the committee on appropriations, and of Mr. Carlisle as a member of the committee on finance, territories and woman suffrage.

The conference report on the bill to simplify the law in relation to the collection of revenues from McKinley was agreed to. The law is to go into effect on the 1st of August, 1890.

In the afternoon, the Senate adjourned.

In the Senate, on Wednesday, Mr. Sherman, from the committee on foreign affairs, reported an amendment to be offered to the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill, authorizing the President to carry into effect the recommendation of the international conference by the appointment (by and with the advice and consent of the Senate) of three commissioners to represent the United States at the international conference on the subject of the common fund to be contributed by the several nations interested.

Mr. Call yielded the floor to Mr. Allison, who presented the conference report on the appropriation bill. Mr. Ingalls inquired what had been done in regard to the amendment prohibiting the sale of alcoholic liquors, beer or wine in any canton, or post-trader's store, in any state or territory in which the sale of alcoholic liquors, beer or wine is prohibited by law.

Mr. Vest, at 6:10, moved adjournment. The motion was agreed to, and the Senate, at 6:40, adjourned.

The House was called to order Wednesday morning by Speaker Reed. After the reading of the journal, Mr. O'Neill, of Pennsylvania, presented the credentials of Mr. Vaux, and they having been read by the clerk, he escorted Mr. Vaux to the bar of the House, and the latter gentleman qualified as representative from the third district of Pennsylvania and Mr. Vaux affirmed, and as he took his seat he was greeted with applause.

On motion of Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio, a bill was passed appropriating $125,000 for the establishment of a national military park at the battlefield of Chancellorsville, Virginia, and then the House went into committee of the whole (Mr. Burrows in the chair) on the river and harbor bill.

The pending question was on the point of order raised by Mr. McCrory, of New York, against the clause prescribing penalties upon the owners of bridges which obstruct the navigation of rivers.

The committee then rose and reported the bill to the House. The bill was then passed without division. Adjournment was ordered from Thursday until Monday, and the House adjourned.

The House was almost deserted Thursday morning, the majority of democratic members being in Richmond. Public building bills consumed the day.

In committee of the whole bills appropriating nearly $5,000,000 were passed. The public building bills passed so far this session amount to $9,000,000, with $5,000,000 still on the calendar.

The chances are that President Harrison will use his veto pen freely when they reach the white house.

In the Senate, on Thursday, Mr. Teller introduced the following joint resolution, which was laid on the table and ordered printed: That it is the determined policy

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE BUSY WORLD.

A SUMMARY OF OUTSIDE AFFAIRS CONDENSED FROM AGENCY DISPATCHES FROM THE LATEST NEWS OF THE WORLD.

There is an epidemic of diphtheria at Marango, McHenry county, Ill.

A London dispatch of Wednesday says: The German composer, Missler, is dead.

It is generally understood at Washington that the Behring sea negotiations have failed.

Waring Brothers, of Elkton, Ind., manufacturers of fertilizers, have made an assignment.

Fifteen persons, charged with being original packages or otherwise, were arrested in Paris, on Thursday.

John Keenan, of 1884 "boodle" alley, arrested in New York, on Tuesday gave bail in the sum of $40,000.

The steamer, City of Alexandria, that went ashore on the coast of Florida recently, arrived at New York Wednesday.

The Weber Piano factory, in New York, was gutted by fire Monday afternoon. Loss, $125,000; insurance, $80,000.

The United States squadron of evolution sailed from Gibraltar Monday for Tangier, whence it will sail for Rio de Janeiro.

The prohibitionists met in Bloomington, Ill., Wednesday and nominated a state treasurer and superintendent of public instruction.

London dispatches state the governments of Europe are negotiating with a view to common action for the suppression of anarchism.

All telegraphic communication and nearly all railway traffic in Cuba have been interrupted by the floods resulting from the excessive rains.

The Iowa Indians, in Indian Territory, have accepted the offer of the government for their lands. This will add 221,018 acres to the public domain.

J. S. Meadows, postmaster at Alma, Arkansas, has been arrested on a charge of stealing registered letters. Deputy letters were used to detect him.

Emperor William has declined to allow the Berlin magistracy to receive subscriptions for the erection of a monument to his father, late Emperor Frederick.

P. J. Clissen, president of the Sixth National Bank of New York, when it was wrecked, was on Wednesday convicted on five counts of the indictment upon which he was tried.

A publication recently appeared in Rio de Janeiro in which it was stated that Brazil has expended upon the reigning family since 1808, up to the 15th of November last, $134,577,066.441.

Everybody seems satisfied with the nomination of Jones for Governor.

Mr. H. D. Clayton, of Barbour county, was the chairman of the Barbour delegation in the State convention. He endeavored to make a reputation as a spokesman for Kolb that he was opposed to what he called ringsters. He was met with success and succeeded in making it very clear to the convention that H. D. Clayton is a first-rate demagogue.

The Age-Herald says it was a shame that the gallery gods looking on at the State convention should spit on the Barbour delegation. Rather a filthy way to express their disgust indeed. But the Barbour delegation was enough to make even the gorillas in the gallery sick at the stomach if all accounts of their actions be true.

The premium lists of the Southern Exposition Company have been issued. The work was done by the Baptist Printing Company, and the pamphlets are the handiwork of the sort ever gotten out in this State.

The Company offers $20,000 in cash premiums to be awarded at the Exposition next November. The premium lists are handsomely illustrated, and the work does great credit to a home enterprise advertiser.

We publish the agreement made between the two delegations to the State Democratic Convention from this county. We trust that this will settle all differences between the factions of the party in Chilton, and we can see no reason why it should not. It is true that the invitation to J. A. Logan to step down and out was rather a broad hint to those of his ilk, but it was surely right and proper and was a step taken in the interest of party harmony. The Democracy cannot afford to admit partisans of all creeds and followings to its ranks, for a wolf in sheep's apparel among them at any time, whose deeds that are dark and tricks that are vain, would ultimately lead to its destruction. A pure party will be a strong party. Let us abide the agreement.

The Chilton County Matter.

In presenting the majority report of the committee on credentials. Mr. Russell of Mobile, the chairman, stated that the committee's report as to the contest from Chilton county was unanimous. The contesting delegations had agreed among themselves and in writing upon an amicable settlement. The written statement of the agreement is as follows:

THE AGREEMENT.

This is to certify that the contesting delegations to the State convention have made the following settlement of the difference existing between said delegates, to wit:

First—That three members of each delegation, to be selected by said delegation, are to constitute the delegation from Chilton county to the present State convention; provided, however, that J. A. Logan is to be excluded from the delegation to be selected from the delegation selected by the first county convention of Chilton county.

Second—That the candidates nominated by each of the county conventions of Chilton, held respectively on May 3 and May 28, 1890, are to withdraw.

Third—That J. H. Boettwick and Wm. A. Collier, for the purpose of organizing the Democratic party of Chilton are to act as joint chairmen of the Executive committee of Chilton county until a regular convention of the Democratic party of Chilton county is held.

Fourth—That said Boettwick and Collier are jointly to call a convention of the Democratic party of Chilton county to nominate candidates for the Legislature and for county Superintendent of Education, to elect delegates to the congressional convention and to elect an Executive committee of Chilton county.

Fourth—That in the election of delegates to the county convention, all delegates to the county convention are to be called, only such persons as come within the definition of a Democrat as defined by the present State Democratic convention, be permitted to vote in the election for delegates to the county convention.

Fifth—That the present State Democratic convention is to be asked to define what constitutes a Democrat who is entitled to vote for delegates to county conventions.

This, 29th day of May, 1890.
Wm. A. COLLIER,
Chm'n Delegation 2nd Convention.
J. H. Boettwick,
Chm'n Delegation 1st Convention.

The Convention.

The convention of the State Democracy after several days' hard work has presented to the people a good ticket headed by Col. Theo. G. Jones, of Montgomery, for Governor. The other nominees are: for Secretary of State, J. D. Barron, of Clay; for Treasurer, J. L. Cobbs, of Montgomery; for Attorney-General, W. L. Martin, of Jackson; for Superintendent of Education, A. G. Harris, of Sumter; and for Auditor, Cyrus D. Hogue, of Perry.

The unanimous nomination of Col. Jones, created great enthusiasm, and Capt. Kolb endorsed it with a ringing speech.

The entire ticket will make the Republicans sick, and we can rejoice and be glad at the outcome.

The convention referred the question of the definition of a Democrat to the county executive committee.

FIFTH DISTRICT.

Convention Called to Meet at Goodwater in Coosa County.

The Executive Committee of the Fifth Congressional District met in the Senate Chamber at the capital Wednesday.

There were present the Chairman, Hon. Mac A. Smith, of Autauga; the Secretary, F. W. Gist, of Bibb; I. H. Harris, of Chambers; A. D. Crawford, of Coosa; W. A. Collier, of Chilton; W. M. Lackey, of Clay; A. G. Goodwyn, of Elmore; J. R. Wood, of Macon; Hugh M. Wilson, of Tallapoosa.

Mr. Goodwyn moved that the Congressional Convention be called to meet on the 27th day of August.

Mr. Collier moved to substitute the 10th day of September. The substitute was adopted.

Mr. Crawford placed Goodwater, Coosa county, in nomination as the place for holding the convention.

Mr. Collier placed in nomination Alexander City.

On a vote Goodwater was chosen. Mr. Collier moved to make the ratio of representation, one vote for every one hundred cast for Governor in 1888, and one for every fraction over fifty. Carried.

On this basis the counties will be entitled to the following representation in the convention:

Autauga 12.
Chambers 21.
Clay 17.
Elmore 20.
Bibb 18.
Chilton 18.
Coosa 16.
Macon 14.
Tallapoosa 29.

The committee then adjourned to meet at Goodwater, at 11 o'clock on Monday September 10th.

Mac A. Smith,
Chairman. F. W. Gist,
Secretary.

Note This Speech, Mr. Angalia.

Mobile Register.

In the Mississippi legislature, when the question as to voting an appropriation for a monument to the Confederate dead came up, the young member from Marshall opposed the grant upon the ground that the people were too poor to be taxed for such a sentimental object. He was answered by the colored member from Washington county, who said:

Mr. Speaker—I have risen here in my place to offer a few words on the bill. I have come from a sick bed, and was forced to struggle up here leaning on the arm of a friend. I stand here in considerable pain. Perhaps it was not prudent for me to come. But, sir, I could not rest quietly in my room, sick as I am, and allow this discussion to pass without contributing to it a few remarks of my own. I was sorry to hear the speech of the young gentleman from Marshall county. I am sorry that any son of a soldier should go on record as opposed to the erection of a monument in honor of the brave dead. And, delegates to the county convention, sir, I am convinced that had he

seen what I saw at Seven Pines and in the seven days' fighting covered with mangled forms of those who fought for their country's honor he would not have made that speech. When the news came that the South was to be invaded, those men went forth to fight for what they believed, and they made no request for monuments to commemorate their brave deeds and holy sacrifices. But they died and their virtues should be remembered. Sir, I went with them. I too wore the gray, the same color that my master wore. We stayed four long years, and if that sad war had gone on till now I would have been there yet. I know what it all meant and understand the meaning of my words, when I say that I would have been with my countrymen still had the war continued until this good day. I want to honor those brave men who died for their convictions. When my mother died I was a boy. Who sir then acted the part of a mother to the orphaned slave boy but my "old missus"? Were she living or could she speak to me from those high realms where gathered the sainted dead, she would tell me to vote for this bill. And sir I shall vote for it. I want it known to all the world that my vote is given in honor of the brave Confederate dead.

The house burst into rapturous and prolonged applause. The bill was put upon its passage and carried by a good majority. Every colored member voted "aye."

Far and wide his tips were quoted, and his baseball stuff was noted. In political predictions he would always hit the mark.

He could write upon the tariff and he didn't seem to care if he was called off to write a book or write a poem or two.

He could boil down the stuff and edit, knew the value of a credit, and could handle with the telegraph in style excelled by few.

He could tell just how a fire should be handled, as a liar was sure to exercise a wise discriminative taste;

He was mild and yet undaunted, and no matter what was wanted he was sure to get it first, yet never was in haste.

But despite his reputation as a brainy aggregation he was known to be deficient in a manner to provoke,

For no matter when you met him, he would borrow if you let him, and he seemed to have the faculty of always being broke.

The dispatches announced Wednesday that Superintendent Porter of the census bureau has issued circulars to census enumerators forbidding them to furnish a report of their work to newspapers for publication. While this is in compliance with the law on the subject, it is to be regretted that the public must wait some time for a report of the work to come from Washington.

The Grandest He Ever Saw.

Mr. W. J. Colman, a prominent citizen of Gainesville, Fla., writes the following under date of Feb. 10, 1890: "I contracted a severe case of Contagious Blood Poison that gave me great trouble, and baffled the physicians of this place. I was finally advised to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), and I can say with great pleasure that a few bottles of it has entirely cured me. I have no hesitancy in saying that S. S. S. is the grandest blood medicine I ever saw, and can cheerfully recommend it to one suffering as I was."

Ulcerated Sore Throat.

Two years ago I had Ulcerated Sore Throat, and was so weakened and reduced in flesh that my friends thought it impossible for me to recover. I was attended by the very best physicians, but their endeavors to relieve me were futile. My mother seeing Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) so highly recommended, decided to give me a course of it, and after taking the first bottle I was greatly relieved, and after taking several I was entirely cured. I have not had any signs of a return of the disease since.

Mrs. Boykin and Mrs. Glover, of Pratt Saw Mill visited relatives in Clanton Sunday.

Mrs. E. F. Chilton, Misses Rose and Jennie Chilton leave for Auburn this week to spend the summer.

We are requested to announce that there will be services at the Episcopal church on Friday night.

The Clanton Gun Club is again annoying the feminine portion of the community with practicing.

The Baptist picnic will take place to-morrow at Cordova's mill. The children anticipate having a big time.

Mr. Gore, of the Jumbo neighborhood, died last Friday. He leaves many friends and relatives to mourn his loss.

Rev. Waverly Bridges and family returned to Florence last week.

Rev. L. G. Skipper, a former Pastor of the Clanton and Verbena Baptist churches died at the home of his parents in Georgia last week.

Miss Annie Malone has gone home to be with her parents during the vacation. Some of the young men feel like shedding tears over her departure.

Tuesday was the day for the State Convention of the Knights of Labor to be held at Clanton. Master Workman Dennis Canning and Secretary T. H. White were on hand and gave us a pleasant call at the View office, but as no other Knights were forthcoming, it is possible that the two officers were not very much encouraged by the turn out.

Jemison Locals.

Another home made desolate. Early on the morning of May 31 Mr. H. Morgan passed away aged 78 years, fifty-one years of which he tried to live a Christian.

On the 29th of May, Mrs. J. W. Middlebrooks received a bran new female visitor, who has six brothers and five sisters.

Mr. P. C. Bean, of Jemison, is suffering with some breast disease. Hope that his recovery will be speedy to the joy of his large and interesting family.

Mr. John Watkins, who has so long suffered from an injury in his back, causing an abscess, has been carried to Jemison for medical treatment. Whoever has a spare hour or dime could not invest it better than to aid his nice young family in such as is needed to all similarly afflicted.

Thieves stole a bee gam from Mr. Ira Campbell last Spring, and another few nights ago. He says he will be ready for them in the future.

Dixie Dots.

Perhaps you infer from long silence that ours is an uncommonly dull village, with no news worthy of note. Well things are progressing in the same old rub, whether for better, or worse.

Nestling between the enterprising towns of Stanton and Chilton (one mile to each) we depend on them for school privileges and sociables, the former alone has the churches. Alas! Can it be true, as told, "More whiskey is brought to Dixie." Well there is an express office here, as well as store and P. O.

We are glad to state that Mr. Broadhead's family who have been afflicted with La Grippe have recovered.

Mr. J. W. Peebles has been quite sick since his encounter with the thief.

We regret very much to state that Mr. Smith is in very feeble health.

Mr. Parnell's family are now sick. La Grippe prevails even in salubrious climes.

Malcolm Stewart, a 12 year old boy, whose parents live on Twentieth street, has run away. It is supposed he has made his way to some neighboring city. His parents are very uneasy about him, and any information furnished the chief of police here will be a great favor to them.—Age-Herald.

The Electropole.

READ THIS TESTIMONY.

Important letter from one of the first and best men in the State, and of the firm of Miller, Caldwell and Flowers, large saw-mill company at Bolley, Ala. Gents—The three Electropoles I leased from you last July were used by my two daughters and myself. I am seventy-seven years old. For more than half a century I have suffered with chronic bronchitis, accompanied with violent cough; of late years I have had asthma, severe pain in back, shoulders and knees, and indeed I have been very much prostrated. After six months use of the Electropole I can report a decided mitigation of all symptoms and a gain of ten pounds in weight.

My daughter, Mrs. C. H. Childers of Montgomery, has had sciatic rheumatism for fifteen years; lately she has had dropsical swelling and shortness of breath. She is much better, though not entirely relieved of her infirmities.

My other daughter, Mrs. A. E. Hamill of Evergreen, Ala., has had asthma in severe form for twenty years. She was so weak that she was confined to her bed a great portion of her time. On the fifth night after using the electropole she rested well, and from that date has been able to attend to her domestic duties without assistance. Of late, owing to exposure, is not so well, but even now, is a great deal better than before using the 'Pole.

Permit me to say, in conclusion, that in view of the benefit my daughters and I have derived, I have purchased the three instruments. I think this the best evidence of my appreciation of a thing, when I back up my judgment with my money. I am

Respectfully yours,

WM. H. FLOWERS.

Electro-Libration Co.

Gents—With pleasure I gratefully give my testimony as to the good work of the Electropole in my case. I had been "going down hill" several months. Indigestion and consequent bowel affection being the trouble. Medicine did me no good. On the first of February I began using the Electropole. "Threw physic to the dogs" and ate anything I desired as per instructions, and began to improve at once. I have been using the 'Pole just one month—my bowels are all right, have none of the old symptoms of dyspepsia left, can eat anything I desire, have regained my strength, ten pounds in weight, and am daily improving in both. I feel better than I have felt for years, and would not be without an Electropole. It has worked wonders in my case, and also with other members of my family. I do hope, for the sake of suffering humanity, those needing it will give the Electropole a trial and be convinced.

Peabody Normal Institute.

There will be a review term of methods, May 5-23, and Peabody Normal Institute, May 26 to June 20, held at the State Normal College at Florence this summer. Both will be under the supervision of President James K. Powers, of that institution. We are glad to note such a mark of progress as the establishment in Alabama of a summer school, to be devoted exclusively to the professional training of teachers. To the great mass of teachers who are unable to take a thorough course at one of our Normal schools, it will afford an opportunity never before offered. We urge them to take advantage of it, and thus insure its permanency. For particulars write to Prof. Powers.—Florence Journal.

Where Do the Kisses Grow?

They leap from the soul of a baby
And then all over it spread,
From the white and pink of its lips,
To the hair of gold round its head;
From the depth of its dimpled cheeks,
From the rosy, laughter-tipped lips,
From the smooth, shapely neck and shoulders,
To the tapering finger tips.
They're hidden within every heart-fold,
And nestled down close to the core,
And that they are evermore gathered,
Still I find there a thousand-fold more!
And each one seems softer and sweeter
Than the treasure I found just before--
Till I wonder if ever the sweetest
Is taken from baby's vast store.
So daily I search for and seize them,
And hourly I pluck a new prize--
Sometimes from the whitest of foreheads,
Sometimes from the brightest of eyes;
And I whisper, "O angel-faced baby,
Do you feel--can you ever quite know--
Of the wonderful worth of those kisses
That ever continue to grow?
Of the warm ones that they soften?
Of the heart-ones that curl from their sight?
That their magic comes out thro' the sunshine,
And on thro' the knells of the night?
I hold that we're richer and better
For every fresh kiss that we take,
For every fond love-token given
When given for sacred love's sake!
For it purges a mind in childhood,
Then surely it springs from the soul
Of that beautiful angel-like being,
As a life-page for us to read.
So I'll gather them early and often,
From the bright, curly head to the toe,
I can't get the web of it to measure--
For still they'll continue to grow,
And in after-years their gleam a memory
That backward forever will flow,
To those homelike looks of the bygone,
Whose kisses no longer may grow.
--(Detroit Free Press.)

NEIGHBORS.

"No, I haven't returned her call, and I don't intend to," declared Mrs. Jordan. "They are so common--they do all their own work--she and her daughter--don't even hire a wash-woman. And Mrs. Jones is one of those fat, dowdy, shabby old women, and makes soft soap in a big kettle in the back yard."
"Such people are not congenial to me, and I know I should not enjoy her acquaintance. Felix advises the daughter--a black-eyed slip of a thing--and wants me to call and be neighborly. But I never shall. We've lived next door to them six weeks now, but if we lived here six years, I'd never see the inside of her house."
"She walks past here every day with those three young ones of hers, and looks in very smilingly, but I always turn my head away if I happen to be at the window or on the front porch. If I should speak civilly to her, she'd be running in, no doubt, to have a chat; if you give such people an inch they will take an ell. So I always keep her at a distance."
"Because they buy calves, or butter and lard of Felix is no reason that I should have to be associates."
"The little cottage where Mrs. Jordan lived was a farmhouse of the cotton era where Mrs. Jones lived. In fact, there was a row of cottages, as much alike as a pair of peas--all with lattice-work porches opening on to neat little grass plots about six feet wide, and all with tall aliburn trees shading the sidewalks in front.
Most of the occupants of the cottages were of respectable, good-natured people, who ran in and out of each other's domestic, and chatted over dividing fences with little regard to economy.
But Mrs. Jordan was of a different stripe from the rest. She was a great stickler for economy, and would no sooner have called twice on a neighbor without a return call than she would have walked, open-eyed, into a lion's den.
Felix, Mrs. Jordan's tall son, kept the drive in the village. It was a "general" store; that is, the stock comprised all the household necessities--provisions, dry goods, crockery, glassware and other commodities--

As if to add the last drop to her already over-brimming cup, who should drop in for a morning call but Miss Esmeralda Greene!

Her high-heeled shoes, rustling silk flounces and high-pitched voice at once woke up the baby, who had just dropped into a doze.
And for thirty long minutes Mrs. Jordan was compelled to sit, metaphorically, on pins and needles, and listen to an ill-tempered tirade on the neighborhood in general and Clemmy Jones in particular.
"What anybody can see in her," declared Miss Esmeralda, with a toss of her head which threatened to dislodge the stuffed bird, "was a mystery. Why, she had no more figure than an apple-dumpling, and not half the style of a rolling-pin!"
And when the lawyer's daughter finally took her leave Mrs. Jordan felt, to use her own words, as if her head "would split in two."
"Oh, dear! oh, dear!" she moaned, sinking wearily into a chair, and trying vainly to soothe the fretful baby. "If it was only time for Felix to come to dinner!"
"Now just give me that child to hold, Miss Jordan, an' you go an' lay right down on the bed, an' try to get a nap!" said a motherly voice, as Mrs. Jones walked into the room and deliberately laid off her bonnet.
"You needn't be afeared to trust me, fur I'm a fast-rate nuss," continued the obnoxious neighbor. "An' I've brought along some bonnet to give the baby. He's in a high fever, pore dear! Let me take him. I've riz nine children of my own an' never lost one. Doctored 'em all myself, too, through the measles an' the croup an' scarlet-rash, an' mussy knows what all."
"Now you go an' lay down, an' I'll see to things. Clemmy was down to the store this morning, an' your son was a tellin' that he felt worried 'bout you an' the baby been sick an' your gal gone. So I thought I'd just run in an' tend to you."
And Mrs. Jordan, with her throbbing head and weary limbs, was only too glad to avail herself of the opportunity to seek some rest.
When she awoke, nearly three hours later, the room was carefully darkened, baby was sleeping quietly in his crib beside the bed, the dishes were washed, floors swept, and Mrs. Jones hastened to bring her a cup of hot tea and a plate of buttered toast.
"Now do take a sup an' a bite," she urged. "I'll do you good. I've sent the two little gals into our house. Clemmy will take good keer of 'em; an' I think your baby is over the worst of his sick spell. I've give him a little bonnet an' a good dose of rubberer. I've tried that on dozens of children, an' never knowed it to fail yet. An' I'll go an' dish up the dinner fur your son. I see he's a comin' down the road."
Tears of contrition filled Mrs. Jordan's eyes as she again laid her head on the pillow.
Fat, dowdyish Mrs. Jones had heaped coals of fire on her head, and taught her a lesson she would never forget.
And not a great many weeks thereafter, there was a quiet little wedding at Neighbor Jones', on which occasion Mrs. Jordan kissed the bride and called her "My dear daughter Clemmy."
And from thenceforth the frequent and unceremonious intercourse between the two cottages was beautiful to behold.
The Better Way.
When the three grown-up boys of George Zedlock, a New Jersey farmer of 65, protested against his taking a third wife he taxed to prove that he was a better man than at 45. It was an argument which silenced all opposition.

Richard L. Edwards, of Cincinnati, was drowned three weeks ago. When found his hair had turned white, it is supposed from fright while drowning.
Mrs. J. C. Ayer, widow of the noted patent medicine millionaire, is to erect a hospital in New York city for consumptive patients, at a cost, it is said, of $3,000,000.
A dispatch of Tuesday from Council Bluffs, Iowa, says: A brisk little town in the Missouri valley, has been destroyed by a waterspout. Several persons were drowned.
The prosecution of the striking carpenters of Chicago by their old bosses is being continued. The strikers' pickets are arrested as fast as one shows himself near a non-union job.
An Egyptian claims to have discovered the sarcophagus of Cleopatra, and has written to the directors of the World's Fair, at Chicago, offering to sell it, with the skeleton of the queen, for $50,000.
A Providence, R. I., dispatch of Monday, says: The first day of the enforcement of the Sunday law resulted in the closing of all the baker shops, groceries, meat markets, and news and cigar stands.
Henry Hoffman, a discharged employee of the La Cade flour mill, St. Louis, has been arrested, and has confessed that, out of revenge, he set fire to the mill, by which it was destroyed. The loss is about $75,000.
The Chicago bill appropriating $250,000, one-half of which is available during the present fiscal year, will be reported immediately by the senate committee on military affairs, and promises to become a law at an early day.
The cracker pool recently formed at Minneapolis, having proved unsatisfactory, a cracker trust, with a capital of $10,000,000, has been formed. It is to include and conduct the entire cracker business of the country.
Governor Fifer, of Illinois, has announced that he will call a special session of the legislature on the 17th of June, to act upon the suggestion of empowering the city of Chicago to issue $7,000,000 in bonds in aid of the world's fair.
Councilman Maloney, from the joint standing committee of ways and means of the Baltimore council, Wednesday night, reported an ordinance authorizing the city of the city's 22,500 shares of Baltimore and Ohio common stock.
A dispatch to the Baltimore Sun from Richmond, Va., states that at a meeting of the Lee Monument committee on Monday it was announced that $5,500 had been contributed by persons in New Jersey who do not give their names.
The London Times declares that the order to dispatch the American cruisers to Behring sea smacks too much of the methods of the first Napoleon in dealing with weak statesmen, and that if the order is executed British men of war must follow.
An explosion occurred Thursday afternoon on the German junk steamer, Hans, on the Delaware river. Thirteen men were caught in the flames, and several were badly burned; one has since died. The loss on vessel and oil is about $150,000.
After the game had gone to Havana to bring back young Robert Wallace, who robbed his uncle, the publisher of Wallace's Monthly, of $20,000. Lewis, the young man's accomplice, is also in Havana under arrest, and both will be brought back together.
The Home Market club, of Boston, Mass., had for its special guests Saturday evening, Secretary of War Proctor, Speaker Reed, Congressman Dingley and Greenhalgh, while among the 250 gentlemen present were many who were prominent in national and state affairs.
The big worsted mill of Acton, and of Camden, N. J., has been closed by the sheriff, under executions, liens and judgments amounting to $75,000 or $100,000, with assets estimated at $40,000. The closed mill is one of the largest worsted manufacturing in South Jersey.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

WORK OF THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE BRIEFLY--DELIBERATIONS OVER MATTERS OF MOMENTOUS INTEREST TO OUR COMMON COUNTRY.--NOTES.
On Tuesday the house proceeded to the consideration of the Alabama contested election case of McDuffie vs. Turpin. Mr. Comstock, of Minnesota, opened the discussion with an argument in favor of the claims of the contestant. Mr. Crisp, of Georgia, presented the claims of the contestant. Pending the discussion the house adjourned until 11 A. M. Friday.
Among the memorials and other papers presented and referred in the senate, on Tuesday, were resolutions from the Louisiana legislature extending thanks to Congress and the president for the relief afforded sufferers from the recent Mississippi floods. Mr. Davis, from the conference committee on the dependent pension bill, reported that the committee had been unable to agree. The senate bill for preventing the adulteration of food and drugs was reported and placed on the calendar. The silver bill was taken up, and Mr. Pugh addressed the senate. His speech was largely devoted to a criticism of the tariff bill. At the conclusion of Mr. Pugh's speech the silver bill was temporarily laid aside, and a number of senate bills were taken from the calendar and passed. The most important was one permitting bottling houses to be connected with breweries by piping, under regulations set forth in the bill. The regulations were taken up and Mr. Farwell addressed the senate. He declared himself in full accord with the purpose of the bill, but said he was in favor of going still further. He would use for money all the silver offered and not a stipulated sum as provided for in the bill; and he would coin it at its market value. At the close of Mr. Farwell's speech, the silver bill was again laid aside and the fortification bill taken up. An amendment to increase the appropriation for rifle and coast mortars from $250,000 to $400,000 gave rise to a discussion in which the condition of American sea ports was discussed by Messrs. Dawes and Hale, and their apprehensions were ridiculed by Mr. Cressler. The discussion was participated in by Messrs. McPherson, Gorman, Plumb, Dolph, Ragan and Platt. Finally a vote was taken and the amendment was agreed to--24 to 22.
In the house, on Wednesday, Mr. Osborne, of Pennsylvania, presented the conference report on the army appropriation bill. The report was agreed to. Mr. Morrill reported the disagreement of the conference committee on the senate dependent pension bill. The house insisted on its amendment, providing a service pension, and a further conference was ordered. The house then proceeded to the further consideration of the Alabama contested election case of McDuffie against Turpin. The first vote was taken on the minority resolution declaring Turpin elected, and it was reported--yeas 114, nays 118. The majority resolution naming McDuffie was agreed to--yeas 180, nays 118, and Mr. McDuffie appeared at the bar of the house and took the oath of office. Mr. McKinley presented a concurrent resolution directing the enrolling clerk to enroll in the customs administrative bill what is known as senate amendment 91, in regard to the abandonment of goods to underwriters and salvors. The resolution was agreed to--yeas 127, nays 8. The house then, at 4:03, adjourned.
The resolution for an inquiry into the management of the fish commissioner's office was taken up by the senate on Wednesday, and agreed to. The presiding officer, Ingalls, announced as select committee on the bill for the establishment of the university of the United States: Messrs. Edmunds, Sherman, Ingalls, Blair, Dolph, Harris, Butler, Gibson and Barbour. The fortification bill was taken up, the pending question being on striking out two items for the Watervliet, N. Y., arsenal $249,749, for the erection of a south wing, and $750,000 for machinery for twelve-inch guns, and inserting, in lieu of them, the following for boring and turning laths, rifling machine, and eighty-ton traveling crane fully equipped for the manufacture of twelve-inch guns, at Watervliet Arsenal, N. Y., $235,000. A long debate followed. Finally the amendment to strike out the two items described and insert the substitutes was agreed to--87 to 18. Amendments were adopted providing for the purchase and test of a new infantry gun and two new cannons. All other amendments were agreed to and all were passed. The senate then adjourned.
In the house, on Thursday, Mr. McKinley, from the committee on rules, reported a resolution providing that the house shall proceed immediately to the consideration of house bill 8,384 (the silver bill), and that consideration be continued until Saturday, at 8 p. m. Mr. McKinley said that the resolution was intended to give the house of representatives an opportunity to pass some silver legislation and give the country a silver bill, which would be in perfect response to the general sentiment of the country. It was to give the house an opportunity to pass the bill, which would take all the silver bullion of the United States and utilize it for monetary purposes. It was to give the people not $2,000,000 a month, but $4,000,000. The resolution making the silver bill a special order was adopted--yeas 120, nays 117. Messrs. Williams, of Illinois, and Lanham, of Texas, spoke in opposition to the bill, and Taylor, of Illinois, favored it. Pending debate, the house adjourned until 11 A. M. Friday.
Among the bills reported in the senate Thursday from the committee and placed on the calendar, was the house bill to establish a national military park at the battlefield of Chickasaw. The silver bill was taken up, and Mr. Hisecock addressed the senate in opposition to the free coinage of silver. After a long discussion by Messrs. Sherman, Teller, Stewart and Aldrich, the bill went over. Several private pension and bridge bills were taken from the calendar and passed. Mr. Blair introduced a bill to prohibit the exportation of alcoholic liquors to Africa and islands of the Pacific ocean. Referred. The senate adjourned.

THE FLEECY STAPLE.

REPORT OF THE NEW ORLEANS EXCHANGE REGARDING THE CROP.

The New Orleans cotton exchange issued a statement Tuesday, embracing thirty-nine weeks of the season, from September 1st to May 30th inclusive, this and last year, showing that 9,078,915 bales of 1890-1891 have come to light at the ports, overland points of crossing and leading southern interior centers, including the takings by southern mills. Up to this time last season the amount brought into sight was 8,803,113 bales, or 275,802 bales less than the entire crop. The statement shows there were brought into sight after May 30, last season 33,178 bales. It indicates that of the supply this season 2,117,586 bales have been taken by American and Canadian mills, including 220,887 bales exported to foreign ports. It also shows that northern mill takings and Canada overland is 82,960 bales ahead of the correct, and that excess in foreign export for season is 230,887. Between the 1st and 18th of May, inclusive, this season's stocks at American ports and twenty-nine leading southern interior markets have decreased 17,910 bales, against a decrease during the same period last year of 123,884, and are now 141,273 bales less than they were at this time last year.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

A BOLT STRIKES FOUR MEN, KILLING TWO OF THEM.

A Detroit Free Press special from Cairo, Mich., says: At 9 o'clock Wednesday evening four farmers were working by lightning, four miles west of here--T. N. Taggart, Edward Goodchild, William Holmes and Matt Ringle. They were engaged in performing an operation on a young horse. A thunder storm came up suddenly and a bolt of lightning struck the middle of the men. Goodchild and Holmes were dead when assistance arrived, although no marks or traces of the current could be found upon their persons. Ringle and Taggart are recovering.

A PHOSPHATE SYNDICATE.

ORGANIZED IN BARTOW, FLORIDA, WITH OVER A MILLION CAPITAL.

A dispatch of Monday from Bartow, Fla., reports: One of the largest phosphate syndicates in Florida was formed very quietly in Bartow. It is called the American Mining and Improvement Company with a capital stock of $1,250,000. They own 4,930 acres of the noted phosphate bed on the Alafia river. This company is now preparing to mine and have a contract to deliver 10,000 tons of phosphate in a certain length of time, beginning July 1st.

A CYCLONE'S WORK.

TWO INDIAN TOWNS REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN SWEEP AWAY.

Information was received at Jeffersonville Ind., stating that Huntington and Jasper were almost swept away Monday night by a cyclone and that many persons were killed and injured. Huntington is seventy-five miles distant from Jeffersonville, and Jasper eighty-two miles. No particulars were given, as telegraph and telephone wires were down.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Stanton Notes.

Chas. Freeman a negro was killed at Otey's R. R. camp yesterday by another negro named Wash McMillian. Wash succeeded in making his escape.

We are glad to state that Mr. Ogletree's little daughter is recovering from pneumonia.

Rev. Mr. Suedecor preached morning and evening in the Presbyterian church here yesterday.

Capt. Daniel Partridge and Mr. Jos. Pollock, of Selma, spent Saturday last in our town.

Maplesville Dots.

Our R. R. the all absorbing topic, is getting under full headway again.

Mr. Henry Bearden has a very young lady visitor who will remain a long time.

Mrs. Mary DuBose has returned from a protracted visit to friends in much improved health.

Mrs. N. Goodwin has returned from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. DuBose.

Miss M. R. Glover has returned from a most pleasant visit to Randolph.

Miss Lula Gullahorn has been visiting relatives at this place.

Miss Mims, of Mississippi is visiting her brother here.

Master Calhoun Foshee though in delicate health is improving. His brother Wheeler is so fleshy that no ready made pants can be found to fit him, but the bottom must be cut off to splice the waist.

We were treated to a most excellent sermon from Rev. W. A. Montgomery, of Randolph, last Sunday.

Jemison Locals.

The many friends of Miss Kate Sherill, will be pained to learn of her death which occurred at Vine Hill, Autauga county, on the night of June 4th. Miss Kate has taught at Jemison for three years past, and by her gentle, winning disposition, endeared herself to every one in the community. We mourn her untimely death, but not as those who have no hope; for her fair young life was crowned with the peerless virtues of a Christian woman, and she has fallen asleep only to awake amidst the splendors of Eternal Day.

Mr. Oliver Latham has moved his family from Talladega to Jemison, and we are glad to welcome them as citizens.

Mr. R. W. Silsbee has gone to Maine, where his father died recently. He will be absent several weeks.

Mr. I. N. Langston has been confined to his bed with fever for a week past, but we hope he will soon be convalescent.

Mr. D. M. Hand and wife are visiting relatives in town.

The following officers were elected by Jemison Lodge No. 411, A. F. and A. M., for the ensuing Masonic year: L. J. Hand, W. M.; J. R. Hill, S. W.; W. R. Dawson, J. W.; I. N. Langston, Treas'r; H. T. Caffey, Sec'y; G. L. McCrary, S. D.; Jere Gibson, J. D.; S. G. Whitley, Tiler.

The Masons will have a public dinner at Jemison on the 24th inst. Everybody is invited to be present and bring their friends, relatives and a well filled basket.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hill have returned from a visit to relatives in Columbiana. We had a regular "trash move" in the way of a shower on Friday evening last and our farmers are looking happy again.

The Alabama, Georgia and Florida Railroad.

Our exchanges both in Georgia and Alabama have had frequent notice during the past week of the Alabama, Georgia and Florida Railroad. This is one of the most important lines of railroad that has been recently projected and the projects evidently mean business. The Ledger has it from good authority that active measures are now being taken to push the road through. The first necessary legal step, the issuing of a commission to take stock, was last week accomplished at Montgomery.

The commissioners H. R. Goetchius, T. J. Chappell and W. F. Foster will give notice in the Alabama papers this week of time and place of opening the subscription books, as provided by law, for the Alabama, Georgia and Florida Railroad Co. This is the railroad which is already chartered in Florida and Georgia, and surveys for same have been made from a point near Quincy, Florida to a point on the Chattahoochee river near Jernigan, Ala. The surveying corps is now in the field going on to Birmingham. The commission has been issued by the Secretary of State in Alabama, and as soon as the legal formalities are complied with, the charter in Alabama will be complete. The said points named in the charter are Birmingham, Bessemer, Columbiana, Shelby, Rockford, Talladega, Tuskegee, Hatchecubbee and thence to Jernigan, Ala., on the Chattahoochee river. There will also be a terminus in Columbus, Ga., the line diverging at or near Society Hill, Macon county, Ala. The capital named is three millions of dollars and the parties named in the declaration of incorporation are: G. Gunby Jordan, Oscar S. Jordan, Seth N. Jordan, W. S. Greene, M. E. Gray, Clifton Jones, T. C. S. Howard, T. J. Chappell, Henry R. Goetchius, all of Columbus Ga., and W. F. Foster, of Tuskegee, Ala. Such a railroad, connecting, as it probably will with the Florida Central and Peninsula system, six hundred miles of already constructed road, and the Georgia Midland and Gulf and Columbus Southern's additional two hundred miles must make a line of importance. The Alabama, Georgia and Florida will be about (275) two hundred and seventy-five miles long in a direct line from Birmingham to Quincy, Fla., and with about seventy miles of branches, as now contemplated by its charter.—Columbus Ledger.

Sherman and Wheeler.

A Washington correspondent tells the following about "Little Joe":

General Sherman was a visitor on the floor of the house today and met with a hearty reception on both sides of the chamber.

Among those who shook his hand cordially was General Joe Wheeler, of Alabama, who commanded the Confederate cavalry in front of Sherman's army during the march to the sea. It was about General Wheeler that General Sherman on that march put one day a question to an old drake who had strayed into camp.

"Tell me, uncle," said the general, "what sort of a man is this General Wheeler?" "Well, master, he ain't a very big man, but for gittin' around suddin' like and fightin' all de time, he's powerful."

General Sherman, as he now laughingly admits, had already come to that conclusion about his active enemy.

The Republicans.

The Republican convention in session in Montgomery on Wednesday, put the following state ticket in the field:

Noble Smithson, of Birmingham, for Governor.

James M. Vernon, of DeKalb, for Secretary of State.

John T. Ezell, of Lawrence, for Attorney-General.

D. B. Booth, of Autauga, for State Treasurer.

E. F. Jennings, of Lawrence, for Auditor.

Amos Tools, of Mobile, for Superintendent of Education.

Smithson and Vernon the two first named have not lived in the state long enough to be eligible to the offices for which they have been nominated. It makes little difference, however, whether any of them are eligible, as the entire gang is bound on a rapid journey up salt river.

The Country Editor.

He riseth in the morning and knoweth not what the day may bring forth.

If he telleth all the news he runneth risk of having a tin ear put on him, and if he telleth not the news the people say he is n. g., and there is no joy in it. The crafty man cajoleth him into giving him a 20 cent puff for a five cent cigar, and find mothers frown on him if he fails to flatter their freckle face broods. And all his ways are ways of woe and his days are full of sorrow. The life insurance men setteth snares for him and on the whole he hath a duce of time.—Germantown Republican.

Mr. A. A. Barnes, formerly of Clanton, is now connected in Birmingham with the house of Montague & Co., dealers in sash, doors, blinds, hardware and builders material. Albert is a hard working and deserving young man and asks the patronage of his friends in this section, which we hope he will secure liberally.

The Age-Herald spells it "Jean Valjean" and in an editorial refers to a contemporary as the "guerrilla old granny." The darling crowd-eater needs a spelling book.

From an item in this paper the State press have been publishing that only two Knights of Labor attended the recent convention at this place recently. We learn that this is an error, and that a third member arrived on a later train. Of course the local Chilton Assembly was represented at the meeting largely.

Hon. Solomon Palmer is being trotted out as a fit man for president of the State University. Here is an effort to put a broken-down politician into a most important position, simply because after the August election he will be out of a job. The University has been materially injured in the past by such treatment.

The West Alabama Breeze says: "These candidates who consented to have their strength concentrated on Col. Jones, have shown a patriotism and love for the welfare of their state, which has won for them a place in the affections of the people that will be lasting." They certainly have, and especial gratitude is due Captain Johnston, whose following was the largest of the anti-Kolb candidates.—Mobile Register.

We congratulate Editor Williams of the Talladega Mountain Home on being elected President of the Alabama Press Association. He will honor the position. The other officers are: L. H. Grubbs, First Vice-President; H. M. Wilson, Second Vice-President; Miss Virginia C. Clay, Secretary; W. J. Blum, Treasurer; W. M. Meeks, E. S. Cornish, J. E. Graves and W. H. Lawrence, Executive Committee. The View was not represented at the recent meeting.

The Pictou, N. S. News, published away up in Pictou, Nova Scotia, has hunted us out and asked for an exchange. It appears from the following paragraph taken from the News that the same old complaint of the farmers extends all the way from Texas to Nova Scotia. The paragraph is a morsel of good business sense. Here it is:

If a farmer would make money out of his business, he must produce enough to amount to something. It is in this larger production where the profit is realized.

Speaking of an address delivered by one of the seniors at Howard College commencement, the Age-Herald says:

The services were opened with prayer, after which Mr. S. J. Strook, of Chilton county delivered the salutatory. He took for his subject the "Market Value of Character," and the way in which he handled it showed that he was thoroughly conversant with the matter in hand. He spoke at some length on the character of man, and concluded with some very solid advice to his fellow-students.

Hon. C. C. Shorter, of Eufaula, died Monday last. He had attained a prominent position in the affairs of State having been elected four times to the Legislature from Barbour county and having filled the position of Speaker of the last House of Representatives with ability and satisfaction. He was but 34 years of age, but since his youth when he was at college he was remarkable for maturity of mind and force of character. A cultivated ancestry handed down to him their noblest qualities. Peace to his dust.

Last week published the report that Commissioner Kolb would be a candidate for the U. S. Senate according to reports in some of our exchanges. A telegram sent out from Birmingham to a Washington paper, and which we republish elsewhere, tends to confirm these reports. The position of Senator has a salary of $7,500 attached and the term of office is for six years. Mr. Kolb and his friends of course realize that such a place beats the Governor's office "all hollow" and will no doubt go to win. As the Legislature will be constituted largely of farmers, it is thought that Kolb's chances will be very good.

Beer and Blood.

"Bullets and Blood at Brookside" is the sensational and alliterative heading that has lately been used in advertising a station on the Georgia Pacific railroad in Jefferson county.

As the warm season advances the importation of ice cold Montgomery beer will have its usual effect upon the temperance of the denizens of the rural burg.

In the particular case at Brookside a negro has been killed and the community terrorized for some days with men sleeping upon their guns; and the presence of the Sheriff and a strong posse was necessary for the preservation of the peace. The trouble is fully explained in the following few words taken from the press dispatches:

Brookside, June 16.—Considerable beer was shipped here Saturday night. Yesterday afternoon a party of white men were upon the hill drinking beer. They threw an empty keg down the hill, and were throwing rocks at it. One rock struck a party of negroes at the foot of the hill and a dispute arose between the whites and the blacks.

The result is given.

The Federal Election Law.

The New York Herald of recent date, prints a strong editorial opposing the enactment of the proposed federal election law.

The following extract from the Herald will show the tenor of the article:

It is extremely inexpedient for the Republicans to pass a federal election law for several reasons: 1. Such a law would certainly require federal troops to enforce it, and this would be undoubtedly very unpopular in the North. Nobody wants to return to the old reconstruction days of evils.

2. It would bring the whole south into turmoil and derange and prostrate industry in that part of the Union. That would inflict great and ruinous losses upon northern capital invested in southern industries, mines and manufactures, and thousands of northern men now employed in the South and doing well. Such losses would not be patiently borne in the north, but would undoubtedly create a strong revulsion against the party.

3. This country likes peace. The American people don't want to have their business disturbed by needless revolutionary politics. They resent disorder. Under Arthur and Cleveland all went well and peaceably; an era of good feeling between the sections continued for eight years, and in that time came the development of the South which has so profitably engaged northern capital and enterprise.

It is not expedient for the Republicans to disturb and destroy all this. They may clamor about the negro, but the plain truth is the North has got tired of the negro. It has abundant evidence that he is well employed, well treated, is getting educated and acquiring property all over the south, and we are beginning to understand up here that he clamors only because he don't get offices, and his republican friends who clamor for him do not give him office when they have the power. It is not expedient for the party to derange all of the material growth of the south with a federal election law on that basis.

KOLB MAY BE SENATOR.

Alabama Farmers Mean to Elect Him Successor to Mr. Pugh.

BIRMINGHAM, June 11.—"Defeated but not discouraged" is the battle cry of the Farmer's Alliance in Alabama now, and the organization is in politics to win or die trying.

The defeat of R. F. Kolb, the Alliance candidate for Governor in the Democratic State convention was a severe blow to the hopes and ambitions of the order, but it has made them more determined than ever to control the politics of the State. The Alliance has now turned its attention to the next Legislature which will elect a successor to United States Senator James L. Pugh. Alliance candidates for the lower house of the Legislature will be nominated in every county where the order has a good foothold, and no efforts will be spared to insure their election. They cannot possibly control the Senate, as one-half of the Senators hold over from last term, but they are going to make a fight for enough members of the House to give them a working majority on joint ballot. If they succeed, Alabama will be given some legislation that will astonish the natives.

The first important object of the Alliance, however, if they can control the legislature, will be the election of Senator Pugh's successor. The Senator will be a candidate for re-election, but his defeat is regarded as a certainty no matter what faction controls the legislature.

Gov. Thomas Seay is a candidate for Senator Pugh's seat, and is going to be a hard man to beat. Seay is a farmer, was a private soldier in the Confederate army, and is very popular with the farmers and the masses of the people.

The friends of Congressman Oates are trying to induce him to enter the race, but it is said he prefers to remain in the lower house.

"Kolb is the man if he wants it," is the cry of the Alliance, and if they obtain a majority on joint ballot their defeated leader and idol will succeed Senator Pugh. When Kolb was defeated for the nomination for Governor he made a speech urging harmony in the party, and declaring his readiness to stump the State for the successful man. He may or may not have been sincere, but he displayed good political sagacity. His speech caught the convention, made friends of his late enemies, and the Alliance delegates declared him a greater man in defeat than he had been on the eve of what seemed certain victory.

The Alliance delegates were ready to promise him anything he wanted in the future, and those who had brought about his defeat were disposed to concur in the promise. If Kolb is willing to wait two years he can be Governor, but if he wants to go to the United States Senate, the Alliance will send him there if such a thing is possible.

Senator Pugh's popularity seems to have suddenly waned as new stars appeared in the political firmament. There are no complaints against him; it seems to be simply a case of loving Pugh none the less, but Kolb and Seay more. If the Alliance fails to obtain control of the Legislature, Gov. Seay will be elected Senator. He will be the second choice of the Alliance members, and will be elected on the first ballot if Kolb is not available.

PRESIDENT HARRISON

Astonishes the G. O. P. by Favoring Mild Measures.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The President, it is said, is opposed to both the Lodge election law and the Rowell election bill, and that he has announced his opinion to no less a personage than Senator Quay. He realizes that the adoption of such radical measures would lead to a condition of affairs in the South that would make his administration exceedingly unpleasant to say the least, and he is for milder measures.

The Reed program of force has been distasteful to him from the start, and the more it has developed the more have widened the political relations between the President and the Speaker.

In these views Mr. Harrison is warmly seconded by Secretary Blaine. In fact, it is said that the premier is adverse to any change in the election laws, while the President thinks they should be altered and extended to country as well as city districts.

State Executive Committee.

The following is the Democratic Executive Committee of Alabama selected at the State Convention. State at Large—Gaylord B. Clark, of Mobile; H. C. Tompkins, of Montgomery; E. T. Taliaferro, of Jefferson; and John D. Boye-more, of Barbour.

First District—D. R. Burgess, of Mobile; John H. Minge, of Marengo; Isaac Grant, of Clarke. Second District—J. N. Arrington, of Montgomery; D. D. Hall, of Baldwin; R. E. Steiner, of Butler.

Third District—T. L. Frazer, of Lee; H. D. Clayton, of Barbour; B. M. Stevens, of Coffee.

Fourth District—A. M. Tunstall, of Hale; L. E. Dawson, of Wilcox; Shirley Bragg, of Lowndes.

Fifth District—H. M. Wilson, of Tallapoosa; W. M. Lackey, of Clay; John A. Holmes, of Elmore.

Sixth District—J. J. Altman, of Jefferson; W. D. Windom, of Pickens; J. P. McQueen, of Greene.

Seventh District—John B. Knox, of Calhoun; C. C. Whitson, of Talladega; J. H. Disque, of Etowah.

Eighth District—R. A. McClellan, of Limestone; H. A. Skaggs, of Morgan; Wm. J. Bullock, of Franklin.

Hon. H. C. Tompkins, Chairman of the Committee, and R. C. Shorter, Esq., Secretary, who have filled their respective positions acceptably to the people for several years were both re-elected.

An Editor's Faith.

The editor of the Advocate, published at Greenville, Ala., expresses his faith in S. S. S.: "The good this preparation has accomplished is incalculable, and thousands of men and women that it has saved from an early grave to-day rise up and bless the originator, and those who placed it in their power to procure it. A number of our acquaintances have used this wonderful medicine to their great benefit, most of them to their perfect healing, and their testimony has been given to the public that others like them may take the healing balm. We know that Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) is no humbug, and can recommend it, and we do most heartily. The proprietors are genial, liberal and charitable, and have done probably as much or more good, than any other firm in the South. Read reflect and be relieved."—Greenville (Ala.) ## FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THIS GREAT ORGANIZATION.—LEGISLATION, NOTES, ETC.

There is talk of erecting an Alliance fertilizer factory at Hanover, Va.

The Alliance in Missouri has sixty-five county organizations, and 2,000 Sub-Alliances.

The Indiana State Alliance was organized at Indianapolis last week. Several hundred delegates were present. Illinois organized a few weeks since. One by one they fall into line.—Weekly Teller.

Nearly 600 farmers in the right counties contiguous to Griffin, Ga., have organized the Farmer's Banking Company. These farmers are the most substantial men in that section and will constitute a very strong institution.

The Farmers' Alliance of Lincoln county, South Dakota, raised $10,000 to start an Alliance newspaper with. They see the importance of supplying the news of the Alliance to their members.

The Alliance will do you good; it will do your children and your country good. How can you afford to let others do it for you without even your presence there to cheer and encourage the workers?—Albany (Pa.) Farmer.

The Alliance is still thriving in Texas; 1,500 sub-alliances reported to the State secretary in the month of January. Dornier Alliance reviewing in many places, and many new enterprises being started in different sections.—Stephenville (Tex.) Herald.

The National Alliance, published at Toronto, Tex., is the organ of the colored Alliance. It makes glowing reports of the beneficial influence of the order among the Afro-Americans of the South. In the State of South Carolina alone there are 1,000 colored Alliance.—Raleigh, N. C. Progress.

The Weekly Teller (Nashville, Tenn.) says: "In answer to many inquiries, we say the constitution, by oversight of the State Union, does not say when officers of county or subordinate unions may elect their officers, but according to precedent they should be elected in June July to serve one year."

The Alliance of Kansas numbers 100,000 members. Nearly all the farmers in it, and they declare their intention to take politics into their own hands. They propose to elect a governor favoring their views and are pressing their demands upon the congressional delegates from that state.—Free Press.

By a unanimous vote of the executive committee of the Minnesota Farmers' Alliance it was decided to hold a state election for the nomination of a state ticket in St. Paul, July 19th. The Alliance is strong in the state, and this makes the result of the coming election a decided certainty. The Alliance will also be in the congressional field.

Word comes from Evansville that the farmer and labor organizations in that portion of Indiana are connected for the legislature and congress, in order to influence legislation in their interest. There is considerable uneasiness among the leaders of parties. It is said that there will be a great political sensation when nominations are made.

The Alma (Kan.) News says: "The professional politicians would give a good deal of thought to know just how long the Farmers' Alliance movement is going to last, and just to what extent its members will hold together in the elections this fall. They would better take up some other business for a few years while watching the progress of affairs."

The Southern Alliance-Farmer says: "The effort, which, by some, is made to put the Alliance out of the Democratic party, was a work. There is no truer, nobler, stancher Democratic in Georgia than Col. L. F. Livingston and Hon. W. J. North. One of them will be the next Congressman from the Fifth District, and the other will be Georgia's next Governor."

The Industrial Union (Quicksburg, Va.) says: "The grand army of Alliance is moving its forces steadily on victory. The forces of this powerful organization of the toiling masses is being felt all over the country, and it will be but a few years until they will have redeemed our country from the tyrannical power of money sharks and thieves who have run."

ing the government, and robbing the agricultural interest of its just profit.

The National Economist (Washington) says: "It would have been far better had Mr. Carlisle read the sub-treasury plan, writing that letter. It would have shown something about the proposed system, and could have won a better more worthy man and the position he occupies. As it is, his comments are the weakest and most puerile of them all, and that is, perhaps, putting it rather strong. Great men in some things divide down quite small in others."

Senator Carlisle makes this point against the sub-treasury bill: "That the sub-treasury will be a matter of federal patronage, as all the officers and managers will be appointed by the Government. It is strange that a man who holds so high and honored position as Senator Carlisle should oppose a bill which he evidently has not read. The bill plainly provides that the farmers shall elect the managers for the sub-treasury warehouses, and then petition for their establishment. This is like all the other opposition.—Southern Alliance Farmer.

The Kansas Commercial says: "There is no great danger impending the Farmers' Alliance just now. If it escapes that it is good for years of usefulness. Otherwise its time is short and its laborers are vain. The danger is disruption—division—lack of unity in purpose and action. The efforts of the politicians who are menaced by it will be directed to creating discord in the ranks. If they can divide it they can defeat it; if it remains united and sticks resolutely to its principles, all their attempts will fail miserably. Perfect harmony in an organization so large and so wide-spread may be difficult but it is essential. A chain is only as strong as its weakest link, and the Alliance is weak in proportion as there is contention or insubordination in its membership."

Answering some objections to the sub-treasury bill, the Advocate (Topeka, Kansas) among other things says: "The sub-treasury bill has received such well-justified approval from the farmers and laborers over the country that it simply serves to break the monopoly of the record when now and then a stray, solitary Alliance dissent is heard. Now that the warehouse plan is fairly before the country, an impending legislative measure, it is receiving that hostile criticism which its founders well knew it would receive from the banking interest, from the loan and trust interest, the grain growers, and from all the politicians in Congress and out, who are in the service of the money power. It does not take long for an Alliance man to learn that any attitude toward this or any other measure which causes him to part company with his own people and places him before the eyes of the masses, who have become wealthy and powerful at the expense of the prosperity of the masses, needs that careful study which will, without doubt, lead to a reversal of opinion."

IMPORTANT DECISIONS. The following decisions by the judicial committee of the Georgia State Farmers' Alliance are published for the information and guidance of the order: 1. The constitution is explicit as to the term of office of president of the national and the state organization, restricting eligibility in each case to one term in succession, that is, two consecutive years—the elections being annual. The constitution is silent on the question as to the president of a county or a sub-alliance. Evidently the policy of the order is against a greater number of successive terms than two in the office of president. The rule, which governs as to national and state president, applies with equal force to the presidency of county and sub-alliances.

2. Alliances may be organized in cities for the benefit of mechanics. The fact that a mechanic is in the employ of a railroad or other corporation will not deprive him of admission into the order. "Mechanics laborers," i. e. persons at work in machine and carpenter shops, and equip themselves for service in either of said departments, are eligible. Railroad or locomotive engineers and firemen are mechanics, and therefore eligible. Respectfully submitted, MARTIN V. CALVIN, Chm'n A. J. C.

House bill No. 10553, introduced by Major McClammy, provides for the issue of the several states $300 per capita. The fund so issued to the states is to be divided pro rata between the various townships in the different counties in the state. The money so issued to be loaned by the states to the people at 1 per cent per annum, the interest to be applied to the school fund. This would give North Carolina $28,000,000 to be loaned on the real property of the state and give the state an annual revenue of $500,000. No person is to be allowed the loan of this fund over $50,000. Preference to be given to those at ready mortgaged. This amount that would be due to any county, township, city, town or school district can be easily ascertained by taking the total number of inhabitants and multiplying it by 30. It is believed that the $300-Treasury would give all the relief that this bill would, but if they fail to report favorably on it will be to the politicians. We offered you our land, our produce, this was all we had to offer, and you failed to give us relief. If your candidates will not pledge themselves to the support of the Sub-Treasury or any other form of relief, we will be forced to ask for candidates that will.—Progressive Farmer.

A FEARFUL CLOUDBURST.

HOURS' RAIN AWAY—A TRAIN WRECKED—SEVERAL LIVES LOST.

A dispatch from Louisville, Ky., says: At Bull Rock, six miles above Nashville, Thursday night, two dark clouds met and burst. The creek jumped over its banks and swept like fire several dwelling houses and their frightened occupants. A stone culvert on upper Bull creek, about Ohio railroad over the river and about 12 o'clock at night, when the storm was at its height, a westbound freight train ran into the washout, causing a fearful wreck. The engine and nine cars were piled one upon top of another, almost out of sight in the creek bottom. Engineer C. C. Roadcap, of Greencup county, Fireman Brakman Foraker, of Lewis county, and Brakman Gaston, are buried beneath the wreck. The train was made up of thirty-two cars. Nine car loads of shoes and boots for Louisville went down in the wreck. A wrecking train on its way to the scene Friday morning found Frank Scott, a colored employe, and killed him. About seven persons living on the banks of Bull creek are reported drowned. The following bodies have been found: John Ruggles, a well-known farmer; Lucy P. Estler, a widow, and her two daughters, Bettie and John, and her two sons.

A STORM IN OHIO. A Cincinnati dispatch says: At mid night, west of here, a furious lightning storm is in full play. A Commercial Gazette special reports that the barn of Wm. Turner, at Pleasant Ridge, near Madison, was burned by lightning, consuming Turner's house and cattle. A New Albany, Indiana, special says: Commercial Gazette reports that more than twenty people were prostrated by lightning there.

A MINE HORROR.

FIFTY MEN PERISH BY THE EXPLOSION OF FIRE DAMP.

A dispatch from Dunbar, Pa., says: Monday morning at 12 o'clock an explosion shook the miners' dwellings on Hill Farm, in Fayette county, near this place. In a moment fearful news had spread that Hill Farm mines, owned by Philadelphia parties, had exploded. Fifty-two miners had gone to work in the morning, and were in the mine when the explosion occurred. Of these fifty-two, eighteen were in the left heading, and thirty-four in the right heading. Those in the left heading got out all right, the others were cut off, and not one escaped. Fire damp, which was exploded by an accidental spark from a miner's lamp was the cause of the disaster. Miners from the left drift, escaped blackened and bruised, but safe, and they told a fearful story of the scene; just before the blasting coal on the right could be seen a score of terrible faces were in flame. No man could pass and live. Wailing hands and hearts were not wanting on the outside, and a corps of one hundred strong men began the work of rescue. The universal and unwilling recited from old miners' tales about the fate of the entrapped men have either been killed outright by the explosion or later by suffocation. The latter seems to be more probable, at least in part, as shown by the fact that the bodies were found as late as 1 o'clock in the afternoon. These grew weaker and weaker, however, and half an hour later even the most hopeful of the rescuers could hear nothing but his own heart-throbs. The disaster is the worst ever known in the Connelleville region, the nearest approach being the Leisner mine explosion seven years ago, when twenty-three were killed.

THE FIRST KICK.

CHICAGO COMPLAINS THAT HER CENSUS ENUMERATION IS FAULTY.

The Chicago Daily News of Monday prints a number of complaints indicating that the federal census is decidedly faulty so far as Chicago is concerned. The gist of statements given is that, whether from lack of time, incompetence or negligence, a great number of families have been left unvisited, and that the omission appears to be in such a wholesale character as to make the enumeration a little better than a farce.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

WORK OF THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE DURING DELIBERATIONS OF THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.—NOTES.

In the house, on Monday, Mr. Williams of Ohio, presented a petition of ex-soldiers of Dayton, Ohio, for the enactment of a law prohibiting the sale, use, manufacture, or importation of banners or flags, representing confederate flags or the red flag of anarchists. Referred.

The house then went into committee of the whole, Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, in the chair, on the sundry civil appropriation bill. In the course of an extended political debate, Mr. McCormack, of Maryland, predicted the passage of a law which would issue a free ballot and an unfettered people in the southern states. Mr. Bynum, of Indiana, offered and amendment to enforce the eight-hour law in the government printing office. Ruled out on point of order. Pending action on the bill, the committee rose and the house, at 5:20, adjourned.

In the senate, on Monday, a message from the house asking a further conference on the anti-trust bill was presented and the request assented to after remarks by Mr. Tamm, of New York. The deficiency appropriation bill for pending the census was reported and passed. Mr. Blair introduced a joint resolution requesting the president of the United States to institute an international conference, to meet in Washington, in February, 1891, with a view to the formation of an international alliance for the suppression of slavery and the slave trade, and of traffic in intoxicating liquors, firearms and destructive substances with unauthorized people, and to provide for the establishment of schools of common knowledge, art and industry. Also to secure the disarmament of nations and the establishment of international courts, and appropriating $100,000 for the expenses of the conference. Laid on the table.

The house silver bill was taken up, and Mr. Daniel resumed his speech begun by him Friday. Mr. Allison next addressed the senate in a lengthy argument against the bill.

The house, on Tuesday, went into committee of the whole on the sundry civil appropriation bill. After adopting one amendment adding $40,000 to the bill, the committee rose and reported the bill to the house, which was passed. The bill then went into conference with the whole on the Indian appropriation bill. The bill appropriates $6,000,000. Without completing the bill, the committee rose and the house adjourned.

When the house silver bill was taken up Tuesday Mr. Wolcott, of Colorado, addressed the senate, in favor of free coinage and against all restrictive features of the bill. He criticized the administration for its attitude upon the silver question, and asserted that if the silver proposition could have been foreseen that that attitude would not be in existence. In conclusion, Mr. Wolcott said that the silver bill was of greater importance than the election bill, and that the silver proposition would be a permanent benefit to the nation.

Among the amendments agreed to was the following offered by Mr. Plummer in lieu of the first section of the house bill. That from and after the date of the passage of this act the unit of value in the United States shall be a dollar, and the same may be coined of four hundred and twelve and one-half grains of standard silver; or of twenty-five and eight-tenths grains of standard gold; and said coins shall be legal tender for all debts public or private; that thereafter any owner of silver or gold bullion may deposit the same at any mint of the United States to be formed into standard dollars or bars for his benefit, and without charge; but it shall be lawful to refuse any deposit of less value than $100, or any bullion so used as to be unsuitable for the operations of the mint. The title of the bill was amended, so as to read: "An act to provide for the free coinage of gold and silver bullion, and for other purposes." The bill, as amended, was then passed—yeas 48, nays 25. The bill for the admission of Wyoming as a state was then taken up, so as to make it "unfettered business," and the senate, at 5:30, adjourned.

In the house, on Wednesday morning, on motion of Mr. Forney, of Alabama, a bill was passed authorizing the construction of a bridge over the Tennessee river at Guntersville, Ala. The bill went into committee of the whole (Mr. Allen, of Michigan, in the chair) on the Indian appropriation bill. The committee was in session but a few moments when it was adjourned to allow the house to receive a message from the senate. As Secretary McCook announced the passage of the silver bill with certain amendments, the democratic side of the house broke out in loud applause. Mr. Blair, of Missouri, immediately moved that the committee of the whole rise in order that the house might at once proceed to the consideration of the bill. Blair's motion was put and was defeated on a standing vote by 79 to 57. Consideration of the Indian appropriation bill was then continued. On points of order raised by Mr. Cannon, despite the strenuous protests of Mr. Perkins, of Kansas, and Mr. Peel, of Arkansas, the appropriations of $12,800 for the Creek Indians, $48,800 for the Potawatomi Indians and $27,000 for the Mexican Potawatomi Indians were stricken from the bill. The committee then rose, the bill was passed, and the house, at 4:45, adjourned.

Among the petitions and memorials presented in the senate, on Wednesday, were several by Mr. Morrill against the increased duty on the plate, Mr. Morrill, from the finance committee, reported back the tariff bill and said it was not expected that it would be brought up for consideration earlier than a week from Monday next. The table required by Mr. Plumb's resolution would be ready, probably, within about four days. The bill was placed on the calendar. Mr. Evans gave notice that colonies of the late Representative Cox were postponed till Thursday of next week. The senate then proceeded to the consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. The senate disposed of seventy pages of the bill and adjourned.

TRADE REVIEW.

DUN & CO.'S REPORT FOR WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, JUNE 14.

S. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Speculation has been rather large in volume or enthusiastic in tone during the past week, but the legitimate business of the country continues unimpeded in volume for the season, and highly encouraging in prospects.

Crop prospects begin to rule all markets at this season, and these are distinctly improving. The government report was more favorable than was expected, and, in spite of the extravagantly low estimate of the condition of the crop, a reported increase of 8.7 per cent in acreage. The price has again declined an eighth for export. A better demand for refined sugar is alleged as reason for an advance of 1/8c in price, but other reports indicate that dealers are not buying freely at the high prices now asked. The demand for the various forms of manufactured iron and steel is still good, and prices steady and sales of 10,000 tons of rails are reported, with $31, quoted at eastern mills.

The railway war does not cease. On the contrary, more cutting of east-bound rates appears, and speculative managers are suspected of a willingness to see lower prices. The prices of stocks have been weaker, though sugar trust has been put up again with reports of large profits. The delay of the senate finance committee in acting upon sugar duties suggests some uncertainty, but in the main the house tariff bill has been accepted by the committee, and it is thought to be passed without great changes. The latest advice about silver legislation suggests a greater possibility that the two houses may disagree, the disposition toward free coinage being stronger in the senate. Business failures during last week numbered, for the United States, 195; Canada, 17. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 220 failures in the United States and 24 in Canada.

THE RECEIPTS OF COTTON AT WILMINGTON TO SATURDAY, THE 14TH, SHOW A FALLING OFF OF 9,000 BALES AS COMPARED WITH LAST YEAR. The joint legislative committee on railway taxation is called to meet at Raleigh this week. It will receive a proposition from the Wilmington and Weldon Railway company to pay taxes. Heretofore that company has paid none, insisting that the terms of its charter gave it immunity from taxation. The committee will also at this session investigate several other railways which are not paying taxes.

Another daily paper is soon to be established at Raleigh and will take an active part in democratic campaign work.

Professor Charles D. McVie on Monday accepted an invitation to deliver an address on female education before the State Press association which meets at Durham next month. The association formally decided to invite a number of leading editors from neighboring states to attend the convention.

The weather crop bulletin of the North Carolina experiment station and state weather service for the week ending Saturday night, says: The weather has generally been very favorable for growing crops, and for harvesting operations. The temperature was low for a few days, but slightly above the average during the latter part of the week. The harvesting of wheat and oats progressed rapidly during the past seven days, and is nearly completed. The yield of wheat seems even less than anticipated from the preceding reports, and is probably fully thirty per cent below the average, if not more. Other crops are growing rapidly, are clean and well worked. Special reports were received during the week in regard to the condition of the cotton and tobacco crops throughout the State. The cotton crop is everywhere reported to be in a remarkably fine condition, better than it has been at this season for many years past.

For the entire state the acreage planted is probably 107 per cent. The condition of tobacco is fair in some counties, as Lexington, Rockingham, Burry and Guilford, rather bad, while in others, as Granville, Stokes, Moore, McDowell, etc., it will yield a fair crop. A fair stand could only be obtained by repeated planting. The entire crop has not yet been planted, and it is difficult to estimate its general condition, which will undoubtedly improve with continued favorable weather.

THE REPUBLICAN CAUCUS MONDAY, considered the national election law. It is ready to be reported to the house. Having disposed of this subject, the caucus next turned its attention to McComa's anti-gerrymandering bill. This was discussed at some length. Before the vote was taken many members had left the hall, so that the result, which was the defeat of the bill by a vote of twenty-two to twenty-six, was unsatisfactory to its friends.

A full meeting of the senate finance committee was held Wednesday, at which Chairman Morrill was authorized by a strict party vote to report the tariff bill with amendments. A member of the committee says that with the exception of the wool and agricultural schedules, the bill is almost identical the same as the bill of the senate finance committee reported in 1888. No formal report accompanied the bill, nor is it certain that any will be prepared.

The senate spent an hour in executive session Wednesday afternoon, during which time two nominees of President Harrison, who were appointed more than a year ago, were rejected. They were John B. Evans, collector of internal revenue for the fifth district of North Carolina, and H. Harvey Schoch, postmaster at Selma Grove, Pa. A number of non-nominees were confirmed, among them W. L. Miller, mayor of customs, at New Orleans, and Abial Lathrop, United States attorney of South Carolina.

Since the announcement that the enumeration of Washington City had closed, a number of complaints have been made by those who insisted they have not been counted. Inquiries from a number of people by a Post reporter would seem to indicate that the census had not been accurately and completely taken. In the editorial and composing rooms of the paper there were a number of persons omitted by the enumerators. Numerous complaints have also been received by the local supervisor of census from persons who complain that the enumerators failed to get their names.

Senator Vance has written a reply to the letter of Superintendent Porter, asking for a full report of the census of the silver bill with certain amendments.

NORTH CAROLINA NOTES.

STATE WEATHER CROP REPORT—NEW ITEMS FROM RALEIGH.

A Raleigh dispatch of Saturday says: Earnest efforts are being made to induce Governor Fowle to commute the death sentence of Jordan Pritchett, convicted of murder at Oxford. The date set is the 27th instant. There are good grounds for belief that there will be a commutation.

The receipts of cotton at Wilmington to Saturday, the 14th, show a falling off of 9,000 bales as compared with last year. The joint legislative committee on railway taxation is called to meet at Raleigh this week. It will receive a proposition from the Wilmington and Weldon Railway company to pay taxes. Heretofore that company has paid none, insisting that the terms of its charter gave it immunity from taxation. ## MARY'S MARRIAGE.

THE WEDDING CEREMONY UNOSTENTATIOUS AND STRICTLY PRIVATE.

A London dispatch says: Miss Mary Anderson was married Tuesday morning to Antonio Navarro, in the Roman Catholic chapel of St. Mary's, in Hampstead. The wedding was strictly private. Miss Anderson was driven from the house of her stepfather, Dr. Griffin, to the church in a close carriage. The curtains were drawn so that no glimpse was caught of the bride till she left the carriage to enter the sanctuary. The marriage ceremony was performed in as quiet and simple a manner as possible. There was no choir, the only accompanying music being that of the organ. Only the immediate friends of the bride and groom were present.

A HUGE LOCKOUT.

TROUBLE BETWEEN NEW YORK CITY AND CLOAK MAKERS AND THEIR WORKMEN.

At noon Friday about 6,000 cutters and cloak and suit makers were locked out by the different cloak and suit firms throughout New York City. The greater portion locked out were union men, while several hundred are non-union men. The trouble arose over the refusal of union cutters to turn their work over to non-union workmen. The employers, to avoid greater trouble, decided to lock out every man who the matter is amicably settled. Fourteen firms are interested in the lock-out.

Gen. R. C. Jones, of Camden, has been elected President of the State University.

The Columbiana Chronicle is making some telling hits for the "regulars" of Shelby county.

The opening of the Ala. Midland Railroad was celebrated in Montgomery Wednesday night last with a grand banquet.

Bibb county will likely return Rev. S. M. Adams to the Legislature. But it will be a mighty hard race for Adams to make.

The Alabama State Farmer's Alliance will hold its next session in the city of Montgomery on the first Tuesday in August.

We hear the names of Messrs. P. C. Dennis, J. F. Mauld and D. J. Waterworth prominently mentioned for the legislature from Chilton. Will another convention be held?

Maj. T. D. Cory, of Autauga, one of the Trustees of the State University from this district, died at Tuscaloosa last week while in attendance upon the commencement exercises.

Governor Buckner is not going to let Kentucky suffer for a little thing like $30,000. Owing to heavy payments from the State treasury, the available funds were all absorbed and the Governor promptly gave his individual check for the amount needed.—Ex.

The State Executive Committee, in a meeting held during the meeting of the State Convention laid down some rules for the action of subsequent State conventions, also for the action of county conventions. In the future, no persons are to be allowed to vote in the primary meetings of the party, who did not act, in the previous election with the Democratic party. A sound and safe rule, on that point is this: Where any doubt arises as to whether an individual offering to vote, is entitled to do so, let these questions be propounded to him. Did you vote with the Democrats in the last election? Do you expect to vote the Democratic ticket in the approaching election?

Where both of these questions are answered in the affirmative, the party should be allowed to vote whether black or white.

An exchange says: "The State press generally commend the board of trustees of the State University for its selection of Gen. R. C. Jones as President of that institution of learning." This is from a daily paper and is what might be called a "little too previous," as the State press, with the exception of half a dozen dailies has not yet had time to generally express its opinion. Another venture that we make is that "the State press generally" knows very little about the new President, as he has never been particularly prominent in either political or educational circles, and therefore, "the State press generally" will not commend the selection of Gen. Jones. This fact, however, we hope, may not militate to the disadvantage of the institution, and we trust that the selection is a wise one. We know enough of Gen. Jones to feel sure that he will be an improvement upon some of his predecessors in the position.

The Sheriff's demand of the next Alabama general assembly some much needed legislation, and will doubtless get it; however, they ask too much when they want part of the organic law repealed relating to the sheriff being ineligible to office for more than one term at a time. This adequate check to the abuse of a high office is very essential, and the rule has been found equitable, wise, and just for ages. Take this section of the constitution out, although it is of but few words, it would take pages in the code devoted to the subject of the sheriff to lay down rules restraining the sheriff from abuse of power vested in him. As a matter of course we do not know that there is a sheriff in the state that would abuse power, but "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and again "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." The sheriff is a useful officer and the highest executive officer in the county. We do not think it wise to depart from the custom of the fathers and the law again.—Rutledge Ware.

Censorship of the Press.

The late President of the Alabama Press Association in his annual address in Troy recently, advocated a censorship of the press created by the legislature, composed of one journalist, one lawyer and one other. Any offensive article in any paper was to be submitted to the censors who would be empowered to stop further utterances of like character.

At the conclusion of the address a motion was made that the association had no sympathy with any such recommendation, which was carried with but two dissenting votes.

The idea of press censorship embodies the idea of throttling freedom of thought and speech. In a republic it would be worse than useless. The fundamental principles of our government grant to a newspaper the right to thunder and censure and libel to its destruction if it will, the federal and State constitutions both prohibiting any censorship or abridgment of such privilege. The fathers of our form of government foresaw that abridgment would be for the worse. An instance of the kind in this State that may be mentioned was Tom Ellis' Horset. A censorship in such a case would do only harm in preventing a bad paper from meeting with early destruction.

The press gets all the censorship and even denunciation from the general public that it needs. There is no other business enterprise that gets half so much, and a press will survive or perish upon that censorship.

The Gadsden Leader, of which Colonel Denson, chairman of the late Democratic State convention, is one of the leading spirits and editorial writers, pays Captain Kolb the following high tribute: Captain Kolb was a candidate for the nomination for governor before the recent state convention. His campaign was an anomaly in politics; the reasons that made it such are too well known and understood to require a statement of them here. That he had able lieutenants there can be no doubt, but as an organizer he is surely superior to any man that has appeared in Alabama politics in the last quarter of a century. The devotion of his followers to him, their concentrated action in his struggle show there is that about him that commands the admiration of men. Kolb was defeated and did not secure the nomination. It is to Kolb's credit and fame that he was defeated; because in his bearing and deportment amid the applause of the success of his opponent he showed himself the true hero, and is greater and more powerful under the sense of defeat than he possibly could have been under the enjoyment of victory. Unchanged and manly he walked upon the rostrum to deliver an oration at his own political funeral with that superb mien that could but challenge the admiration of every true man. His speech was full of fervid eloquence, pregnant with a most sublime patriotism and devotion to the Democratic party. Freed from all malice, and with a spirit and heart towering far above all littleness, with a soul inspired with charity, with a tongue expressive of that fidelity to the cause of democracy that exists in the heart of the true patriot, he encouraged his friends to stand by the democratic organization, contend for the maintenance and perpetuation of white supremacy, and relief from all oppressive burdens of bad government would surely come. He walked off the rostrum and went immediately to the delegation from his own county and counseled harmony and fidelity to the democratic party.

He participated with an honest and cheerful enthusiasm in the demonstration made in behalf of his successful opponent. His eloquent words on all occasions were rallying cries to the democracy. No other candidate before the convention did this. Kolb was greater in the loss of the nomination than he possibly could have been to gain it. Kolb remained on the battlefield looked after his friends, bound up all their wounds, and pleaded for the cause of the country and the democratic party. He was defeated alone for the nomination; as to the results of the struggle, he was transcendently triumphant. He is a conqueror in the comprehensive sense of the word. He is stronger to-day than he was before and during the convention. He is a gigantic power, a true democrat and faithful to his friends. He can look back upon the struggle with pride and truth.

THE EXPOSITION.

The Interest Widespread and the Outlook Flattering.

Evening Journal.]

The coming exposition in this city is attracting the earnest attention of the people in all sections of the state, and on all sides predictions of its unrivalled success are heard. It is conceded now by everybody that the attendance will be something immense, and the crowds which will be unparalleled in the history of this city.

The displays will be full, and of the highest character, surpassing in excellence, variety and volume, the splendid exhibitions made at the grand exposition last year. The office of Secretary Davidson is flooded with letters from men and firms handling all kinds of novelties, beautiful, unique and attractive, asking for information and space.

General Manager Cheney is wide awake and earnest in the work of pushing the enterprise, and on the trip which he takes every week in the interest of the exposition, he meets the greatest encouragement. The people in all parts of the state assure him that they are in earnest in their determination of having a hand in making Montgomery's grand show a decided success, and those who have nothing to exhibit, declare that they will swell the crowds on the grounds.

The displays which will be made at the coming exposition will be the grandest ever made in the south, and the crowds who come to Montgomery on this occasion, will see an exposition which will challenge the admiration of the country.

DIRT IS BROKEN.

And Assurance Made Doubly Sure.

The reports of last week concerning the location and building of the M. T. & M. railroad have been fully verified. On Tuesday last the contractors were let at Maplesville for grading the road between that place and Tuscaloosa. It was subtle by the firm having the contract for the entire line, and dirt has probably been broken at a half dozen places in commencement of the work of grading this portion of the line. The contractors will push forward rapidly as possible and it is thought that the road bed will be completed by the 15th of August at the farthest.

The work of laying the rails will commence at an early day there being rail enough at Maplesville to lay the track between that place and Montgomery. One contractor has the first seven miles from Maplesville, and from there on to each section is now occupied by a force of hands excepting one and three fourth miles from the river at this place back east. The line will be changed a little here so as to put the road bed nearer the town which will take it out of its present location in the swamp. Dirt has already been broken and the forces are coming this way.

The Evening Journal, of Montgomery, gives us the following information concerning the purchase of rolling stock for the new road:

Another installment of freight cars was received here yesterday afternoon for the Montgomery, Tuscaloosa and Memphis railroad. The cars were built in Decatur and the shipment received yesterday makes about fifty freight cars received in the past week or ten days for the Montgomery, Tuscaloosa and Memphis.—Bibb Blade.

The matter of satisfying paid off mortgages on record in the probate office in this county is being sadly neglected. It is stated by good authority that one-third of all the mortgages now on record in this county have been paid off and not satisfied on the record. The law makes it a penalty of two hundred dollars for the neglect of this duty. So if you hold a mortgage which has been paid off and not satisfied on the record you are subject to two hundred dollars damage to the party giving the mortgage. The law should be enforced against all who neglect this duty, as a report of our county financial condition is published to the world each year, and thus we are not given a fair showing with these dead mortgages against us in full force.—Scottsboro Age.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper.

A serious accident occurred on the E. T. Va. & Ga. railroad, at Calera, on Sunday morning by which two freight trains were telescoped, and a nurse girl was killed. The engineer and fireman of each engine managed to escape certain death by jumping from their engines just before the collision occurred.

Cancer of the Lip Cured.

I suffered from cancer on my lip that defied the skill of the best physicians of the State. I had it burned out but the operation only made it worse, causing it to spread over more surface and eat deeper in. I finally had it burned off again, and used Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) to heal it up and drive the poison out of my blood. The effect of the Specific was magical! It healed up the Cancer entirely without leaving a scar as a reminder. This was over four years ago, and since then there has been no sign of a return of the Cancer. I will cheerfully answer any inquiries in regard to my case.

General Merchandise,

At Clanton, Ala.

Respectfully solicits your patronage. Good goods at reasonable prices.

Rev. Mr. Sinnott will preach in the Methodist church next Friday night, also on Sunday.

Rev. E. Stillwell has resigned his charge as pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church, the resignation to take effect in September.

Mr. I. B. Bowdoin is prepared to do cobbling for those who will pay him for his work, and insists that he doesn't want the patronage of any dead beats.

We noticed eight new box cars for the Montgomery, Tuscaloosa & Memphis railroad pass our depot Friday last. This ought to assure our Tuscaloosa friends that we will be united to them with links of steel before many months shall wane.

Death of Mrs. Mims.

Mrs. Lettie Mims, better known as Grandma Mims, died at the residence of Mr. W. C. Hendley, near Clanton on the 23d inst., at the advanced age of 93 years. She leaves a large number of relatives in this county to mourn her loss.

We have sent out a number of circular letters to delinquent subscribers the past week, as the most convenient way of reminding them of their indebtedness. We trust each one will respond promptly to the request made. Some have already done so, let the others follow suit and there will be cause for rejoicing all around.

New Postoffice.

A new postoffice called Clanton, has been established at Clanton, on Gregory & Coe's log road, with Mr. Sharp King as postmaster. This office will be a great convenience to the neighborhood. Riddick will very soon be a station on the M. T. & M. R. R., as it is immediately on the line of road. The name is evidently in honor of that good minister and engineer on the Gregory & Coe Lumber Company's road, Rev. W. J. Riddick.

Valuable Books.

Prof. J. M. Corderie is now selling three very fine books as agent of Johnson & Co., the Richmond publishers. The books are: "Davies Memorial Volume," "Heroes of the Dark Continent" by Stanley, and a beautifully illustrated "Parallel Family Bible." The last named book contains the old and revised versions in parallel columns and is as handsome as the printer's and engraver's arts can make it. We are pleased to know that Prof. Corderie is meeting with much success in the sale of these books.

Mulberry Sunday School Celebration.

CLANTON, ALA., June 22, '90.

Living some distance from Mulberry made it necessary for us to leave early on Saturday morning in order to reach the place appointed for the Sabbath school celebration. When we arrived we found that quite a large congregation had assembled at the church and promptly at 10 o'clock the exercises were opened by an interesting address from Mr. B. F. Hammond, who displayed his skill and knowledge of the Sabbath school work. Following this were essays and recitations from the school which showed their proficiency, and too, which showed the fruits of the labors of these deserving young educators, Prof. George Speer and A. H. Hunter, who are a power for good in that community.

At 12 o'clock they adjourned for dinner, and we know not better how to express it than to say it was indeed an abundant feast and, after the hundreds had eaten, there were taken up fully 12 baskets.

We stop right here to say that we were largely indebted to the young ladies for our pleasure, among whom are Misses Johnson, Alney, Martin and Hammon, of Mulberry, and the charming Misses Magruder and Williamson, of Rome, Ga., who are ornaments to society. They are the guests of Misses Johnson. In the afternoon we were highly entertained by the school with speeches, duets, solos, &c. At 4 o'clock Prof. A. H. Hunter introduced O. P. Bentley, Esq., of Clanton, who delivered an address which did credit to himself, and which was well received by the audience. Mr. Bentley is one of the rising young men of our county, and who is appreciated wherever he goes.

We must say that that community must be complimented upon the good order which they maintained even in the extreme heat.

At 2:30 o'clock they were dismissed, and each went away feeling that it was good that they went out, and promising themselves to go back again, and if you Clanton boys on Sunday morning, you would know how to appreciate their circumstances. They actually went back on Sunday evening, and report that they again enjoyed themselves very much.

We hope that the time will soon come when we may again enjoy ourselves with those hospitable people of that noted community of Mulberry.

Visitors.

Jemison Locals.

Died, Neat Jemison, on Friday, 20th inst., infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Dawson, aged about 16 months. We extend our sympathies to the bereaved parents.

Also, on the 23d, Mr. John Watkins after a protracted illness of some months He was about twenty-three years of age, and leaves a wife, an infant child and widowed mother, to all of whom we extend our sympathy.

Rev. D. Y. Wyatt, of Shelby, spent Saturday and Sunday with their son Rev. J. L. Wyatt, at Jemison. The former preached at the C. P. Church, Sunday and Sunday night.

Mr. J. O. Jeffries, of Jemison, is taking the census in beats one and two, and though the weather is excessively hot, he is progressing finely. A man better fitted for the work could not have been selected.

Prof. J. M. Webb, of Lafayette, was in Jemison last week prospecting. He is highly recommended, has had considerable experience in teaching, and we hope our board of trustees can select him as principal of Jemison High School.

Mrs. Mollie Allen, Miss Minnie Wells and Mr. Frank Crowderon leave this afternoon for Six Mile to attend the closing exercises of Six Mile Academy.

Misses Anna and Lula Poon, of Uniontown, and Mr. Vaughn Caine, a recent graduate of Howard College, visited Dr. Givhan's family last week.

Mrs. H. T. Caskey is visiting relatives near Benton, Lowndes Co.

Mr. W. H. Jeffries is down again on a business (2) visit. We wish him success in all his undertakings.

Mr. R. J. Langston living about four miles west of Jemison, brought in the first cotton bloom last Saturday, the twenty-first inst., and has a good many in his field.

X. Y. Z.

Birmingham came to the front Sunday with two murders and two suicides in Scratch Ankle, a nest of iniquity inhabited principally by negroes.

Misses Camilla and Genie Gerald, of Montgomery, Miss Fannie Nix, of Verbena and Miss Bessie Garrett, of Birmingham, composed a bevy of bright-eyed young ladies who captured our household Tuesday and wanted to carry away our handsome "devil."

Mrs. J. N. Wells, of Montgomery, is visiting the family of Mr. R. McLin.

A Prominent Druggist Cured.

"Eleven years ago I was suffering from an attack of White Swelling. A great many prominent physicians attended me but failed to effect a cure. I commenced using Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), and after using it for a few months I was entirely cured, and since then have had no symptoms of its returning. I feel that the cure is entirely due to the curative properties contained in S. S. S. I can cheerfully recommend it as a medicine to all suffering humanity."

PAUL W. KIRKPATRICK, Of Kirkpatrick & Wafford, Druggists, Johnson City, Tenn.

Jemison to the Front.

CLANTON, June 20, 1890.

Yes, true civilization and culture always make up the book marks and I cannot without my high appreciation of their very liberal patronage in the purchase of the Stanley, Jefferson Davis and the Holy Bible, the line of books which I am handling. Long may their glorious light burn and grow brighter and brighter unto the perfect day, when the minds of all may ever bask in the light of truth and universal knowledge.

J. M. CORDERIE.

Barber Shop.

Mr. H. A. Logan, who has his barber shop upstairs in the Allen Building, solicits the patronage of the good people of Clanton. He does good work and is well fixed up for the business.

Yes, They Have Disagreed.

Mr. Editor: Can't you tell us something about our county politics? We are in one of the dark corners and our only source of information is our county paper. Is it true that Messrs. Collier and Bostwick cannot agree? Respectfully,

A Voter.

Messrs. Collier and Bostwick having been unable to agree upon a plan for calling a county convention the matter has been submitted to the State executive committee. We presume that as soon as that body arrives at a conclusion it will be made public.

The bad smell of the court house well water is said to be due to two cats that had a row on top of the well Sunday night and tumbled in.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE. BRIEFED--DELIBERATIONS OVER MATTERS OF MOMENTOUS INTEREST TO OUR COMMON COUNTRY.--NOTES.

In the house on Saturday, after the reading and approval of Friday's journal, Mr. Bland, of Missouri moved to reconsider the vote by which the yeas and nays were ordered upon Mr. McKinley's motion to table his bill. Mr. Bland's motion was taken, resulting yeas 114, nays 117. So the appeal was laid on the table. The following republicans voted with the democrats against Mr. McKinley's motion: Messrs. Bartine, Canfield, Deffenbaugh, Heman, Kelly, McMillan, Townsend and Fowler. These democrats voted with the republicans in favor of the motion: Messrs. Buckalew, Dumphrey, Fitch, Geissenhainer, Maish, McAdoo, Mutchler, O'Neil of Massachusetts, Quinn, Wylie and Stahlacker. Mr. McKinley, upon the announcement, said: "So the appeal is tabled and the bill stands referred to the coinage committee." Mr. Brewer presented the report of the appropriations committee on the senate amendments to the fortifications appropriation bill. The house then at 3:30 o'clock adjourned.

80, 1890, and an annual increase of the amount of such appropriation thereafter for ten years by an additional sum of $1,000 over the preceding year, and the annual amount to be paid therefor to each state and territory shall be $25,000, provided that no money shall be paid out under this act to any state or territory for the support and maintenance of a college where distinction of race or color is made in the admission of students, but the establishment and maintenance of such colleges separately for white and colored students shall be held to be in compliance with the provisions of this act; and also, provided that in any state in which there has been one agricultural college established under the act of 1862, and in which also there is, or may be, an educational institution of like character for colored students, aided by the state from its own revenue (however named or styled), there shall be a just and equitable division of the fund to be received under this act. The conference report on the dependent bill was taken up and became the subject of a long discussion. When the vote was taken, the conference report was agreed to--yeas 84, nays 18. A conference was ordered on the fortification bill, and Messrs. Daves, Plumb and Gorman went appointed conferees on part of the senate. Mr. Evans gave notice that commensurate services of his late colleague, S. C. Cox, heretofore announced for Thursday, would take place at 3 o'clock on Tuesday of next week. After a short executive session the senate, at 5 p. m., adjourned.

ALABAMA STATE NEWS.

GRIST GROUND OUT BY THE BUSY WHEELS OF PROGRESS.

Nearly all the grading on the Macon & Birmingham road has been completed between LeGrange and Macon, Ga. At a recent meeting of the directors of the Birmingham ice factory company, the president and manager were instructed to contract for a 50-ton ice machine, to be put in as soon as possible, at their present factory, avenue E and Twenty-second street. James T. Greene, chairman of the democratic and conservative party of the sixth senatorial district composed of the counties of Cherokee, Etowah and St. Clair, has called a convention to meet in Gadsden on Wednesday, July 2, to nominate a candidate for the state senate. Memorial day services of the Knights of Pythias were observed in Birmingham at the usual solemn and impressive manner. Rev. Dr. Handley pronounced an eloquent eulogy over the graves, and the beautiful ritual of the order was carried out. There were three hundred men in line. James Lawrence, a farmer, was murdered at his home in Jefferson county Wednesday night, by Rob Smith a neighbor. The murderer fled and has not been captured. The men had a quarrel about a debt several days ago, and Smith had threatened to kill Lawrence if the money was not paid. The trouble at the Sloss company's furnace has been settled. At Sloss furnaces on First avenue no trouble has been experienced since Friday morning and all is going smoothly. At North Birmingham about thirty men have been found to take their places. No advance has been granted and the men will be paid once a month as heretofore. Mr. Irving, the furnace superintendent, is at interview with the men and has been discussing the furnace shut down for a few days on account of the strike of the night shift, but that a full force had been secured and that all things were going well. No advance has been granted and the men will be paid once a month as heretofore.

TELEGRAPH AND CABLE.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE BUSY WORLD.

A SUMMARY OF OUTSIDE AFFAIRS CONDENSED FROM NEWSPAPERS AND WHAT FROM UNCLE SAM'S DOMAIN AND WHAT THE CABLE BRINGS. Kansas City claims to have 300,000 population. The population of Cincinnati is estimated at 350,000. Census Supervisor Sedgewick estimates the population of Brooklyn, N. Y., at 807,000. Employees on railroads entering in East St. Louis struck off Wednesday for higher wages. The National Editorial association assembled in sixth annual session in Boston on Tuesday. Every railroad in Cleveland, Ohio, is tied up, and passenger and mail trains are the only ones running. Building laborers of Boston, Somerville and Cambridge, Mass., have struck for an increase of wages. The Minnesota prohibition convention on Wednesday nominated J. B. Plankman, of Minneapolis, for governor. The reported uprising in Mexico turns out to be nothing but the attempt of bandits to organize and commit robbery. One thousand delegates attended the sessions of the International School-convention in Pittsburgh, Pa., Wednesday. The international prison congress, which has been in session at St. Petersburg, Russia, has finished its business and adjourned. The entire business portion of Cerillos, N. M., fifty miles west of Albuquerque, was destroyed by fire on Monday night. Loss $100,000. New York members of the world's fair commission announced that Chauncey M. Depew is their candidate for president of the commission. It is stated that the English and French governments have exchanged satisfactory communications regarding the Anglo-German agreement. An explosion of fire damp occurred in the colliery in Kenilworth, Illinois, Tuesday, killing three men and injuring several others. Fire, Monday evening, destroyed the Atlantic Color works, owned by Plesger & Lodenberg, Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. Loss $70,000. Track laying on the east loop of the Louisville and Nashville road, between Clarkdale and Minter City, is progressing rapidly. A Saratoga, N. Y., dispatch of Tuesday says: The court of appeals has affirmed the original judgment in the Kemmer case. Kemmer must be executed by electricity. Dispatches from Boston, say that a combination has been made among the manufacturers of ammonia, and in consequence prices have advanced from 64 cents to 8 cents per pound. A dispatch from Calumet, Mich., says: Near a thousand miners walked out on strike at Tamarack mine Tuesday. They demanded a ten per cent increase in wages and eight hours. The ways and means committee of the Louisiana legislature has decided to report favorably on the proposed constitutional amendment to remove the capital from Baton Rouge to New Orleans. A Berlin dispatch of Sunday says: Herr Wolff, Major Wissmann's commercial adviser, condemns the Anglo-German agreement. He says the English get everything, and will control Africa. A dispatch of Sunday, from Madrid, Spain, says: The cholera epidemic makes progress. There are very few fresh cases either at Puerto de Rugat, Fenolosa or Montichelo. The officials declare that seventy-five per cent of those attacked recover. A dispatch from Berlin, Germany, says: In the reichstag on Wednesday Chancellor von Caprivi, speaking on the army bill, said he contemplated an extension of the privilege of relief from service at the expiration of two years as a permanent measure. A special of Tuesday, from Omaha, Nebraska, says: A suit has been begun by the Union Pacific railway company against C. H. McKibbin, late general purchasing agent of the road, for the recovery of $50,000, of which he is said to have defrauded the company. A St. Paul, Minn., delegation waited upon Superintendent of the Census Foster, Tuesday, and complained against the manner in which the census was conducted in Minnesota, asserting that the population had been fraudulently swollen. They asked a recount. In response to an order of the executive committee of the Census Bureau, of Wednesday county, N. Y.

NEWS OF THE SOUTH.

BRIEF NOTES OF AN INTERESTING NATURE.

FIFTY ITEMS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTHERN STATES THAT WILL INTEREST THE READER--ACCIDENTS, FIRES, FLOODS, ETC. One car-load of watermelons shipped from Quitman, Ga., to C. K. Weaver & Co., Chicago, was sold by that firm for $365, gross. Hon. North Dickerson was on Saturday chosen by the usual majority to succeed John G. Carlisle as representative in Congress of the sixth Kentucky district. A special of Wednesday from Baton Rouge, La., says that after adopting an amendment eliminating the monopoly features, the house passed the lottery bill by a vote of 60 to 34. A dispatch of Tuesday, from Purvis, Miss., says: John L. Sullivan pleaded guilty to the indictment for prize fighting and was fined $500, which he paid. Mike Doohan was also included in the indictment. A dispatch from Montgomery, Ala., says: Colonel Thomas G. Jones, the democratic candidate for governor, and Mrs. Grover Cleveland, of New York, have been elected honorary members of the Alabama Press association. Judge Henry W. Thomas died at Fairfield Court House, Va., Sunday morning, in the seventy-eighth year of his age. He was a member of the commission that visited President Lincoln in 1861, with a view to averting hostilities. For half a century he was one of the leading lawyers of northern Virginia. A dispatch from Baton Rouge, La., says: The legislative caucus on the lottery question Tuesday night, after an address by Messrs. Snyder, Boatner, Montgomery and Foster, appointed a conference committee of ten, and the matter was referred to them. It is believed the question will be definitely settled by this committee. An El Paso, Texas, dispatch says: Gen. John S. Mosby arrived Tuesday morning from San Francisco, to supervise the third monthly drawing of the Grand Lottery of Texas. The famous general makes the long trip monthly for the purpose of superintending the drawing of the Grand Lottery of Texas, of Juarez, Mexico. John W. Walker, of Raleigh, N. C., proprietor of the Oak City clothing manufactory, which sold its products in all the southern states, assigned on Tuesday for the benefit of his creditors. The liabilities are in excess of $20,000. The assets are nominally $14,000, but hardly more than half that amount will be realized. The Engineering News publishes statistics of railway construction in the States south of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi river for the present year, which show that 802 miles of track have been laid since January 1, 1889, 2,815 miles are in process of construction, 4,883 miles are located or under survey, and 7,496 miles are projected, with fair prospects of construction. The Kentucky and Cumberland railroad, which was chartered recently by the Kentucky legislature, is to build a line to run from Frankfort, Ky., to the Tennessee line, passing through Anderson, Madison, Taylor, Taylor, Green, Adair and Cumberland counties. It will open up a large territory which has no railroad facilities as yet, and develop one of the best oil fields in the country. A Raleigh, N. C., dispatch of Saturday says: Inventor Thomas Edison is in Moore county taking options on gold-mining interests. He took one option on one thousand acres. Mr. Edison will form a syndicate of English capitalists, which will commence work soon. This land lies on Deep river, and Edison will turn the river through it, and thus obtain water for gold-washing. The Chattanooga Times of Sunday contains an exhaustive statement regarding the crops of Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia, and it shows that the wheat crop throughout the entire territory raised to be almost an entire failure. Cotton and tobacco are in splendid condition; yields promising to exceed that of last year. Of fruits there is about a half crop, and grapes of all kinds are good. The business outlook is encouraging. A Nashville, Tennessee, dispatch of Wednesday says: The state's financial officers have succeeded in borrowing two hundred and fifty thousand dollars to meet the July interest on the state debt. One hundred thousand dollars of the amount is secured from J. A. Evans & Co., of Boston, at five per cent, and the balance through the Capital City and Commercial banks at Nashville, at six per cent. Coupons will be promptly taken upon presentation at the state treasury's office after July 1st. Doubtless 2,500,000 souls out of Sicily's 2,584,099 inhabitants are Catholics. Ignorant and avaricious as the Sicilians are, which the census was conducted in Mississippi, asserting that the population had been fraudulently swollen. They asked a recount. In response to an order of the executive committee of the Census Bureau, of Wednesday county, N. Y.

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION.

WHIPPED BY A CYCLONE WHICH SWEEP OVER ILLINOIS.

A dispatch from Amboy, Ill., says: A severe cyclone passed over the southern and central portions of Lee county, Friday afternoon, leaving destruction and death in its wake. As near as can be learned the storm made its first appearance at a point fifteen miles west of the village of Sublette, at what is known as Blackburn Hill, where a number of cattle were killed. From there it pursued an easterly direction in a zig-zag course with a track twenty to forty rods wide, leveling everything before it. The storm crossed the Illinois Central road at Sublette, wiping out eight or ten little buildings on the north edge of the town, and injuring some seven persons, but none seriously. It next struck the little village of South Paw Paw, some twenty miles distant east of Amboy and ten miles east of Sublette. The cyclone struck the place, so suddenly and unexpectedly that no time was left for preparation. In less than five minutes the little village lay in ruins, while the piteous cries of the dying and seriously injured were heard on every side. Within two minutes a vast majority of the fourteen persons were found to be dead, or so badly injured that they died soon afterward. In its work of destruction the next object of attack was the Hunt school-house. The school was not in session at the time, having been dismissed, owing to the fury of the storm, but it being so great, Miss Maggie McBride and eight little pupils had been unable to leave the building. An observer states that when the wind struck this building it was carried up into the air for the distance of 300 feet, where it was wrecked and lost sight of. Neither teacher nor any of the pupils live to tell the story. Miss McBride was found in the road some distance from the school, where she was taken to the hospital. The pupils seem to have taken another course and all were thrown into a creek near by, and several of the little bodies were carried down the stream, but not recovered. No recovered. Not a vestige of the building remained, even the stones in the foundation being taken out. Among those killed are the daughters of Aechel Prentiss, Isaac Berry and William Hunt, sons of Mrs. Carlisle, and other well-known residents. Peter Reunus and George Bolach. The last named gentleman also loses his wife and child, his house, not far distant being demolished. So far as can be learned this complete destruction of the building was the result of the damage to the schoolhouse, the storm passing as it did through one of the most prosperous and wealthy parts of the country. Competent judges place the damage in Lee county at from $100,000 to $200,000.

BRAVE GIRLS.

TWO GALLANT YOUNG LADIES GET THE BEST OF A BURGLAR.

A Gallatin, Tenn., dispatch says: Lela and Ella Lewis had an exciting experience with a negro burglar at their home Friday night. Miss Ella Lewis is the retiring postmistress here, and it was known by the would-be burglar that she had considerable money, which she had hidden in a box in her post-office. About 10 o'clock she was awakened by a man who was standing by her bedside with one hand on her throat and the other feeling under her pillow and around the head of the bed. She immediately called her sister, who had retired in the same room, and who responded gallantly to her call for help. The burglar drew a pistol from his pocket, but before he could have possibly used it the young ladies seized him and gave him a thorough thrashing, all the time carrying him toward the window of the room. The young ladies finally reached the window with the midnight murderer, and by main strength they succeeded in throwing him out. He fell to the ground ten feet below, on his head. After lying as if stunned by his blows and his exit from the room above, he pulled himself together and made his escape.

THE CANNON EXPLODED.

BORELLI AFFAIR AT COLUMBIA, N. C.--THREE MEN FRIGHTFULLY INJURED.

A dispatch from Columbia, S. C., says: The premature discharge of a cannon on the fair grounds Tuesday morning, on the occasion of the state campaign meeting, horribly mangled three cannoners, John Starb, W. H. Carson and Ed. Barry. The latter lost both arms, and had one eye blown from the socket and the other badly damaged, besides receiving wounds in the breast. His recovery is doubtful. Carson's left hand was shot to pieces and he was terribly mangled. Starb lost his right arm. His face and eyes were damaged.

Obituary.

CHARLES LEWIS RUD died near Verde, Ala., on the morning of the 11th of June, after a short illness of pneumonia, aged twenty-four years.

With a nature impulsive and yielding;

And a heart so kind and true,

With no thought for the morrow,

No dream of the sorrow,

That lay thick along the borders of life.

Too early he assumed the duties

That are serious to experienced men,

Never counting the cost,

Little thinking that dress,

Could be found 'mid the bright things of life.

With no firmness to resist the attractions

That all about his young fancy beguiled;

With ample means at his control,

A free, generous soul,

What knew he of the ills of this life?

An orphan at two years of age, bereft

Of father, mother, though with kindred left,

He missed the restraining

Of a mother's firm warning

To watch out for the snares of this life.

Ah! boy, could you know that so many Feel regret at your short, sad career,

Could time backward roll,

And this shine through your soul,

It would outweigh all the allurements

of life.

He has gone where the weary find rest,

In the hands of One who knows best.

But in some hearts left behind,

There are memories fond and kind,

That will live on through the years of this life.

SPORTS OF PERSIA.

ORIENTAL METHOD OF KILLING TIME.
The Koran forbids a Games of Chance. Male and Female Dancers. Athlete Who Eat Six Meals a Day.

Exercising this great religious drama or Persian play, called the Tashah, the Persians, say S. G. W. Benjamin, in the Mill and Express, have no dramatic amusements. They partly make up for this lack by listening to professional story-tellers and strolling musicians; they are also addicted to card playing, although with much less variety of games than with European cards. Games of chance are forbidden by the Koran; no chess or pictures or sculptures of human doors under the clear sky. But these are the cheap shows, witnessed chiefly by the lower classes, the performers being altogether second rate. If one would see the athletes of Persia at their best, he must see them in the covered arenas where they perform to what are called "cultured audiences." The professionals of Persia form a class by themselves, as distinct from other pursuits as our actors, as carefully trained, dieted and disciplined as champion carmen. The athletes of Greece and Rome thought to maintain their prodigious strength by regular, frequent and violent exercises in the gymnasium.

THE SALUTE

But the Persian professionals follow quite another course. They avoid severe exertion and fatigue. They eat five or six times a day, and are warily clothed, especially during the cold season. On ordinary occasions they go abroad but once daily and then toward evening, and walk with great deliberation. When the period for practicing or for exhibiting in public approaches the Persian athletes lie in bed for several days gathering force for the contest of strength.

The public exhibitions are held in places especially constructed for the purpose. The arena or pit is excavated at least five or six feet below the surface, and the earth is beaten hard and rolled smooth. The spectators sit Persian fashion on their knees and heels on the floor of a gallery built around the arena and carefully protected by an awning or roof from the elements. The arena, whether oval or round, has an average circumference of 140 feet.

When time is called the athletes run forward and leap from the gallery into the arena, sometimes alighting and balancing themselves some moments on one leg, a remarkable feat. Their skin is oiled to enable them to elude the grasp of their opponents. A number enter the arena at once and begin with prolonged exercises with heavy Indian clubs, which they swing in every position, gradually increasing the weight, until toward the close of this practice clubs of oak are sometimes wielded in each hand weighing sixty pounds. ### FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE GREAT ORGANIZATION.—LEGISLATION, NOTES, ETC.

The bagging manufactured from cotton stalk fibre promises to be well received by farmers, warehousemen and manufacturers.

West Virginia State Alliance will be organized at Charleston, Kanawha County, August 13, by President Barbee of Virginia, assisted by National Secretary J. H. Turner.

Let no man let up on his Alliance work or enthusiasm on account of the warfare between the great Alliance and the politicians. It had to come—and it has come. But brave men will not flinch.

Still they come. North Dakota has applied for a State charter, South Dakota has ratified the action of its executive committee at St. Louis last December, and Wisconsin has voted to consolidate with the National Farmers Alliance and Industrial Union. Who next?—National Economist.

The silver bill, as amended by the senate, is a great victory for the Farmers' Alliance, and shows that the influence of that order, exerted through its legislative committee, is being felt. Members of congress have recently voted for practical free coinage that a few years ago would have voted against it.—National Economist.

Senator Vance, of North Carolina, who introduced the Farmers' Alliance subcommittee bill in the senate, has come out flat footed in a letter, stating that he is against the bill. The letter was written at the request of President Polk, of the Alliance. He says while he is not opposed to the purpose of the bill, he cannot support it as it is.

The following is from the Farmers' Alliance (Chattanooga, Tenn.): "Pay no attention to circulars and documents if any should reach you asking farmers to organize leagues under a parent organization in Massachusetts. The author of this scheme is the editor of an agricultural paper which has been trying to down the Alliance."

The Progressive Farmer (Raleigh, N. C.) says: "The Alliance Rally at Greensboro on the 24th and 25th of July, promises to be one of the grandest events in the history of our order in this State. Many prominent speakers from this and other States will be present. The railroad will give very low rates, so that people can come from a distance at comparatively a small expense."

The Union (Quicksburg, Va.), a sturdy Alliance paper, says: "It is the duty of every farmer and wage-worker throughout the country to make a special study of the Alliance movement, as much so as they do the movements of the two great political parties, and see which of these organizations is advocating measures that are of the most vital interest to the people generally. The political parties only favor measures for the moneyed few, while the Alliance is protesting, and fighting for that which will benefit all mankind alike. Every man who believes in equal rights to all should study this matter and act wisely."

The Caucasian (Clinton, N. C.) says: "Outsiders, of Alabama, and Carolina, of Kentucky, are both put in long articles on the sub-treasury plan. Each admit that the farmer is greatly depressed and oppressed by unjust laws, yet they say that the sub-treasury plan will not do. They claim to be statesmen, and as such it would have been more becoming in them to have used the same time and energy they have expended in criticizing the bill, in amending it, or framing a better one with the same object. If they, as statesmen, are in the halls of Congress, had done their duty protecting the farmers' interests, or rather in seeing that they got simple justice, then the sub-treasury bill would never have been necessary. What are they going to do about it? Are they going to do it all, or are they only going to do it in part, but only on their own terms?"

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

WORK OF THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE BRIEFLY—DELIBERATIONS OVER MATTERS OF MOMENTOUS INTEREST TO OUR COMMON COUNTRY.—NOTES.

On Monday the house was again with excitement over the force bill. Indeed, the entire north and east seem suddenly to be aroused to the enormity of the measure. Many of the democratic papers in the east on Monday morning published double headed leaders, calling upon the people of the north, irrespective of party, to rise up in mass meetings and protest against the passage of the bill. The merchants at the north, and the capitalists who have investments in the south, are sending in petitions by the score protesting against the bill.

Immediately after the reading of the journal Tuesday, the house resumed the debate on the Federal Election bill, the pending amendment being that offered by Mr. Lehlbach, of New Jersey, providing that the chief supervisor of election, in each judicial district of the United States, shall take such action as is requisite to secure such supervision in every congressional district as is provided by the laws of the United States. Mr. Holman, of Indiana, contended that there was no occasion for the enactment of the proposed law. Every member who has spoken had repudiated the bill as far as his own district was concerned. Mr. Stone, of Minnesota, made a constitutional argument against the bill.

The senate on Tuesday temporarily laid aside the Idaho admission bill, and passed the agricultural appropriation bill, with an amendment, appropriating $5,000 to be expended in an investigation into the natural history of and remedies for the cotton boll worm. The District of Columbia appropriation bill was discussed until the adjournment.

The house, on Wednesday, resumed consideration of the federal election bill, the pending question being on the amendment offered by Mr. Tamm, of Virginia, requiring the judge of the circuit court, associated with the district judge, to pass upon applications for supervisors of elections. Rejected. After a lengthy debate the bill was ordered to be read for the third time. Two hours were consumed in the reading of the bill. The question then returned on its passage. As the call was in progress the greatest interest was manifested on both sides of the house. The bill was passed—yeas 155, nays 149. The house then, at 9:30, adjourned.

In the senate, on Wednesday, Mr. Hancock called up his motion to reconsider the vote by which the senate on Tuesday rejected the amendment to the bill to place the American merchant marine engaged in foreign trade upon an equality with that of other nations, and to provide for an ocean mail service between the United States and foreign ports, and to promote commerce. Mr. Fry said that he hoped to have the senate act Thursday on both bills, as he intended to call up the river and harbor bill on Monday. After a short executive session the senate at 5:10 adjourned.

Senators Sherman, Jones of Nevada, and Harris have been appointed conferees on the part of the senate on the silver bill.

It is estimated that the treasury department that there has been a decrease of about $20,000,000 in the public debt since June 1st.

The superintendent of the census has authorized a recount in five districts of Minneapolis, Minn., in regard to which there are charges of fraud in increasing the returns.

A large number of applications for pensions under the disability pension bill have already been filed in the pension office. The haste has been so great that many of the applications are defective and will not be accepted. A number of applications have been received signed by the attorney only.

Speaker Reed has issued an order that all the stands around the capital corridor, used for the sale of any trinkets, eatables or anything else, shall be removed at once. The old vendors who keep the stands are consequently very much worried, and are raising a great howl. However, they will have to go.

The bill admitting Idaho to the union passed the senate Tuesday afternoon without a dissent. It has already passed the house.

THE HOT WAVE.

SEVERAL DEATHS FROM SUNSTROKE IN THE NORTH AND WEST.

A Chicago dispatch of Saturday says: There are no signs yet of the cold wave, which has been anxiously looked for, and to-day promises to be more sultry than ever. The list of the people stricken down Friday numbers nearly twenty. Two men are dead and three more in the hospital will not live. The others are out of danger.

Dispatches from many points in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin tell of the insufferable heat, and many fatalities. At LaSalle, Ill., Friday the mercury reached 102 in the shade. Three men died from sunstroke. All outdoor work had to be abandoned.

At Galena three persons have died from the effects of heat in the past two days, and there is a great deal of sickness. Jacksonville reports 101 in the shade; two men fatally stricken, and many horses dead.

At Jolet the thermometer registered 102—the highest point in twenty-four years. A dozen people were overcome, and two died.

In Peoria 104 in the shade was reached. Two deaths occurred. Several people were overcome. Danville, Freeport and many other points report numerous prostrations and a few fatalities.

Further dispatches say: According to one authority there were in Chicago on Sunday eighteen deaths from sunstroke, 117 other cases of heat prostration, fully a dozen which are pronounced critical. Saturday's list of prostrations in St. Louis numbered thirty-one, eight resulting fatally. Up to 11 o'clock Sunday night, eleven prostrations were reported, two fatal. Eighteen cases of heat prostration have been heard from at Cincinnati, two resulting fatally.

A special bulletin from Washington says: The temperature continues high from the middle and lower Mississippi valleys to the Gulf and middle of the Atlantic coast. Seventeen degrees above the normal at Grand Haven, Chicago and Davenport. Maximum temperature Sunday, 103 degrees at Augusta; 98 degrees at Montgomery, Nashville and St. Louis. Temperature fallen 19 degrees at Omaha.

The Census Bureau (Washington, D. C.) says: "Outsiders, of Alabama, and Carolina, of Kentucky, are both put in long articles on the sub-treasury plan. Each admit that the farmer is greatly depressed and oppressed by unjust laws, yet they say that the sub-treasury plan will not do. ### THE HENDRICKS STATUE.

UNVEILED WITH IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES AT INDIANAPOLIS.

Indianapolis did honor Tuesday to the memory of one of her favorite sons whose notable career as a statesman was cut short just as his life's work had been rewarded with the second highest office in the gift of the American people. Conspicuous as Thomas A. Hendricks had been in his life time in the councils of one political party there was no politics in the event of Tuesday. The imposing character of the occasion was emphasized by the presence of the democratic and republican leaders with mugs. No one particular party was represented in the tens of thousands of dollars that have poured in from every quarter of the territory in the union toward the erection of the magnificent work of art that adorns the state house grounds, and political differences were forgotten in the salve of applause that greeted the venerable relic of the deceased. The appearance of the statue, which was unveiled by the hands of the people, was a fitting tribute to the city and state to a citizen, an American, a man, rather than to a politician or statesman. Mr. Hendricks received an ovation as the procession moved through the principal streets, as also did Governor Hill, of New York. Senator Turpie delivered at the monument an oration on the life and character of Mr. Hendricks, which was a masterly effort. The monument occupies a position in the southern corner of the new capitol grounds, facing Washington street, the principal thoroughfare of the city. The likeness is pronounced remarkably accurate by those who knew him in life.

PROPERTY OWNERS OBJECT.

TO THE LOCATION OF THE WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS NEAR THEM.

The local board of directors of the world's fair at Chicago, met Tuesday, and by unanimous vote decided, subject to the approval of the national committee, to hold the fair on the lake front and at Jackson park. The proportions in which it shall be divided, were left undecided, subject to the necessities of the case, as they might develop, relative to securing more or less land on the lake front. While the board was in session, a deputy sheriff served notice upon Chairman Uge that a bill for an injunction to restrain the board from using the lake front for the world's fair purposes had been filed by abutting property owners, and that if any attempts were made to use it, the complainants would push for the issuance of a restraining order.

BIG OIL BLAZE.

TWO WAREHOUSES BELONGING TO THE STANDARD OIL CO., BURNED.

Two warehouses, owned by the Standard Oil Company, were burned at New Orleans, Tuesday. A number of tanks, containing in all 1,400 barrels, and the oil contained in them, were destroyed. A large quantity of kerosene and gas were also destroyed. The loss is $100,000.

The bill admitting Idaho to the union passed the senate Tuesday afternoon without a dissent. It has already passed the house.

Call for A Democratic County Convention.

In accord with the action of the late Democratic Convention of the State of Alabama, as defined by the following resolution, adopted by the Democratic State Executive Committee on the 25th day of June, 1890, to-wit:

Resolved, That in the election for delegates to the County Convention to be called by W. A. Collier and J. H. Postwick in Chilton County, no one shall be entitled to vote at the election to be held for delegates to said County Convention, who, being a legal voter and having voted at the election held in this State in August, 1888, who did not vote the regular nominated Democratic County and State tickets at said election held in August, 1888, and provided that each person who votes in the election for delegates to the said County Convention shall be held and bound to support the action of the County Convention in every respect, the Democratic voters of Chilton County are hereby called to meet at the several voting places in said county, on Saturday, July 10th, 1890, and elect delegates to a Democratic Convention of Chilton County to convene at Clanton, Alabama, on Tuesday, July 22d, 1890, at 10 a. m., to nominate a candidate for Representative to the General Assembly of Alabama, to nominate a candidate for County Superintendent of Education of Chilton County, to elect delegates to the coming Congressional Convention of the 5th Congressional District, and to elect a County Executive Committee of the Democratic Party of the county.

The Polling Places of the County are respectively entitled to the following representation in the said County Convention, to-wit: Mineral Springs 2 Delegates, Providence 2 Delegates, Jewison 3 Delegates, Benson 2 Delegates, Macedonia 1 Delegate, Clanton 5 Delegates, Cooper's 2 Delegates, Verbenia 7 Delegates, Kincheon 2 Delegates, Maplesville, including representation for Latham's box, 4 Delegates, Dixie 9 Delegates.

The following named persons are hereby appointed managers of the said election for delegates to said County Convention, to-wit:

Mineral Springs—A. O. Davis, J. F. McKee and B. F. Robinson, Providence—James Garner, Lewis Reynolds and R. L. Woolley, Jewison—H. T. Caffey, J. P. Allen and J. N. Sims, Benson—T. J. Lenoir, B. F. Hammon and G. W. Jones, Macedonia—J. L. Williams, G. L. Speer and Clanton—O. A. Duke, G. C. Hanks and J. M. Ponder, Verbenia—T. J. Traylor, G. O. Logan and Lewis Jones, Cooper's—Neil Doramus, Henry Harris and A. J. Gullaborn, Kincheon—J. A. Dudley, W. J. Mullins and D. F. Jacks, Maplesville—T. U. Crampton, D. J. Waterworth and Edward Smithman.

Dixie—P. M. Moore, John Parnell and John Callier.

The managers of the election for delegates to said county convention are hereby instructed to conduct the said election in accord with the election laws of the State, as far as the same are applicable, and to restrict voters in said election to the qualifications required by the foregoing Resolution, and to make returns of said election to us at Clanton, as soon as practicable.

Wm. A. COLLIER,
J. H. POSTWICK,
Clanton, Ala., July 8th, 1890.

The great crank of the greenback party in this State, W. H. Davidson, of Winston County, has had a little convention in Birmingham and nominated a ticket for State officers. Chilton is among the list of counties in which he stated Greenback county tickets will be put out. With Democratic, Republican and Greenback tickets in the field we will have a "merry round."

Coughs and colds come uninvited but you can quickly get rid of them with a glass of Dr. J. H. McLean's True Wine Lung Balm.

Judge J. E. Cobb.

Two letters from Judge Cobb, our present Congressman, have been published in the Montgomery Advertiser. In these letters Judge Cobb denies the imputation that he ever endorsed the sub-treasury bill, but declares unequivocally that he does favor measures that will give relief to the present depressed condition of the agriculture classes. He thinks a better plan than the sub-treasury or warehouse plan can be devised, and believes that if the policy of the Democratic party is made effective this desired relief will be secured. The wisdom of a true statesman is displayed in Judge Cobb's position.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Stanton Notes.

Wiley Hicks, a one armed negro was found dead on the E. T. V. & G. railroad below Dixie Saturday morning. His head and both legs were cut off showing that a train had passed over his body. It is thought he was killed and placed on the railroad to cover up the murder. Two negroes have been arrested, but the evidence was not sufficient to implicate them, notwithstanding one of them had threatened Hicks' life and had blood on his clothes. He proved that his nose had bled.

The majority of Stanton people attended the barbecue at Maplesville on the 4th and reported a good time generally.

Capt. J. A. Harwood was in Stanton Saturday.

Providence Points.

We have good crops, but are needing rain at present.

Owing to the unfavorable weather farmers are late completing their work, though their crops promise a sufficient reward for all their toil.

Friday was spent at Salem in beautiful singing. There was furnished by the citizens plenty of refreshments including lemonade, which was free and of an extra quality.

A party of about six spent the day on the river fishing. They took in about fifty trying size. To add to the pleasure of the crowd they had some good talkers.

Last Sunday there was spread at Providence the richest dinner ever brought on the ground. After about five hundred had satisfied themselves, there was still enough for as many more. Good-bay.

Maplesville Dots.

All who enjoyed our glorious fourth are indebted to our energetic young townsman, Tom Foshie. We are very proud to claim him as our own. Our patriotism was greatly stirred up by Mr. Waterworth's speech, and by Dr. Woolley's graceful manners as master of ceremonies. We could mention many others who so unselfishly added to the enjoyment of the day, but like the articles in a country store, they are too numerous to mention. We enjoyed the visits of our old friends, Dr. Band's family, Mrs. Judge Callen, Mrs. Douthitt, Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Bowline. Our enjoyment was greatly marred by the burial of Ike Giles at 1 o'clock at the Maplesville church yard. Mr. Giles was thrown from the dummy on the Birmingham & Bessemer R. R. on the 3d, and two cars passed over his body, killing him instantly. He had lived on the railroad here many years and was very popular.

Mrs. Mary DuBose is home again in improved health.

Fourth of July Celebration at Maplesville.

Every patriotic American feels it a duty to keep holiday and celebrate the Declaration of Independence of our forefathers.

Great as were the men who formulated the Declaration, and far seeing patriots as they were—did not dream that within a brief century, there would be sixty millions of people to whom the annual holiday would be celebrated with enthusiasm from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Gulf to the great lakes by one united people.

The people of Maplesville felt that they must do their part in keeping up the memories which gather around such an occasion, and so arranged for a barbecue and picnic in Goodwin's grove. An energetic committee made all the necessary arrangements in such good style that not a single hitch occurred. In the meantime the ladies committee was not idle, but procured an abundance of cake, ice cream, lemonade, etc., to quench the throats of the weary and heated crowd. The morning of the Fourth dawned on a brilliant and to tell the truth extremely hot day, and from early morn vehicles and homes poured into our town from every direction, bearing loads of happy folk on holiday and pleasure bent.

The proceedings opened with a few remarks by Dr. Woolley who was master of ceremonies, introducing Capt.

John Barnes, of Selma, who read the Declaration of Independence. Captain Randall Berry then made a speech emphasizing our privileges as citizens of such a grand republic. Mr. Waterworth then followed in a speech in which he pointed out the responsibility attaching to the period in which we live, and urging every one to do their duty to the utmost. Major Ramsey gave an address on education. Mr. G. C. Hanks made a graceful apology for no speech considering the heat and the length of time already occupied.

And now came the crowning event of the day, to many at least. For the previous 24 hours a great fire had been burning from which now issued beef, kid and pork which was quickly carved by willing hands and served along with great baskets of bread, cake, pies and other delicacies too numerous to mention. To look around on the supplies one would see that our land had been truly blest.

Last but not least, the ladies had the goodly sum of $33 to hand over to the church as the result of their labors, and now wishing all our friends a successful harvest and as happy a fourth of July next year.

I am yours truly,

DELTA.

Barbecue at Lomax.

A beautiful day dawned over the green vales and shady hills of Lomax on the 4th. Groups of happy looking people could be seen in every direction, who had come to enjoy the barbecue given by Mr. C. J. Stewart. Beneath a willow grove was erected a platform where the gallant beaux and smiling maidens tripped "the light fantastic." At noon a bountiful table was spread, and as people usually carry their appetites to such places it was soon deprived of tempting food. Soon everything was cleaned away. The string band struck a lively air and dancing was again renewed by the disciples of Terpsichore. We noticed among the first dancers the winning Miss Lillie Stewart, of Tallahassee, and the lovely Miss Lillie Wells, of Wadsworth. Among the visitors, we met Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Wells, of Wadsworth. I think all who were so fortunate as to be present went away fully satisfied with the day's pleasure, and I know they should feel grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Stewart for their untiring efforts to make all welcome and the day pass pleasantly. I can say for one the day was indeed pleasant.

Mrs. Jones, of Blocton, is visiting her mother Mrs. Foshie.

Mr. Robert Stewart and family have gone to Tallahassee, visit relatives.

The law requires teachers to attend the Institutes held in the county. Providence church is about two miles west of Clear Creek, a station on the L. & N. R. R. Teachers will be conveyed from there to the railroad free of charge. Teachers will write at once to Prof. J. A. Moore at Montevalle. He will provide accommodations for all. Everybody is invited.

R. E. R. HICKS,
Supt. of Education Chilton Co.

Replying to a remark of The Advertiser in regard to the manufacture of flax bagging, the Prattville Progress says:

The Progress is unable to state where the flax bagging will be manufactured but we are informed that the State Alliance Exchange has made arrangements with a New York firm for a sufficient quantity of the bagging to supply the Alliance of the State. The cost will be 53 cents per yard for 14 pound bagging, and 6 cents per yard for 2 pound bagging.

Just as we go to press we learn of a terrible collision on the L. & N. road at Clear Creek Wednesday morning. Engineers Green and Webb and their fireman and a pump by the name of Ben Parr were killed. The trains were badly wrecked.

Three negro women were found in Tutaw heat with an aggregate of 63 children.—The first 21, second 23 and third 25. The 23 were all single births; twins gave variety to the other phenomena. There is an old negro woman in town who claims to have belonged to old Gen. Wade Hampton and to be "going on 200 years old."—Eutaw Mirror.

The miners in the Birmingham district after a few days' strike have returned to work at the old scale of prices, no advance having been given them. It is notable that strikes rarely accomplish anything for the strikers.

Mr. E. E. Skaggs, of the Southern Advertising Bureau, Birmingham, proposes to make his Bureau a useful institution both to the advertiser and the press.

"For several months past the readers of this paper have seen each week special reading notices, showing the wonderful cures effected by Swift's Specific, better known as S. S. S., and in the face of such testimony we are ready to say that in all the world there is not so good a blood medicine as this remedy. The cures are simply miraculous. If any of our readers are affected with any of the blood diseases that it is known to so effectually cure why do they not give S. S. S. a trial. The company who make the remedy is one of the largest patent medicine firms in the United States, and are heartily endorsed by the leading men of Atlanta and Georgia."—Lake Region, Eustis, Fla.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE ORDER. LEGISLATION, ETC.

The Alliance is a power in the land. It is real and it is true. It is the only organization that has been able to do this.

The farmers of Texas seem determined to win their cotton crop. They are doing so well that they are now looking for a new crop.

The sub-treasury seems to be an issue in the minds of the farmers. They are looking for a way to get their money out of the hands of the bankers.

We are for the sub-treasury bill because it is a way to get the money out of the hands of the bankers. It is a way to get the money out of the hands of the bankers.

The secretary of the Alliance, Mr. A. H. Venable, has been elected to the position of secretary of the Alliance.

Minnesota has 30,000 Alliance members. This is a very large number of members for a single state.

At present over 100 papers are supporting the Alliance. This is a very large number of papers for a single organization.

Instead of criticizing the farmers in their efforts to rid themselves of some of the burdens placed on them by the government, they should be commended for their efforts.

The National Alliance (Houston, Tex.) is a very large organization. It is a very large organization that has been able to do this.

The Iowa (Des Moines) Tribune says: "If ever there was a proposition put upon the table, it was the proposition of the Farmers' Alliance."

A dispatch from Buenos Ayres says: The president of the Argentine Republic has authorized the issue of bank notes to the amount of $100,000,000 for the purpose of relieving the financial situation. The rejection of the proposed sterling loan has caused great excitement on the bourse here.

The National Educational association began its annual session at St. Paul, Minn., on Tuesday. The largest crowd ever known in the history of the association was present. Governor Merriam, in the name of the state of Minnesota, in an eloquent address welcomed the teachers to the state.

A dispatch of Tuesday says: The Chicago stock yards will henceforth be controlled by the Vanderhils. These eastern money kings have secured control of them, and the concern is to be capitalized for $22,000,000, and the stock placed upon the market. It is understood that Clausen M. Dreier will be president of the company.

A dispatch of Thursday says: The clothing manufacturers' association of New York, has given notice to their 1,000 cutters that they expect to be locked out Saturday. The manufacturers state that this step is taken in retaliation for the fact that placed on one of their number at B. H. Benjamin & Co. Over 200,000 persons will be thrown out of work.

Letter carriers, attached to the central postoffice, London, England, went on a strike Wednesday. Delegates were appointed by the carriers to interview Postmaster General Baines and laying the grievance before him. Before Mr. Baines, a reply from the postmaster general, the carriers connected with the central office struck, and all mail deliveries in the district covered by them suspended.

A strike of freight haulers on all the leading railroads of Toledo, O., took place Wednesday afternoon. Men who have been working at 12 and 13 cents per hour demanded 15 cents. The Lake Erie, Cleveland, Hamilton and Dayton, and Toledo and Toledo, St. Louis & Kansas City went next.

A Chicago dispatch of Thursday says: A big fight is on among the brewers of that city, which promises to be exceedingly bitter. The fight lies between the Catholic syndicate and a number of smaller brewers who have not been taken into the combination, or who have refused to become partners to it. The Catholic price of beer dropped from $6 to $5 a barrel, and one brewery has reduced the price to $3.50 a barrel. It is believed in the brewing circles that the war will go on until beer will be sold at less than $3 a barrel.

VETERANS IN LINE.

MEMBERS OF THE WHITE STAR LINE TO GRAY TROOP—A GRAND RALLY.

The first convention of the United Confederate Veterans' association met at Chattanooga, Thursday, Gov. John B. Gordon presiding. The city was decorated in honor of the convention, and the public buildings and leading business houses being profusely adorned with the stars and stripes. Out of the tens of thousands of flags that were flying in the breeze, not a half dozen flags except the stars and stripes were seen. All the decorations conducted by the executive committee were in national colors only.

Ex-confederate veterans came in on every train, and thousands participated in the meeting. An address of welcome was delivered by Hon. Mr. Wheeler, an ex-confederate soldier, and was responded to by General John B. Gordon. The question of organizing the Sons of Confederate Veterans was referred to the committee and probably will be reported favorably. A memorial from the Woman's Confederate Association, asking co-operation, was presented and several hundred dollars were subscribed. The following officers were elected: General in chief, General John B. Gordon; lieutenant general, E. Kirby Smith, of Tennessee; lieutenant general, General W. L. Cabell, of Texas. The convention then adjourned.

The fourth of July exercises of the reunion took the form of a monster parade. Ten thousand veterans were in line, together with three regiments of Tennessee State Guards encamped near the city and several military companies from other southern cities. Fifty thousand people witnessed the parade. In all the line was a single confederate flag was displayed, but every command carried national colors. Brass bands passed up the streets playing national airs and "Dixie," "Bonnie Blue Flag," and the war tunes on both sides, and cheer greeted every air. The best of good humor prevailed, and not a single incident occurred to mar the pleasure of the occasion.

The program arranged for Saturday was a visit to the Chickamauga battlefield, where there was a great picnic and speeches were made by ex-federal and confederate soldiers. General John T. Walker, ex-federal president of the Chickamauga Memorial association, made the principal speech, which was well received. There were several thousand people present. The exercises took place on the Chickamauga hill, overlooking the battlefield. General George H. Thomas and won for him the sobriquet "Rock of Chickamauga." Lookout was illuminated at night. Altogether the grand reunion was a huge success. The report was given to the general commanding and staff.

TRADE REVIEW.

BUSINESS REVIEW FOR WEEK ENDED SATURDAY, JULY 5.

The weekly review of trade by R. G. Dunn & Co. says: With the beginning of the new fiscal year we have heavy disbursements and easier money, better crop prospects and continuance of a larger trade for the season than has been known in previous years. The volume of trade shown by clearing house returns at all cities outside of New York is 14.1 per cent larger than last year for the month of June. A 13 per cent larger for the first half of the month. The iron trade is more steady, but rather dull. Reports from the south are very favorable as to growing cotton, and in Texas the record yield is the largest on record. Government reports make the decrease in circulation of all kinds of money in the country during the week number for the United States 181, and for Canada 98, a comparison with the corresponding week of last year.

A dispatch of Tuesday says: The Chicago stock yards will henceforth be controlled by the Vanderhils. These eastern money kings have secured control of them, and the concern is to be capitalized for $22,000,000, and the stock placed upon the market. It is understood that Clausen M. Dreier will be president of the company.

A dispatch of Thursday says: The clothing manufacturers' association of New York, has given notice to their 1,000 cutters that they expect to be locked out Saturday. The manufacturers state that this step is taken in retaliation for the fact that placed on one of their number at B. H. Benjamin & Co. Over 200,000 persons will be thrown out of work.

Letter carriers, attached to the central postoffice, London, England, went on a strike Wednesday. Delegates were appointed by the carriers to interview Postmaster General Baines and laying the grievance before him. Before Mr. Baines, a reply from the postmaster general, the carriers connected with the central office struck, and all mail deliveries in the district covered by them suspended.

A BIG DEMONSTRATION.

OF THE FARMERS' ALLIANCE AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS IN EMPORIA, KANSAS.

An Emporia, Kas., dispatch says: The Farmers' Alliance and other kindred organizations of neighboring states, held a demonstration on the 4th, over held here. There was a procession five miles long and 20,000 people in attendance. No such turnout of the farmers was ever witnessed in this part of the state. The speakers were L. L. Park, president of the National Alliance; R. Bauman, and other prominent men.

A LONG FAST.

A PACIFIC RAILROAD HAD NOT TASTED FOOD OR DRINK FOR FIFTY-SIX DAYS.

A dispatch of Wednesday from Galena, Ill., says: A John R. H. passenger in the Chicago and North Western, carrying the testimony of the county physician and the superintendent, had not tasted food, solid or liquid in eight weeks.

KEMMLER ONCE MORE.

THE SENTENCE OF DEATH PASSED UPON HIM FOR THE THIRD TIME.

A Buffalo, N. Y., dispatch says: William Kemmler was on Tuesday, for the third time, sentenced to death. Judge Childs ordered that his previous conviction be carried into effect at Auburn prison during the week of August 4th.

The Oldest Inhabitant.

Census Taker Bethune, of Millersville, Ga., in discharging his duties, ran across the oldest inhabitant, and was puzzled for awhile as to what entry to make of him. Jane M. M. is a pauper, living in the northern part of the county, gave her age as one hundred and twenty years.

Mr. Bethune questioned her for some time and discovered that the old woman was a regular encyclopedia of the early days of American Indian life. She knew all about it—was there and saw it. She remembered Washington and all of the fathers. She remembered their habits and eccentricities, and said that when she married and had children when Washington died. Her oldest living child is eighty-eight years old, and since his birth she has been blessed with twenty-seven others. She is evidently not less than one hundred and twenty years, as she says. —New York Mercury.

DISASTROUS STORMS.

SEVEN HUNDRED PEOPLE KILLED IN ARABIA—A BLOW AT PLATTENBURG, N. Y.

A cablegram from Misco, Arabia, says: A most destructive cyclone, resulting in appalling loss of life swept over it. It is reported that seven hundred persons were killed. Relief corps are organizing to go to the scene of death and disaster. Hundreds of swamps are in ruins. Vegetation is swept away in the path of the storm.

A special from Plattsburg, N. Y., says that a terrible wind storm passed over that city Wednesday afternoon. Several lives were lost and an immense amount of damage was done in a very short time. The storm was also severely felt at Cleveland, Ohio, Lewiston, Me., Indianapolis, Ind., Maclellan City, Mich., and Vergennes, Vt. Considerable damage was done at each of these places, though no loss of life is reported.

THE COTTON CROP.

STATISTICS GIVEN BY THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

The statistical report for June, of the department of agriculture shows an improvement in the status of cotton, the average of condition having advanced from 88.8 to 91.4 since the previous returns. On the Atlantic coast the crop is generally well advanced, while it is late in the southwest, where planting was delayed by the overflows and by heavy rains. That which was planted early began to bloom from the 15th to the 25th, and in the southwest some bolls are reported as early as April 30th. While the plant is in various stages of advancement in the more southern belt, the present average of the July condition has been exceeded only once in the last five years. The averages are as follows, by states: Virginia 92, North Carolina 95, South Carolina 93, Georgia 95, Florida 91, Alabama 95, Mississippi 90, Louisiana 93, Texas 89, Arkansas 89, Tennessee 93. Nearly throughout the cotton area two or three weeks of dry weather have been reported, but scarcely any injury from drought. Since the 1st of July heavy rains have been reported on the Atlantic coast.

THE LOTTERY WINS.

THE GOVERNOR'S VETO RETURNED TO THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

A Baton Rouge, La., special says Wednesday night the lottery question and governor's veto were submitted to the judiciary committee of the senate, with instructions to report within an hour. The committee, by a vote of eight to three, made the following report, which was adopted by the senate, thus disposing of the whole matter.

Resolved, By the Senate of the State of Louisiana, in general assembly convened, that in vindication of the constitutional right of the people of the State, and in keeping with the dignity of the senate, a distinct and separate, though co-ordinate branch of the government, the veto of the governor, which is without authority or right, be respectfully returned to the house of representatives, and the clerk of the senate be instructed to furnish his excellency the Governor, with a copy of this resolution.

The report was adopted, and the whole matter is now disposed of.

THE NEW OFFICERS.

ELECTED BY THE SUPREME LODGE OF THE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

A Milwaukee dispatch says: The supreme lodge of the Knights of Pythias of the world, on Thursday, elected their supreme officers. Chancellor, George B. Shaw, New Orleans, La.; vice-chancellor, W. W. Blackwell, New Orleans, La.; Ed. L. Blackmer, of San Diego, Cal.; master of exchequer, S. J. Willard, of Wilmington, Del.; keeper of records and seal, R. L. C. ## MEXICAN DIRT.

THE BIGGEST LAND TRAFFIC IN THE HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT.

Information was received at San Antonio, Texas, on Friday, of the consummation of the biggest land trade in the history of the American continent. The parties to the contract were John Hancock, of Austin, and Robert Sumner, of San Antonio, on one side, setting for the owners, and representatives of an English and Holland syndicate, on the other. The land lies all in one body in the state of Samaulias, Mexico, within easy distance of the Mexican Central railroad, and comprises between five and six million acres and 75,000 head of cattle. The terms are private.

In the English-speaking world there are at present 90,000,000 Protestants and 11,000,000 Romanists.

Statisticians of Creeds.

Over the whole world at the close of the last century, Protestantism numbered only 400,000,000 adherents, now it has reached 150,000,000. It has nearly doubled its numbers. Romanism, the other hand, was three times as numerous, adhered to as Protestantism at the end of the last century. It had 120,000,000 followers, now it has only 180,000,000, just one-fifth more than Protestantism. It had increased at the same rate as Protestantism it would now have numbered 400,000,000 adherents. If Protestantism continues to advance at the present rate it will overtake Romanism numerically by the beginning of the next century. In the English-speaking world there are at present 90,000,000 Protestants and 11,000,000 Romanists.

Monday,
JULY 24, 1890.
SEVEN OF SUBSCRIPTION.

We are authorized to announce Dr. W. C. CROSS as a candidate for Congress by the Fifth District, subject to the action of the Democratic Convention.

The new census gives Mobile a population of 34,000 in the city limits, and 10,000 in the suburbs.

Buchanan, president of the State Alliance, was nominated by the Democratic Convention of Tennessee for Governor.

Our good neighbor, Shelby, is in the midst of a disagreeable political wrangle. Cause, too many office-seekers. Shelby now sets an example to deter other counties.

Now that we have nominated a ticket for the united Democracy let all turn out on election day and sell up a big majority for that ticket. A full white vote should be polled.

Tuskaloosa wants the M. T. & M. R. R. shops located at that point, Tuskaloosa being a central location on the line of the road it is probable that the proper effort on the part of other people will secure them.

Miss Minnie Hargrove, the only daughter of Hon. A. C. Hargrove, of Tuskaloosa, was married in that city last Thursday to Mr. Adrian S. Vandegrift, the young law partner of Col. Hargrove. We wish them much joy.

Some cities are infected with fleas, some with dogs, some with malaria, and some with whisky, but it seems that one of the worst pests in any town is the chronic croaker, who never sees anything good ahead. He attends to everybody's business, and hence never has time to attend to his own, consequently he is a miserable failure and tries to make everybody else one. A model man once said: "It has always taken me one half of my time to attend to my own business, and the other half to let other people's alone."

Senator Pugh has written a letter to a friend in this State in which he says:

"My friends wish me to come home," says Mr. Pugh; "and see my constituents about my re-election to the senate; that I am to have opposition, which is being quietly and skillfully organized in my absence. I tell them that I am at my post of duty to my state and people from which I have not lost a day in ten years, and that if I am to be crippled by my opponents at home, without just cause, while I am here grappling with the public enemies of my state and people, I must take the risk and leave results to my constituents, who know me and my history."

Judge Henderson M. Somerville, of the Alabama Supreme Court, has accepted an appointment on the board of general appraisers of merchandise tendered him by President Harrison. The salary of the position is $7,500, more than double his present salary on the supreme bench.

His acceptance creates a vacancy on the supreme bench of this state. Judge Somerville having yet two years before completing his term of office, and already the public is beginning to agitate the question of Judge Somerville's successor. The names of nearly a dozen prominent Alabamians have been suggested, among them being Col. H. C. Tompkins, chairman of the democratic state executive committee, and W. S. Thornton of Montgomery; Chancellor T. W. Coleman of Eutaw, Chancellor John A. Foster of Huntsville, S. T. Simpson of Florence, Hannis Taylor of Mobile, W. A. Walker of Birmingham, W. T. Webb of Greensboro, W. J. Samford of Opelika, and William Richardson of Huntsville, late candidate for governor. The resignation of Judge Somerville places in the closing days of Governor Say's administration the filling of one of the most honorable and important offices in the state, and will make the second supreme judge he has named. The contest receives additional interest because of the fact that it is now generally conceded that the next legislature will increase the supreme bench from four to five judges, and aspirants for Judge Somerville's position will be in line for the new chair when elected.

We now have a good county ticket in the field, and it is not worth while to advise the white men of the county in or out of the Alliance to vote the Democratic ticket, for they are going to vote that ticket any how. It is plain to every one that the Alliance will vote the ticket almost to a man, and the result will be that two years hence, if the Alliance holds together, it will be the controlling power in party councils. Not only in this county will such be the case, but every county in the State, with the probable exception of Shelby, may witness the same result. Shelby Allianced men do not seem to be moving so shrewdly as their brothers over the State, but are squabbling over county matters, and are still classed as Independents and anti-Democrats because they are opposing the Democratic ticket which has the endorsement of the State committee and the State convention. They seem to have forgotten the maxim that all things come to him who waits. The order elsewhere, it is apparent, will unite on the Democratic ticket, State and county, and two years hence in the Democratic primaries and conventions the Allianced men may be expected to get there Eli with a vengeance. One of the declarations of the order is that it is non-partisan, but there is no declaration that it is non-political, on the contrary one of its chief aims is to educate its members in the science of government, and the principles of political economy. The sense in which it is non-partisan seems to be in the fact that it admits men of all political creeds and followings to membership. The purpose of the order being to better the condition of its members, it is thought that by united action as a political party, in the dominant party they will be able to do more easily, accomplished. To that extent it may be called partisan. Not being a member of the order we give these views as they appear to an outsider, the recent movements in political matters here and elsewhere in the State pointing as we have indicated.

Oppose That Bill.

It is the duty of the press of the country to enlighten its readers upon the sub-treasury bill. The daily papers of Alabama have placed themselves unequivocally in opposition to it, and it is the duty of the weekly press to do likewise. It is one of the most iniquitous and foolish measures ever proposed in Congress. Not a county in the entire South would have a bushel of wheat, corn or oats to store in a government warehouse. The unfortunate part of it is that the farmers do not make enough of such products for their own use, without storing them away for sale. The Western farmers do, however, and to favor such a bill would raise the price of the necessities we purchase. The Western farmers do not buy our cotton and consequently there is no reciprocity of trade between us. To store our cotton in warehouses to wait for better prices would have no effect upon the money kings who eventually buy it, and the cotton would decrease in weight without any material increase in price. It is generally acknowledged to be a fact that the farmers realize more for his cotton if sold as soon as ginned.

Capt. Johnston's Speech.

Capt. Jos. F. Johnston, of Birmingham, made the opening speech of the campaign in Shelby county at Hartselle, and his address excited much comment. To show its tenor, we make the following extract from the address.

What complaint have the farmers of Alabama of the Democratic party? What relief has been denied them? What have they asked for and received a stone. When have their demands not been treated with respectful consideration? What legislation has been denied them?

At their instance laws have been enacted giving them not only a lien on all crops grown on their land, but self-operating liens, requiring no record demanding no proceedings, and liens that lap from one year to another and a mechanic has a lien he can only enforce by prompt action; delay is fatal to it. The lawyer has no lien on hand that by his skill he may recover for his client. The doctor has no lien for services. The merchant and manufacturer none for their goods, and the banker none for his money. The farmer is the most favored class in this respect. They asked laws making it a felony to steal any part of a growing crop, prohibiting the sale of cotton and corn between sunset and sunrise, and many others. Every one was granted them as should have been. Agricultural stations have been established and maintained in various sections of the state to aid and instruct them, and to-day our statute books contain an annual appropriation of five thousand dollars for the aid of the State Fair. Has any other class asked or received a tithe of these things? What legislation enacted by the assembly of Alabama has laid one unnecessary burden upon their shoulders? None.

LAWYERS IN POLITICS.

But it is said they have been denied office. If so by whom? Not by the democratic party, nor any organization inside the party. What banker or doctor or merchant has ever filled the office of Governor or been senator or Congressman? Not one in twenty-five years.

The lawyers mainly have filled these great offices by the suffrage of our party, not because they were lawyers or better or wiser men than others, but because they were peculiarly fitted by their education and training to discharge worthily

ELECTION LAW.

The law requires that the polls be opened in each precinct between five o'clock and nine o'clock in the morning and kept open until the hour of 5 o'clock in the evening, and no longer. The following section of the election laws are published for the information of voters.

Sec. 85. Be it further enacted that it shall be the duty of the Sheriff of each county in this State on the day of the election to be present in person or by deputy, at all election precincts where elections are to be held in his county, whose duty it shall be to maintain good order, and to see that no person shall be allowed within thirty feet of the ballot box, except while casting his vote, but qualified electors, members of and representatives of his county, and not to exceed in number five for each party, shall be allowed, without restriction as to distance, as heretofore prescribed, each to have a table for the purpose of challenging persons who may be suspected of attempting to vote illegally in order that every elector shall be free to vote without interference or interruption; and to maintain good order, and to carry on the interest and purposes of this act, such Sheriff or deputy may, in case of necessity, use a posse comitatus to put down all riots and disturbances.

Sec. 86. Be it further enacted, that any Sheriff or deputy Sheriff willfully or corruptly failing to perform any of the duties imposed by the last preceding section of this act, shall be guilty of felony, and on conviction shall be fined not less than one thousand dollars and imprisoned in the Penitentiary not less than five years, at the discretion of the jury trying the same, and the office of said Sheriff or deputy shall be declared vacant.

Sec. 87. Be it further enacted, that it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to sell or give away any liquor of any kind, or on election day, during the day on which any election may be held in this State, or on the day next preceding such election day, and it shall be the duty of the Sheriff, or deputy Sheriff, or any constable, to arrest all persons violating the provisions of this section.

Registrars can obtain all necessary blanks and their registration books by making application to the Judge of Probate.

Books of subscription to the Ala. Georgia and Florida Railroad were opened at the courthouse Monday by a representative of the new road. The proposed road of built will pass through the northeastern corner of Clanton county. It is a road proposed to connect Southern Georgia and Florida points with Birmingham.

The Alliance county meeting on the 17th and 18th inst., at Rocky Mount was another grand success, being represented by about 90 delegates from all over Chilton county. This is a record for the play, but shows the earnestness and energy of the farmers in these meetings. An excellent address was delivered on the occasion by Dr. Fickler of Birmingham.

Mr. Duke Declines the Honor.

Clanton, July 21st, 1890.
Ex. View: Dear Sir—It has been rumored on the streets of Clanton that I was nominated for the Legislature from this county by the Republican party at Lomax on last Saturday. Please state that it was a surprise to me that I never had my name submitted or would I in any way accept the nomination, as I am a Democrat, and if not, I do not think there are any, and wish to assure my friends that it is a mistake, and that I proposed all along to support the Democratic nominee ticket. I have always voted the Democratic ticket without scratching, until two years ago, when I voted the county independent ticket. I regret the mistake concerning my position.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Jemison Locals.

The Board of Trustees of Jemison High School have elected Prof. W. O. Johnson, of Goodwater, as Principal. He has accepted, with the assistance of Miss Laura Butler, and this insures us a first class high school another year.

P. C. Bean Esq., departed this life at Jemison on the evening of the 17th inst. He leaves a large number of connections to mourn his loss, to all of whom we extend our sympathies.

Mr. and Mrs. Higdon, of Fla. have been visiting Mrs. Randy's family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McCarty, of the Magic city, visited Mr. J. P. Allen's family last week.

Mr. Caine and wife, of Uniontown, visited Mr. G. H. Gilliam's family recently.

Miss Sallie Woolley one of Dry Valley's most charming young ladies, has been sick at the home of her grandfather, Mr. David Woolley, in Jemison, for two or three days past; but we are glad to say that she is now much better.

Mrs. Mollie Allen leaves Wednesday to spend some weeks rustinating at Verbena and Deatsville.

Miss Minnie Wells, one of our fairest and most popular young ladies, leaves in a few days for Six Mines where she expects to spend the remainder of the summer.

Some of our junior friends have already put on sad faces in consequence.

The primary passed off quietly, 55 votes being cast, at Jemison last Saturday.

We have had good rains in this part of the county and the crops are looking well.

The Knights of Honor are to be commended for the prompt payment of the insurance in full on life of Mr. S. J. Heath to his widow.

Providence Points.

Married. At the residence of the bride's father last Thursday, at 6 p. m., Mr. Joseph Thomas and Miss Julia Hendley, both of Coopers.

Refreshing showers have brought the dry weather to a close with numbers of farmers while others have had no rain since the middle of June.

Mrs. Alred, who suffered greatly from a protracted illness, is now on foot again.

Rey. Bone filled his regular appointment at Providence last Saturday and Sunday. Also Saturday night.

Another fishing party went out on Coosa river last week and caught about fifty five willow cats.

Wednesday of last week is memorable for the damage done by a severe wind and heavy rain. Corn was blown to the ground. Rain fell in torrents for about an hour, washing land and fence where it went. An excellent singing is being conducted at Providence every Sunday by the accomplished leader, Mr. R. Robertson. It is proving a success.

Proceedings of Chilton County Democratic Convention.

The convention was called to order by W. A. Collier and J. H. Boswick. After prayer by Rev. A. J. Briggs, Mr. Collier made a short address and then turned over the gavel to Mr. D. A. White, who had been elected as temporary chairman. W. L. Sampey was chosen to act as temporary secretary and W. H. Foshee as permanent secretary. Enrollment of delegates was next proceeded with, and the following were found with proper credentials and no contest being presented were accepted as regular delegates.

J. Wiley, J. T. Jones.

On motion of J. H. Boswick the temporary officers were made the permanent officers of the convention. Nominations for Representative being next in order, Mr. J. H. Boswick nominated G. A. Northington and Dr. W. E. Stewart nominated J. H. Boswick, in spite of that gentleman's protest that he was not a candidate. The ballot being taken by beats resulted in the nomination of G. A. Northington by a vote of 31 to 9.

Nominations for County Superintendent of Education were next called for, and Prof. R. E. Hicks was the only candidate nominated and was elected by acclamation. The two nominees were then called for, and each made a short speech, thanking the convention for the honor conferred.

On motion, each beat delegation chose one member of the executive committee and the following were chosen:

Beat 1—H. C. Young; beat 2—J. P. Vanderveer; beat 3—D. A. White; beat 4—W. E. Stewart; beat 5—J. H. Boswick; beat 6—J. W. Scott; beat 7—W. A. Roney; beat 8—P. M. Moore.

In selecting congressional delegates, it was moved and carried that the following basis of representation be had for the different beats, viz: Beat 1—one delegate, beat 2—two delegates, beat 3—one delegate; beat 4—three delegates; beat 5—four delegates; beat 6—one delegate; beat 7—two delegates; beat 8—four delegates.

The following delegates were chosen:

H. C. Young, L. Reynolds, J. P. Vanderveer, J. S. Pitts, G. C. Hicks, W. H. Foshee, W. E. Stewart, M. Robertson, H. A. J. Harris, W. N. Jones, J. E. White, J. W. Scott, R. E. Hicks, W. A. Roney, D. M. Martin, P. M. Moore, T. D. Parnell, J. W. Leitch.

Adjournment. D. A. WHITE, Chairman.

W. L. SAMPEY, Secretary.

On Saturday the Republican executive committee of this county, by means known only to the committee nominated a ticket for county offices. For the Legislature, Mr. A. G. Duke secured a prize which he says elsewhere in this issue that he does not want. Mr. Alf. Popwell was nominated for Superintendent of Education.

In conversation with Col. Edw. H. Knox, in regard to the nomination of Mr. Duke he stated that he had known Mr. Duke for a number of years, and always thought that he was a Republican, and said that he had spoken to Duke about the nomination before the Lomax convention, and while Mr. Duke did not say he would accept, he did not say he would not.

The lunch served by the ladies of the Methodist Church at the courthouse Tuesday brought them $27 for the Methodist parsonage.

Both Ankles Crushed.

In a railroad smash up in 1876, I had both ankles badly crushed. Soon after blood poison set in, and both legs, from my knees down, were covered with ulcerated sores, that refused all efforts to heal. I was virtually helpless for ten years, being bedridden most of the time. During all the time I was attended by the best physicians in this section of the state, and must have taken a cart load of medicine, without receiving any relief or being benefited in any way. In 1887 I was induced to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) I commenced to improve from the first dose, and continued to get better, until today I am as sound and well as any man in the universe. This was two years ago, since which I have had no return of sores or any pain in the legs. From my experience I conscientiously believe that Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) has no equal as a blood purifier, and I cheerfully recommend it to any one suffering from any disease of the blood.

GREAT CLEARING-OUT SALE IS SEASONABLE!

WE DO NOT wait until the end of the season to have our clearing sale. When you are thinking of purchasing fall goods, it is not the time to try and shove off on a considerate public, shop-worn goods which have been lying on the shelf a whole year or more, as will be attempted, soon by so-called competitors, by declaring a clearing sale before stock-taking. This is not our style of doing business. We placed our whole immense stock before your inspection months ago, right in the best part of the season, at prices that are 30 to 40 per cent. lower than other houses pay for them, and you certainly partook liberally of them. What we advertised were square, honest truths, and they never will be anything else but truths. That is why we do such a volume of business. There is no taboos about this. A simple chance into our stores any day during the week, at any hour, will convince you of what we say about the business. We are doing. Come and join the great crowds this week.

Uncompleted.
I think the world that are sweetest
Are the worlds that are never said;
And the moments that pass the fleetest
Are the last ones with the dead.
The thoughts that are true and brave
Are the ones that are never expressed;
And the tender love that craves
For love is never confessed.
The rose that is sweetest and fairest
Is the bud that is killed by the frost;
And the love that is dearest and rarest
Is the true love we just have lost.

THE BLUE ROSE-JAR.

BY SHIRLEY FROWE.

It was Mrs. De Bassett's "at home" day.

She sat gracefully among her guests, reading the last society journal. Mrs. Narifa, her eldest daughter, a willowy damsel who wore clinging white gowns, was posed against a narrow velvet drapery, with dead-gold bracelets on her wrists and a lily in her lap.

"Narifa is almost a beauty," said Mrs. De Bassett, "and, if I mistake not, Mrs. Ingots thinks her quite one." Aurora, the second daughter, was leaning over and wrote something that looked a little like a letter in her hand. Mrs. De Bassett had fixed on an unconscious bachelor or as a fitting spouse for her. "He don't know it himself," said she, "but he's almost in love with the dear girl!"

Miss De Bassett was cutting the leaves of a new magazine at a table where an antique box of white lilies diffused a delicious perfume.

"Those lilies are exquisite, love," said Mrs. De Bassett, "but I tremble to think what they cost!"

"Just nothing, mamma," said Narifa; "they were charged to papa's account."

"But the account must be settled somehow," said Mrs. De Bassett.

"Just wait until the day comes," said Narifa the emotionalist. "Everybody has flowers, and it won't do for us to be behind the fashion."

"Hush!" said Aurora, pointing the pearl paper-cutter in maidenly rebuke to the bell. "Some one is coming!"

"It's only me, Aunt Linda," said a high, sweet voice, and a girl of sixteen swept into the room like a whirlwind—a frocked, lustrous-haired whirlwind—a blue-eyed whirlwind, with a torn cloak, a streaming shawl, a bonnet hanging down her back, and a general atmosphere of disorder.

"It's Celia!" said Mrs. De Bassett, growing visibly rigid.

"It's Celia!" repeated the Miss De Bassetts, in differing tones of consternation.

"I couldn't help it!" cried Celia, recaptivating herself with a shower of kisses on the elderly lady. "Malame brought me so ugly to the poor little friend girl, and she didn't get enough to eat—and the cook boxed her ears—and she hadn't decent shoes to wear! And when I remonstrated with her, Madame said it was none of my business, and I was only a servant myself. I'm a pupil-teacher, a servant, Aunt Linda—even if I did mend the school stockings and wash the faces of the infant class! So, of course, I couldn't stand that, and we're run away, the little bound girl and I; and she's warning her feet down in the kitchen now; and, please, Aunt Linda, may we both start here?"

"Mr. Hildens!" announced the white-capped maid, lifting the Algerian silk portieres. Mrs. De Bassett mentioned Celia into an adjoining room and assumed her company smile. Narifa rose gracefully, Aurora pushed back her silver inkstand, and the business of receiving company began.

Mrs. De Bassett was a dancin' of infinite resources. During the few moments of reflection she had been able to switch between the guests she had bade up her mind.

"It is a great nuisance," she admitted frankly to Narifa, "but I see no help for it. We can't possibly get along with only Mary and the cook. Celia can help with the housework, and this little bound girl shall wash dishes, clean knives and run of errands."

The cook, however, resented this usurpation of a place she had destined for her own sister's grandchild, and gave warning. Mary sided with her associate and fairly requested Mrs. De Bassett to "sue herself."

Mrs. De Bassett was not easily thrown off her balance. "Wages are wages," said she. "I shall have a calender in on grand occasions, and as far as every day goes, Celia has a real genius for cooking. And I shall fix up some sort of Oriental costume for Hilda to attend door in. The child is very pretty when once you look in her face—and she is quite teachable."

But one day Hilda blindly fled to her ally in the kitchen.

"I've broken it," gasped she. "The old India rose jar. The handle of the dusting brush knocked it down! And that day I broke the yellow-handled teacup she said she'd whip me within an hour of my life if ever I did it again! Oh, Celia, what shall I do? Don't let her whip me, don't!"

"Where is she?" asked Celia, who was heating eggs, with her "Titian-red" head tied up in a pocket-handkerchief.

"Our riding," said Hilda, her big eyes dilated, her heart thumping like a steam drill.

Celia jumped on a chair and thrust her slim hand into a cracked pitcher on the top dresser shelf.

"I know where the India rose is," said she. "I went there once to change a spotted dragon. We'll go down and replace the jar before Aunt Linda comes back. I've got 47 cents of my own, and I know they'll trust me. Quick, Hilda; get the pieces."

Mr. Wilkinson of the India and China Trading Company was amazed at the apparition of two young girls as he sat among his teak-wood cabinets, lacquered trays and chests of fragrant tea.

"The rose-jar?" said he. "Ah, yes; a genuine Old Blue! You could replace it, but it will cost fourteen dollars."

Celia's countenance fell. Hilda clutched spasmodically at her shawl.

"Celia," she whispered, "let us run away again. I never can go back to Mrs. De Bassett. Look at all those ships on the dock. Let's hide ourselves behind the barrels and casks, and—"

"Only boys do that," said valiant Celia. "We are girls. Mr. Storeman, we've only got 47 cents, but if you will kindly trust us—"

"We don't do business that way," said Mr. Wilkinson, poking at a fat spider in the corner with his cane.

"My uncle is Mr. De Bassett of Sixtieth street," said Celia, loftily. "He will see that you are paid."

"I wish he might," said the "India and China" merchant. "He's down on my books for a previous long sum already, and not much prospects of settlement. Is that you, Captain Portlandwone? Yes, yes; I saw your bark had been signaled last night. So you're made port at last, eh? Brought any more of that Okari ware, eh?"

"All you want, old boy," said a cheerful, brown-faced man, his hat well on the side of his head, as he swung into the dark little warehouse with the peculiar rolling gait of one used to the deck of a vessel in a high sea. "Look! I've got a round dozen of those 'Old Blue' jars—a dead match to the one on the counter, and a chest of carved ivory fit for a king's mansion; and—"

"I know you, Dick!" joyfully shrieked Hilda, springing at him like a young ocelot. "Oh, Dick! oh, Dick! where have you been all this time?"

Captain Portlandwone drew a long whistle.

"By the beard of Neptune," cried he, "its little Hildegarde. It's my step-mother's little girl."

"And she's dead," gasped Hilda, in short, jerky sentences, "and they bound me out to be errand girl at Madame Boughton's."

"The old school-ma'am's? The deuce they did!" cried Captain Portlandwone, tugging fiercely at his mustache. "Bound you out! My father's step-child? A mile of a thing like you. Why couldn't they have written to me?"

"You know," said Hilda, solemnly, "you were drowned at sea. Your vessel was lost in the great gale last September. At least, that was what the Woodbury people said."

"Well, I came pretty near it," acknowledged the captain, "but Dick Portlandwone isn't wiped off the world's log-book so easy as that. The 'Fair Rosamond' was lost, but I shipped on board the 'Arachne' at the very next port, and here I am, not a bit the worse for it; and bringing in a cargo of crinkum-crankums that'll put a home over both our heads, little one, or I'm not the man I take myself to be. So they made you a bound girl, did they? My poor little chickie! But I'll look after you now."

Hilda nestled close to her tall foster-brother.

"Please, Dick," said she, "you must look after Celia, too."

"Celia. And who is Celia?"

"I am Celia," said the auburn-haired damsel. "But I don't want any one to look after me. All I want is one of the blue rose-jars, so that Aunt Linda won't box our ears."

"I love Celia," pleaded Hilda, her soft blue eyes brimming over with tears. "I can't part from Celia."

The handsome sea-captain went home with the two girls to explain matters, and Mrs. De Bassett was all smiles and sweetness. Failing Mr. Van Schoenhoven and Mr. Ferdinand Ingots, she did not know why a thriving naval character should not suit the lily-holding Narifa or the intellectual Aurora. But Captain Dick was too wary to fall into her trap.

"I don't care much about society," said he, when she mentioned her Thursday teas and Saturday night musicales. "But, with your permission, ma'am, I'll take charge of the two little girls henceforth. Their future shall be my care. A roving fellow like me will be all the better for a little anchorage. I'm able to give 'em a good home, and—"

"Little girls," echoed Mrs. De Bassett, smiling. "Who would have thought it? Well, I don't know that it matters much. Hilda is fond of her, and she stood Hilda's friend when the poor child had no one to look to."

"If you would trust the dear children to me," smiled Mrs. De Bassett, "they would be sure of a mother's tenderness care."

But neither Hilda nor Celia acquiesced in this proposal. Hilda's ears were yet smarting from the last hearty cuff the gracious matron had administered, and Celia's shoulder was yet lame from an energetic shaking, in consequence of a coffee-pot spout melted off.

"We'd rather go with Dick, please," said Hilda.

But Mrs. De Bassett, whose supplies were low, was not thus easily rebuffed.

"I think, George," she said two weeks afterward to her husband, "that Celia is too old to accept the hospitality of a young man like Captain Portlandwone. If we could make some arrangement for her to reside here—"

"She's there as Hilda's friend, isn't she?" "Another fellow's arm."

she?" said Mr. De Bassett. "And they've got a splendid old house-keeper in charge and a governess, besides the cook and the chamber-maid. And Portlandwone is only there part of the time. I don't see any occasion for criticism. Besides—"

"Eh?" said Mrs. De Bassett. "If you must know—"

"De Bassett, what do you mean?" "Portlandwone asked my permission last night to pay his addresses to Celia. So that matter will straighten itself out."

"To—Celia! Why, she's only a child!" screamed Mrs. De Bassett. "I don't know what you call a child. She's seventeen this week!"

Mr. De Bassett sighed. Why did not Fate provide such luck as this for Narifa the slender, and Aurora the spirituelle? Celia, indeed!

"A red-haired, untrained young gypsy whom no one would care to look at twice!" said she.

"You see, he thinks differently," observed Mr. De Bassett, who was secretly fond of his niece.—[Fire-side Companion.]

Habits of Foxes in England.
Early in spring the dog-foxes travel great distances to find their mates, and on still evenings their cry may be heard plainly, three short, husky barks, like the cough of a dog with a bone in his throat. The vixen occasionally utters a plaintive howl, a shrill, uncomfortable noise. The first cubs are born early in the middle of May, sometimes in some large earth that has been used for years, but frequently in a hole which the vixen has made for herself. Unlike the others, foxes do not resent the presence of others of their species in their hunting-ground. A pair of vixens will monopolize miles of river; but if there is plenty of game and the cubs are quiet, half-a-dozen vixens may take up their quarters in one square mile. The quantity of food which the cubs require is extraordinary; and if the fox were not the most cunning as well as one of the most active and enduring of animals, the old ones would find it hard to satisfy them.

Fortunately for the mothers of large families—for they sometimes have as many as seven in a litter—the cubs are omnivorous feeders, and, except snakes or storks, will eat almost anything. Fish, frogs, small birds, field-mice, rabbits, and all kinds of game are their usual fare. The vixens prowling around every fowl-house in the neighborhood at least once a week. They will climb an ivy-covered tree and catch a wood-pigeon on her nest, or hide in a patch of rushes and catch the moorhen as she swims from her island-home to the bank. Meantime, the father of the family leads a comfortable bachelor life, spending the warm days curled up in a snug nest in the long dry grass, with a good thick tuft between him and the wind, or, if the day be very calm, he slips into the crown of a pollard, and sleeps there.—[London Spectator.]

Lost Prestige of the Attar of Roses.
The once famous attar of roses has, of late years, lost very much of the prestige which it formerly enjoyed. The objection which people have to it on the ground that it is a vulgar scent is not without foundation, but, by those persons, fortunately not numerous, who are prone to grant their favor to an article in proportion to the sum it costs, the perfume should be held in high esteem, as we are told that it takes 1000 rose trees to supply two ounces of attar of roses, and that this amount is worth $100.—[Commercial Advertiser.]

"Yes, I was awfully fond of that girl, and I believed her to be perfect, but I saw something about her last night that made me sick." "What was that?" "Another fellow's arm."

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE BUSY WORLD.

A SUMMARY OF OUTSIDE AFFAIRS CONDENSED FROM NEWS DISPATCHES FROM THE CABLE AND WHAT THE CABLE BRINGS.

Small-pox is ravaging Egyptian villages. Hail storms have destroyed crops in upper Bavaria.

Belgium is recruiting hundreds of Soudanese for the Congo state. Stradler & Co., clothiers, New York city, made an assignment Thursday.

The Minnesota republican convention, Thursday, renominated Governor Merriam.

London stevedores have declared a boycott against steamers of the Allan line plying to Montreal.

The American seaman, William Rice, has been lost at sea. The whole crew of sixteen persons perished.

The Corning powder mill, at Mountain View, N. J., was destroyed by an explosion on Thursday, and two men were killed.

The French papers publish the text of the McKinley bill, they say, to show exporters the risk they run in sending goods to America.

The city council of Chicago, Wednesday night, passed an ordinance granting the use of the lake front as part of the site for the world's fair.

The damage by drought in the New England states is now past recovery. Pastures are drying up, rendering the early feeding of stock necessary.

Ezra Haywood, publisher of the World, Boston, Mass., was on Thursday sentenced to two years imprisonment on the charge of sending obscene matter through the mails.

Three unknown men seized the watchman of a bank of Weymouth, N. J., gagged him and tied him to a tree. They then robbed the bank of about $1,000 and escaped.

Secretary Wm. R. Owen, of the steam generator company, of Newark, N. J., was arrested Thursday, charged with forging checks to the amount of $3,000.

John Harris, the largest man in Illinois, died a few days ago, at his home, near Tuscola. He was 70 years of age, and his weight for many years past has been between 600 and 700 pounds.

Governor Warren has issued a proclamation, calling the first Wyoming election for September 15. The democratic and republican state conventions are called for August 11, in Cheyenne.

Word was received at the Maritime Exchange, New York, Wednesday morning, that the steamer Egypt, of the National line, had been abandoned at sea. She was said to be on fire at the time she was abandoned.

A dispatch of Wednesday, from London, says: The town of Hammerfest, in Norway, has been almost destroyed by fire. The inhabitants have been rendered homeless and are in a starving condition.

A dispatch received at London, Thursday, from Valparaiso states that a mob attack a number of stores in the city of Santiago, the capital of the republic, and sacked them. The military was called upon to quell the disturbance.

The largest plate glass factory in the world is soon to be established at Irvin, Pa., on the Pennsylvania railroad, by a syndicate of English and American capitalists, which, it is reported, has a capital of $500,000,000 at its disposal.

The report of the census of twenty-four of the districts of Kansas City has been completed, showing 1,200 short of the first rough count, and now some of the Kansas City people are telegraphing on to have the original count stand.

A telegram from La Libertad, Salvador, says: "The present government has established a right censorship of news. No information in regard to the existing crisis or trouble between this country and Guatemala is allowed to be published."

An incendiary fire at Spokane Falls, Wash., on Wednesday, destroyed $180,000 worth of property. The loss is covered to the extent of $60,000. Among other property destroyed was the Monroe street bridge, $40,000. Suspects have been arrested.

The Illinois board of agriculture is dissatisfied with the selection of the lake front as the site for the world's fair. The board alleges that there is not room enough for the agriculturists to make a decent display. A committee of the board will go before the legislature with their grievance, and try and have the selection of site reconsidered.

Notwithstanding denials of semi-official newspapers that a plot against the government has been discovered at Rep-nos Ayres, several army officers have been arrested for complicity in the conspiracy to overthrow the present rulers of the republic. As a means of precaution against the plotters, guards have been stationed about all government buildings.

About 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon a cloud burst in Grand canon, a few miles above Canon City, Col. The Rio Grande track was washed out in several places, and considerable damage done to property along the line. One hundred head of cattle were caught by the torrent in the canon, and were washed down the river and drowned.

The New York World, of Wednesday, editorially says: "There is excellent prospect at this moment to defeat the force bill in the senate, but this prospect is not helped by the threats of a trade boycott. It is hurt and will be destroyed by these threats if they are continued."

The World publishes the action of the Richmond chamber of commerce, disapproving the I. O. O. F. threats and also opinions adverse to the boycott from Texas, Arkansas and Mississippi.

The parliamentary conference on 17th of Madison, Wis., on Wednesday the prohibitionist convention made the following nominations: For governor, Dr. Alexander, of Eau Claire; for lieutenant governor, W. R. Nethercutt, of Milwaukee; secretary of state, William Johnson, of St. Croix county; treasurer, Robert Fager, of Jefferson; attorney general, T. Van Buren, of Oshkosh; state school superintendent, Henry Summer, of Outagamie; railroad commissioner, J. O. Black, of Richmond Center; insurance commissioner, Andrew Peterson, of Green county.

The Alabama State Agricultural society convened at Birmingham on Tuesday with over one hundred delegates present. The main discussion will be on a resolution providing for the election of the commissioner of agriculture by the people. He is now appointed by the governor.

A Chattanooga dispatch says: The steamer M. H. Cliff took fire from a spark which lodged in a bale of hay, Tuesday morning, off Lanesboro, Tenn. The steamer was bound for Memphis, and was crowded with passengers on board were badly frightened, but were saved without difficulty. The loss is about $6,000.

Sergeant Barwick has sent the following dispatch from Sacramento, Cal., to the signal officer at Washington: "Grain harvest almost over; yield and acreage much below the average, but quality is good. Abundant fruit crop, except peaches, reported from nearly all portions of the fruit belt."

The Birmingham Evening News states that the Mary Pratt furnace will be sold at auction, because of the refusal of the stockholders to ratify its sale for $500,000 to the Pratt, Iron and Steel company. The News says that "no more valuable plant, for its capacity, exists in Alabama or elsewhere."

The following have been appointed special census agents to collect statistics of manufactures: Isadore Forst, Birmingham, Ala.; Michel Burke, Montgomery, Ala.; Charles Hurley, Mobile, Ala.; Hamilton White, Selma, Ala.; Thomas S. Cavender, Columbia, Clifton and Gledale, S. C.; George Gage, Deaford, South Carolina.

A court at Parkersburg, W. Va., has denied the petitions for divorce made by both Rev. Enoch Reeler and his wife. Mr. Reeler is 85 years of age and his wife nearly as old. They made charges of cruel treatment and gross immorality against each other, but the court thought it best that they should finish their law remaining days together.

SMALL POX IN MEXICO
AND NO PRECAUTIONS BEING TAKEN TO PREVENT ITS SPREAD.

A San Antonio, Texas, dispatch of Tuesday, says: Small pox is epidemic along the Mexican side of the border. At Piedras Negras twenty-five per cent. of the population has been affected and the percentage of fatalities has been very high. In New Laredo there have been upwards of two hundred people stricken with the disease. The Mexicans have taken no precautions against its spread, and in many of their smaller towns it is raging unchecked.

FATAL COLLISION.
SIX MEN PROBABLY KILLED—YEARLY WRECK.

A dispatch from Kaukauna, Wis., says: A horrible accident occurred on the Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Western railroad at Ligerton Wednesday. Two heavy freight trains collided while rounding a sharp curve, killing four men and seriously and perhaps fatally injuring two more. Both locomotives and nearly all the cars are a total wreck.

A WONDERFUL SIMILARITY.
"Daring," he said, as he kissed the tips of her pretty little pink fingers, "why are you like the cat practiced by all the practitioners?"

"I don't know," she replied, shrugging slightly, "why am I?" "Because, precious, you are slight of hand."—[Chatterbox.]

GREAT CLEARING-OUT SALE IS SEASONABLE!

WE DO NOT wait until the end of the season to have our clearing sales. When you are thinking of purchasing fall goods, it is not the time to try and shove off on a consignment public, shop-worn goods which have been lying on the shelf a whole year or more, as will be attempted soon by so-called competitors, by declaring a clearing sale before stock-taking. This is not our style of doing business; we place our whole immense stock before your inspection months ago, right in the best part of the season, at prices that are 25 to 30 per cent. lower than other houses pay for them, and you certainly partook liberally of them. What we advertised were square, honest truths, and they never will be anything else but truths. That is why we do such a volume of business. There is no taboos about this. A simple glance into our stores any day during the week, at any hour, will convince you of what we say about the business we are doing. Come and join the great crowds this week.

What Does It Matter?
Wealth and glory, place and power,
What are they worth to me or you?
For the base of life runs out in an hour,
And death stands ready to claim his due;
Sounding honors or heaps of gold,
What are they all when all is told?
A job, or a pleasure, a smile or a tear—
What does it matter what we claim?
For we step from the cradle into the bier,
And a treble world goes on the same,
Hours of gladness or hours of sorrow,
What does it matter to us tomorrow?
Fruit of love or vow of friend—
Tender caresses or cruel sneers—
What do they matter to us in the end?
For the little day dies and the long night
Is here.
Fruitless kisses or tears of grief—
The grave will open as it cover them all.
Honors as transient, or honored guest,
Poor and humble, or rich and great—
All are raked with the world's unrest,
All must meet with the common fate,
Life from childhood till we are old,
What is all when all is told?

CAUGHT BY ACCIDENT.

A DETECTIVE STORY.

During the years that I was in the profession I had some queer cases, and I had the reputation of being "chucky," and I am ready to admit that luck has a great deal to do with successful detective work. I have known officers who were honest, conscientious, and painstaking, but who always just missed it. If they had been on a case for six months, and had finally run a man down until he was within arm's length, some one else was sure to step in and bag the game at the last moment. It is an old saying that "luck brings luck." It was certainly true in my case. My first capture was that of the famous Dick Morton, the Tennessee outlaw of thirty years ago. I was in Nashville when he shot and robbed two men on a highway forty miles distant. I was then on the Cincinnati force, and was interested in getting a close description of the man. Any description you may give of a particular man will apply to dozens in a general way. Dick was about six feet high, brown hair, blue eyes, sandy whiskers, etc. The only real point was in his manner of speech. It was said that he always rolled his eyes upward when beginning a sentence. He did this on the advice of an old woman to break himself of the habit of stuttering, and it was a success.

Just a week after I left Nashville I was in Evansville, Ind. As I sat in the office of a hotel a man came in and registered, and when he answered the inquiry of the landlady went his eyes. When I had seen him to do this three or four times I began to compare him point for point with my description of Dick Morton, and in five minutes I was satisfied that I had my man. He had been shaved, had his hair cut, and wore a suit of black, but there were some things he could not hide. The little finger on his left hand was off to the first joint, he held his head cocked to one side when listening to a speaker, his right foot, too, it was walked. I made no move until after dinner. Then, as he came out of the dining room I held him up with a muzzle of a revolver right against his breast and the landlady put the handcuffs on him. Then I called the local officers and turned him over. He had two pistols and a knife on him, and his wallet panned out over $3,000. At this time more than 100 men were looking for him in Tennessee and Kentucky, there being a reward of $5,000 offered for him dead or alive. It was luck, so far as our meeting in Evansville, but had I not caught him as I did, and in the way I did, the affair would have had a different ending. He was going to scold his bail and take a boat down the river, and once outside the hotel he would have killed any man who dared approach him.

In the second year of the war a young man named Cassius Phillips, cashier in a State bank in Chicago, skipped out one night with about $25,000. It so happened that I was off service then, doing a bit of work for Uncle Sam, and I was asked to take up the embezzler's trail. I had seen him in court about a month before, where he was a witness in a case. His peculiarity was his voice. While he was a big, burly fellow, his voice was as light and thin as a woman's. He had thirty hours the start of me, and had left no trace of his trail. Having learned that he was always talking about a life in Paris, I set out for New York in hopes to hear something of him at the steamer office. He had not been seen, nor had he been among the passengers sailing for any foreign country the day before. I argued that he had fingered on the way somewhere, and would yet turn up in New York. I had been there three days, and was going up Broadway one afternoon in a stage when there was a jam. A stage coming down locked wheels with us, a horse was thrown down, and amid the excitement I heard a thin, piping voice crying out:

"Why don't you do something? We shall be killed before we get out of this tangle!"

The voice belonged to a good-sized man on the outside of the other stage, and I spotted him in an instant for Phillips. I followed him to his hotel, and from there to the office of the French line of steamers, and after he had purchased a ticket I stated the case to the Superintendent of Police, and had him arrested and held until the necessary papers could be had. It was Phillips, sure enough, but how changed! He had sacrificed whiskers and moustache. He had died his eyebrows and had his hair snipped short. He had changed his fine clothes for an ordinary suit, and his beaver for a soft felt. I might have sat and looked at him for two hours and failed to recognize him, but his voice had given him away.

In the fall of 1863 a paymaster belonging to the Western army suddenly stepped out of eight with $175,000 in new, crisp greenbacks. He was at Cairo when he received the money from the Government, and he put it into a safe and lost himself between 6 o'clock in the evening and sunrise next morning. He had gone three days when I reached Cairo. I was described to me as a tall, slim, light-complexioned man, with light side whiskers, blue eyes and auburn hair. There was nothing peculiar about him except a habit he had of rubbing the back of the left hand with the palm of the right when speaking. This was a very light clue to work on, but it was all I had. I searched for four days between Cairo and Chicago, but couldn't strike his trail. My idea was that he would head for the East and seek to get out of the country, but he had other plans. Pretty well satisfied that he didn't leave Cairo by rail, I began hunting among the steamboats. I found, after a long search, that a man, who might possibly have been the paymaster, took a boat that night up the river, but how far no one could say. The information was so vague that it was like hunting for a needle in a haystack, but I went up to Quincy before making a stop. If he showed up at St. Louis he was sure to be nabbed, as the officers in all the larger cities had been notified and were now on the watch. I could hear nothing of my man at Quincy, and after a day or two I went on to Keokuk. It was busy times on the river then, and everybody was on the jump. I could hear nothing of the paymaster, and was about to return to Cairo to take up a new line of pursuit, when a stranger approached me with a proposition. He was a farmer, and perhaps some one had pointed me out as a capitalist or speculator. He had a lot of black walnut timber which he wanted to get to market, but needed money as a starter. He offered, in case I would advance $800, to give me a certain share in the venture, and, as I thought well of it, I drove out to his place, a distance of about twelve miles. We reached there at night, and next morning walked through the timber. At about 10 o'clock we came upon the farm which backed against his, and as we were both thirsty we went to the well for a drink. While there, the woman, with whom my friend was well acquainted, came out, and we all sat down on a side porch for a chat. After two or three minutes a man came out, and she introduced him as her nephew from Ohio. He was roughly dressed and any one with half an eye could see that he was in disguise. He had a saved can, the sun had burned his face and neck, and his hands were not over clean, and he explained that he had served a year in Leavenworth, been discharged for disability, and had come out west to rough it for a few weeks. I jumped to the conclusion that he was a deserter, but had no idea of troubling him. It was the business of the provost marshal to pick up such fellows. We somehow got to talking about some of the battles on the lower Mississippi, and as my former friend and the stranger did not exactly agree the discussion soon waxed hot. Then, to my great amazement, the stranger began to rub the back of his left hand with his right.

I now compared him with the description, and allowing for the changes he had made I saw that he must be my man. I quietly addressed him by name, told him who I was and what I had come for, and what do you suppose he did? He just fell off his chair in a regular faint and we worked over him a quarter of an hour before he opened his eyes. He had been planning his embezzlement for weeks, but she did not know that he was a paymaster. He had the money in a satchel in his room and had used only about $60 of it. His plan was to lie in hiding for several months and then skip to Europe.

The "offeringway case," as it was called, occurred in Covington, Ky., in the last year of the war. An army contractor named Hemingway, living at Hamilton, Ohio, had a partner in Covington, and on a certain date went down to see him. They did business with a Cincinnati bank, and at this time Hemingway drew out $30,000 and turned up missing. After two or three days, when inquiries began to be made, his wife exhibited a letter which he had written on the day of his disappearance. In it he said that he had had a falling out with Staples, his partner, and that Staples had threatened his life. He had dropped out of sight, could not be found, and Staples was under suspicion. He decided that they had never had a word of dispute, and soon satisfied the police that Hemingway had skipped with the partnership money.

The case was given to me when it was a week old, and I was soon satisfied that the absconder's wife knew all about it. I could not go to her for information, but I found people who knew the man well, and had remarked his chief characteristics. He was a big, hearty fellow, and I could hear of only one oddity in his everyday behavior. When talking to any one he always fumbled with the top button of his vest. You have noticed men do this same thing with a watch chain, or fumble in a pocket, or mark the ground with toe or heel.

No one could go South at that time, and there were no railroads across the continent. I felt quite sure Hemingway would go East and try to get out of the country at some big seaport. Indeed, from what I learned at Philadelphia, I was quite sure he had left. I got a description there which fitted him exactly, and he had gone off on a sailing craft bound for South America. That seemed to be the end of the chase, but I had other business in the city to keep me two or three days. On what I had planned to be the last day of my stay I went over to Camden at the solicitation of the officer to see if I could identify a "suspect" who was under arrest. I failed to do so, and they told me he had assaulted and tried to rob a man on the street. The victim entered the station while we were talking, having been forced to make a complaint against his will. His left eye was bandaged, his clothes very common, and his story that he was a machinist from Chicago looking for a job seemed very plausible. All of a sudden while he was being cross-examined, as it were, up went his hand to fumble with his vest button, and within two minutes I felt sure that Clark, as he called himself, was my man Hemingway. When I put the case at him he tried to play innocent, and as a bluff offered to conduct us to his boarding house.

We accepted the offer and arrived there to find every dollar of the money in an old trunk in his room. Then he owned up and asked me to telegraph Staples. His partner came on, made a settlement, and Hemingway was turned loose. He was in a cheap boarding house, claimed to be a mechanic, and calculated to put in a couple of months there before making a start for Europe. Had there been 50 detectives looking for him he would not have been detected except by just such an accident as befel him. —New York Sun.

Digger Indian Mourning.
I once witnessed the funeral of a Digger Indian squaw, says a correspondent of the Saginaw (Mich.) Courier-Herald. On the third afternoon after her death the preparations were made for it. The women brought dry resinous woods and placed them in the form of a pyramid and under them were dry branches and pine knots.

When all was ready they brought the body, wrapped in her best clothes, and laid it on top. Then all her little trinkets and her work-basket and bone utensils for weaving were laid beside her, and her last baby basket laid on her breast, which she had woven herself, hoping soon to need it, for these women certainly love their little ones and rejoice in their motherhood. It is all they have worth living for.

At sundown the disconsolate widow was brought forward, and he was so drunk that he could hardly get to the place where he was to sit. Coal tar was smeared on his face and in his hair. This is their mourning garb—a coat of coal tar.

Then the fire was lighted and the women raised a sort of wailing chant, and while the men joined occasionally, and the body slowly consumed, the fire being fed by fresh pine knots all the while.

The tin dipper circulated, and the men one by one dropped off into slumber, but the women kept awake probably all night, as the fire was still smoldering in the morning.

A River Under a River.
The civil engineers who are engaged in sounding the Coosa River, a few days ago made a singular and almost unheard-of discovery. The sounding-drill penetrated a rocky formation about eighteen inches thick, and then dropped through into another body of water fifty feet in depth, proving that there was a river under the river at least the entire width of the stream, and from twenty-four to sixty feet in depth. —Argonaut.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE GREAT ORGANIZATION.—LEGISLATION, NOTES, ETC.

The Louisiana State Alliance met in convention in Baton Rouge, La., on Wednesday.

Let no man let up on his Alliance work or enthusiasm on account of the warfare between the great Alliance and the politician. It had to come, and it has come. But brave men will not flinch.—The Great West.

The annual meeting of the Georgia State Alliance will convene in Atlanta on the 15th day of August. The session will be held in the hall of representatives in the new State capital. The meeting will be an important one.

Quality Alliance, Calhoun county, Mississippi, indorses by resolution the presentment by President Polk and Messrs. Macne, Wardell, Livingston, and Humphrey, before the committee of Congress, of the sub-treasury bill.

The Alliance of Alabama is increasing as rapidly in the number of lodges and membership as at any time in its history. The old lodges are all working hard, and the membership generally zealous and enthusiastic.—Alliance Herald, Montgomery (Ala.).

The Union (Brookfield, Mo.) says: "The many of success or failure in the great industrial movement now going on, rests wholly in the hands of the common people. Have they the firmness to stand, in opposition to the alternate threatening and cajoling of their old political bosses, and make an uncompromising fight for their natural rights and their rights as American citizens?"

At a regular meeting of the Home Alliance, No. 785, at Bonham, Tex., the following resolution was unanimously adopted: "That we heartily indorse the many course adopted by our legislative committee at Washington in the presentation of the sub-treasury plan before the Ways and Means committee, and that we will intend to keep up the fight until we get it or something better."

The Bloomfield (Mo.) Freeholder puts it thus: "The farmer wants to know why they have been discriminated against, and while they create seven-eighths of the wealth and pay directly and indirectly seven-eighths of the taxes, that they can't borrow $1 from the government, while the national bankers can borrow $200,000,000 to loan to the people at 8 to 10 per cent."

The Patrick Henry (South Haven Kan.) says: "The industrial question is an all-absorbing one. It covers a broad range, it is world-wide. It is testing our civilization, our intelligence and our administrative capabilities, as never a nation was tested before. It has a bearing upon the future, broader and more forcible than any question which has agitated any people in the past. Have we national intelligence, wisdom and integrity enough to stand the test?"

Mr. Haywood may be a little thick-skulled, but after patiently thinking it over, he can quite see the justice of legislation which permits the government to lend money to the national banks at a rate of interest, and in addition to this permits these same banks, along with its manufacturers and other capitalists, to fleece him of the fruits of his toil, and then to add insult to his injury, he is admonished to be more economical, if he would prosper.—National Alliance (Houston, Tex.).

Rural and Workman (Little Rock, Ark.) says: "The anti-trust bill has passed both houses of congress and will receive the signature of the president. The next thing will be to get it executed. It is a hard thing to jail a million of dollars, and most members of trusts are million dollar men. Rich railroad corporations have made the interstate commerce law practically no good so far as the people are concerned. It will take wise and ferocious courts, beyond the reach of corruption to make the trust bill of any great good to the people.

came near doing so in Alabama, and in Mississippi it is understood they will control the Constitutional Convention. In Texas, also, the Alliance and railroad commission men is in the lead, while they are making a desperate fight in the great agricultural states in the northwest. Where it will all end there is no telling, but all good citizens will hope that the farmer will be benefited in the long-run, for he feeds us all.—Memphis Scimitar.

The Southern Alliance Farmer (Atlanta, Ga.) has the following: Alliance men who desire cotton bagging can buy it through our State Exchange, and it has also been decided that those merchants who are in sympathy with us in our fight against the jute trust, and want to supply their customers with cotton bagging, can buy all they want from the Alliance Exchange. The brethren who desire to have their home merchants supply them with cotton bagging, will please inform them of this fact. The Exchange has contracted for about one million yards more than they have orders for, and are anxious to have the orders supplied. Orders are coming in daily and the amount of cotton bagging ordered by the farmers up to date will surprise the most sanguine supporter of this movement. Let the Alliance attend to this at once and have their trade agents or their merchants to send in orders for cotton bagging.

An Important Resolution.—The following resolution was unanimously adopted by the delegates of the Fulton county, Ga., sub-Alliance at a meeting in Atlanta Thursday morning. Governor John B. Gordon endorses it by attaching his signature. The resolution is:

"Whereas, It is important that the cotton of the farmers of Georgia and of the South should be sold in the best market with the least possible cost before it reaches such market; and

"Whereas, A large portion of the Southern cotton goes to Europe; therefore be it

"Resolved, That the trustees of the Alliance exchange who are to meet in Atlanta on the 15th of this month be, and they are hereby requested, to make arrangements by which that portion of Southern cotton which goes to Europe shall be shipped from Southern ports directly to the consumers in Europe."

R. G. Dun's review for the week ended Saturday, August 3, is as follows: As the new supply of silk is the chief reliance, at present, to compensate for the onlay of gold, the office and action of the treasury on them will be awaited with interest. On account of the South American disturbances, the demand for gold is likely to continue, and the state of foreign trade is not such at present as to promise an early arrest of the movement.

The merchandise imports are very heavy, for four weeks at New York have exceeded last year's by 23 per cent, or $2,000,000; and yet the month's imports last year were about $71,800,000. But the exports from New York for the four weeks have been $2,220,000 less than last year, or nearly 1 per cent, and the month's exports last year from all ports were but $72,228,219. These facts indicate a very heavy excess of imports for July. The cotton exports for July have been about 18,000 bales more than last year, and the exports of wheat and flour have of late been checked by high prices, but for the month show a gain. The prices of commodities tend steadily upward, with the exception of an abundance of money, and have risen half of one per cent during the week, and this movement, if prolonged, will tend to cause shipments of gold instead of products.

The accounts of trade are almost uniformly satisfactory, but in parts of the west there is much apprehension, and already some depression in business, because of the injury to crops by drought and extreme heat. The iron business appears rather more confident. The demand for bar iron is now very satisfactory, for plates active, and for structural iron and wrought pipe unusually heavy, while the sheet mills are crowded. Business failures throughout the country during the last week number for the United States 167, and for Canada 12. For the corresponding week last year the figures were 191 failures for the United States and 11 in Canada.

On Thursday the president of the chamber of commerce in Portland sent a telegram to the Oregon delegation in congress complaining of the census of the state. The population based on the recent election should be, they say, 641,618, while census makes it only 564,348.

ALABAMA STATE NEWS.

GRIST GROUND OUT BY THE BUSY WHEELS OF PROGRESS.

The Louisville and Nashville has made surveys for a two mile switch on belt line to connect the northern prairie of Florence with Cypress creek and the main line.

The Florence cotton and iron company, it is reported, are negotiating to put in some cotton factories on the creek and other improvements. This company is now constructing the Philadelphia furnace, the largest in the south.

At a recent meeting of the stockholders of the Anniston and Cincinnati and the Anniston and Atlantic roads it was decided to consolidate the two roads under the name of the "Alabama Mineral" to take effect at once.

Mobile puts forward Hon. W. B. Anderson, Perry county, Judge J. H. Stewart, and Marengo, Hon. W. H. Taylor for the chancellery of the southern division. The governor can't make any mistake where such men make the list of applicants.

The contractors are pushing the work on the Guntel Ford bridge across Cypress creek, adjoining the western part of Florence. The bridge is of iron structure, 150 feet long, with an iron approach 100 feet long. It will cost $4,500, when completed.

The building boom in Birmingham is probably at a greater height now than ever before. It is estimated that over $500,000 worth of business structures, in the process of erection. Several other large brick buildings are contemplated.

The court house question in Gadsden is growing warmer each day, and the people will settle it at the polls. Etowah county would lose $50,000 worth of property by moving the county site, as the property now owned by the county for court house purposes would revert to the original owners.

Anniston's new system of water works are about completed and the plant will cost somewhere near $300,000. The pump house is located at Coldwater springs, seven miles distant, and the water will be brought to the reservoir about two miles southwest of the city in a twenty-inch main. Connections will probably be made with the city mains within a week or ten days.

Birmingham is to have the handsomest Methodist church in the south. The building, when completed, will cost $100,000, and will be one of the most beautiful pieces of architectural art to be found anywhere in the United States. The edifice will be Romanesque in style, and will be built of Ohio sandstone, with trimmings of the same material. The location will be the Sloss property, at the corner of Ninth and street and Sixth avenue. The dimensions are 147 feet long and 100 feet wide.

A Birmingham dispatch of Saturday says: The prospects of a big strike on the Louisville and Nashville railroad has greatly increased. The brakemen are going to join in the demand for more wages. The shopmen asked for an advance a week ago, and it was refused. They have not said what they will do, but if a strike occurs, they may join the conductors and brakemen. The demand for more wages is extending to other roads. The conductors on the Georgia Pacific road have demanded more wages and a reduction of the length of runs in the western division. The conductors on the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham road are also preparing a demand for more wages, which will be submitted to the company at once.

Bartow Thrasher, a murderer and escaped convict, and all-around desperado, was captured in Bibb county Saturday night and taken back to Pratt county Sunday. Thrasher was sent to the mine for life about eighteen months ago for murder, but soon escaped. Eight months ago he was caught in Mississippi, after being shot down before he would surrender. As soon as his wounds were healed, he again escaped, and has since been hiding near his former home in Bibb county. Two weeks ago his father was shot and killed by Detective Morgan, of Birmingham, while assisting him in escaping from the officer. Thrasher was caught by Monroe Kellum, a detective, who played moonshiner and desperado, thereby gaining his confidence. This was a reward of $150 for his capture.

WORTHY TO BE LARGED.

Johnny Cusumano—Papa, isn't the Co. of Good Hope many times its original size now?

Cusumano—What makes you ask that question?

Johnny Cusumano—Well, I know that it has been doubled often.—(Laughs.)

CHILTON COUNTY

Is the geographical center of Alabama. The Louisville and Nashville, the E. T. V. & G. A. and the Montgomery, Tuscaloosa and Memphis Railroads pass through the county, and the Coosa river is the boundary line on the east. The chief industries are farming and saw mill. Pop. 15,000.

Chilton, the county seat, is on the E. T. V. & G. A. R. R., 26 miles south of Birmingham and 40 miles north of Montgomery. Several large saw mills are located in the vicinity of the town.

GREAT CLEARING-OUT SALE IS SEASONABLE!

WE DO NOT wait until the end of the season to have our clearing sales. When you are thinking of purchasing fall goods, it is not the time to try and shove off on a sale which have been laying on the shelf a whole year or more, as will be attempted soon by so-called competitors, by declaring a clearing sale before stock-taking. This is not our style of doing business. We placed our whole immense stock before your inspection months ago, right in the best part of the season, at prices that are 25 to 30 per cent. lower than other houses pay for them, and you certainly partook liberally of them. What we advertised were square, honest truths, and they never will be anything else but truths. That is why we do such a volume of business. There is no taboos about this. A simple glance into our stores any day during the week, at any hour, will convince you of what we say about the business we are doing. Come and join the great crowds this week.

What Does It Matter?

What does it matter, place and power, What are they worth to me or you? For the love of life runs out in an hour, And death stands ready to claim his due; Something honors or heaps of gold, What are they all when all is told?

A pain or a pleasure, a smile or a tear— What does it matter what we claim? For we step from the cradle into the bier, And a useless world goes on the same, Hours of gladness or hours of sorrow, What does it matter to us tomorrow?

Truth of love or vow of friend— Tender caresses or cruel sneers— What do they matter to us in the end? For the brief day dies and the long night mourns.

Passionate kisses or tears of grief, In graveyards waiters on a lover there all, Homesick, vacant, or honored guest, Poor and humble, or rich and great— All are racked with the world's unrest. All must meet with the common fate, From childhood till we are old, What do they matter when all is told?

[Edna Wheeler Wilcox.]

CAUGHT BY ACCIDENT.

A DETECTIVE'S STORY.

During the years that I was in the profession I had some queer cases. I had the reputation of being "lucky," and I am ready to admit that luck has a great deal to do with successful detective work. I have known officers who were honest, conscientious, and painstaking, but who always just missed it. If they had been on a case for six months, and had finally run a man down until he was within arm's length, some one else was sure to step in and lay the game at the last moment. It is an old saying that "luck brings luck." It was certainly true in my case. My first capture was that of the famous Dick Morton, the Tennessee outlaw of thirty years ago. I was in Nashville when he shot and robbed two men on a highway forty miles distant. I was then on the Cincinnati force, and was interested in getting a close description of the man. Any description you may give of a particular man will apply to dozens in a general way. Dick was about six feet high, brown hair, blue eyes, sandy whiskers, etc. The only real point was in his manner of speech. It was said that he always rolled his eyes upward when becoming a sentence. He did this on the advice of an old woman to break him off of the habit of stuttering, and it was a success.

Just a week after I left Nashville I was in Evansville, Ind. As I sat in the office of a hotel a man came in and registered, and when he answered the inquiry of the landlady up went his eyes. When I had seen him to do this three or four times I began to compare him point for point with my description of Dick Morton, and in five minutes I was satisfied that I had my man. He had been shaved, had his hair cut, and wore a suit of black, but there were some things he could not hide. The little finger on his left hand was off to the first joint, he held his head rocked to one side when listening to you, and his right foot toed in as he walked. I made no move until after dinner. Then, as he came out of the dining room I held him up with a muzzle of a revolver right against his breast and the landlady put the handcuffs on him. Then I called the local officers and turned him over. He had two pistols and a knife on him, and his wallet panned out over $2,400. At this time more than 100 men were looking for him in Tennessee and Kentucky; there being a reward of $5,000 offered for him dead or alive. It was luck, so far as our meeting in Evansville, but had I not caught him as I did, and in the way I did, the affair would have had a different ending. He was going to settle his bill and take a boat down the river, and once outside the hotel he would have killed any man who dared approach him.

In the second year of the war a young man named Cassius Phillips, cashier in a State bank in Chicago, skipped out one night with about $25,000. It so happened that I was off service then, doing a bit of work for Uncle Sam, and I was asked to take up the embezzler's trail. I had seen him in court about a month before, where he was a witness in a case. His peculiarity was his voice. While he was a big, bewhiskered fellow, his voice was as light and thin as a woman's. He had thirty hours the start of me, and had left no trace of his trail. Having learned that he was always talking about a life in Paris, I set out for New York in hopes to find something of him at the steamer office. He had not been seen, nor had he been among the passengers sailing for any foreign country the day before. I argued that he had lingered on the way somewhere, and would yet turn up in New York. I had been there three days, and was going up Broadway one afternoon in a stage when there was a jump. A stage coming down locked wheels with us, a horse was thrown down, and amidst the excitement I heard a thin, piping voice crying out:

"Why don't you do something? We shall be killed before we get out of this tunnel!"

The voice belonged to a good-sized man on the outside of the other stage, and I spotted him in an instant for Phillips. I followed him to his hotel, and from thence to the office of the French line of steamers, and after he had purchased a ticket I stated the case to the Superintendent of Police, and had him arrested and held until the necessary papers could be had. It was Phillips, sure enough, but how changed! He had shaved, and his whiskers and mustache. He had died his eyebrows and had his hair snipped short. He had changed his face clothes for an ordinary suit, and his beaver for a soft felt. I might have sat and looked at him for two hours and failed to recognize him, but his voice had given him away.

In the fall of 1863 a paymaster belonging to the Western army suddenly stepped out of sight with $175,000 in new, crisp greenbacks. He was at Cairo when he received the money from the Government, and he put it into a safe and lost himself between 6 o'clock in the evening and sunrise next morning. He had gone three days when I reached Cairo. He was described to me as a tall, slim, light-complexioned man, with light side whiskers, blue eyes, and Auburn hair. There was nothing peculiar about him except a habit he had of rubbing the back of the left hand with the palm of the right when speaking. This was a very slight clue to work on, but it was all I had. I searched for four days between Cairo and Chicago, but couldn't strike his trail. My idea was that he would head for the East and seek to get out of the country, but he had other plans. Pretty well satisfied that he didn't leave Cairo by rail, I began hunting among the steamboats.

I found, after a long search, that a man, who might possibly have been the paymaster, took a boat that night up the river, but how far no one could say. The information was so vague that it was like hunting for a needle in a haystack, but I went up to Quincy before making a stop. If he showed up at St. Louis he was sure to be nabbed, as the officers in all the larger cities had been notified and were now on the watch. I could hear nothing of my man at Quincy, and after a day or two I went on to Keokuk. It was busy times on the river then, and everybody was on the jump. I could hear nothing of the paymaster, and was about to return to Cairo to take up a new line of pursuit, when a stranger approached me with a proposition. He was a farmer, and perhaps some one had pointed me out as a capitalist or speculator. He had a lot of black walnut timber which he wanted to get to market, but needed money as a starter. He offered, in case I would advance $500, to give me a certain share in the venture, and, as I thought well of it, I drove out to his place, a distance of about twelve miles. We reached there at night, and next morning walked through the timber.

At about 10 o'clock we came upon the farm which backed against his, and as we were both thirsty we went to the well for a drink. While there, the woman, with whom my friend was well acquainted, came out, and we all sat down on a side porch for a chat. After two or three minutes a man came out, and she introduced him as her nephew from Ohio. He was roughly dressed and any one with half an eye could see that he was in disguise. He had shaved clean, the sun had burned his face and neck, and his hands were not over clean, and he explained that he had served a year in the army, been discharged for disability, and had come out west to rough it for a few weeks. I jumped to the conclusion that he was a deserter, but had no idea of troubling him. It was the business of the provost marshal to pick up such fellows. We somehow got to talking about some of the battles on the lower Mississippi, and as my former friend and the stranger did not exactly agree the discussion soon waxed hot. Then, to my great amazement, the stranger began to rub the back of his left hand with his right.

I now compared him with the description, and allowing for the changes he had made I saw that he must be my man. I quietly addressed him by name, told him who I was and what I had come for, and what do you suppose he did? He just fell off his chair in a regular faint, and we worked over him a quarter of an hour before he opened his eyes. He had been planning his embezzlement for weeks. He was really the woman's nephew, but she did not know that he was a paymaster. He had the money in a satchel in his room and had used only about $50 of it. His plan was to be in hiding for several months and then skip to Europe.

The "Hemingway case," as it was called, occurred in Covington, Ky., in the last year of the war. An army contractor named Hemingway, living at Hamilton, Ohio, had a partner in Covington, and on a certain date went down to see him. They did business with a Cincinnati bank, and at this time Hemingway drew out $30,000 and turned up missing. After two or three days, when inquiries began to be made, his wife exhibited a letter which he had written on the day of his disappearance. In it he said that he had had a falling out with Staples, his partner, and that Staples had threatened his life. He had dropped out of sight, could not be found, and Staples was under suspicion. He decided that he had ever had a word of dispute, and soon satisfied the police that Hemingway had skipped with the partnership money.

The case was given to me when it was a week old, and I was soon satisfied that the absconder's wife knew all about it. I could not go to her for information, but I found people who knew the man well, and had remarked his chief characteristics. He was a big, hearty fellow, and I could hear of only one oddity in his everyday behavior. When talking to any one he always fumbled with the top button of his vest. You have noticed men do this same thing with a watch chain, or fumble in a pocket, or mark the ground with toe or heel.

No one could go South at that time, and there were no railroads across the continent. I felt quite sure Hemingway would go East and try to get out of the country at some big seaport. Indeed, from what I learned at Philadelphia, I was quite sure he had left. I got a description there which fitted him exactly, and he had gone off on a sailing craft bound for South America. That seemed to be the end of the chase, but I had other business in the city to keep me two or three days. On what I had planned to be the last day of my stay I went over to Camden at the solicitation of the officer to see if I could identify a "suspect" who was under arrest. I failed to do so, and they told me he had assaulted and tried to rob a man on the street.

The victim entered the station while we were talking, having been forced to make a complaint against his will. His left eye was bandaged, his clothes very common, and his story that he was a machinist from Chicago looking for a job seemed very plausible. All of a sudden while he was being examined, as it were, up went his hand to fumble with his vest button, and within two minutes I felt sure that Clark, as he called himself, was my man Hemingway. When I put the case at him he tried to play innocent, and as a bluff offered to conduct us to his boarding house.

We accepted the offer and arrived there to find every dollar of the money in an old trunk in his room. Then he owned up and asked me to telegraph Staples. His partner came on, made a settlement, and Hemingway was turned loose. He was in a cheap boarding house, claimed to be a mechanic, and, calculated to put in a couple of months there before making a start for Europe. Had there been 50 detectives looking for him he would not have been detected except by just such an accident as befell him. —[New York Sun.]

Digger Indian Mourning.

I once witnessed the funeral of a Digger Indian, says a correspondent of the Saginaw (Mich.) Courier-Herald. On the third afternoon after her death the preparations were made for it. The women brought dry reeds and placed them in the form of a pyramid and under them were dry branches and pine knots.

When all was ready they brought the body, wrapped in her best clothes, and laid it on top. Then all her little trinkets and other work-basket and bone utensils for weaving were laid beside her, and her last baby basket laid on her breast, which she had woven herself, hoping soon to need it, for these women certainly love their little ones and rejoice in their motherhood. It is all they have worth living for.

At sundown the disconsolate widow was brought forward, and he was so drunk that he could hardly get to the place where he was to sit. Coal tar was smeared on his face and in his hair. This is their mourning garb—a coat of coal tar.

Then the fire was lighted and the women raised a sort of wailing chant, in which the men joined occasionally, and the body slowly consumed, the fire being fed by fresh pine knots all the while.

The tin dipper circulated, and the men one by one dropped off into slumber, but the women kept awake probably all night, as the fire was still smoldering in the morning.

A River Under a River.

The civil engineers who are engaged in sounding the Coosa River, a few days ago made a singular and almost unheard-of discovery. The sounding-drill penetrated a rocky formation about eighteen inches thick, and then dropped through into another body of water fifty feet in depth, proving that there was a river under the river at least the entire width of the stream, and from twenty-four to sixty feet in depth. —[Argonaut.]

In many parts of Switzerland the villagers are retreating to the valleys, enormous avalanches being imminent.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE GREAT ORGANIZATION.—LEGISLATION, NOTES, ETC.

The Louisiana State Alliance met in convention in Baton Rouge, La., on Wednesday.

Let no man let up on his Alliance work or enthusiasm on account of the warfare between the great Alliance and the politician. It had to come, and it has come. But brave men will not flinch.—The Great West.

The annual meeting of the Georgia State Alliance will convene in Atlanta on the 19th day of August. The session will be held in the hall of representatives in the new State capitol. The meeting will be an important one.

Goshly Alliance, (Calhoun county, Mississippi, indorses by resolution the present by President Polk and Messrs. Macune, Wardell, Livingston, and Humphrey, before the committee of Congress, of the sub-treasury bill.

The Alliance of Alabama is increasing as rapidly in the number of lodges and membership as at any time in its history. The old lodges are also in good working trim, and the membership is greatly increased. The Alliance is now in a position to take care of its members.—Alliance Herald, Montgomery (Ala.)

The Alliance (Brookfield, Mo.) says: "The matter of success or failure in the great industrial movement now going on, rests wholly in the hands of the common people. Have they the firmness to stand in opposition to the alternate threatening and cajoling of their old political bosses, and make an uncompromising fight for their natural rights and their rights as American citizens?"

At a regular meeting of the Home Alliance, No. 783, at Bonham, Tex., the following resolution was unanimously adopted: "That we heartily indorse the many course adopted by our legislative committee at Washington in the presentation of the sub-treasury plan before the Ways and Means committee; and that we still intend to keep up the fight until we get it or something better."

The Bloomfield (Mo.) Vindicator puts it thus: "The farmers want to know why they have been discriminated against, and while they create seven-eighths of the wealth and pay directly and indirectly seven-eighths of the taxes, that they can't borrow $1 from the government, while the national bankers can borrow $350,000,000 to loan to the people at 8 to 20 per cent."

The Patriot (South Haven Kas.) says: "The industrial question is an all-absorbing one. It covers a broad scope, it is world-wide. It is testing our civilization, our intelligence and our administrative capabilities, as never a nation was tested before. It has a bearing upon our future, broader and more forcible, than any question which has agitated any people in the past. Have we national intelligence, wisdom and integrity enough to stand the test?"

Mr. Haywood may be a little thick-headed, but after patiently thinking it over, he can't quite see the justice of legislation which permits the government to lend money to the national banks at 3 per cent interest, and in addition to this permits these same banks, along with the manufacturers and other capitalists, to fleece him of the fruits of his toil, and then to add insult to his injury, he is admonished to be more economical, if he would prosper.—National Alliance (Houston, Tex.)

Rural and Workman (Little Rock, Ark.) says: "The anti-trust bill has passed both houses of congress and will receive the signature of the president. The next thing will be to get it executed. It is a hard thing to jail a million of dollars, and most members of trusts are millionaires. Rich railroad corporations have made the interstate commerce law practically no good so far as the people are concerned. It will take wise and fearless courts, beyond the reach of corruption, to make the trust bill of any great good to the people."

A perfect tidal wave is sweeping over the South and West, and on its crest floats the banner of the Farmers' Alliance. Everywhere the grangers are coming to the front, and it looks as if by preconcerted action they chose this year to exert themselves and show their power. In South Carolina the Alliance men are in a fair way to overthrow the old government; in Georgia and Tennessee, they will get the sympathy and came near doing so in Alabama, and in Mississippi it is understood they will control the Constitutional Convention. In Texas, also, the Alliance and railroad commission men is in the lead, while they are making a desperate fight in the great agricultural states in the northwest. Where it will all end there is no telling, but all good citizens will hope that the farmer will be benefitted in the long-run, for he feeds us all.—Memphis Scimitar.

The Southern Alliance Farmer (Atlanta, Ga.) has the following: Alliance men who desire cotton bagging can buy it through our State Exchange, and it has also been decided that those merchants who are in sympathy with us in our fight against the jute trust, and want to supply their customers with cotton bagging, can buy all they want from the Alliance Exchange. The brethren who desire to have their home merchants supply them with cotton bagging, will please inform them of this fact. The Exchange has contracted for about 100,000 yards more than they have orders for, and are anxious to have the orders supplied. Orders are coming in daily and the amount of cotton bagging ordered by the farmers up to date will surprise the most sanguine supporter of this movement. Let the Alliance attend to this at once and have their trade agents or their merchants to send in orders for cotton bagging.

An Important Resolution. The following resolution was unanimously adopted by the delegates of the Fulton county, Ga., sub-Alliances at a meeting in Atlanta Thursday morning, Governor John B. Gordon endorses it by attaching his signature. The resolution is:

"Whereas, It is important that the cotton of the farmers of Georgia and of the South should be sold in the best market with the least possible cost, before it reaches such market; and

"Whereas, A large portion of the Southern cotton goes to Europe; therefore be it

"Resolved, That the trustees of the Alliance exchange who are to meet in Atlanta on the 15th of this month be, and they are hereby requested, to make arrangements by which that portion of Southern cotton which goes to Europe shall be shipped from Southern ports directly to the consumers in Europe."

TRADE REVIEW

AS SET FORTH BY DUN & CO. FOR THE PAST WEEK.

R. G. Dun's review for the week ended Saturday, August 3, is as follows: As the new supply of silver notes is the chief reliance, at present, to compensate for the output of gold, the offers and action of the treasury on them will be awaited with interest. On account of the South American disturbances, the demand for gold is likely to continue, and the state of foreign trade is not such at present as to promise an early arrest of the movement.

The merchandise imports are very heavy, for four weeks at New York have averaged last year's by 23 per cent, or $8,000,000; and yet the month's imports last year were about $71,800,000. But the exports from New York for the four weeks have been $2,220,000 less than last year, or nearly 9 per cent, and the month's exports last year from all ports were but $72,228,219. These facts indicate a very heavy excess of imports for July. The cotton exports for July have been about 18,000 bales more than last year, and the exports of wheat and flour have of late been checked by high prices, but for the month show a gain. The prices of commodities tend steadily upward, with the exception of an abundance of money, and have risen half of one percent during the week, and this movement, if prolonged, will tend to cause shipments of gold instead of products.

The accounts of trade are almost uniformly satisfactory, but in parts of the west there is much apprehension, and already some depression in business, because of the injury to crops by drought and extreme heat. The iron business appears rather more confident. The demand for bar iron is now very satisfactory, for plates and for structural iron and wrought pipe unusually heavy, while the sheet mills are crowded. Business failures throughout the country during the last week number for the United States 167, and for Canada 23. For the corresponding week last year the figures were 191 failures for the United States and 11 in Canada.

On Thursday the president of the chamber of commerce in Portland sent a telegram to the Oregon delegation in congress complaining of the census of the state. The population based on the recent election shows, they say, $418,800, while census makes it only 364,343.

ALABAMA STATE NEWS.

GRIST GROUND OUT BY THE BUSY WHEELS OF PROGRESS.

The Louisville and Nashville has made surveys for a two mile switch on belt line to connect the northern portion of Florence with Cypress creek and the main line.

The Florence cotton and iron company, it is reported, are negotiating to put in some cotton factories on the creek and other improvements. This company is now constructing the Philadelphia furnace, the largest in the south.

At a recent meeting of the stockholders of the Anniston and Cincinnati and the Anniston and Atlantic roads it was decided to consolidate the two roads under the name of the "Alabama Mineral" to take effect at once.

Mobile puts forward Hon. W. S. Anderson; Perry county, Judge J. H. Stewart; and Marengo, Hon. W. H. Taylor for the chancellery of the southern division. The governor can't make any mistake where such men make the list of applicants.

The contractors are pushing the work on the Gunnel Ford bridge across Cypress creek, adjoining the western part of Florence. The bridge is of iron structure, 160 feet long, with an iron approach 160 feet long. It will cost $4,500, when completed.

The building boom in Birmingham is probably at a greater height now than ever before. It is estimated that over $500,000 worth of business structures, say nothing of shops and residences, are in process of erection. Several other large brick buildings are contemplated. The court house question in Gadsden is growing warmer each day, and the people will settle it at the polls. Etowah county would lose $50,000 worth of property by moving the county site, as the property now owned by the county for court house purposes would revert to the original owners.

Anniston's new system of water works are about completed and the plant will cost somewhere near $300,000. The pump house is located at Coldwater springs, seven miles distant, and the water will be brought to the reservoir about two miles southwest of the city in a twenty-inch main. Connections will probably be made with the city mains within a week or ten days.

Birmingham is to have the handsomest Methodist church in the south. The building, when completed, will cost $100,000, and will be one of the most beautiful pieces of architectural art to be found anywhere in the United States. The edifice will be Romanesque in style, and will be built of Ohio sandstone, with trimmings of the same material. The location will be the Bloss property, at the corner of Nineteenth street and Sixth avenue. The dimensions are 147 feet long and 100 feet wide.

A Birmingham dispatch of Saturday says: The prospects of a big strike on the Louisville and Nashville railroad has greatly increased. The brakemen are going to join in the demand for more wages. The shopmen asked for an advance a week ago, and it was refused. They have not said what they will do, but if a strike occurs, they may join the conductors and brakemen. The demand for more wages is extending to the Georgia roads. The conductors on the Georgia roads have demanded more wages, and a reduction of the length of runs on the western division. The conductors in the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham road are also preparing a demand for more wages, which will be submitted to the company at once.

Barlow Thrasher, a murderer and escaped convict, and all-around desperado, was captured in Bibb county Saturday night and taken back to Prattville Sunday. Thrasher was sent to the mirror for life about eighteen months ago for murder, but soon escaped. Eight months ago he was caught in Mississippi, after being shot down before he would surrender. As soon as his wounds were healed, he again escaped, and has since been hiding near his former home in Bibb county. Two weeks ago his father was shot and killed by Detective Morgan, of Birmingham, while assisting his son in escaping from the officer. Thrasher was caught by Monroe Kellum, a detective, who played moonshiner and desperado, thereby gaining his confidence. The reward was a reward of $150 for his capture.

UGHT TO BE LARGED.

Cunio—What makes you ask that question?

Prof. A. J. Scott, left Saturday for Albany, Georgia, where he will go to business. This will leave a vacancy in educational circles, which may not be easily filled. We wish Prof. Scott unbounded success in his new home. Being a young man of good sense and steady habits we have no doubt that he will achieve it.

Hon. A. O. Lane, an older brother of our good townsman, Mr. R. Q. Lane, is being brought out for the Mayor's office in Birmingham again. Mr. Lane filled the position with great satisfaction to his constituency during several terms, and hence the desire to have him re-instated. The Birminghamers would have to go far and hunt a long time to find a better man for mayor than A. O. Lane.

In our advertising columns will be found the announcement of the Southern Exposition to be opened in Montgomery Nov. 4th. The exposition in all of its appointments promises to be immense, and the most extensive show of its character ever held in the south. Last year the exposition was held on a grand scale and the crowds attending each day were from all parts of the country. This year the managers have found it necessary to enlarge to such extent to meet the pressing demands of exhibitors that the exposition will eclipse the one of last year in every feature, and the number of visitors may be expected to correspondingly increase. Montgomery can feel justly proud of her exposition.

Alonzo Bland Pardoned.
Alonzo Bland, convicted in the circuit court of Chilton county, April, 1884, of murdering his mother, and sentenced to the penitentiary for life, has been pardoned by Governor Seay, and has returned from Pratt Mines to the family home near Verbena. The Montgomery Advertiser of Friday, says: Six years ago last April, Bland was sent up from Chilton county for life for murdering his mother. Recently the case was reopened on the strength of several new facts which were unearthed a petition for his pardon signed by the Judge, jury and solicitor, and the case was made to the Governor and the pardon was issued yesterday.

Treating Dog Bites.
A good thing to do for a mad dog bite is to fill the wound with powder and touch it. This meets snake bites, too. An efficacious and abortive plan is to procure half a dozen young live fowls, cut the skin from the side of one, and put the raw spot against the bitten part. In a few minutes take another and use it in the same way. Four will probably die, the fifth will get giddy, but not die, and the sixth may not be needed. Such treatment for dog bites is handier than, and as reliable as, the madstone.—St. Louis Globe.

OVER THE COUNTRY.
Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.
Verbena Verbiage.

Miss Parrie Courtney, a bright and charming young lady of Texas, is visiting the family of her uncle, Mr. A. H. Courtney, of this place. Mr. J. D. Adair, of Birmingham, is spending a few days with his parents here. Miss Lena Adair has returned from a visit to relatives in Atlanta accompanied by her pretty cousins, Misses Eva and Ophie Adair, who will spend some time in Alabama. Mr. W. R. Holder, who has been home with his family quite sick for some time has recovered and returned to his business in Mississippi.

Jemison Locals.
A series of services were held at the Baptist Church in Jemison last week by Rev. A. E. Burns and Rev. Lindsey of East Lake, resulting in twelve or fifteen accessions to the church. Rev. A. J. Briggs filled his regular appointment at the M. E. Church here Sunday and preached two excellent sermons. Since our last communication our young friend Willis Laughton, has passed from the scenes of time to the great beyond. A gloom has been cast over our community by his death and his bereaved ones have the sympathy of our people. Mr. Geo. W. Demaris has been appointed by the Governor as Justice of the Peace to fill the unexpired term of P. C. Bean, deceased. Mrs. J. M. Harris, of Birmingham, is visiting friends in Jemison. Miss Bettie Anderson is again visiting her old home, bringing sunshine to the hearts of her many friends here. Miss Lela Carter, of Columbiana, is leading her charming presence to the society of our town, much to the delight of her many admirers in Jemison. Only about half your subscribers received the View at this office last week. We suppose that it was carelessness on the part of some of Uncle Sam's agents. Your correspondent is informed that a Betsy Hamilton party is "on dock" for tonight, but as he is not versed in Betsy Hamilton lore and is "off the carpet," he cannot describe it, nor is he taking stock.

On the 4th inst., Mrs. Nettie Rodgers 65 years of age, died, leaving a son and sister and many acquaintances to feel the need of mother, sister and friend. Married on the 6th inst., at the residence of Mr. Henry Beasley by J. P. Vanderveer, Esq., Mr. J. Dooley to Miss Arminia Beasley. On the 7th inst., they started on their wedding tour. May happiness ever attend them.

The View came last week brim full of news but the singing teacher will not think it was all good news. We only wish that his part had come sooner for the benefit of unbelievers. There is a constant increase of interest manifested in the labors of Rev. A. J. Briggs at Jemison. May he continue to show the beauty and consistency of a righteous life.

A MOTHER.
A man who believes in having plenty of sleep, left the following bit of advice for publication as he went to work at half-past nine this morning: "The lark came up to meet the sun and carol forth his lay, the farmer's son took down his gun and at him blazed away. The busy bee arose at five and hummed the meadow o'er; the farmer's wife went for his hive and robbed him of his store. The little ant rose early too, his labor to begin; the greedy sparrow that way flew and took his antship in. O, birds and bees and ants be wise, in proverb take no stock; like men, refuse from bed to rise, till half-past eight o'clock.—Northport Breeze.

It has been charged that the whiskey distiller's act is similar to the sub-treasury bill. On the contrary it has been clearly shown that the whiskey distiller must furnish the means to build his own warehouse, and must pay the government a tax for the privilege of keeping his whiskey stored until it ripens in this warehouse. There is no loaning of money by the government, and the similarity between the two measures does not appear.

Tetter Cured By S. S. S.
I used Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) about three years ago for an aggravated case of Tetter, and was cured sound and well with three bottles. I have had no return of the annoying disease since. I tried various other remedies before using S. S. S. but they failed to cure me, or benefit me in any way.

OLIN C. FOOTE, Fairfield, Ill.
I have sold Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) for a number of years, and can cheerfully recommend it. As a tonic and blood purifier it is without an equal.

NEWS OF THE SOUTH.

BRIEF NOTES OF AN INTERESTING NATURE.

FIFTY ITEMS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTHERN STATES THAT WILL INTEREST THE READER—ACCIDENTS, FIRES, FLOODS, ETC.

The first bale of the new crop of South Carolina cotton was received in Charleston Thursday, from Barnwell county.

The Anti-Letter League met at Baton Rouge, La., Thursday. There were between 400 and 500 delegates present.

Unknown parties broke open a jail at Quincy, Fla., on Tuesday night and released two prisoners—Ollie Rice and Sam Edwards.

The Texas cotton bale was sold at auction in Baltimore Wednesday, and realized $2.20, for the benefit of the Texas relief asylum at Houston.

The citizens of Alexandria, Va., have filed an influential petition in the senate, asking to be taken back into the District of Columbia, because of the onerous taxes imposed upon them by congress.

The senate has taken no action on the petition.

In the State Farmers' Alliance, held at Montgomery, on Wednesday, Col. L. L. Polk, president of the National Farmers' Alliance, made an address, which he read the democratic and republican parties with side issues when compared to the Alliance.

Engineer William Davidson and fireman Will Black were blown a fearful distance, and terribly injured, by the bursting of the boiler of a switch engine in the Georgia Pacific yards at Birmingham, Ala., Thursday morning.

The new route, Ga., Land Company, with a number of local citizens, have raised the required amount for holding the North Georgia and Alabama exposition. This will bring large exhibits of stock from Kentucky.

THE FARMERS' ALLIANCE.

What It Has Done and What It Expects to Accomplish.

In an interview with a reporter for the Baltimore Sun, Hugh Mitchell, president of the Maryland State Farmers' Alliance, expressed himself as follows:

The work of the Alliance is one mainly of education—bringing to the masses a proper understanding of the theories of our government and to enable them to see clear and to apply the best methods of correcting abuses that from time to time enroach upon their liberties. The Alliance movement is the judgment of the masses of both political parties for their failure to perform their duty to the people, and it has done more in the last two years to educate the masses than has been accomplished by both political parties in the same time.

BUNGLING WORK.

THE HORRIBLE MANNER IN WHICH POOR KEMMLER WAS EXECUTED.

At 5 o'clock Wednesday morning, Lord Gregory, of the Osborne house, Auburn, N. Y., holding in his hands the room number, stood in the office tapping the push buttons that rang the electric fire bell of each of the rooms indicated upon his list. In them were sleeping persons who had been summoned by the ringing of the electric fire bell.

The death of the murderer, William Kemmler, by electricity.

In the pocket of each guest of the state was a card, bearing the order of admission to the prison, and before retiring each had been specially warned to present himself at the gate not later than 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The big clock in the hall marked the hour of 10:30 before all of the witnesses showed up at the prison, and only thirty minutes were left in which to take Kemmler's life.

The warden, looking at the clock, saw that the rear hall where the guard with a great key stood to open and close the door to the basement region of the prison. The huge iron-bolted barrier swung back. The warden, looking at the clock, saw that the rear hall where the guard with a great key stood to open and close the door to the basement region of the prison.

A Funeral of Ants.

The writer saw a large number of ants determined to watch their proceedings.

Accordingly he followed four or five that started off from the nest toward a hillock a short distance off, in which was a hole.

This they entered, and in about five minutes they reappeared, followed by others. All fell into rank, walking regularly and slowly, two by two, until they arrived at the spot where lay the dead bodies of the soldier ants.

In a few minutes two of the ants advanced and took up the body of one of their comrades, then two others, and so on, till all were in a ready to march.

First, walked two ants, bearing a body, then two others with another dead ant, and so on until the whole line was extended about forty paces, and the procession moved slowly onward, followed by an irregular body of about two hundred ants.

Occasionally the two laden ants stopped, and laying down the dead body, it was taken up by the two walking unburdened and thus, by occasionally relieving each other, they arrived at a sandy spot near the sea. The body of the ant was then laid down, and the ants now commenced digging with their jaws a number of holes in the ground, in each of which a dead ant was laid. Then they all fell to and filled up the graves.

This did not quite finish the remarkable circumstance attending this funeral. Six or seven of the ants had been brought to run off without performing their share of the digging; these were brought back and killed on the spot. A single grave was quickly dug, and they were all dropped into it.

We are authorized to announce Dr. W. C. C. (1890) as a candidate for Congress in the Fifth District, subject to the action of the Democratic Convention.

The Montgomery Evening Journal is a year old, and continues to be a very reliable and sprightly paper.

It is thought that Alabama, Georgia and Texas will make a gain of members of congress, while the eastern states will lose a member each and the west gain only in the states which have large cities.

We are getting complaints that the View is not received regularly at post offices along the L. & N. railroad. As there are no complaints from other offices the fault must be with the negro route agents on the L. & N.

The federal election law or "force bill" is practically dead. Fifteen Republican Senators opposed the bill. The Atlanta Constitution claims that its boycott threat did the work, and an exchange remarks that the Constitution is a modern daily newspaper, which no doubt means that its principal stock in trade is flamboyant gall and egotism.

The Mason Evening News estimates that the Woodfolk murder case has cost the county of Bibb to this date between $21,000 and $25,000. It is now over three years since the awful crime was committed, and Tom Woodfolk is still being supported at the expense of the county. There is no doubt that reform is needed in our system of criminal law. There should be a clearly defined limit to appeal and new trial.—Mobile Register.

Mon. James E. Cobb in the fifth district is still meeting with opposition, but the Judge's many friends are yet hopeful of re-nomination. Mess. Oliver, Burns and Cumbe, of the "Falmouth Tribune" of aspirants and Dr. W. C. Cross, of Bibb, will probably be before the convention but it is hardly probable that they will get Judge Cobb's scalp, but if they do it will be a trophy that any one may well feel proud of for the present incumbent in Congress from the fifth district is a champion and a chief, and has adorned every seat that his countrymen have ever yet asked him to fill. If Alabama had more Cobb, the farmers would have more corn. Hurray for Congressman Cobb. Rutledge Wave.

The charge by some that Judge Cobb is antagonistic to the interest of the Farmer's Alliance is not well founded. We occupy the same position that Judge Cobb does, the Alliance being in the Democratic party to help us as white Democrats, they are our friends and we shall stand by them.

The Birmingham News in defense of its course in advertising lotteries has no argument to present other than this:

"Anybody can get over into the tall grass of the News's advertising columns who has the money to pay for indifferently expressed advertisements: the editorial dummies of the News are not for sale, and they will ever denounce all frauds and swindles, by which the public as a community or individually is robbed."

The News believes that lotteries are among such frauds and swindles.

Such a view is what plain old Horace Greeley would denounce as "rot." The News simply says that its advertising columns can be purchased at any and all times for the spread of vice and immorality while its editorials will occasionally endeavor to help along the Sunday school.

The position of the News is just this: It is paid to go into bad company and help make a noise for a bad crowd and after the untwary have been taken in, it opens up with the pious admonition: "See here, we get big pay for helping these fellows, but you should never patronize them, for they are frauds and swindlers—second-class every one."

In this the News makes it very clear that those who are employed to help these lottery fellows in their business are high up in the scale of gentlemen, by simply reserving the privilege to denounce their own bed-fellows. To many it is a plaiter, case of "the pot calling the kettle black."

THE SUB-TREASURY BILL.

Hon. H. A. Herbert's Opinion of the Bill as Compared With the Whiskey Distiller and the National Banking Law.

"The distinction between the whiskey distiller's act and the sub-treasury bill is very broad. Under the sub-treasury bill money is to be loaned by the government directly to individuals. On the other hand the government does not loan or advance a dime to the distiller. On the contrary, it takes his product from three to six times the cost of producing it, makes this tax due when the whiskey is considered ripe for use, three years old, and in order to secure the tax, locks up the whiskey in a government warehouse, built by the distiller at his own expense, takes the key and keeps it until the tax is paid.

The distinction between the national banking law and the sub-treasury scheme is that the government sells bonds in order to get money for its own use, and, as an inducement to purchasers, allows the holders of these bonds to bank upon them, lending them not a dollar, but endorsing or standing good for their notes at the rate of 90 per cent. of the face value of the bonds, which must be deposited with the government as security. On every bond issued in recent years, the government has received fully, and in most cases more than 100 per cent. of the face value in money, and it stands security for the notes of the banks to the extent of 90 cents on the dollar; that is to say, the government has borrowed one hundred dollars in money and goes security for ninety dollars put into circulation. The government gets by a loan one hundred dollars and holds it. It then gets and holds the note or bond it has given and retains that as indemnity for the ninety dollars the bank issues, and which the bank is bound to pay. But I will not stand forth as a defender of the national banking system. Both you and I are, I believe, opposed to it.

Stand By Those Who Stand By You.

Hildreth, of the Advertiser, at New Decatur, has a good head on him and consequently has the right ideas. The Decatur is fortunate in having him as a champion, as the editor and publisher of their leading newspaper. Under the foregoing text he has the following:

A drummer for a Chattanooga job printing office was in the Decatur this week, but he got little work. The excellence of the Advertiser job printing is so generally known and recognized that our printer in not find it necessary to send off for such work, especially when they can get it just as cheap as they can get it here. Then, too, they do not feel that it would be treating us right to give us all their free printing, such as notices of themselves and families, notices about marriages, deaths, entertainments, etc. while they would pay printing, such as letters, bills, bills, envelopes, posters, cards, etc. off to some job office, which can never publish a notice for or about them, or do them any good whatever. A business man, who was solicited for his work by the Chattanooga man, but gave us his order, sensibly said: "I don't believe in sending off for my printing, and I won't send off for my printing. I would send off for this work would be gone forever. If I send it with you, I stand a chance to get a part or all of it back. I want home people to patronize me, but I could not ask their patronage when I did not buy of them what I needed. I propose to stand by home people."

This is the right spirit. If your home concern is not as large and pretentious as some city concern, patronize it anyhow. The home enterprise's territory is limited and circumscribed, but if you will give it all your patronage, it will be enabled to enlarge, employ more men, and grow with the city's growth. The money you spend here is paid out to home employees, and it goes into circulation, every business man getting a share of it. Send it to Chattanooga, Nashville or other places, and it is gone from you and from us forever. Keep your money at home if you expect your town to be prosperous. You may save a few cents on some job printing, but you lose a part of merchandise that you can buy in some city, but you have crippled your home mechanic or tradesman to the extent of the $5 or $10 you have sent off, forever gone out of circulation here.

The proprietors of the printing offices in the Decatur are making and have made no fortune out of their business. Numerous failures heretofore have shown that a man may now and then get some job of printing a little cheaper in a city than here. He can also buy some articles of merchandise, groceries, hardware, drugs, paints, etc., etc., cheaper there; but if we send off for those things, how will our home tradesman manage to live? If in an illiberal, narrow-minded policy that leads any man to send elsewhere for what he can buy at home, at the same time asking the support and patronage of home people. Such small-souled creatures ought to starve to death. They are unfit to live in an enterprising community.

SCHOOLS FOR THE DEAF AND BLIND.

The Alabama Institute for the Deaf and the Alabama Academy for the Blind.

These schools for the Education of the Deaf and Blind are located at Talladega, Alabama, occupying beautiful and healthful sites in the Southern and Eastern portions of the State. ## MAUL'S MURDERERS.

SELMA, August 18.—A Benton special to the Times-Mail says: For some time past active efforts have been made to ferret out the murderers of Mr. Maul, the Democratic nominee for the Legislature, who was recently murdered. The horrible assassination of this gentleman has aroused the indignation of the citizens of this county, and it was determined to ferret out the assassins, and the crime is now fixed upon the murderers beyond a doubt. The method by which the murderers were discovered was a piece of detective work. The friends of Mr. Maul and the county authorities employed a colored detective from Philadelphia, and he was placed in jail under some criminal charge. The detective had access to the cell of John Henry Melling, and while there Melling confessed, in a confidential mood, his crime.

He stated that a boy by the name of Sam, who was bound to Mr. Maul, stole the gun and he, Melling, completed the murderous work. The story of the detection of the murderer got out this morning, and the public is praising the effective work of the law officers in sitting to the bottom this horrible crime.

Death of Mr. John Robinson.

VERDEA, Aug. 12, 1890. Ed. View.—Mr. John Robinson passed away on Monday, the 4th inst., after long and severe suffering from cancerous affection, leaving his wife and six children to mourn his loss, besides a host of relatives and friends to sympathize with the grief-stricken ones. His remains were interred at Walnut Creek Church, and the force of his christian character was felt and expressed by the assembling of a large concourse of people who joined in the obsequies. Another Saint is gone to heaven, but none can feel so sad and forlorn as his wife and dear little children. May the blessings of heaven rest upon them and may the little ones grow up to emulate the character of their father. H. J. JOHNSON, County Treasurer.

Like the View it was established in a field which had proved a graveyard for several previous ventures of the kind, and it is succeeding beyond the expectations of its founder.

The question of a school teacher in Clanton is being talked of by the patrons. Church produce we fear is becoming a dominant factor in the matter, and while it is so Satan and his infernal rejoice. While not a school patron we could suggest that if it would dispel the existing prejudice it would be well to import a Romanist. The View hopes to see the Academy in the hands of a thorough teacher, no matter what his church may be.

Sudden Death.

Mr. R. McLean was found dead in bed at his home in Clanton Sunday morning. He came from Birmingham to visit his family and was apparently in sound health. On the morning of his death he arose at 5 o'clock and went out of the house, and on returning he retired again. Sometime after he was called by his wife and getting no response Mrs. McLean went to the bed and found him dead. Apoplexy is thought to have been the cause of his death. The remains were carried to Montgomery, his former home, for interment.

THE FUTURE OF DEMOCRACY.

Henry Watterson has the following to say of the future of Democracy in Frank Leslie's Weekly.

"The Democratic party has outlived its follies. It is the only party that has not one law for the North and another for the South. Hence it is the only national party. It puts the people of Maine and Texas, Massachusetts and South Carolina in the same boat, countrymen, fellow-citizens, all. It makes no sectional distinction. Its face is set forward, not backward. Its one administration in a quarter of a century was a great advance toward the unification of people, and in the work of a clean and orderly transaction of the public business. Its claim to popular confidence is based upon its national character and conservative tendencies, and the personality of a body of decent, upright, and enlightened leaders. It is in harmony with the drift of the country and the age.

Its return to power will be the signal for the end of experimental politics, and of special legislation and class distinction, and at the end, in short of the combine of sectionalism and plunder, inevitable to the nature and construction of the republican party.

Examined By S. S. S.

Mrs. S. Renaldi, Waldo, Fla., writes the following under date of Feb. 11, 1890: "I suffered with Eczema for about two years. About this time I was advised by friends to try your Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), and I am happy to say that after using six bottles I was entirely cured, and I never lose an opportunity of recommending it to any one I find suffering from any disease of the blood."

He Profits By His Friend's Experience.

"I have been troubled with pimples and blotches on my face for years, during which time I tried numbers of standard remedies, but without receiving any benefit. Profiting by the advice and experience of a friend, I commenced taking Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) and the effect it had on me overshadowed all expectations. After taking two bottles the pimples and blotches entirely disappeared, and my skin is clear and without a blemish."

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

A QUESTION ABOUT CAT MANIFESTATIONS.

One of the questions for farmers to begin to consider is whether or not to feed on the farm should not be cut while the grain is yet in the milk, and cured straw and all, for feeding without threshing? Of course the portion of the crop that is to be used for seed or sold in the market must be threshed and cleaned, but as an Eastern paper puts it, "it is difficult to see any advantage in the labor of threshing out oats to put in a bin and the straw in a stack, only to put them together again in the manger." But we do not advise raising oats for hay in any country except the West, and for the reason that, where so, the hay is cheapest.—Prairie Farmer.

CURING THE BURNING AWAY HABIT.

A habit of running away is fatal to the usefulness of a horse. It is the fault of training, for in the training camp of control should never be permitted. The vice may be cured in this way: Fasten two strong rings in the top of the bridle, one on each side; put a strong round cord through these rings so that it can be drawn on as the driving lines are. As soon as the horse starts he is checked by pulling on the cord, which presents to him a hindrance in the throat. If he persists in running he will soon drop, but this is a self-demonstrating way of stopping the bad habit and the runaway will stop. After standing a few minutes until he learns that the driver has control of him.—American Horse Breeder.

FOOD FOR CHICKENS.

Millions of little chickens are now tottering about in front of the coops of our land. What will become of them? Most of them will die at about the age of five days for lack of right feeding. Let us try, this summer, to save some of these unfortunate martyrs to the ignorance or laziness of their owners. Granted space, cleanliness, and motherly care, nourishing food, properly fed, will do the rest. Usually the question is how to use Indian corn advantageously, because, at present, this food is the great food of the chicken. Corn meal ought to be well cooked before a grain of it is fed to young poultry. Raw corn, even if scalded, irritates young intestines, and it should be palatable cooked so that it will be eagerly eaten. The idea should be to mix it with as little food as possible, but on the contrary to urge the chickens to eat all that they can profitably digest. Clean feeding trays are as important in this point of view as they are in the matter of health. Chickens hate dirt and dirty dishes. The milk can be used in the form of a slush which will grow rapidly in their "little insides." To make a good "standing" pudding for chickens, feed, take one-half yellow corn meal, one-half middlings or bran, and a little salt. Mix with skin-milk and let it stand. If the milk is sour, put in some soda. One can substitute for the milk a broth made of the table scraps. This pudding can be used as a steady diet, varied by an occasional day of natural food. If there is not enough meat in the table scraps, add more.

Give your chickens milk to drink all day if you can give water or they will suffer from thirst; and because of the typhoid which kills many baby chicks. Sour milk soon turns to spoiled milk. Don't delude yourself by trusting that your chicks will do exactly as well when you leave extra food which will keep fresh, but they will not prosper as when fed at regular hours. Little chicks often starve to death rather than eat stale, dusty food. Look out for the scrawny fledglings every day will look out for the downy new ones.—American Agriculturist.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

Keep the mower knives sharp. Use tin pins only in the dairy. Be gentle in handling the bees. Improve the run-out grass land. Protect your animals from flies and the hot sun. Bar the grapes. This the fruit. Watch the insects. Never let a strange peddler or agent have your autograph. Science is the handmaid of progress on the farm and in the shop. Tomatoes yield on an average from eight to ten tons to the acre.

Kickens among colts and calves are usually bred, not born. If milk them gently and kindly and kickers will be rare. Tensing by headless boys and hired men, originates most of the farm kickers. When hens are shelling feathers they often stop laying and gain of health. It is not a sure cure. Many of the worst cases of roup are contracted while the hens are moulting.

The editor of the Meine-Farmers says that in sixteen years' experience of farming he has learned that when his land is poor or in a poor condition he is dependent largely on the season for a crop, but if the land is rich and well-manured he is reasonably sure of a crop anyhow.

Those who grow lettuce thickly in beds or rows and let it grow, really know little of the delicateness of this article of food. Transplanted into rich ground, from sufficient size, and grown into large heads, it is much better in quality, and much more of it will be eaten.

If the plan can be "pastured" in the orchard from the time the first insecticide apples begin to drop from the trees, they will do much toward ridding you of the codling moth. If the orchard is in good shape, the growth of grass and clover, the pigs will be benefited as much as the orchard.

Don't crowd your fowls in the hen houses. Give them breathing room, space to move about in, and ample cooling accommodations. Hens will not lay well if you crowd them in close quarters. They may have their day, but they will not be in contact by night or by day, so far as possible to prevent.

General farm products are depressed, but the best of it. There is always short supply of the best, and a remunerative price. Take horses, cattle, sheep, butter, cheese, fruit—no one today has time of the land, who cannot find a ready market for them at large prices. The way is open for every farmer to produce them.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

MAKING IVORY IMMACULATE AGAIN.

Ivory, when not stained, may be restored to its former whiteness by cleaning with powdered burnt pumice stone and water, and then placing it under glass in the sun's rays. To polish ivory, first smooth the surface with the finest sand-paper, then apply whitening on a bit of flannel, rubbing it well. The whitening may be wet with oil or water. Finish by rubbing the ivory with a slightly oiled bit of linen cloth. All scratches must be fairly rubbed out in the process. Ormolu may be cleaned with ammonia.—Brooklyn Citizen.

CANNING BEANS AND PEAS.

Beans, peas and sweet corn are among the most difficult products of the garden to preserve in cans, and it is rare that the housewife succeeds, even with the care she is able to bestow upon them. Those who make a business of canning such things often fail, and spoiled corn and beans are among the most common stock of our wholesale grocers. The housewife who is successful in canning fruits had better be content with those that endeavor to extend her art to the unripe vegetables, such as those named above.—New York Sun.

A TRIED CURE FOR INSOMNIA.

Every night, at an early bed time, take a five-grain pill of uroslafin—be careful to take no strong medicine after three o'clock in the afternoon; half-hour before getting into bed take a hot foot bath. Let the water be as hot as you can bear it at first, and add a little very hot water as it cools. Be sure to keep well covered up, and to have the feet in the water for a full hour. A month of this treatment under the most adverse circumstances, completely cured the insomnia of a friend who had run the ordinary course of narcotics, stimulants, eating before retiring, and tiring himself out.—Indian Home Journal.

CEMENT FOR INDIA-RUBBER.

It is sometimes very convenient to have a cement for India-rubber, by means of which a worn spot in the overshoe, or on a rubber article may be repaired without expense or trouble. To make a small quantity of such a cement, sufficient to keep for emergency, purchase five cents' worth of red rubber from some dealer in rubber supplies. Cut it into bits, put it in a bottle and cover it with chloroform. In about ten minutes it will be dissolved. It should be applied with a brush like a mauling brush. Do not leave the bottle uncorked for an instant, except while removing the brush, and apply the cement as rapidly as possible, or it will harden. Where there is a large hole, a piece of cloth is known as "rubber cement" which may also be purchased from a dealer in rubber supplies, and be useful. Cut out a piece of this suitable size, and stick it over the hole with a few strokes, and brush over the rubber with the cement. It should be taken care not to inhale the chloroform, nor to have the cement where children can get to it.—New York Tribune.

CAUSERS.

The best and most perfect vegetable and fruit should be used for making catsup as well as the purest spices, writes Mrs. E. R. Parker in the Chicago Record. A porcelain kettle is best to boil in, and glass bottles for putting up.

Mushroom Catsup—Take large mushrooms, put in a jar, salt and mash; let stand two days, strain and boil; add pepper and spices, with a small amount of vinegar to every quart of mushroom liquor; bottle and seal.

Cold Tomato Catsup—Take sound, ripe tomatoes, grate on a coarse grater, strain through a wire sieve, put the liquid in a large bowl, add salt, pepper, and spices, with vinegar; season with pepper, salt, garlic, cloves and allspice; bottle and seal.

Chamber Catsup—Grate a dozen large peppers, chop fine, put in a bowl, add salt, pepper, and spices, with vinegar; season with pepper, salt, garlic, cloves and allspice; bottle and seal.

Spiced Chamber Catsup—Take three dozen large peppers, chop fine, add salt, pepper, and spices, with vinegar; season with pepper, salt, garlic, cloves and allspice; bottle and seal.

Chili Catsup—Take twelve large tomatoes, chop fine, add salt, pepper, and spices, with vinegar; season with pepper, salt, garlic, cloves and allspice; bottle and seal.

Tomato Catsup—Take two pecks of ripe tomatoes, cut up, put in a kettle; boil, strain through a wire sieve, put the liquid in a large bowl, add salt, pepper, and spices, with vinegar; season with pepper, salt, garlic, cloves and allspice; bottle and seal.

Southern Catsup—Take one peck of tomatoes, chop fine, add salt, pepper, and spices, with vinegar; season with pepper, salt, garlic, cloves and allspice; bottle and seal.

Walnut Catsup—Take one hundred white walnuts and put in a gallon of strong vinegar; after pouring, put in two tablespoonfuls of salt, a teaspoon of ground black pepper, two ounces of allspice, cloves and nutmeg each, one ounce of black pepper and cayenne seed; boil half an hour, strain and bottle.

Tomato Soy—Take a bushel of ripe tomatoes, cut them in slices and sprinkle the bottom of a large, clean tub with tomatoes, then salt, and more tomatoes, until all are in; cover the top with a clean cloth, let stand three days; put in a kettle, and boil slowly ten hours; stir to keep from sticking; let cool over night; strain, add an ounce of cloves, two ounces of allspice, two of black pepper, four pounds of red pepper, and one head of garlic; let boil slowly for two hours.

There are only seven absolute monarchies left: China, Madagascar, Morocco, Persia, Russia, Siam and Turkey.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

A SATURDAY REVEAL.

Ladies with more jewels than they know how to wear at one time should follow the example of the Duchess of Edinburgh, who recently had all this costume in a belt. The effect of having jewels in a belt, the extreme, and when the waist is cinched is round and slender as the Duchess's is not. Venus herself could desire no more splendid ornament for man's beguilement and woman's envy. Americans are not privileged to crown their heads with tiaras, and, therefore, become a question, after necklaces and brooches are exhausted, what other disposal can be made of surplus wealth. Try then a zone of diamonds? In the language of Emma Lussu Natura, it will be sure to break your eye off.—Boston Herald.

A QUEEN'S DAILY ROUTINE.

The Queen Regent of Spain rises early, takes a cold bath every morning even in winter, and performs her toilet with the help of one of her waiting maids. She usually dresses very plainly, and never wears jewelry except on ceremonial occasions. After performing her devotions she goes to the apartment of the little Prince, and breakfasts with her three children. In the forenoon she receives the Ministers, and attends to her private correspondence, always giving the precedence to the daily exchange of letters with her mother, the Archduchess Elizabeth. After luncheon, which is taken at both, she goes out for a short drive. In the afternoon she gives audience, and spends the rest of her time with the children until they are taken to bed and have taken dinner or supper with them, she always superintends their meals in person. Before retiring to rest, Her Majesty has a game of dominoes (or other game of chance) with one of her ladies in waiting.—New York Tribune.

BRIDAL VEILS AND WREATHS.

The veil is as old a part of the marriage ceremony as any known to civilization. Its origin has not been definitely ascertained. According to one theory, the veil, like other female head-coverings, is worn "because of the angels," according to another, it survives from the age when a husband was forbidden to see the face of his wife—an old story of matters, truly.

Some curious customs are even now associated with the bridal veil. In Turkey a bride is always covered eight days before her marriage, and no one, not even the relations of her intended husband, may have permission to see her otherwise during that time.

In Poland the bride's eyes are covered with a veil, and she is led to the altar by a single man, who is known as the "bride's guide." In this way the bride is kept from seeing her intended husband until she is married.

In Russia the bride is presented with a white veil which will cover her face for the rest of her life. The veil is put on her by the priest, and she is led to the altar by a single man, who is known as the "bride's guide." In this way the bride is kept from seeing her intended husband until she is married.

In Japan the bride is presented with a white veil which will cover her face for the rest of her life. The veil is put on her by the priest, and she is led to the altar by a single man, who is known as the "bride's guide." In this way the bride is kept from seeing her intended husband until she is married.

In China the bride is presented with a white veil which will cover her face for the rest of her life. The veil is put on her by the priest, and she is led to the altar by a single man, who is known as the "bride's guide." In this way the bride is kept from seeing her intended husband until she is married.

In India the bride is presented with a white veil which will cover her face for the rest of her life. The veil is put on her by the priest, and she is led to the altar by a single man, who is known as the "bride's guide." In this way the bride is kept from seeing her intended husband until she is married.

In Egypt the bride is presented with a white veil which will cover her face for the rest of her life. The veil is put on her by the priest, and she is led to the altar by a single man, who is known as the "bride's guide." In this way the bride is kept from seeing her intended husband until she is married.

In Australia the bride is presented with a white veil which will cover her face for the rest of her life. The veil is put on her by the priest, and she is led to the altar by a single man, who is known as the "bride's guide." In this way the bride is kept from seeing her intended husband until she is married.

In Oceania the bride is presented with a white veil which will cover her face for the rest of her life. The veil is put on her by the priest, and she is led to the altar by a single man, who is known as the "bride's guide." In this way the bride is kept from seeing her intended husband until she is married.

In Antarctica the bride is presented with a white veil which will cover her face for the rest of her life. ## WORDS OF WISDOM.

"I will," is a miracle worker.

A man without faults has no friends. Our heaviest burdens are those we borrow.

The man who won't bend will some day have to break.

Genius may be swift, but perseverance has the surest feet of all.

The man who dyes his whiskers never fools but one person.

The purchasing power of money is confined to this earth.

The man who never looks ahead will always be behindhand.

Tomatoes are more charitable than a good many living people.

No rich man was ever happy unless he used his money to make others so.

It makes the best of us mad all over to be told the truth about ourselves.

The hog, eating corn, thinks he has a nice time, but the butcher knows better.

You can't make somebody else happy without getting in the same condition yourself.

If you want to find out how much clear dog there is in a man, find out how he treats his wife.

There are men who would growl that the wind was in the wrong direction if it was raining money.

The man who worships a golden calf can never know the delight of owning a cow that gives milk.

Happiness is the most contagious thing on earth, if you are only exposed to it in the right way.

We never do anything well until we realize our own worth, and nothing extra good until we forget it.

If we could look deeper into the hearts of the people it might be near so hard to love some of them.

"Nothing is more bitter than to suffer, nothing sweeter than to have suffered," said the old mystics with truth.

A true friend is one who won't say "I told you so," every time you take a wrong step and feel sorry about it afterward.

Sincerity is only commendable when it is sincere enough to go to the root of things, and will gladly walk in all the light it can get.—Indianapolis (Ind.) Sun.

Cloud Bands of the Globe.

Until recently but little has been done to determine the distribution of cloudiness on the globe. But M. Teisserenc de Bort, a French meteorologist, has recently attempted to supply this deficiency of knowledge. The results of his work are published in the American Meteorological Magazine, and are very interesting, and when mapped, enable one to imagine how our planet, with its cloud bands, would appear to an observer at some remote point in space.

He finds that in all months the earth's sky is covered with clouds in forms, in density, and in the way they are distributed, in a manner very similar to the equator, or on near which occurs a maximum of cloudiness. Between latitude 15 degrees and 45 degrees north or south the skies are comparatively clear, but north of 45 degrees and south of 45 degrees the clouds are more abundant and more transparent. Other things being equal, clouds are more abundant over the sea and on elevated sea coasts exposed to a prevailing sea wind than over the continents. Over the whole globe the number of clouds is greatest in November and the least in March.

These and other instructive data obtained by M. Teisserenc de Bort are of great value to meteorology and medical climatology. On the plateau and mountain ranges of India, where in winter the sky is remarkably clear, when in May the sun beats up the Asiatic continent, causing an draught of air from the Indian Ocean the multiplication of clouds announces days beforehand the advance of the south-monsoon, which rains the weather of the entire summer and determines the fate of all the crops. In the tropics generally, the "equatorial cloud belt," swinging north and south with the sun in declination, is the herald of the rainy seasons. If the laws of cloud distribution were better known, the forecast of the course and intensity of storms would be considerably facilitated.—New York Herald.

Bismarck Knew Paris Was Famed.

While the Germans were laying siege to Paris about twenty years ago M. Thiers came out of the city very much with Bismarck. Of course it was the Frenchman's duty to present a cheerful front and to seek to convey the impression that things were not in so desperate a condition in Paris as the besiegers might suppose. On the other hand, Bismarck was pretty well satisfied that the beleaguered Parisians were being starved out, but of course he intimated no such thing in the presence of M. Thiers. But, after the conference, Bismarck invited M. Thiers to dinner, and the Frenchman told him that M. Thiers was voraciously of the vegetables and breads, rejected the canned and pickled foods, and partook with seeming avidity of the fresh meat.

This confirmed Bismarck's suspicions. Paris was starving. After M. Thiers was back into the city there was found in the apartments assigned to him at Bismarck's quarters part of a Paris newspaper, and from certain intimation in this newspaper it was learned that the condition of things in Paris was even more desperate than had been supposed.—Chicago News.

A Boy Builds a Steamer.

A trim and handsome little steamer was tied up at the Merrill-Stevens Company's wharf the other day, with a crew of men busy at work on her. She was the Marmion, of Florida, built by N. R. Marmion, of Florida, and was a very handsome and well-proportioned and strongly constructed, and was built by Mr. Pittsburgh's son, eighteen years of age, Isaac Marmion. His father is justly proud of the work, which would do credit to a skillful shipbuilder, surrounded by every convenience. The boat will have a twenty horse power boiler and a Corliss Engine put in by her the Merrill-Stevens Company. She will be used in sailing around Florida.—Sarasota (Fla.) Times-Union.

Good Water.

Good water and an abundance of it is one of the prime necessities of modern civilization. It becomes more difficult to obtain, both in America and Europe, as the population each year grows denser. Hydraulic engineers are just now wrestling with this problem in England. In France, Austria and Germany it is still unsolved. The medical faculty of these countries declare that the surface supply can no longer be relied upon, for hygienic reasons. They suggest the sinking of very deep artesian wells as the best method of procuring an adequate supply of water that shall be perfectly pure. The first experiment of this sort has just been tried in England, where the new London Water Company has just completed a well eleven hundred feet deep and obtained an abundant flow of water, the analysis of which shows an entire absence of organic matter, or any element deleterious to health. Here in America the same comes up from nearly all our great cities. Philadelphia is seriously alarmed at the condition of the Schuylkill, which has supplied the Quaker City for one hundred and fifty years. New York is complaining of the scarcity of the limpid element, and wants the lakes of the Adirondack region tapped for the benefit of the metropolis. Chicago, with Lake Michigan at her doors, should have a supply of good water, if it is to be a great city. But Chicago declares that her crib and grand aqueduct must be carried ten miles further out into the lake to insure a perfect aqueous supply that is unpolished. So it goes. To the engineer who can get a method of procuring water that shall be perfect, there is no great demand there will insure great reputation and a corresponding fortune.

Two Great Institutions.

When Yale College institutionalized 400 freshmen and Harvard 441, every American thought we had done wonderfully well, and so we had, for we are a comparatively young nation. But the two great English universities, Oxford and Cambridge, in their July reports are far ahead of anything we have ever known in university instruction in America. There are 1,000 freshmen at Oxford already and about 4,000 students in all the classes. The number of students at Cambridge is somewhat more popular than her elder sister of Oxford. She has 1,200 freshmen and 4,000 students in all the classes and specialties. The reason for Cambridge's popularity is that she is a more liberal university of England, while Oxford is more conservative and Tory. They are both great institutions, enormously wealthy, and with an endowment worth about a million dollars a year each.

The First Bridges.

The first bridges were of wood, and the earliest of which we have any account was built in Rome 800 years B. C. The first was erected by Julius Caesar for the passage of his army across the Rhine. Trajan's great bridge over the Danube, four thousand seven hundred and seventy feet long, was made of timber, with stone piers. The Romans also built the first stone bridge, which crossed the Tiber. Suspension bridges are of remote origin. A Chinese one, mentioned by Kirishitan, is said to have supported a roadway eight hundred and thirty feet in length, and built A. D. 65, and is still to be seen. The first iron bridge was erected over the Severn in 1777.

Purse of Peas.

Wash a pint of green peas in cold water, then put them into a saucepan with boiling water and cook twenty minutes. Drain the peas, and pour over them a colander. Boil a pint of milk, add a small onion, three or four cloves and a small sprig of parsley. Rub a teaspoonful of flour and butter each together. Strain the milk over the peas, put back in the saucepan, and let it boil, stirring frequently. Season with pepper and salt, and serve.

To Dress Cucumbers.

Five tablespoonfuls of vinegar, three of salted oil, pepper, salt, and a dash of cayenne. Peel the cucumbers, cut them into very thin slices. Put in a flat glass dish and sprinkle over with salt and pepper, pour all over the salad oil and vinegar. This is particularly nice with boiled salmon.

To Renovate Chairs.

Willow chairs that have lost their natural color can be restored by using a solution of chlorine. Clean the seats with water and ammonia and warm water. Apply it with a brush, scrubbing it well, rinse with cold water, and let thoroughly. Dry it will become taut.

"That champagne," said Billings, "is what I call a nectar fit for the gods."

"Maybe, but it's something of a mischief for human beings, it strikes me."

Grate Bars.

For any size boilers can be bought at lowest prices of Joe S. Nix, Atlanta, Ga., who is the leading dealer in fine Steam Engines, Saw Mills, Cotton Gins and Timber Lands. Ordering gratis.

A piece of limber cheese is like a tack in one respect—you can always find it in the dark.

All through summer and fall I was troubled with chills and fever. I finally got a bottle of Smith's Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which stopped the chills and fever. I feel like a new man. I am now at home. C. H. Wells, Middlefield, Conn.

Sweet are the uses of adversity. The strawberry is much more delicious when "crushed" than when it is whole.

The Literature of Discontent.

Dante, in his history of the wonderful pilgrimage through the abode of departed spirits, tells us that he passed a black, silent pool, lying still among the shadows. No ripple stirred upon the surface, but bubbles rose curiously to the light and broke there one by one. And from below, among the slime and ooze, ascended forever faint, stifled sounds of lamentation—the voices of those who had been "dark and earth, unthankful for the warmth of the sunshine and the blessed blue of the sky. But finally he became ill. He prayed for health and strength, for God's aid, but it was never his to touch that strange bright ideal he sought. If he glimpsed at it sometimes among the shadows, he cried, "like Flaubert's sphinx, 'Ici chimere, arrete-toi!'" but the firing shape will be answered.—Non.

And the dreamer was left alone once more in the silence of the desert. "Withered leaves" he called the days of his life. No man better understood his own weakness. He drained the "questioning cup" to the dregs. His "deep discontent with life" was an outgrowth of his higher nature. The thought of acting decisively wrought terror with him; he dreaded to make a forward movement lest he should fall short of his own standard.

CHILTON COUNTY
Is the geographical center of Alabama. The Louisville and Nashville, the E. T. V. & G. and the Mobile, Gulf and Atlantic and Gulf railroads pass through the county, and the Coosa river is the boundary line on the east. The chief industries are farming and saw milling. Population 18,000.
Chilton, the county seat, is on the T. & N. E. R., 56 miles south of Birmingham and 40 north of Montgomery. Several large saw mills are located in the vicinity of the town.

GREAT CLEARING-OUT SALE IS SEASONABLE!

WE DO NOT wait until the end of the season to have our clearing sales. When you are thinking of purchasing fall goods, it is not the time to try and shove off on a stock which has been lying on the shelf a whole year or more, as will be attempted soon by so-called competitors, by declaring a clearing sale before stock-taking. We placed our whole immense stock before your inspection months ago, right in the best part of the season, at prices that are 30 to 35 per cent. lower than other houses pay for them, and you certainly partook liberally of them. What we advertised were square, honest truths, and they never will be anything else but truths. That is why we do such a volume of business. There is no quackery into our stores any day during the week, at any hour, will convince you of what we say about the business we are doing. Come and join the great crowds this week.

EVERYBODY COME AND SEE WHAT WE ARE DOING IN—

Gents' Furnishing Goods, House Furnishing Goods, Muslin Underwear, Millinery, Dress Goods, White Goods, China Silks and Black Lace Suits.

WORK OF THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE DURING THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

The house, on Tuesday, tabled the motion to reconsider the McKay bill, so it is finally passed. The consideration of the bill to amend the alien land law was then begun, and occupied the morning hour and was not concluded when the hour expired. The house then proceeded to the consideration of the senate agricultural college bill. The time allotted for debate was utilized by over a dozen members, most of whom, in short speeches, favored the bill. When the discussion closed, the bill, as amended, passed without division. It appropriates out of money arising from the sale of the public lands to each state and territory for a more complete endowment of colleges for the benefit of agriculture and mechanic arts, the sum of $15,000 for the year ending June 30, 1891, and an annual increase of such appropriation for two years thereafter, by an additional sum over the preceding year, and the annual sum to be paid thereafter shall be $25,000. The house then adjourned.

When Mr. Quay's "order of business resolution" was laid before the senate Tuesday morning, Mr. Hoar said that he desired to address the senate on the subject, but would prefer to do so Wednesday, and understood that that was agreed to by the senate. Mr. Hoar then laid out his plan for the day, and the resolution accordingly went over. The tariff bill was then taken up, the pending question being on Mr. Plumb's amendment regarding the tariff on tin plate from a 2-10 cent to 1 cent a pound, and allowing a bounty of 1 cent a pound on American tin plate. No action was taken. Mr. McPherson, reinforced by Messrs. Carlisle, Vance and Vest, made a strong effort to reduce rates on wire and iron pipe, but with no success. When the cutting paragraph was reached, Mr. Tilton took the floor and made a lengthy speech on the general subject of tariff. Discussion on the cutting paragraph was carried on at much length by other senators. The amendment and bill went over. Mr. Hoar gave notice of two amendments which he would offer Wednesday to the Quay resolution. The senate then adjourned.

After an hour spent in waiting for a quorum, the house, on Wednesday, resumed consideration of the bill to exempt mining lands from operations on the alien land law. The house then took up, under a special order, the bill defining land in the copper compound land bill and before the reading of the journal, Holman raised the point of no quorum. It was after noon when a quorum appeared, and then, after a short discussion, the bill was passed. The bill repealing the alien land law was taken up in the morning hour, but was laid over. The bill providing for the inspection of accounts of laborers, workmen and mechanics, arising under the eight-hour law, was taken up, but went over. The house then proceeded, under a special order, to the consideration of the McKay bill providing for the inspection of accounts of laborers, workmen and mechanics, arising under the eight-hour law, was taken up, but went over. The house then proceeded, under a special order, to the consideration of the McKay bill providing for the inspection of accounts of laborers, workmen and mechanics, arising under the eight-hour law, was taken up, but went over.

Mr. Quay's "order of business" resolution was again taken up in the senate on Wednesday. Mr. Hoar offered a substitute, making it in order to vote debate after any matter has been under consideration for a "reasonable time," and also a amendment to add the election bill to Mr. Quay's list of measures, a vote to be taken on it September 4th. Mr. Hoar said his motion seemed to require a competitive statement of the purpose, mechanism and expediency of an election bill. Then Mr. Hoar offered a measure so much misunderstood or so much misunderstood, Messrs. Hoar, Frye and Edmunds made extended speeches. None of the Democratic senators made any comment. Mr. Spooner moved to refer the Quay resolution to the committee on rules. All such declined to lay aside the tariff bill, so the senate proceeded with consideration of the tariff bill. The house amendments to the agricultural college bill and the meat inspection bill were laid over. The senate then considered Mr. Hoar's motion to go to the president for his signature. The senate bill authorizing the construction of a bridge over Tennessee river at near Knoxville, and the house bill for the relief of settlers on the Northern Pacific railroad indemnity lands, were taken from the calendar and passed—the latter with a substitute. Seven senators and Speaker Reed were in the chamber when these bills were passed. The senate adjourned at 6:15 o'clock.

After the usual delay in getting a quorum, the house, on Thursday, passed several minor bridge bills, and then, in the morning hour, resumed consideration of the bill for the adjustment of accounts of laborers arising under the eight-hour law. Pending discussion, the morning hour expired, and the house proceeded under a special order to the consideration of the bill defining "land." Mr. McManis, of North Carolina, opposed the measure in a humorous speech, in which he quickly ridiculed some of the arguments of Mr. Brewster, of Pennsylvania, who had reported the bill. Messrs. Allen, of Michigan; Henderson, of Iowa, and Forman, of Illinois, spoke in favor of the bill. Mr. Stewart, of Texas, attacked the bill on constitutional grounds. Mr. Dutton, of Alabama, proceeded to make a constitutional argument against the bill. Mr. Wheeler, of Alabama, appealed to the members on the democratic side to stand by their constitutional principles. Following further debate, the house, at 5 o'clock, took a recess until 8 o'clock, the evening session to be for debate on the land bill. The speakers at the evening session were Messrs. Ewing, of Iowa; Dutton, of Illinois; Hill, of Illinois; Cutchings, of Mississippi; Bliss, of Michigan; Lay, of Iowa; Nields, of Michigan; Stockdale, of Mississippi; and Turner, of New York. The house adjourned at 10 o'clock.

On Thursday Mr. Blair introduced in the senate, at the request of the Farmers' Alliance, a bill to provide for banks of deposit. Consideration of the tariff bill was then begun. Mr. Quay's "order of business resolution" was laid before the senate Tuesday morning. Mr. Hoar said that he desired to address the senate on the subject, but would prefer to do so Wednesday, and understood that that was agreed to by the senate. Mr. Hoar then laid out his plan for the day, and the resolution accordingly went over. The tariff bill was then taken up, the pending question being on Mr. Plumb's amendment regarding the tariff on tin plate from a 2-10 cent to 1 cent a pound, and allowing a bounty of 1 cent a pound on American tin plate. When the cutting paragraph was reached, Mr. Tilton took the floor and made a lengthy speech on the general subject of tariff. Discussion on the cutting paragraph was carried on at much length by other senators. The amendment and bill went over. Mr. Hoar gave notice of two amendments which he would offer Wednesday to the Quay resolution. The senate then adjourned.

BRIEF SUMMARY OF WHAT IS GOING ON AROUND US.

The Florida war claims bill remains upon the senate calendar with no apparent prospect of action. It is just possible that it may get consideration after the tariff bill is out of the way, but the chances seem to be against it.

At the recent Republican convention held in Madison, composed entirely of colored men, the delegates were instructed to vote for J. N. Stripling for congress. The convention at Live Oak, also instructed for J. N. Stripling for congress.

The directors of the South Florida railroad have authorized an extension from Pemberton Ferry, its present terminus, through Hernando and Citrus counties, passing at or near Dunedin, in Marion county, thence north-west through Marion, Levy and Alachua counties to a connection with the Savannah, Florida and Western road, a total distance of about eighty miles.

The convention of the Democratic party for the first congressional district of Florida met in Baitow at 3:10 p. m. Friday. Upon motion, Hon. John H. McKinney was elected chairman. Mr. McKinney, of Levy, was elected temporary secretary, with Mr. N. B. Bishoff, of Pasco, as assistant secretary. On motion the temporary organization was made permanent.

John W. Trammel, of Polk, was elected vice-president of the convention. The chief announced that nominations were now in order. J. A. Henly, of Pasco, put in nomination the name of Thomas M. Shackelford, of Hernando. General B. Wall, of Hillsborough, seconded Mr. Henly's nomination. Mr. Henly placed in nomination the name of S. R. Mallory, seconded by J. B. Harris, of Lee; H. K. Colson, of Santa Rosa and Mr. Baird, of Leon. Dr. Greer, of Leon, placed in nomination the name of H. M. Davidson, seconded by Frank Sharron, of Gadsden. After twelve unsuccessful ballots were taken the convention adjourned till Saturday.

The convention resumed its work at 6 o'clock Saturday morning. Hon. J. H. McKinney in the chair. The committee on platform and resolutions made their report. Balloting again commenced. As the sixteenth ballot was being taken, the name of S. R. Mallory, seconded by Mr. K. H. Hernandez, who moved that the nomination of S. R. Mallory be made by acclamation, which was carried, and Mr. Mallory was nominated by acclamation to represent the first Florida district in congress.

The Democratic Convention met pursuant to call, in the exposition building in Ocala, Wednesday, July six hundred delegates and their friends were on hand anxious and ready for the fray. At 10 o'clock the convention proceeded to organize. Captain J. F. Bayo, of Lake City, was unanimously elected temporary chairman. As the applause following Chairman Bayo's speech died away, S. R. Mallory, of Alachua, put the name of James M. Barco, of Broward, in nomination for secretary of the convention. Hillsborough and Putnam seconded it and Mr. Barco was elected unanimously. Hon. J. H. McKinney, of Levy, was elected secretary. Mr. Gibbons, of Duval for assistant secretary, and he went through with a rush. A credentials committee was appointed and retired for business. During the deliberations Dr. Thomas Gary, Mayor of Ocala, addressed the convention. At 3 p. m. the committee on credentials, after two hours and a half's absence, through its chairman, Dr. Gaskins, made its report which was accepted. Mr. McKinney, of Jacksonville, moved that the temporary organization be made permanent, and it was so ordered.

Then Col. R. W. Davis, of Polk, in a happy and brilliant speech, nominated R. H. F. Rogers, president of the State Farmers' Alliance, as vice-president of the convention. He was unanimously elected.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE GREAT ORGANIZATION.—LEGISLATION, NOTES, ETC.

The Farmers' Alliance will nominate a candidate for congress in the Kansas City, Mo., district.

The Farmers and Laborers' Union and the Alliance of Arkansas have consolidated the two organizations.

South Carolina has 1,032 sub-Alliances and a membership of 40,000. An increase of 300 sub-Alliances and 17,500 members since last report.

Kansas, Tennessee, Missouri, Georgia and North Carolina lead all other states in Alliance membership. Missouri is in the lead with 2,900 units.

A good thing for Alliancemen to learn is to keep their own counsel, hear all that passes, learn all they can, and do but little talking. The one who absorbs all that is said and gives out as little as possible is the one who increases. Those who do not talk generally have very little in reserve.

The Alliance is getting there lively this year. From all parts of the country come the good news that prominent members of the organizations are being nominated for Congress. That is a move in the right direction. Fill all legislative halls with Alliancemen.—Arkansas Times.

The chairman of the democratic executive committee of South Carolina says the outlook is all right. The Farmers' Alliance, about which there is so much talk, is all in the democratic party, and it will organize the counties as they were never before organized. The Alliance, of course, controls the conventions of all the counties.

NEWS OF THE SOUTH.

BRIEF NOTES OF AN INTERESTING NATURE.

FIFTY ITEMS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTHERN STATES THAT WILL INTEREST THE READER.—ACCIDENTS, FIRES, FLOODS, ETC.

The democratic convention in the fourth congressional district of Louisiana renominated N. C. Blanchard.

The population of the third supervisor's district of North Carolina was given out Thursday by the census office as $52,877. This is an increase during the last census period of 83,807, or 18.35 per cent.

A Richmond dispatch says: Judge Joseph Christian, ex-president of the supreme court of appeals, was married Wednesday, in Centre county, Pennsylvania, to Mrs. Anna Reynolds. The judge is nearing three score and ten.

Dr. William Garrison, a prominent physician and citizen of Victoria, Tenn., jumped from a moving train, a few days ago, while suffering from a temporary aberration of mind. He received injuries from which he died Tuesday.

Reports from the northwest counties of Kentucky, say the mountain regions along the Big Sandy river are being swept by flux and kindred diseases, and the people are dying by the score, and drought, low water, propagated with alkali and excessive heat, are supposed to be the causes.

Judge Max Stein, of Hidalgo county, a wealthy and leading merchant of Edinburg, Texas, was shot and killed Tuesday morning in Reynosa, Mexico, by Mrs. Dale McCabe, of Carna county, Texas. The murderess is the wife of ex-county Judge McCabe. The affair grew out of an election trouble.

A dispatch of Wednesday from Adairville, Ga., says: Down Oolabogee valley the grasshoppers are playing havoc with fodder, clover and other green crops. In some places the stub has been eaten from the ears of corn. It is fortunate that they are not extended over a very large territory, for the damage they are doing is great.

PROMINENT PEOPLE.

QUEEN VICTORIA IS THIS SEASON REMARKABLY GRACIOUS AND AFFABLE.

The late Dr. Robert Laird Collier had his life insured for $75,000.

KING KALABALA, of the Sandwich Islands, will visit London in the autumn.

MISS MOLLIE E. SEAWELL, the Southern novelist, is a niece of President Tyler.

PORT THURGOOD's health is falling rapidly, and he receives very few, if any visitors.

POLLICINO, President of the Argentine Republic, is a cousin to the late John Bright.

JOSE G. WHITTIER, the poet, has attended a Quaker meeting house at Amesbury, Mass., for fifty years.

BARON HERRA, one of the richest men in Europe, is coming over to visit us and see what we are doing.

CRUICK, the New York artist, lives above his shop all summer long, cruising about Long Island Sound.

GENERAL RENTA, of Salvador, is the youngest of all Presidents being only twenty-seven years of age.

HERRARD GLADSTONE, son of the grand old man, whom Mr. Gladstone refers to as "my boy Herbert," is nearly forty years of age.

THE only colored delegate to the Mississippi Constitutional Convention is I. T. Montgomery, who was a slave of Jefferson Davis.

THE Duke of Edinburgh has cost British taxpayers, since he came of age, it is estimated, $2,500,000, and his brother, Cornwall, $1,500,000.

WILLIAM GROESBECK, the man who defended President Andrew Johnson in his impeachment trial, is at present living very quietly near Saratoga, N. Y.

SENATOR GORMAN, of Maryland, is said to be the handsomest man in the United States Senate. He is a Presbyterian, and has been nicknamed "Cardinal."

ADAMERS of Explorer Stanley will be glad to hear that he has almost wholly recovered his health. Since his recent illness he has drawn the line at dinner parties.

SECRETARY OF STATE RYAN, of Ohio, is a literary man, and has written a history of Ohio, composed at night while he was a member of the State Legislature.

We are authorized to announce that W. C. (Hess) is a candidate for Congress in the Fifth District, subject to the action of the Democratic Convention.

Montgomery had received 1,736 votes of the new crop of cotton up to and including last Saturday.

The election returns from sixty counties gives Jones 134,073, and Long 40,324. Jones majority 93,749.

The Alabama saw-mill men are respectfully requested to meet with the Georgia saw-mill Association at Macon, Ga., Tuesday October 28th, 1890.

Our quondam friend, Arthur Melver, late of the Tuskegee News, is now running an excellent paper called the Herald, at Darlington, S. C. We are glad to place the Herald on our exchange list, and wish it the success which it will merit.

Philadelphia Record: The response from the South to the proposed Force bill and Tariff bill is emphatic and unmistakable. Counties in Kentucky that went for Harrison in 1888 have been carried by the Democracy, and Democratic majorities have been doubled. Alabama follows the heels of Kentucky. The Democrats sweep everything before them.

On June 30th a young man named Buck Pear, aged about 22, was living with Mr. Samuel S. Dross, five miles west of Helena, disappeared very suddenly and has not been heard of since. He left barefooted and in his work clothes. The community is very much agitated about the matter, and his father is almost wild with grief. Any information as to his whereabouts will be gratefully received by W. H. Sturdivant, Helena, Ala.

A gentleman who has paid considerable attention to the matter writes: "How can a man say that women does not work? In one year she gets dinner 355 times, washes her dishes 1065 times, gets the children ready for school twice a day for 180 days, gets the baby to sleep 1,450 times, makes about 200 calls, and she wishes for something she hasn't every minute. She wishes 60 things an hour, 4,320 things in a day. Who says that a woman does nothing to do."

The Fifth District.

The Convention in this District has been called to meet at Goodwater on the 10th of September next. The basis of representation was fixed at one vote for every hundred votes cast for Governor in 1888, and one vote for every fraction of fifty or over.

This would entitle each county to the following vote: Autauga 12; Chambers 21; Clay 17; Elmore 20; Bibb 18; Chilton 15; Crenshaw 14; Macon 14; Tallapoosa 29, making a total of 165 votes in the convention. The two-thirds rule has been before been adopted in the conventions of this district, and the convention at Wetumpka two years ago adopted a resolution requesting the counties to instruct their delegates in regard to the rule to be adopted in the next convention, but with one or two exceptions, the county conventions took no action upon the suggestion. It is pretty well understood, however, that the time for the two-thirds rule has passed, and it is believed that the convention at Goodwater will adopt the majority rule, and under that it would require eighty-three votes to nominate. Of these Judge Cobb, who is a candidate for re-nomination, has received the vote of Macon and eighteen out of the twenty-one from Chambers. Bibb has instructed for Dr. Cross. Tallapoosa, where Col. J. P. Oliver, who is also a candidate, lives, has yet to elect delegates. The delegates have been elected in the other counties, but in the absence of instructions, it is not known how they will vote.

There are now only three candidates in the field, but it is thought that before the convention meets there will be other candidates, as in all the other counties there are gentlemen who are willing to sacrifice themselves and serve the District in Congress.

The last county convention of Macon selected only twelve delegates, and the custom and party usage, in such cases, has been to allow the delegates elected to cast the additional vote to which they are entitled.

Judge Cobb has made a most faithful member of Congress, stands very high in the good opinion of his fellow members in the Alabama delegation, is very popular with the people, is a conservative and guarded in all his actions, a slow and wise politician, and our information is that he has lost none of his standing in the district, and that he will be hard to beat, it requires no especial degree of political foresight to see. He is now in his district, repairing his fences, where left down or a rail has been thrown off. -Advertiser.

The Force Bill.

Editor Hess, of the Nashville Christian Advocate, suggests that the South under the force bill should notice the N. Y. Times at present and sometime even a good deal. That paper does not go out in politics. If when the South smites her on one cheek, the South turns the other cheek she will get her head knocked off 4-Exchange. While it is too true that the saintly policy advocated by Mr. Hess could never successfully contend with such a devilish measure as the force bill, yet the measure itself, like the civil rights bill, is a detestable to the people of the South that they cannot well appreciate any attempt at humor over its blood and thunder provisions.

We do not fear the force bill more than the civil rights bill. Both are products of the "holier than thou" purification of Massachusetts, and as the civil rights bill has been a nullity because it overreached itself, so we think will the force bill prove a dead letter should it become a law.

If it is true that the force bill is dead, it should be allowed to remain so. Too much discussion on the part of the press of this section might result in resurrecting the obnoxious measure.

Alabama's Revenue.

A bill was introduced in the legislature at the session of 1888-9 by Hon. N. N. Clements which provided for the reduction of the tax rate for the year 1889, ending September 30, 1890, to four and a half mills or 45 cents on the $100, and further, to reduce the tax rate for the year 1890, ending September 30th, 1891, to four mills or forty cents on the one hundred dollars. The bill was passed, and the assessment which was completed on the first of August, 1889, on which the taxes of 1890 were collected, showed an increase in valuations but owing to the reduction tax rate the increase did not yield within about fifty thousand dollars as much revenue as was yielded the previous year on a lower valuation, but at a higher rate of taxation. Some uneasiness was felt at this time a year ago, because of this showing made by the assessment returns, particularly as the state was then preparing to issue an issue of nearly one million dollars of four per cent bonds to retire an issue of six per cent bonds dated in 1879 or 1880. The results which followed showed that the uneasiness felt was not well founded. The state placed its issue of four per cent bonds at a price above par, showing that the apparent deficit in the revenues did not in any way affect the credit of the state, while on the other hand the revenue yielded, at the lower rate of taxation, proved ample to meet every obligation of the state as it became due. The assessments upon which the taxes of the coming year will be collected, beginning October 1st, were completed in all the counties of the state on the first of the present month, and up to the present time, twelve counties have filed with the auditor their abstracts of assessments. These abstracts show in every instance, an increase in the valuation, but in every county reporting so far, except one, it is shown that the reduced rate of taxation is not overcome by the increased valuation and consequently there is a decrease in the amount of revenue, which runs from a decrease of $61.78 in Coweta county to a decrease of $2,709.75 in Madison county. The only increase in revenue shown is $431.31 in Franklin county. The assessments received so far show an aggregate increase of value in the twelve counties reporting, of $7,359,210 while the gross decrease in revenue from the same counties is $12,785.43. Taken from the gross decrease in revenue, the increase of $431.31 reported in Franklin county, there is a net decrease so far of $12,354.12. Many of the best business men of the state are yet to report, and while some increase of valuation is expected, the aggregate increase of the tax rate of forty cents on the hundred dollars, will return all the revenue necessary for the expenses of the state government under the wise and economical administration of Democratic officials. -Montgomery Journal.

The Theory of Cranks.

The physicians of an insane asylum at Indianapolis, Ind., have expounded such a unique cause for cranks it is worth while to consider the theory in order to modify any existing judgment against this harmless but peculiar class of individuals. According to the physicians' statement cranks are caused by irregularities in the circulation of the blood. They are the results of the artificiality and pressure of modern life, causing an anatomical change of the human heart. Among the changes are cited those by which the diameters of the heart are becoming greater, its walls thinner, its strength less, its beats more frequent. From these changes is produced irregularity of the quantity of blood through the weakened channels that irrigate the garden of the brain. As the circulation is not normal, some parts of the brain receive too much blood and other parts not enough, causing irregular growth, and mental obliquity, and cranks.

The expounding of this theory will undoubtedly produce a change in public opinion in regard to cranks. Instead of looking upon the eccentric individuals as the product of natural perversity and weakness, responsible for their own actions, society will tolerate them with compassion. If a crank is particularly cranky, it will be known that too much blood is irrigating a certain portion of the garden of his brain. Umbrella cranks, for example, are simple victims of the action of the heart which stimulates with too much blood the idea of appropriating somebody else's umbrella. Baseball cranks are suffering from irregular growth of the gray matter of the brain. It is not that, but their misfortune that their brain is mapped out like a baseball field, irrigated and kept perpetually fresh by a constant supply of heart's blood. The cranks that are always borrowing, the crank who wants to know whether this is hot enough for you, all kinds of social and political cranks are simply the result of peculiar arterial circulation. As they are the results of the developments of society and are innocent victims of our social system, the injustice of making them the butt of satire must be solemnly recognized. They are to be placed among the world's invalids, among the maimed and the lame, and their vagaries tolerated as signs of fluctuation in the public pulse.

THE SOUTHERN EXPOSITION.

Interview in Alliance Herald. A reporter of the Herald called on General Manager Cheney to learn what he knew about the exposition that would be of interest to the readers of the Herald. In response to the question, "Who will you have to address the people on alliance days?" Mr. Cheney said: "I have just returned from Atlanta, where I met President Pike and inquired of him what he expected to do about our invitation that had been extended to him sometime ago to be present and talk alliance doctrines at our exposition. Col. Pike met me very cordially and expressed a deep interest in the people of Alabama, and said: 'If possible, I will be with you, but on account of the pressure of business, just at this time I cannot accept of any other invitation.'"

"What other speakers do you expect to have?" We have invited Col. Livingston, of Georgia, Governor Buchanan, of Tennessee, and Capt. Tillman, of South Carolina. These gentlemen are considered as the leaders of the alliance in their respective states, and we can promise the alliance of this state a grand treat."

"What other attractions have you?" Well, they are so numerous that it is difficult to enumerate them. Our main building will be packed with a magnificent exhibit of Alabama's products and manufactures. We are now building a new machinery hall and expect to present a splendid array of agricultural machinery. Besides, for the amusement of the people, we have secured 'Pawnee Bill's Great Wild West Show.' This is equal to the attraction that Buffalo Bill has been showing to the crowned heads of Europe. Each day, beginning at 11 o'clock, an exhibit free of charge will be given, lasting one and a half hours, showing off in true style, the wild west life."

"Then you intend to give the people something to attract and amuse them through the whole day?" "Yes, sir, and in addition to the above we will have balloon ascensions each day, and fall, in a parachute. This thrilling scene alone is worth a visit to the city."

"Well Captain anything else?" "Yes, but I will talk to you again next week. Good bye."

THE CENSUS IN THE SOUTH.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.-The enumerator's returns to Superintendent Porter of the census of the Southern States, shows an unexpected and astonishing growth of that section. Even the warmest friends of the South are astonished at the figures. The returns prove that the South has had a genuine and substantial boom.

On the basis of 151,000 for a congressman which is the present basis, every Southern state, with the exception of Delaware, will secure an additional congressman, and some of them several. If the proposed basis of representation prevail of 151,000, all the states, with the exceptions of Florida and Delaware, will secure an increase. Texas shows the largest gain in population, her increase being 900,000. Alabama has gained 393,835; Arkansas, 369,475; Delaware, 29,392; Florida, 127,000; Georgia, 298,000; Kentucky, 222,000; Louisiana, 176,000; Maryland, 406,000; Mississippi, 214,000; North Carolina, 241,000; South Carolina, 299,000; Virginia, 208,000; West Virginia, 156,000; Tennessee, 258,000; Missouri, 400,000. It is now claimed that the increase in the South will exceed that of the states of the Northwest.

GREAT CLEARING-OUT SALE IS SEASONABLE!

WE DO NOT wait until the end of the season to have our clearing sales. When you are thinking of purchasing fall goods, it is not the time to try and shove off on a considerable public, shop-worn goods which have been lying on the shelves a whole year or more, as will be attempted soon by so-called competitors, by declaring a clearing sale before stock-taking. This is not our style of doing business. We placed our whole immense stock before your inspection months ago, right in the best part of the season, at prices that are 20 to 30 per cent. lower than other houses pay for them; and you certainly purchased liberally of them. What we advertised were square, honest truths, and they never will be anything else but truths. That is why we do such a volume of business. There is no taboos about this. A simple glance into our stores any day during the week, at any hour, will convince you of what we say about the business we are doing. Come and join the great crowds this week.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE GREAT ORGANIZATION.—LEGISLATION, NOTES, ETC.

Seven cotton mills in Georgia are making cotton bagging.

The Alliance is organized in 70 of the 100 counties in Virginia.

The Farmers' Alliance has two thousand members in Maryland, and is rapidly increasing.

The watchword with every Alliance member should be aggression. The facts of the times demand it, and anyone that doubts it shows this information is one-sided.

At Griffin, Ga., the farmers' co-operative cotton seed oil and fertilizer factory have been enlarged and the operations considerably extended over what they were last season.

The Alliance Farmer (Selman, Fla.) says: "We re-assert that when a man loves either of the old political parties better than the Alliance, he is not an Alliance man at all, but an impostor that is sure to injure the Order when its day of trial comes."

Alliance business exchanges are multiplying in Florida. The Jacksonville Tribune states that the Jacksonville Alliance Exchange, of Jacksonville, Fla., has been organized with the Secretary of State. It has a capital stock of $10,000.

The Maryland State Alliance convened its Baltimore last week, with twenty county Alliances and nine from three other counties represented. A harmonious session of three days was held, the most important business being the adoption of a plan of exchange, modeled closely after that of South Carolina.

The late dispatches announce that the Farmers' Alliance, in Michigan, has nominated a full ticket for governor, cabinet officers and justices of the supreme court. It was the result of a failure of either of the old parties to recognize the Alliance demands. The outcome of this movement will be waited with intense anxiety.

The Alliance brotherhood is initiating capital just now. There is a strong disposition to demand a collateral in the way of a reason, with each assertion by the politicians and editors that the sub-treasury bill is unconstitutional, impracticable, or impossible. It is odd how little reason is offered as collateral for very much assertion.—National Economist.

The agitation of a small number of disorganizers in Missouri is effectually ended by the action of the State Union at Sedalia in the passage by an overwhelming majority of a resolution instructing the president to rule that the body belongs to the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union. Thus does harmony put down dissension whenever the people are allowed to speak, and fraternity continues to envelop the land.

Mechanicburg Alliance No. 1073, Yazoo county, Miss., sends a vote of thanks to the National Legislative Committee "for the able and efficient manner in which they presented the sub-treasury plan before Congress, and for opposing the unjust and discriminating legislation which has been enacted by Congress detrimental to both labor and agriculture, and in the interest of capitalistic companies and powerful corporations."

Delegates from nineteen County Alliances met recently at Charleston, and were organized into a State Alliance by President Barlow, of Virginia, aided by National Secretary Turner. The progress of the order in that State has been most satisfactory, there being already 250 sub-alliances, with a membership of 15,000. The work will now doubtless be continued with accelerated speed, and it is safe to predict that nearly or quite all the fifty-four counties will be represented at the next State meeting one year hence.

The Colored Farmers' State Alliance of Tennessee, at their recent session in Paducah, adopted resolutions declaring in favor of the sub-treasury plan, emphasizing those who have worked so faithfully for its adoption, and declaring that they will co-operate with the white people of the State of Tennessee for the promotion and efficient of such public servants as will give them the sub-treasury or some equivalent measure. This is the record of Colored State Alliance (Gov-

NEWS OF THE SOUTH.

BRIEF NOTES OF AN INTERESTING NATURE.

FIFTY ITEMS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTHERN STATES THAT WILL INTEREST THE READER—ACCIDENTS, FIRES, FLOODS, ETC.

The Richmond, Va., paper mill was destroyed by fire Thursday night. Loss, $25,000; insurance unknown.

The census office has completed the official count of the population of Savannah, Ga. It is 43,212, or 41 per cent increase over 1880.

The census office, on Thursday, completed a final card estimate of the population of Georgia. The figures are 1,500,000, an increase of about 350,000 over the census of 1880.

Spartanburg, S. C., is to have a grand gala week the latter part of September, during the State city property, which takes place on the 24th, 25th and 26th of September.

News comes from Goldsboro, N. C., of the arrest there, on Wednesday, of Alex. Thompson, a negro woman, charged with poisoning Samuel Cohen's family of eleven persons by deadly poison in the coffee. She is in jail.

A petition for charter was filed by the incorporators of the American Investment Company, in Atlanta, Ga., Thursday. The capital stock is to be $100,000, unless an increase is desired, which is not to exceed $200,000.

Labor Agent R. A. Williams was in Raleigh, N. C., Tuesday, and gave notice that he desires to secure 25,000 negroes from North Carolina to work in Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas. He will begin his movement out of the state in October.

A letter from Hazard, Ky., where court is in session under the protection of troops, dated August 23rd, says twenty-three men engaged in the French-English feud, have been indicted for murder and accessories, and many of them have been arrested.

B. Wellman, a wealthy and prominent Helwell citizen of Birmingham, was run over and killed by a train on the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railroad Tuesday afternoon. He attempted to get on the caboose of a passing freight train, fell under the wheels and was crushed to death.

A Charlotte, N. C., dispatch, of Thursday, says: Much excitement is manifested over the recent suit that has been entered by the county officers of Calhoun for $50,000 against the Daily Standard, of Concord, for libel. Something of a sensational character is thought to be behind this action.

The census report of street railroads shows that the mileage in Atlanta, Ga., has been increased from 15.48 miles in 1886 to 28.13 in 1890. Birmingham has 76 miles, Charleston 10, Dallas, Texas, 20; Galveston 32, Memphis 53, Nashville 15, New Orleans 104, Richmond 14, St. Louis 12, Atlanta and Savannah are the only Georgia cities noted.

A dispatch from Nashville, Tenn., says: Ed Johnson, the Memphis express train robber, was released Thursday after having served fifteen years in the penitentiary. He was immediately arrested by Detective Regan, of Cincinnati, and was taken away on the morning train, to answer a charge of stealing lumber in Cincinnati.

A Richmond, Va., dispatch says: Negroes from all parts of the country will assemble here in large numbers on the 15th, 16th and 17th of October, to participate in the great jubilee attending the celebration of the 27th anniversary of the emancipation proclamation. Special railroads will occur in the exposition grounds. One of its features will be addresses from prominent colored leaders.

A Knoxville, Tenn., dispatch, says: John P. Smith, eleven-year-old son of F. M. Smith, and a boy named Hittell, died Tuesday from a dose of morphine, and three other children of Mr. Smith's, who had taken another dose, were made sick by the same drug which was administered for a cold in mistake for quinine. The mistake was made by a druggist, in diluting the prescription.

It is rumored that the Louisville and Nashville railroad will probably be the purchasers of the South Carolina railroad. It was stated that a director in the Louisville and Nashville is authority for the statement that when the road is put up for sale the Louisville and Nashville will have a bidder there. That purchase would complete one of the most perfect railway combinations in the United States.

In the Mississippi constitutional convention, Thursday, Mr. Henderson, of Clay county, submitted a resolution providing that transportation companies engaged in interstate traffic shall be prohibited in cases of strikes, of employing armed bodies of men, or non-residents, calling themselves detectives, under the penalty of forfeiture of charter privilege.

TELEGRAPH AND CABLE.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE BUSY WORLD.

A SUMMARY OF OUTSIDE AFFAIRS CONDENSED FROM NEWSPAPERS DISPATCHES FROM UNCLE SAM'S DOMAIN AND WHAT THE CABLE BRINGS.

The Oklahoma legislature met Tuesday.

Owing to a misplaced switch, two freight trains on the Burlington and Missouri River road collided at Mullen, Nebraska, Tuesday morning, killing three persons and seriously injuring six others.

Dispatches from Madrid, Spain, continue to tell of cholera in Valencia and Alicante. In Toledo, Wednesday, eight new cases and twelve deaths were reported. The director of the military academy there has succumbed.

The Chicago express on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, ran into an open switch near Point of Rocks, Md., Tuesday evening. The engine and several cars were wrecked and Engineer David Ziller was killed. The fireman was injured.

A Vienna, Austria, dispatch of Wednesday says: A terrific storm has visited Trieste, causing a great loss of life and property. Many wrecks are reported on the Adriatic sea, and the crews of several vessels have perished. At Wittingau three persons were killed by lightning.

The boiler of a locomotive on a freight train on the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio railroad exploded Wednesday morning while the train was running. Six men were killed and many others injured. Fire was discovered in McVicker's theater, on Madison street, Chicago, Tuesday morning, and was soon beyond control. The rear wall fell and all the firemen of No. 7 were hurt in the ruins. All were more or less lacerated, and Frank Duffy had his skull fractured, and will probably die. The total loss to the theater building and occupants is estimated at over $200,000.

The Nebraska state prohibition convention concluded its labors at Lincoln on Thursday. Dr. D. L. Paine, of Lincoln, was nominated for governor by acclamation. George W. Woolby, a colored man, was unanimously chosen for lieutenant governor; Charles Watts, for secretary of state; A. Mitchell, for auditor; H. W. Hardy, for state treasurer; Judge P. P. Wigton, for attorney general; C. Cleson, for commissioner, and Mrs. Mary R. Morgan, for state superintendent of schools.

A Guthrie, Indian Territory, special of Wednesday says: Both houses of the territorial legislature in that city effected a temporary organization as follows: Council, G. W. Gardnery, democrat, of Payne county, president; C. P. McCabe, colored, clerk of the house; J. C. Host, republican, of Payne county, chairman; H. G. Beard, of Oklahoma City, clerk. It is almost settled that the democrats and the people's party will co-operate and then have a fighting show in the house.

It was rumored on the streets of Boston on Wednesday afternoon that Potter Lovell & Co., bankers, 43 Federal street, were financially embarrassed. There are two characters carrying on business of a similar character at the same place—Potter, Lovell & Co. and the Potter-Lovell company. The Potter-Lovell company was incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts, in 1884, with a cash capital of $400,000 with the purpose of discounting commercial paper.

A sensation was created in Biddeford, Me., Wednesday morning, when United States Marshal Sanders, of Portland, placed under arrest seven alienists of that city, and took them to Portland, with several persons detained as witnesses, on warrants from the United States district court. The alienists are charged with neglecting to strike from the Biddeford voting lists the names of parties not legally entitled to vote, and for conspiracy in arranging a piece of the list for the names of persons not legal voters.

TRADE REVIEW.

DUN & CO'S REPORT OF BUSINESS FOR WEEK ENDING AUGUST 23.

The weekly review of trade of R. G. Dun & Co., says: The signs of monetary disturbance which were noticed in previous reviews were not misleading. Money loaned at half a cent per day premium or about 180 per cent yearly, and most of the loans were at a quarter premium. Money for commercial loans is scarce and rates nominal.

The treasury list announced that it will redeem $20,000,000 of the 4 1/2 per cent bonds, and accelerate payment for silver bought. The obvious and only sufficient relief is the liquidation of money. Speculations in stocks, in wheat, corn, cotton, leather, hides, coffee, wool, and especially in silver bullion, have locked up enormous sums.

In silver alone about ten millions have been locked up to wait for high prices. In grain several times as much, and in other products many millions. In addition, the enormous imports intended to liquidate the silver bought, and the enormous sums of money, are locking up the country.

Reports from the various cities, with very few exceptions, indicate a larger trade than ever before in its progress with satisfactory collections and a bright outlook. Crop reports are less discouraging than the old must. It is believed early anticipations as to grain. In general, the condition of legitimate business is encouraging, unless monetary pressure and labor controversies interfere. The threat of a great strike on all the Vanderbilt roads has led to depress stocks and to disturb shipments. Business failure of the week number for the United States, 1,172, Canada 20. Total 192, against 197 last week.

On Thursday the Alabama National Bank at St. Paul a check for $46,000, to which the name of J. P. Mudd, president of the Central Savings Bank, of Birmingham, had been forged. The check was payable to J. Myers, who had cashed it at the St. Paul bank. Myers came to Birmingham from Cincinnati last February and announced that he represented the stockholders of the Birmingham Rolling Mill Company and had been sent to settle the old mill on the condition that the strike was settled without him and that he engaged in several life transactions which gave him the reputation of being a very slick citizen.

The report of the sub-committee on franchise in the Mississippi constitutional convention was printed Tuesday. The qualifications which become operative January 1st, 1890, are: "First, every qualified elector shall be able to read any article of the constitution of the state; or, second, he shall be able to understand the same when read to him; or, third, he shall own in his own right and shall have paid taxes on property of the assessed value of $200 for the fiscal year next preceding his registration. Soldiers of either army, who served honorably during the late war, shall be exempt from property or educational qualification."

A special inspector of the interior department, who has been investigating the reported destitution in Oklahoma, telegraphed Secretary Noble that: "After many days of house-to-house inspection, I find fully one-third of the people need aid; two-thirds of the farmers need wheat; many are now in want of food; no work; nothing to sell; prospects gloomy; extreme south of the territory not quite so bad."

THE NATIONAL GAME.

O'CONNOR, OF COLUMBUS, LEADS THE ASSOCIATION.

THIRTY BROOKLYN players have batting averages of over .300.

BROOKLYN, of the Boston League team, has only struck out once this season.

WELCH is the only one of the New York League pitchers to win half of his games.

No club now in the Players' League circuit will be out of it in 1891, unless bought out.

JACK BECKLEY is the most reliable man at the bat in the Pittsburgh Club with men on base.

TEN BROOKLYN players have batting averages of over .300.

We are authorized to announce Dr. J. H. McLean as a candidate for Congress in the Fifth District, subject to the action of the Democratic Convention.

A train on the Mobile and Montgomery R. R. was held up and robbed on Monday night. Only the express car was robbed and it is thought that the amount secured was not large. Rube Burrows is supposed to be the robber.

The Blade-Enterprise wisely says: Political agitation always sets business relations and interests with the promotion of the material interests of the people who engage in it. Those who look to legislation for a panacea for all their ills seldom find it; the remedy is rather found in individual effort.

The View is not inclined to favor "swapping horses" at critical periods, but if Senator Fugh cannot be his own successor we hope to see ex-Governor Watts fill his place. The noble old Roman is well deserving of the honor, and it would be a fitting reward for his services to the party and the State.

The Alliance, the Eutaw Whig and Observer seems to think, will give us the Australian ballot and more economical government, enlarging the sinking fund to relieve the State of the carpet-bagger debt. The bonded debt is $9,230,700. The floating debt $3,175,306. If the new system it will be doing a good work.

Hon. James Hogg, who was recently nominated by the Democrats of Texas for Governor is a native of Jefferson county, Ala. The Birmingham News in calling attention to the number of Alabamians who have attained prominence in Texas omits the name of Governor Roberts, a recent Governor of Texas, who was a native of St. Clair county, Ala.

A larger portion of the patrons of the Louisiana Lottery invest $1 at a time. It may interest them to know just what chances of winning are thus secured, and how often they may expect to be disappointed. By a careful calculation, it seems that a $1 ticket implies one chance in three of winning eighty-five cents; one chance in nineteen of winning $1.75, and one chance in 1,257 of winning $4.25. These figures are certainly not calculated to encourage such a method of speculation.

DEMOCRACY'S COURSE.

Its Attitude Towards the Alliance Clearly Defined.

We are receiving letters inquiring as to what will be the course we propose to pursue in regard to the Farmers' Alliance movement, which has become such a prominent feature in the politics of the country. There can be no uncertainty as to the attitude of a national Democratic newspaper in this matter. We sympathize with the legitimate aims and purposes of the Farmers' movement, and shall do all in our power to aid in securing the benefits of which the agricultural element in our population stands in such great need. In these aims we cannot of course, include the sub-treasury or warehouse scheme, which the leaders of the party in Congress have so fully discussed in our columns. That is an un-democratic and impracticable plan calculated to do the farmers injustice if it could be carried out. So far as the Farmers' Alliance connects itself with the choice of candidates for public offices, we are in favor of it when it undertakes to support Democratic candidates and Democratic principles, and opposed to it when it takes ground against them. And if it shall appear that selfish and unscrupulous men, having no sympathy with the Democratic party and in reality bitterly opposed to it, have obtained influential offices in the Alliance organizations and are seeking to prevent us from obtaining control of the government, we shall not hesitate to expose their character and their conduct, and to do all in our power to prevent them from carrying out their evil schemes.

The foregoing is taken from the National Democrat, the able organ of the national Democracy published in Washington city. It is the true course for every Democratic paper to pursue upon the question involved.

Developments continue to demonstrate that the only hope of the Alliance is in the Democratic party. A great many Alliancemen do not favor the sub-treasury bill. They are wisely afraid of its centralizing features and its doubtful aid. Yet the agitation of the question of aid to the agricultural classes will have the effect in the end to secure such aid by a wiser and safer plan.

The Alliance will not antagonize the Democratic party, for its hope is to carry out all its views and purposes through that organization. The result of the campaign in this and other States has made this point so clear that he who runs may read.

No secret or oath bound order has yet succeeded in controlling the politics of this country, and the Alliance cannot hope to do so as long as it is a secret organization, because both prejudice and intelligence will combat such a result. But the order will accomplish good, and we do not fear results when they are to be obtained through the Democratic party, and as long as the Alliance proposes to carry on its war against monopoly, oppression and corruption within the lines of the Democratic party organization, a Democratic press could not fight the order if it would and would not fight it if it could.

A CRYING SHAME.

The following from the Jefferson Enterprise, published at Pratt Mines, should be read by every legislator.

John and Jim Carter, two colored youths, aged 10 and 8 years, respectively, were brought to the prison at No. 2 last Monday from Russell county for assault and battery. This is one of the grandest outrages and the most damnable blows upon the fair name of Alabama that has besmirched the judiciary department within our knowledge. The idea of the State taking apprentices at this age to rear up in crime. Here are two children that have barely left their mother's breast taken from home and cast amongst thieves and murderers by the "strong arm" of the law, to be by it, educated in the same school of crime. A sound thrashing would have been more effective in reforming these children than to cast them in prison. Two negro boys sent to the penitentiary for that which boys have done always. This is a crying shame, and we would suggest to our christian people the idea that instead of begging money for "foreign missions" they turn their attention to so far christianizing our legislators that they change our convict system entirely and establish a reformatory school for youthful criminals.

COUNTY CENSUS.

Approximate Population of those Counties Embraced in the Third District.

Through the kindness of J. L. Watkins, supervisor of the census, the Birmingham News is able to give the approximate population of the twelve counties in the third census district of Alabama. Superintendent Porter wires permission to give out the figures, but he also wants it understood that they are approximate and may be changed by the official count. The difference, however, will not be much at the greatest.

A tabulated statement of the population for 1880 and 1890 is as follows:

	1880	1890
Autauga	13,108	13,280
Bibb	9,487	13,850
Chilton	10,763	14,550
Greene	21,931	21,940
Hale	26,553	23,940
Jefferson	23,272	26,570
Perry	30,741	29,130
Pickens	21,479	22,450
St. Clair	14,462	14,980
Shelby	17,236	20,840
Sumter	28,728	29,660
Tuscaloosa	25,967	28,790

It will be seen from this table that the gains and losses for the decade are as follows:

Autauga—gain	72
Bibb—gain	2,317
Chilton—gain	3,757
Greene—gain	9
Hale—loss	2,613
Jefferson—gain	3,398
Perry—loss	1,611
Pickens—gain	971
St. Clair—gain	518
Shelby—gain	3,604
Sumter—gain	932
Tuscaloosa—gain	3,833

The total gain of population in these twelve counties since 1880 is 74,836. It is rather a big show for Jefferson county that she represents almost six-sevenths of this increase, having a gain of 83,299. It will be also noticed that Jefferson county has fallen 15,000 short of the last estimated population when she was placed at 100,000.

The result of the war upon the black belt is well illustrated by comparing the figures of 1880 with those of 1890. It will be seen that Autauga has fallen of 3000, Bibb has lost 2000, Greene 8000, and Pickens 1000.

The gains given the counties of Bibb and Chilton by the News' figures are inaccurate. A proper subtraction will show an increase of 4,343 in Bibb instead of 2,317, and the increase in Chilton is 3,847 instead of 3,757.

The News also makes a mistake in supposing that the loss in some of the black belt counties is altogether due to the effect of the war. The loss in the counties named is due principally to the formation of new counties since 1880. Autauga and Bibb both lost territory and population when Chilton was formed. Greene lost heavily when Hale was made a county. Like wise Pickens lost when she surrendered part of her territory and population to the new county of Lamar. The News places Bibb in the black belt; it properly belongs to the mineral district, and has always been a white county. Another proof of the incorrectness of the supposition of the News concerning the black belt is in the fact that Pickens and Sumter, two black belt counties, show a greater increase during the past ten years than does St. Clair county, which belongs to the mineral district.

The Birmingham papers have always been so completely absorbed in Birmingham and Jefferson county and in dishing up the disgusting details of the nightly nigger killings in Buzzard Roost, that they have not had the time nor the inclination to learn anything about the rest of Alabama. Therefore, this correction.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Dixie Dots.

Cotton picking all the go. Dixie has shipped 4 bales. The cry is "more cotton pickers." Cotton is opening very fast but no pickers. Rust has damaged the crop some. A great deal of hay has been saved. Mrs. W. B. Hare, of Fla., has been the guest of Mrs. M. A. Hare for a week. She now leaves for Montevallo her former home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Caine, of Dallas county, paid us a flying visit last week. Master DeArman Crum is now visiting his half sister, Mrs. John Caine.

Mapleville Dots.

All railroad work from here to Montgomery is now completed, except the bridge over the Alabama river, some trestle work and laying down the track. The work is yet going steadily on from here toward Centerville.

Mrs. Emily Crawford is visiting Mrs. Fushie, of this place. The beautiful Miss Lizzie Hammond has made up her faithful servant during her stay here.

Our pleasant friend, Robert Martin had a most enjoyable day at Ashby Sunday. The day was spent delightfully in singing and a most excellent dinner was served on the ground.

Miss Stella Bowline, of Selma, is visiting friends here.

Cooper's Locals.

On Friday evening last we had a "soiree" at Coopers, given by Prof. A. J. Hall, as a wind up of his dancing school which he has so successfully taught for the last two weeks. It is enough to know that the dance was given under the auspices of Prof. Hall to say that it was in every particular a success. His class, consisting of Coopers, Verbera and Clantonites, surpassed the most sanguine expectations of their friends. No teacher ever gave himself up so completely to his class as does Prof. Hall, and being an accomplished teacher all who patronize his school become accomplished in the art. Mr. Hall was assisted in his music by those two whooled and thorough musicians, Prof. Thos. Traywick and A. J. Gullahorn.

Good health and fair prospects in the crop line, are the prevailing themes in this section.

The View is watched for and read with interest in this section.

AMICUS.

Stanton Notes.

Your correspondent has been absent from Stanton for the past four weeks, visiting friends and relatives in South Alabama, and is pleased to say that he had a most enjoyable time. Mr. Dr. W. W. Little has recently returned from a visit to relatives in Clark county. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Coe are in the northern States seeking pleasure. Miss Annie McArthur, after a months visit in north Alabama, has returned.

Rev. J. O. Nobles, former pastor of the Methodist Church at this place, now living in Clark county, delighted Stanton with his presence last week.

A movement is on foot here to form a stock company and build a new Academy.

Rev. W. J. Riddick, who has been in the employ of Gregory & Coe, has resigned his position as engineer and will devote his whole time to the ministry.

Mr. H. H. Laster, who has been handling the yard stick for T. E. Callier & Son at Dixie, has accepted a position with Gregory & Coe as clerk in their store.

Dr. W. C. Cleveland filled his regular appointment at "Ebenzer" yesterday. The last contractors now on the east side of the E. T. V. & G. railroad have finished the contract, and will move over on the west side this week. Surely we will soon hear the locomotive whistle on the Ala. Midland.

Crops are reported as falling off very much within the past thirty days in this section.

We had one marriage Saturday and two fights Sunday. All the contracting parties were negroes and no damage was done.

The Stanton Sunbeam Society had an ice cream supper last Thursday night. Notwithstanding bad weather they succeeded in realizing $18.40.

To Delegates to Congressional Convention.

Delegates to the Democratic Convention for the Fifth Congressional District to be held at Goodwater, September 10th, in order to avail themselves of the reduced rates provided by the Central Railroad of Georgia, will comply with the following conditions, viz:

First, purchase a first-class ticket (either limited or unlimited) at first through ticket office, to Goodwater, for which pay regular fare, and upon request, the ticket agent will issue a certificate of the purchase of the ticket. Second, get the Secretary of the convention to countersign such certificate, stating that the holder has been in regular attendance, and, upon presentation of same, the ticket agent at Goodwater, will sell a ticket for the return journey at one-third fare. Such certificate is not transferable.

Mrs. A. A. SMITH, Chairman Dem. Ex. Com. Fifth Dist.

THE SUBTREASURY BILL CAN BLUSH.

Some Anniston Niggers Can see the Alliance and Go It One Better.

ANNISTON, Aug. 27.—[Special]—The negroes held a mass-meeting here to-day. It was decided to memorialize Congress, asking for a loan of $1,000 to each negro, with which to buy a farm, the Government to take a twenty-year mortgage on said farm to secure the payment of the loan.

Dr. Macune, editor of the National Economist, supported the bill which will soon become a law. The bill is in the interest of a northern lard trust and effectually shuts off the competition which the southern cotton seed oil men had established. This is helping the southern farmers with a vengeance.

Col. J. C. Coulson, Greenback candidate for Governor, in the last election is reported $1000 short in his accounts as clerk of the Jackson county court.

Sheriff's Sale.

Under and by virtue of an order of sale issued out of the office of the clerk of the circuit court of Chilton county, state of Alabama, and in a certain cause wherein Thomas Foshee, executor of N. W. Foshee, deceased, is plaintiff, and N. W. Latham is defendant, I will proceed to sell, in front of the court-house door of said county, on between the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate to-wit: The northeast quarter of the southwest quarter and the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter in section nine (9) of township twenty-one (21) range eleven (11) lying and being situated in the county of Chilton and State of Alabama. Dated at office this first day of September, 1890. LEE HAYES, Sheriff of Chilton County, Ala.

Stick headache is the bane of many lives. To cure and prevent this annoying complaint, use Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pills. They are agreeable to take and gentle in their action. 25 cents a box.

Far better than the harsh treatment of medicines which horribly grip the patient and destroy the coating of the stomach. Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure by mild yet effective action will cure. Sold at 50 cents a bottle.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which cause burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment will cure. It has been the constant favorite family remedy.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

A free and easy expectoration is produced by a few doses of Dr. J. H. McLean's Tar Wine Lung Balm, in all cases of hoarseness, sore throat or difficulty of breathing.

Clanton Academy.

Prof. R. E. R. Hicks has perfected arrangements for opening Clanton Academy. Prof. Hicks has heretofore given great satisfaction to pupils and patrons, and this can be said without reflecting upon other teachers. We are pleased to know that his prospects for a good opening are encouraging. The school will be opened September 22d.

Business Outlook.

The prospects for a good business season in this section are very encouraging. There is some complaint of falling off in the cotton crop, but old farmers tell us that the shortage will not be as great as was at first thought. An early fall and pleasant weather is already having its effect upon business, and the activity of merchants and farmers hereabouts is an encouraging indication of prosperity.

A Winning Card.

The Alabama State Fair Association is now making an earnest effort to induce Hon. James G. Blaine to deliver an address there during the coming meeting. This is undoubtedly a worthy undertaking aside from the other great features, such as Veteran's Day, Drummer's day, Bicycle Tournament, Gun Shooting, etc., which will have their features in connection with the finest racing ever seen in the South, will induce people to travel thousands of miles to hear the statesman of the 19th century. The people of the South will accord Mr. Blaine a great welcome, and his appearance in Birmingham in connection with that of Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, who will be there, and Veteran's day, will make the Birmingham Fair the superior of all others ever held in this portion of the country. It

M. T. & N. RAILWAY.

How the Work is Progressing Along the Line.

Prattville Progress.

One of our prominent citizens was in Montgomery a few days ago and met with an official of the Plant system, who stated that money matters with the M. T. & N. railway would be in good shape by the 1st of September and that tracklaying would begin at once in earnest with a view of completing the line to Maplesville in six months.

The Centerville Blade-Enterprise says of the grading beyond Maplesville:

For the past month work has been steadily progressing on the Montgomery, Tuscaloosa and Memphis Railroad, and the prospects are that it will continue to do so.

The contractors between this place and Maplesville are all getting on finely, and most of them are closing up their first sections and moving up camps. Mr. Stoneking has finished one mile and will complete another by the first of next month. Mr. Hard, who came here only a few weeks ago, has completed the third mile out from town and moved his force up to the river. He will work the first two miles from this end.

The right of way is all cut down on east side of the river, and Mr. Wilson is now engaged in cleaning off the timber.

Most of the grading is let on the west side of the river and work will begin all along the line at an early day. The grading has to be done from Maplesville here by the first of January, and Chief Contractor Dean is reported as saying that trains will be running there by the first of March next. Tracklaying will begin from Maplesville both ways at the same time and be put right through. Centerville will be the terminus of the road for a few months, as it seems to be the aim of the company to put trains to the river as soon as possible.

Children who are troubled with worms may be quickly relieved by giving them Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Vermifuge. It kills and expels worms.

For some time past the Huntsville Mercury has been attacking the Alabama Railroad Commission. In the Birmingham Age-Herald of recent date Levi P. Lawler, one of the commissioners, replies to the Mercury and offers access to the office and books of the commissioners to any expert whom they may employ to examine them.

The Democratic majority at the election in Kentucky was fully 25,000. This is about 18,000 more than Buckner received for governor in 1887, nearly 2,000 more than Cleveland received in 1888. Opposition to the force bill was the main cause for the sweeping victory.

Two None of His Business.

For cool self-possession or a remarkable display of indifference in trying and exciting times, the descendant of Ham, when he wants to be, is hard to discount. This fact was forcibly illustrated in an incident connected with the recent trial of a case near St. Louis. One of the principal witnesses for the defense was Frank Jenkins, a negro, and eye-witness of the tragedy. Frank was white-washing a chicken-coop only a few feet away when the shooting occurred. On the direct examination he told his story in a plain, straightforward way, and his evidence was very material. The cross-examination probed the usual questions, and made a strenuous attempt to tangle the witness in giving his testimony. Concerning the facts immediately preceding and at the time of the shooting, a question would be asked Frank, to which he would give a prompt reply, and then the attorney would ask:

"What did you do then?"

"I just went on white-washing the chicken-coop."

"But when the defendant appeared with the gun and it seemed as if some one was going to be hurt what did you do then?"

"I kept on white-washing the chicken-coop. It was none of my business, and where I came from in Woodard county, Kentucky, I long ago learned not to interfere with two white gentlemen engaged in settling a question of honor. I turned up one end of the coop and kept right on with my white-washing."

"When the shot was fired what did you do?"

"I kept right on white-washing."

"Did you do anything when they removed the body?"

"Yes; I kept right on white-washing."

The judge smiled, the spectators tittered, and the whole court room appreciated this wonderful display of disposition to attend strictly to his own affairs.

Never "tickle" the feet of babes or children. It is simply torture, and the nervous demonstrations which follow are no more evidences of joyous emotion than a shriek or convulsion would be. This method of diverting baby has been known to end in nervous insanity and death.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Scrofula All His Life.

I consider my cure by S. S. S. one of the most wonderful on record. I had the worst type of Scrofula from my infancy until I was 22 years of age. My whole young life was embittered and made miserable by the loathsome disease. I not only suffered from Scrofula, but was so marked that I was ashamed to associate with, and was avoided by my playmates and fellow workmen. I tried every known patent medicine and was first and last attended by more than a dozen reputable physicians, but in spite of all the disease continued to grow worse. About four years ago a friend from Pittsburg advised me to take S. S. S. which I did, and after taking seven bottles I was cured sound and well. The old skin peeled off and was replaced by new skin as smooth and free from blemish as any person's. I have had no return or symptom of the disease.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

The blood must be pure for the body to be in perfect condition. Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood and imparts the richest bloom of health and vigor to the whole body.

Indigestion results from a partial paralysis of the stomach and is the primary cause of a very large majority of the ills that humanity is heir to. The most agreeable and effective remedy is Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pills. 25 cents a vial.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier, by its vitalizing properties will brighten pale cheeks, and transform a pale, haggard, dispirited woman into one of sparkling health and beauty. $1.00 per bottle.

GREAT CLEARING-OUT SALE IS SEASONABLE!

WE DO NOT wait until the end of the season to have our clearing sales. When you are thinking of purchasing fall goods, it is not the time to try and shrewd off on a whole year's stock, which has been lying on the shelf a whole year or more, as will be attempted soon by so-called competitors, by declaring a clearing sale before stock-taking. This is not our style of doing business. We have our whole immense stock before your inspection months ago, right in the best part of the season, at prices that are 20 to 30 per cent. lower than other houses pay for them, and you certainly cannot find them any more. What we advertised were square, honest truths, and they never will be anything else but truths. That is why we do such a volume of business. There is no taboos about this. A simple matter of our stores any day during the week, at what we say about the business we are doing. Come and join the great crowds this week.

EVERYBODY COME AND SEE WHAT WE ARE DOING IN

Sales of leaf tobacco at Danville, Va., in August were 1,118,820 pounds, or about half the sales of August last year. Sales for seven months of the tobacco year were 23,927,000 pounds, a decrease as compared with the same period last year of 3,246,000 pounds.

Veterans' day will be one of the greatest days of the Piedmont exposition. An attractive programme has been prepared. It will be on Thursday, October 28th. All the great living Confederate generals will be invited, and a large number of them will be present.

For the cotton year ending August 31, Montgomery's cotton receipts were 144,045 bales, the largest of any year in its history. The nearest to it was in 1885 when receipts were 143,544. Stock on hand is 303 bales. Receipts of new cotton in August were 7,026, also the largest for that month.

The scaffolding in a building in New Orleans gave way Tuesday afternoon precipitating five men to the ground. Harvey, a carpenter, was instantly killed; William Ray and Henry Albritton, painters, fatally injured, while Leroy Smith and Tom Peterson, also painters, were painfully injured.

A dispatch from Raleigh, N. C., says: The injury to cotton by the rain is becoming great and a reduction of the crop will result. The rains of August hurt the crop which was forming during the earlier part of the month, and that rust, which attacked the crop earlier than usual, has badly affected the top crop.

A dispatch of Wednesday from Nashville, Tenn., regarding the judicial election, says: All the counties have now been heard from on the official vote for supreme court judge. The total vote polled was 202,871. This is more than 100,000 less than usual. The vote was divided as follows: Lea, 122,204; Smith, 69,974; East, prohibitionist, 49 votes; Lea's majority, 52,271.

A Pensacola, Fla., special of Thursday says the Plomont train robbery has produced intense excitement there. Ruben Burrow was reported to have been seen at Milton, twenty miles east of that city, and at 2 o'clock a special train, with Superintendent Fisher, Route Agent Arnold, several express company detectives, and a posse of deputy sheriffs from Alabama, have gone in pursuit.

A special from Mannington, W. Va., says: Early Thursday morning a freight train was wrecked on the pick-up at the Belmont and Ohio, just east of Mannington, causing a terrible wreck. Engineer Correll and an unknown man were killed and sixteen cars piled on top of each other. The wreck took it to the car and contents were almost totally destroyed.

The directors of the North Carolina Steel and Iron Company was completely reorganized at Greensboro, Wednesday, and new arrangements have been made and new plans formed. Contracts for furnaces will be let and the work of erecting them begun at once. New life is to be infused into the company, and the announcement of the organization and the early commencement of work will revive the boom at Greensboro.

A dispatch of Thursday says: The colored citizens of Chattanooga are making up a party of seventy-five of their race to emigrate to Liberia, about November 15th. Meetings in the interest of the movement have been held to work up the scheme. Thomas Peck, agent of the colonization society, who resides in Washington, D. C., arrived in Chattanooga Tuesday. The society expects to secure at least 1,000 negroes for the African emigration expedition from Chattanooga and vicinity.

HE LOVED THE WIDOW

BUT THE WHITCAPS VIOLENTLY OBJECTED.

A dispatch of Thursday from Kansas City, says: Whitcaps as brutally beat and murdered J. E. Smith, a preacher, who lived in a lonely place of woods at Reno, Kansas, that his life is despatched. Smith is about sixty-five years old, and the only objection which the Whitcaps had to him was that he had proposed marriage to a widow of forty-five years, who lives in the neighborhood.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

BUSINESS HOUSES IN HIAWATHA, KANSAS, AND A JUTE FACTORY IN NEW YORK.

A dispatch from Hiawatha, Kan., says: The worst fire ever known in the city broke out at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning in William Harner's livery stable and in less than three hours it had destroyed two and a half blocks in the business center of the city, causing a loss of at least $150,000. The greatest loss was the First National bank building, owned by Congressman Morrill. The vault, containing $30,000 in currency and many valuable books and papers gave way under the intense heat, and its contents were entirely destroyed.

A JUTE FACTORY DESTROYED. The jute mill in the jute bagging factory of Peter Young, at Brooklyn, N. Y., Wednesday at noon. The factory was entirely destroyed. The fire then spread to the kindling-wood factory of Hendrick Pike, immediately adjoining. The wholesale grocery store of Diane Brothers, on the other side of the jute-bagging factory, then caught fire. Diane Brothers carried a stock of groceries valued at $150,000. All the contents of the building were totally destroyed. The total loss by the fire will be about $200,000, partly insured.

IT WAS A FAILURE.

THE STRIKING CARPENTERS OF CHICAGO ARE AT ODDS.

A Chicago dispatch says: The carpenters' strike died in its infancy, and on Wednesday there were less than 700 carpenters working in the city. President James O'Connell, of the carpenters' council, has been forced by the discontent of members of the union to resign. The action of the strike committee in authorizing carpenters who are receiving 37 cents an hour to return to work has been severely criticized. A committee was appointed to visit the carpenters' council and vigorously protest against a return to work until all the men receive assurance from their employers that the union scale of figures would be paid. There is confusion and chaos in the rank and file, and the employers assert that they have all the men they want.

A RAILROAD DEAL.

THE CENTRAL AND EAST TENNESSEE GOES TO THREE RAILS.

The Central of Georgia and the East Tennessee have bought up three railways. The Central, it is understood, after considerable negotiation, secured the Chattanooga, Rome and Columbus railway and the Chattanooga and Gadsden. This makes two more Georgia roads for the West Point Terminal. The most important deal, however, is the one by which the East Tennessee, also a part of the West Point Terminal secured the Moon route, or the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago. It gives the Terminal a line into Louisville over the most popular road running into that city, enabling it to fight its great rival, the Louisville and Nashville, on its own ground; and a line into Chicago, making a triangular system from Norfolk to Savannah and Brunswick, and from these Georgia ports to Chicago and Lake Michigan.

THE STRIKE ENDED.

SWITCHMEN AT THE CHICAGO STOCK YARDS RETURN TO WORK.

At noon Friday the collapse of every railroad strike in Chicago had occurred and work on the stockyards was begun in earnest at

GREAT CLEARING-OUT SALE IS SEASONABLE!

WE DO NOT wait until the end of the season to have our clearing sale. When you are thinking of purchasing fall goods, it is not the time to try and shove off on a considerate public, shop-worn goods which have been lying on the shelf a whole year or more, as will be attempted soon by so-called competitors, by declaring a clearing sale before stock-taking. This is not our style of doing business. We place our whole immense stock before your inspection months ago, right in the best part of the season, at prices that are 20 to 30 per cent. lower than other houses pay for them, and you certainly partook liberally of them. What we advertised were square, honest truths, and they never will be anything else but truths. That is why we do such a volume of business. There is no taboos about this. A simple place into our stores any day during the week, at any hour, will convince you of what we say about the business we are doing. Come and join the great crowds this week.

WORK OF THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. SEPTEMBER 17, 1890.

In the house, on Tuesday, Mr. Haugen, of Wisconsin, called up the Virginia election case, Langston against Venable. A vote was taken, but no quorum appearing, Mr. Haugen offered a resolution directing the sergeant-at-arms to summon absentees. Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, moved to lay Mr. Haugen's resolution on the table. Lot—yeas, 46; nays, 90. The house then adjourned. The house bill to extend for two years the prohibition of school funds in Kentucky county, S. C., was passed by yeas, 187; nays, 17. The tariff bill, then taken up, the pending question being on the sugar schedule. Mr. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, on behalf of the committee, the proposed amendment, proposed a modification of it suggested by Mr. Hear. Adopted. title thereto, all lands heretofore granted to any state or to any corporation to aid in the construction of a railroad, and the position of any such railroad not now completed and in operation, for the construction or benefit of which such lands were granted; and all such lands are to be declared to be part of the public domain, provided that this act shall not be construed as forfeiting the right of way or station grounds of any railroad company heretofore granted.

NOTES.

The president, on Wednesday, nominated Henry Sherwood to be postmaster at Washington, D. C. The census office, on Wednesday, announced the population of Nashville, Tenn., to be 76,500, a gain in ten years of 24,979. The chief of the Secretary of the Treasury to pay one year's interest on 4 per cent. bonds issued into effect Wednesday and brought a flood of bonds to the treasury as soon as the doors were opened. In the first hour over $5,000,000 in bonds were presented, and $4,000,000 more were brought in before the close of business. In the order of business arranged by the republican senators Thursday morning for the remainder of this session, the compound bill was not taken up. This means the bill will not be taken up until next session, and probably to its death, as it is understood the majority of members of the senate agricultural committee are opposed to it. Mr. Turner, United States senator from Ohio, has informed the senate of the fact that the bill for the relief of the estate of John W. Turner, which was passed by the house on Tuesday, has been passed by the senate on Wednesday.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE GREAT ORGANIZATION.—LEGISLATION, NOTES, ETC.

Cobb County, Ga., Alliance refuses to use jute bagging under any circumstances. The Alliance bank will be opened in Quitman October 1st with a capital stock of $25,000 subscribed. Her congress is in operation, and expects that 30,000 bales will be compressed this fall. The Georgia State Alliance has determined to continue the use of cotton bags for cotton. Our brethren across the Savannah are a hard team to beat when they set their heads.—Cotton Plant, South Carolina. Colonel Polk organized a State Farmers' Alliance a few days ago in Pennsylvania, and started it off in splendid working order, and we expect to hear of noble work being done by our Pennsylvania brethren.—Indiana Union. A. P. Baskins, secretary of the Florida State Alliance, reports that a meeting of the board of directors of the Alliance exposition, which was donated 1,000 boxes of oranges as a free gift to the delegates to the Alliance to be held in Ocala in December next. Industrial Free Press (Winfield, Kan.) gives good advice: "Alliance men and reform thinkers and workers, don't let your enthusiasm slide and grow cold. You have a work to perform, and to do it well needs your whole efforts. No one can perform this work successfully as the man true to the cause. With this idea in view, work with a will and success will crown your efforts."

NEWS OF THE SOUTH.

BRIEF NOTES OF AN INTERESTING NATURE.

Many items from all points in the southern states that will interest the reader.—ACCIDENTS, FIRES, FLOODS, ETC. Jean Davis, furniture dealer in Dallas, Tex., passed Tuesday. Liabilities $15,000; assets $10,000. A reunion of ex-confederate soldiers was held at Marshall, Texas, Tuesday. Business houses closed for the day. Five thousand people were in attendance. A Nashville dispatch of Tuesday says: The Cumberland Presbyterian board of publication has accepted the resignation of Rev. D. M. Harris, D. D., as editor of the Cumberland Presbyterian. The resignation was tendered some weeks ago. A dispatch of Tuesday from Reidsville, N. C., says: Throughout the entire tobacco belt, comes the encouraging news of a big crop. The farmers have for the last few years in this section of the state made complete failures in this special product. The corn crop is, as a rule, good. An army of crickets swept down upon the town of Waco, Texas, Tuesday night, and laid waste to houses, residences, and every part of the town was invaded by the pest. The streets were covered several inches deep by the insects, and there was much alarm among the people. After remaining a few hours the crickets arose and departed. Thursday afternoon a warrant was issued at Raleigh, N. C., by United States Commissioner Peabody, Columbus county. The charges against Sellers are embezzlement and false returns of cancellation of stamps, and he is behind $2,000, most of which he stole from the postal fund, and from the proceeds of the sale of stamps. It is now a settled fact that the Richmond and Danville shops will be located at Charlotte, N. C., and while Burlington and other points, where a portion of the works are now located, will suffer heavily by the removal, it will swell Charlotte's population very materially. The ground for the site has been purchased, and work on the main building will commence at once. The smallpox scare at San Antonio, Texas, has subsided. The State health officer states that only four new cases have been reported from various parts of the State during the past few days, and that he now has the disease under complete subjection. There have been no new cases at Waco in fifteen days. The quarantine at Waco has been raised, despite the bitter opposition of the municipal officers of that place.

DIRECT TRADE.

MEETING OF THE CONVENTION IN ATLANTA.

GOOD WORK ACCOMPLISHED AND IMPORTANT RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.—THE PROCEEDINGS BRIEFLY OUTLINED.

In obedience to a call of Governor Gordon, issued at the instance of the Farmers' Alliance, the Direct Trade convention met in the house of representatives at Atlanta, Wednesday morning. The convention was called to order by Governor Gordon, who welcomed the delegates in a brief address. On motion of Mr. Tom Lyon, of Bartow, Hon. W. J. Northen was unanimously made permanent president. Col. Northen thanked the convention cordially for the honor conferred. An amendment offered by Governor Gordon, that there shall be a vice-president from each state represented in the convention, was adopted. On motion of Hon. Jasper Miller, of South Carolina, a committee on credentials was appointed to nominate the vice-presidents, and arrange a list of delegates. Messrs. Davidson, of Alabama, Tillman, of Tennessee, Gates, of North Carolina, Waggoner, of South Carolina, and Governor Fleming, of Florida, were named as the committee. It was agreed that the number of delegates from each state should be limited to seven. The committee on credentials reported as vice-presidents of the convention the name of Governor Fowler of Florida, Governor Gordon of Georgia, Hon. J. F. Tillman of Tennessee, Hon. C. M. Shilley of Alabama, and Hon. M. L. Donelson of South Carolina. On motion of Mr. Cable, the Hon. C. P. Goodyear, of Kentucky, addressed the convention at length on direct trade. He was heard with great interest throughout. After the address of Mr. Goodyear the following committee were appointed to map out a line of practical work for the convention and report at the afternoon session: Fowler and Gates, of North Carolina; Donelson and Waggoner, of South Carolina; Tillman, of Tennessee; Shilley and Gordon, of Florida, and Gordon and Goodyear, of Kentucky. Hon. Mike Brown, of South Carolina, introduced the following resolution, which was referred to the committee on line of action: Resolved, That a charter be secured for a transportation company with a capital of $5,000,000, and that the different portions of the south on the Atlantic coast be invited to subscribe, and that the city subscribing the largest amount be made the port. Hon. Garvey Hatridge, of Savannah, offered a resolution which was referred to the committee, on line of action: That the south Atlantic ports have not received adequate appropriation for the improvement of their rivers and harbors, and calling upon congress to increase appropriations with a view to giving these ports deep water and in the general interest of material development. The convention then adjourned to three o'clock. AFTERNOON SESSION. The convention reassembled at 2:30 o'clock, and was called to order by Chairman Northen. Governor Fowler, chairman of the committee, made a report in behalf of the committee on plan of business. The report showed that the resolutions presented by Mr. Hatridge to the committee came up and were adopted with such amendments as provided for an effort to get aid from congress, not only for the South Atlantic coast, but for the Gulf coast, also. A resolution of Mr. Mike Brown, of South Carolina, was met with opposition in the committee room, but the following set of resolutions were reported instead, which were adopted: Resolved, That this committee recommend to this convention the creation of a corporation to promote direct trade at some port on the south Atlantic coast, and another to promote direct trade at some gulf port, each company to be capitalized at $1,000,000, with power to increase to $10,000,000. Resolved, That this committee recommend to the convention the adoption of the following resolution: Resolved, That this convention recommend the selection of the alliance of each southern state of a delegation of twelve, and by each organization a committee of each city in the south of one from each of such bodies, to meet in Atlanta on the second Wednesday of January, 1891, to perfect the details for the organization of two companies to promote direct trade and to perfect a plan for soliciting subscriptions to the stock of each company. After some discussion the report was adopted with the amendments of Mr.

James B. Hunslett that each state agricultural society and each state grange represented by delegates at the next convention, and that the governors of each state be delegates.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE BUSY WORLD.

A tornado visited Clinton, Indiana, Wednesday and did immense damage. Cholera is decreasing in the provinces of Spain, but slightly increasing in the cities of Valencia. The bodies of twenty-one persons, who were drowned during the floods in Austria, have been found floating in the Elbe. Pinkerton detectives, on Thursday, arrested, in Utica, N. Y., two men, who are wanted for wrecking a train near Albany. Washington park, Chicago, will not be tendered to the world's fair directors. Such is the unanimous decision of the South park commissioners. Much discontent has been caused in Spain by the government's attitude toward the press and toward municipal councils and other local bodies. The Chicago branch of the Eureka Silk company, of Boston, was closed by the sheriff Thursday, on confession of judgment in the supreme court for $9,333.20. The census office gives the population of Vermont as 284,205, a decrease in ten years of eighty-one; the population of Louisville, Ky., 161,000—increased of 37,347. The Grondle (France) council general has sent a resolution to the government demanding the repeal of the law prohibiting the importation of American salted pork. The old elevator of the Ogdenburg and Lake Champlain Railroad Company, at Ogdenburg, N. Y., burned Tuesday morning, with 500,000 bushels of corn and oats. It was well insured. The Second National bank, of Bay City, Mich., was robbed of $5,400, Wednesday, by three men who entered the bank, and while two of them engaged the cashier in conversation, the third one stole the package. A dispatch from Concord, N. H., says: The prohibition state convention on Tuesday nominated Josiah M. Fletcher, of Nashua, for governor, and the following for congress: First district, Rev. Frank K. Chase, of Dover; second district, Charles H. Thornaday, of Concord. Exports of specie from the port of New York during the past week amounted to $63,020, of which $2,680 was gold and $60,340 silver. All the gold went to South America, and all the silver to Europe. Imports of specie for the week were $438,924, of which $465,495 was gold and $374,531 silver. A heavy run was started Tuesday, on the St. Joseph County Savings bank, at South Bend, Ind., but the bank stood the pressure, and at night it was discovered that the run was started by two young men who had been refused payment on a draft because the cashier did not know them and they did not find anyone to identify them. The National Institute of Accountants, in Detroit, an organization for social and benevolent purposes, will hold its first annual election on November 1st. Any practitioner or person in possession of good references and acceptable to the association is eligible to membership. F. H. Bolton, Detroit, Michigan, is secretary of the bureau of information. A dispatch from Findlay, Ohio, says: The brakemen and switchmen employed on the Toledo, Columbus and Cincinnati railroad went out on Tuesday on account of a disagreement as to wages. This almost blockaded the freight business on the railroad from Toledo to Kenton. The brakemen demanded a raise from $1.75 to $2.00, and this being refused, they quit work. John Dillon, member of parliament, while presiding at a national league meeting held in Dublin Tuesday, said he had taken great pains to inform himself of the condition of affairs in Ireland, and he regretted to say that his inquiries during the past three weeks have shown in many cases, that the failure of the potato crop was more complete than it was in 1879. The second enumeration of Portland, and Multnomah county, Oregon, gives a population of 73,337, a gain of 14,300 over the former enumeration. This enumeration was made by the census bureau of the United States, and these figures are published by authority of the census bureau. A similar ratio of gain throughout the state would give Oregon a population of 576,000, about what the vote of the June election made out. The June census made it 508,000.

NEWSPAPER ORGANIZATION

SOUTHERN AFTERNOON JOURNALS COMBINE FOR BETTER SERVICE.

Representative afternoon papers in nearly all southern cities met at Birmingham, Ala., Monday and organized the Southern Afternoon Press Bureau. The capital stock was fixed at $10,000, and the general office was located at New Orleans. C. E. Gilbert, of the Dallas, Tex., Herald, was elected president; J. Pinkney Smith, of the New Orleans States, secretary and manager, and J. C. Burch, of the Nashville Herald, treasurer. A committee was appointed to make arrangements with a telegraph company to handle the service and with one of the regular press associations for an exchange of news. It is expected to have the service in operation in thirty days.

A HARD HITTER.

THE MAYOR OF JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI, DOES NOT BELIEVE IN GAMBLING.

A dispatch of Monday from Jackson, Miss., says: The mayor has been trying to get parties arrested for gambling, the first one being convicted by a jury. The second one, Bill Miller for $500, Bill Albrecht $300, Josh Richards $200, Joe Shumous $80. In addition to fine and costs, ten days' imprisonment was imposed, which was suspended during future good behavior.

BADLY MIXED.

A SURPLUS OF HUSBANDS AND WIVES TO BE INVESTIGATED.

A dispatch from Paris, Texas, says: Dixon Erwin was arrested in Indian Territory and brought here for trial Tuesday. He is developed in the examining trial that he was the husband of three wives, all living. His third and last wife also having three other living husbands. None of the parties had ever been divorced from the other.

We are authorized to announce Dr. Wm. C. CROSS as a candidate for Congress in the Fifth District, subject to the action of the Democratic Convention.

We extend our hearty congratulations to Judge Cobb upon his re-nomination for congress on the first ballot. The confidence of his constituents is unshaken and he will be re-elected by the usual majority.

The County Advocate wants the Montgomery Advertiser to come out openly for ex-Governor Watts, a home man, for the U. S. Senate, and thinks that if it can favor Cobb, Oats, Herbert, etc., for Congress it can show the same partiality for Gov. Watts for the Senate without lowering its dignity. We opine that it would not be altogether fair to another home candidate, Col. H. C. Tompkins, for the Advertiser to advocate Gov. Watts' claims. At least the old girl can put in this excuse, though Col. Tompkins is not an avowed candidate.

Now comes the Chilton View and suggests a Central Alabama press association. - Montgomery Journal.

Of course the Journal understood that our suggestion was a "sarkastik" one. We don't want any north, south or central Alabama association. The present association is too small a concern to get up an excursion that may be worth throwing away time and money on. Other State associations can obtain low rates as far from home as Cuba, Mexico or the White Mountains, while ours in recent years has not been able to get recognition as far from home as Washington or New York. As to business at the association meetings, we don't want any, and we believe that a majority of the practical business members of the association agree that its meetings should be nothing more than a season of re-union and relaxation.

JUDGE COBB THE BANNER BEARER.

Nominated On the First Ballot at Goodwater yesterday.

Cor. Montgomery Advertiser.
(GOODWATER, Ala., Sept. 10.) - (Special) - As foreshadowed in my telegram this morning Judge Cobb was nominated for a third term on the first ballot.

The convention met at 12 m. and was called to order by Hon. Mac A. Smith chairman of the Executive Committee in an able and patriotic speech. A. T. Goodwyn, of Elmore, was made temporary chairman and F. W. Gist, of Bibb, Secretary. The delegates were enrolled and notice of contests were filed from two beats in Coosa.

Committees on credentials and permanent organization and order of business were appointed and the convention adjourned until 2 o'clock.

It was about four o'clock before the committee on credentials reported and after a short discussion the report was adopted. The temporary officers were made permanent and the rules of the House of Representatives were adopted and the majority rule recommended by the committee. There was a minority report for the two-thirds rule and the motion to substitute for the majority report was tabled and the report of the committee adopted.

The following Executive Committee was selected: Autauga, Mac A. Smith; Bibb, E. L. Brown; Chambers, J. H. Harris; Chilton, Moses Robertson; Clay, W. B. Whitley; Coosa, A. B. Crawford; Elmore, A. T. Goodwyn; Macon, J. R. Wood; Tallapoosa, W. R. Gimes.

The names of Messrs. J. E. Cobb, W. C. Cross and J. P. Oliver were placed before the Convention and the first ballot resulted Cobb 90, Cross 23, Oliver 47, Hall 5.

Judge Cobb was declared the nominee. He appeared and made an able address. The speech reviewed his record and discussing the live questions now before congress amidst greatest enthusiasm.

The defeated candidates appeared and made patriotic speeches promising to support the nominee. The convention was harmonious and the Democracy of the Fifth District is firmly united and will prove invincible against all opposition.

Major Hall's name was not presented to the convention although he got five votes from Autauga.

D. W. M.

On Wednesday night after the adjournment of the Fifth District Congressional Convention, the Executive Committee chosen for the ensuing year, had a meeting and perfected an organization.

Mac A. Smith, Esq., of Autauga, who had served in that capacity for two terms was re-nominated for the position of chairman, but he declined the honor, saying that some one else should be made chairman, whereupon, Mr. J. H. Harris, of Chambers, was unanimously chosen.

If Congress adjourns in time and the prospects now are that it will, Judge Cobb will make a thorough canvass of the District, and his appointment will be announced in due time by the Committee.

An Increase of Supreme Court Judges.

Col. Willis Brewer, of Lowndes, in a very able paper which has been published advocates an increase of Supreme Court Judges. We quote from his article as follows:

The general aims of the effort for judicial reform being thus loosely presented, the outline of the remedies might be suggested substantially as follows:

A. The Supreme Court to be composed of five members, and to hold during good behavior. Men who are over tasked can not do thorough work. The increase during recent years of the facilities for travel enables every attorney to go with an appeal to the State House, trusting at least in the doctrine of chances, while the multiplication of corporate bodies as well as of population adds largely to the volume of litigation. The efficiency of our court of last resort should be perfected by every rational means. The State had three members of this tribunal when its docket was not half so thick as now, and when our population was only a fourth of its present figure. There have been published 165 volumes of the decisions of this court since Alabama put on the garb of Statehood, seventy years ago, and about one-half of these decisions have been rendered within the past twenty years; which call for consideration.

B. To speed the trial of cases there should be quarterly terms in each county at which juries could be had, and the law and equity jurisdiction should be united in one forum. This would require, in place of the present number of Circuit Judges and Chancellors, some thirty Judges, or one to about every 50,000 of population. Jury trial should be had when demanded by either party. Experience in the rural counties shows that one panel is sufficient on the civil docket. Judges should hold their courts open till every case called for disposal. Every county should have a State's counsel, appointed by the Supreme Court (if they hold during good behavior), and the salary of these should be based on population after maximum and minimum limits are fixed, and they should attend the courts of the county Judges.

C. Pleading should be simplified. A clear statement of the facts relied on to invoke the powers of the court is all that should be required. The answer should embrace every species of defence, so that demurrers, motions, and the whole brood of pleas would follow Chitty and Tidd to the tomb. And so on till issue is joined on law and fact. The privilege of amendment should be more liberal if possible than now.

D. Divorce proceedings cannot too soon be sent to the Probate Courts. The grounds and allegations in the cases are simple under our statutes that laymen (as most of our Probate Judges are) may readily try them. Alimony is not claimed in one case in a score, while the custody of children is a course of common sense rather than of judicial rules.

E. These and such other changes as may be made are to go into effect after August 1892.

As stated above, these suggestions are mere inducements for further talk. Many others are better equipped by reason of reflection and experience than I am to pronounce on these particulars. Those who habitually cast straws upward to deflect the air currents must know that in the present temper of men's minds it is not very certain that anything can be done. However, the public is entitled to hear the plans thought of. For it was a pretty phrase of the great moral man, on this point, "That generally it is good to commit the beginning of great actions to Argus with his hundred eyes, and the end to Briareus with his hundred hands: first to watch and then to speed." Respectfully,

W. BREWER.

LOTTERIES.

Speaking of lottery chances, a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat says that in all other countries, outside of Mexico and the United States, where such things are tolerated, they are not allowed to distribute less than 70 per cent of their receipts; but this Louisiana institution pretends to distribute only 53 per cent and in fact distributes only 33 per cent. The average chance to win a prize of any sort is about one in thirty.

"The schedule of these New Orleans drawings," says our contemporary, "are so arranged that the company can sell 75 per cent of its tickets, pay 10 per cent for selling them, lose all the prizes advertised, allow $1,000,000 for expenses and still make a clear profit of $3,000,000 a year. It receives annually about $22,000,000, a revenue larger than that of any five average States, and only one-third or less of this enormous income is returned to those who contribute it in the vain hope of gaining a fortune.

The market value of its stock has risen since 1879 from $55 per share to $1,200 and its annual dividends are from 80 to 100 per cent on the net earnings, the other half going to the lessees and managers."

It is to a concern like this that a party of mistaken and demoralized politicians and editors of Louisiana purpose to sell their State; to surrender the right and duty of the people to maintain their government because the funds for its support are pledged with this gambling concern, as the price of its franchise to go on fleecing the deluded army it has recruited all over the world. If this don't prove that the people of Louisiana are morally emasculated, it will be because they vote down the lottery's franchise in 1893. - Chattanooga Times.

Arrangements have been made with European capitalists to advance $32 per bale on the present cotton crop in order to enable the farmers to hold for better prices.

SEEN FROM A CAR WINDOW.

Unique Sign That Adorns A Hardware Store.

The following is the sign painted upon the front of a 10x12 business house in one of Alabama's booming towns, and seen from a passing train:

"PEEL CITY HARDWARE COMPANY"
Tobacco and Cigars - Lemonade,
Soda Water - Milk Shakes
Pies and Cakes.

Livery - Board and Lodging at Reasonable Rates.

We also saw while passing through this rapidly developing country, a large sign board, and painted in flaming colors the following notice of a sale of lots.

PUBLIC SALE OF LOTS, MAY 1 TO 15.
Great endowments. Two Railroads Secured and Three More Coming. Cotton Factory and Rolling Mill already Located. Water transportation to Mobile and the Gulf.

How To Become a Capitalist.

Somebody must save money, and the people that save it will be the capitalists, and they will control the organization of industry and receive the larger share of the profits. If the workmen may not save their money, they may be not only sharers of profits, but owners of stock and receivers of dividends. And the workmen can save their money if they will. It is the only way in which they can permanently and surely improve their condition. Legislative reforms, improved industrial methods, may make the way easy for them, but there is no road to comfort and independence after all, but the plain old path of steady work and sober saving. If the working people of this country would save for the next five years, the money they spend on beer, tobacco and base ball, they could control a pretty large share of the capital employed in the industries by which they get their living; and they could turn the dividends of this capital from the pockets of the money-lenders into their own. There is no other way of checking the congestion of wealth and promoting its diffusion, so expeditious, so certain, and so beneficent as this. I wish the working people would try it! - Washington Gladden.

THE BRIDAL TOUR.

No attraction at any Fair or Exposition has riveted the public attention to such extent as the Balloon Bridal which will come off at the State Fair in Birmingham. The prize offered is $250 and there are already four applications from four happy couples from four different states. A large Gas Balloon with car and rigging all complete, and the aerial passengers will be the bridal pair, an experienced aeronaut and the irrepressible newspaper correspondent. Fully 25,000 people if not more will witness this exciting and novel spectacle.

State Fair and Exposition.

The success that attended the State Fair and Exposition of 1889, has induced the management to redouble their diligence and perseverance to make the next fair a grand success.

The Fair of 1890 will begin Oct. 20, and continue two weeks. It will be conducted on a broad and liberal basis, and by the incalculable benefits that will flow to the State of Alabama as results of the Fair and Exposition, held under the auspices of the State Agricultural Society, the management have determined that nothing which energy, enterprise and untiring work can accomplish shall be left undone to make it an unrivaled success. Every calling and pursuit in the State is interested, enthusiasm of all classes is enlisted, and it will be made to the interest of every county, city, town, village and hamlet in our section to aid in the enterprise.

For premium lists apply to Mr. address R. P. Dexter, Secretary, No. 18 Morris Building, Birmingham, or Probate Judge, Clanton, Ala.

LOCAL FACTS.

Mrs. Lee Holt visited Birmingham this week.

Miss Fessenden visited friends at Verbena Sunday.

Miss Gussie McCou, of Mountain Creek, visited Mrs. T. G. Holt this week.

Mrs. Charlie Duncan, of South Pittsburg, Tenn., is visiting Mrs. Dr. Stewart.

Mrs. Francis, of New Decatur, Ala., is visiting her sister, Mrs. R. E. Egan.

Chancery court brought a number of fat lawyers to town Thursday and Friday last.

Mr. J. H. Aldridge has purchased the residence of Mr. I. B. Bowdoin, and will improve it and rent it.

Squire J. D. McGee and Mr. J. W. Broadhead, of West Chilton, were in town on business last week.

Mrs. A. O. Duke has moved to her comfortable home in Clanton, where her many friends are glad to have her return.

Wanted—A first-class young man to take the agency for one of the best laundries in the south. Address, Steam Laundry, this office.

Mr. J. J. Honeycutt was in town Monday trying to rent a store house, with a view of moving to Clanton. Failing to rent, he said that he would probably locate at Shelby.

H. A. Wilson was in town Saturday. We endeavored to learn from him if there would be a Republican candidate to oppose Judge Cobb in this district. As yet he has no intention to give out on the subject. It is probable that the Republicans will not find it a very easy task to get any one of their number to lead a forlorn hope. But some sort of a candidate may bob up soon.

On Thursday morning last Henry Williams, colored, was assaulted from behind by another negro, Dave Nelson. Williams received two heavy blows on the head from a bar of iron and was seriously hurt but not disabled. His assailant was arrested and had a preliminary trial before Justice Duke and was discharged on the plea that Williams had threatened his life. This action of the justice causing dissatisfaction, Nelson was re-arrested and on a hearing before Judge Callen was sent to jail to await the action of the grand jury in default of $300 bail.

Children who are troubled with worms may be quickly relieved by giving them Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Vermifuge. It kills and expels worms.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Verbena Verbiage.

After a long silence almost like death, your correspondent has come to life again.

Miss Mary Caffey, one of Marion's charming daughters, is a visitor in the village much to the delight of her many friends.

Miss Maude Hart has returned home after a pleasant visit to her sister Mrs. Thornton.

We are glad to note that Miss Mary Williamson is home again after a two weeks visit to friends in Snowdown.

Dr. Ocie J. Brooks, of Wetumpka, is spending a few days with his parents much to his friends' delight.

Mr. John A. Brooks leaves in a short while for Huntsville, Ala., where he will attend the military school.

Dr. Gus Greene has gone to Nashville where he will finish his medical course.

Cotton is coming in slow on account of the bad weather, but the farmers seem to be in good spirits over their crops in this section of the county.

The View is a splendid county paper, and I think no household is complete without it.

Rev. John Motley, of Tuskegee, gave us two good sermons last Sunday, and took up a collection for the Alabama Female College at Tuskegee. Before lifting the collection he made a strong and fervid speech in favor of female education.

Chilton county has lost one of her best citizens, Mr. John N. Gardner, died last Friday and was buried on Saturday evening. Dr. Wright preached his funeral at the Baptist Church. The funeral procession was the largest ever seen in Verbena. After reaching the cemetery the Alliance took charge and he was buried according to the ritual of that order.

Mr. Charlie L. Brown, of Birmingham, and Miss M. Geneva Brown, of Bozeman, visited relatives here this week.

The "fowl shot" of the season was made late yesterday evening in this place by little Mid. Hood. He tried to catch a chicken and could not, and he ran in the house and picked up his father's double barrel breach loader and came out and pulled down on the chicken. Result—no chicken. But wounded one man, four children and two horses. Would he not be a team by himself in case of a riot? Mr. John Murphy received about six shot in his arm, and one on his nose. Dr. Brooks extracted the shot. Three of Dr. Williamson's boys, John, Robert and Louis, and a little boy cousin of theirs, were also wounded, having received wounds in their faces, the last named had two shot in the corner of his eye.

Within the last ten days three gentlemen have been looking after and trying to secure the school at this place. Mr. Lowe will probably take charge of it.

Maplesville Dots.

A few evenings since the good people of our town were astonished by our hitherto quiet law-abiding citizen, Robert Martin, heading a mob consisting of some of our most highly respected people marching on to Mrs. Glover's fine melon patch. It was fortunate that she had plenty to spare.

Miss Daisy Welch who has spent the summer traveling in the mountains of Virginia, has been visiting her friend, Miss Fannie Foshee.

Mrs. Crit Woolley has been on a visit here.

Mr. Tom Foshee makes a monthly donation of 50 cents to the Sabbath school. A good example to the older ones.

Our energetic resident engineer, Mr. T. Vischer has made quite an addition to our community by bringing in a Georgia bride. Long life and a happy one to them.

On the 7th, as the south bound freight came in, the switch being open it ran into the siding where some loaded boxes of grain and Mr. Cooley's mill were standing, making a $2,000 wreck. The grain wasted along the track and caused 16 hogs to be killed during the week.

Our quiet citizens were alarmed by cries of distress last evening from Albert Bennett, colored, who in a fight with his wife got badly chopped in the head. Dr. Woolley thinks that with care he may recover.

On the evening of the 12th, Miss Lucy Leonard Crumpton came into the family where she will long be a pet.

Our popular young friend Miss Mammie Kelly, has been visiting her cousin Mr. T. DuBose the past week.

Musicale.

There will be a musicale at the Academy Friday night. Quite a nice program has been arranged, and all who attend may expect an enjoyable evening. Music, vocal and instrumental, and the Clanton string band will highly entertain every one. The best talent has been secured, and the proceeds will go to the Methodist parsonage.

A Permanent Cure.

For years I was troubled with the most malignant type of Chronic Blood Trouble. After trying various other remedies without getting any benefit, I was induced by Joe Schell, a barber, who has since moved to St. Louis, and who was cured by Swift's Specific of a Constitutional Blood Trouble, to take S. S. S. A few bottles cured me permanently. I also consider S. S. S. the best tonic I ever saw. While taking it my weight increased and my health improved in every way. I have recommended S. S. S. to several friends, and in every case they were satisfied with the results.

S. A. WRIGHT,
Midway, Penn.

A Mass of Sores.

I am so grateful for the beneficial results obtained from using S. S. S. that I want to add my testimony to that already published, for the public good. I was a mass of sores before using, but am now entirely cured.

The anti-Lottery bill which recently passed Congress has been signed by the President. It prohibits the Lottery Companies or their agents or patrons from using the mails. Will it be effective? is a question.

The Bibb Blade asks: "Why could not some certain delegates from Chilton, who were elected as Cobb men, have been changed to Croes as well as to Oliver?"

Dear Brother of the Blade these certain delegates are not going to answer your question. Besides you should not bore them with such a large argument as that question contains.

The Sheffield Enterprise of last week was a mammoth edition of thirty-two pages, filled with reading matter and advertisements. The editor, Mr. Tom Cannon, says that the merchants of that town paid $100 to $150 for the whole page advertisements and $60 for the half-pages while those on the outside pages paid $175—all for this single issue. It is liberality like this that builds up a town.

Hon. T. M. Norwood candidate for United States Senate in Georgia, has written Gov. J. B. Gordon a red hot letter. Norwood is the prospective alliance candidate for the Senate. For this reason Gov. Gordon referred to him in his Deatur speech as a demagogue, and repeated the charge that Norwood had slunk out of the war because of sore eyes. Mr. Norwood addressed his letter to "My Dear John Boycott Gordon" and accuses him of "boasting of his bravery."

The canvass of Dr. Cross, though unsuccessful, was highly gratifying, and showed that he is, while comparatively unknown, popular. Although he got no visible support outside of his own county, he was the second choice of nearly everyone. The fight was between Cobb and Oliver, and Bibb's candidate stood a chance to win with the defeat of both. He accepted the defeat gracefully, and pledged the vote of Bibb to the nominee. "The pledge will be redeemed," Bibb Blade.

It has been suggested to us that we ask for plans of a new road law from our citizens for publication. Col. Hargrove, of Tuscaloosa, the president of the Senate and a reader of the View proposes to introduce a bill on the subject at the next session of the General Assembly, and wants suggestions from different sections of the State. Madison and Jefferson county have responded by furnishing the plans in vogue in those counties. Madison is noted for her excellent macadamized roads, but a macadamized road would be too expensive for our county and we think unnecessary, as we have a rocky country. We will be glad to publish suggestions that might be offered.

The New Arrangement.

We felt some doubt last week as to the proposition sent out from New York to advance $32 a bale on 2,000,000 bales of the present cotton crop at 6 per cent. interest, and we only gave the matter a passing notice. It looked like $32 was not enough to get on a bale, and the fact that the proposition came from European capitalists made it appear that foreign manufacturers of cotton goods were aiming at a "corner" in the cotton market. A prominent and influential member of the Farmer's Alliance at this place, whom we interviewed on the subject look about the same view, and he said that as the Alliance was waging war against European capitalists he didn't see how the order could accept any proffered aid from that quarter as coming in good faith.

At the Alliance Exchange in Montgomery the comments upon the plan were altogether favorable. But we met a prominent Alliance official on the street while in the city, and he spoke skeptically of the movement. He did not understand why such an important business arrangement should have been telegraphed to only one paper in all the cotton country, and that a Montgomery afternoon paper. He hinted that it did not look like "straight goods" and that the telegram might have originated in Montgomery instead of New York. We apprehend that the gentleman was somewhat cynical in this particular. We did not have time to stop at the Journal office and inquire as to the source of its information, and that was not necessary, as we cannot for a moment believe that any paper would have been guilty of foisting upon the public an imposition in such a matter.

New Orleans and Memphis papers have characterized the arrangement as wild, impracticable and visionary.

The proposition is denied by Saturday's New York Herald, and it reports members of the New York Cotton Exchange as stating that the rumors concerning such arrangement are without foundation.

A meeting of the cotton committee of the Farmer's Alliance was to be held in New York Monday to accept the proposition, and if this meeting was held, we may know something more definite concerning the project later. Another meeting is called by President Adams at Montgomery for October 2d to consider the same matter.

Shall Women Vote?

Mississippi is holding a convention to formulate a new constitution. The prime object of the convention, it is frankly admitted, is to restrict negro suffrage by constitutional methods. The first and we firmly believe the best plan proposed for carrying out this object was in a provision which granted the right to vote to all women who owned three hundred dollars worth of real estate or whose husbands owned that much. This was a progressive step, but was met with much opposition and was finally defeated. The plan which has been decided upon embodies the main features of the Australian system. That is a good plan also.

But we had hopes that Mississippi would lead her sister southern States in granting woman suffrage, and under the existing conditions in that State, the step might have proved a wise one. It would have settled both the negro question and the whiskey question. Under the provision the majority of the white women of State could have voted while nearly all the negro women would have been disfranchised on account of the property qualification. But it could not be so. To make women voters would make them officeholders and there were those who did not wish to divide the offices thusly. Nor did the whiskeyites want the saloons closed, another inevitable result of woman suffrage.

Statistics show that there are three hundred female lawyers in New York, and more than a thousand and physicians of the same sex, and they are reported prosperous, some of them having annual incomes of $10,000 to $12,000 from their practice. Many of the States now admit women to their universities on the same footing with other students, Mississippi being one of these States. The next step in progression it would seem, would be to grant them a voice in making laws under which they are to pursue life, liberty and happiness. It is a progressive step that had strong support even in a southern State. The plan proposed in Mississippi provided that the female voter might remain at home, and send her ballot to the polling place by another. But this would not be a legal requirement nor long necessary perhaps. As to losing her womanliness by such act, that is the cry that has deterred such progress heretofore. The individual with "an axe to grind" will be found on hand to hinder any progressive movement that may be agitating the political world. The womanly woman can never lose her womanliness. She will claim and command gentleness, courtesy and respect wherever she goes and in whatever she does from all savans, and that class have never been noted for longevity.

But we are not yet to have woman suffrage, and Mississippi has lost an opportunity to distinguish herself in a way that would have made her name and fame immortal.

ANTI-SUB-TREASURY.

The People of Tallapoosa Decide Against It at the Polls.

The Dadeville New Era explains the result of the primary election for delegates to the Congressional Convention in that county as follows:

The result of the election in this county for delegates to the Congressional Convention was somewhat of a surprise to many, considering the supposed solidity of the farmers of the county. Mr. Oliver is a county man, a farmer and secretary of the State Alliance. Many members are known to have cast their ballot for Cobb delegates, while others have been run as anti-Oliver men. Various reasons are advanced for this defection. One being that the Democratic masses were opposed to the St. Louis resolutions, and particularly the Sub-Treasury scheme. All know that Mr. Oliver took very strong ground in favor of that, or some other plan by which the people could get money through some better channel than the national bank; and it will be remembered that Judge Cobb finally placed himself square on record as opposed to the Sub-Treasury Bill.

There is no disguising the fact that there was a lack of unanimity on the part of members of the Alliance. It can hardly be claimed that it was for lack of education favorable to such a scheme on the part of the people, for they have been furnished with plenty of literature by the Economist and the Alliance Herald. While, on the other hand, many have ignored the advice of such able and pure statesmen as Hon. W. C. Oates, and have ignored some Democratic journals which contained much valuable information that would have convinced them of the impracticability of such a plan.

There is no denying the fact that the people are becoming more thoroughly informed upon economic questions, and there is little danger of their losing sight of the over-powring and oppressive arguments which they are made to confront daily in favor of a reduction of the tariff and the free coinage of silver.

Mrs. C. J. Hildreth, one of the editors of the New Decatur Advertiser has been writing in some glorification over the news that Mississippi would grant woman suffrage. The Advertiser and the View are companions in disappointment at the failure of the measure.

State Fair and Exposition.

Alabama is rapidly moving to the front as "the State of the South." The possibilities of her vast agricultural plains, unlimited forests and inexhaustible mines of wealth were never more demonstrated than during the past year. The fertility of our soils is being renewed; our flocks and herds have been improved; our mineral wealth is in process of rapid and successful development, and exceeds that of any other portion of the globe. Birmingham, in the near future, is destined to be the manufacturing center of the Western World.

No city in the State offers such notable attractions and accommodations as Birmingham. Its street cars and dummy lines and railroads passing the fair grounds every few moments, enables visitors to go and come at their pleasure. Its mammoth and palatial hotels, with numerous private boarding houses afford to all who come, home comforts and rest.

Birmingham abounds in attractions; its boulevards, public gardens, elegant private buildings, immense furnaces and rolling mills, with its natural scenery, commend it to all who admire bustle, business and beauty combined.

The State Fair and Exposition management have mapped out for 1890 unusual attractions; and largely increased premiums, distributing the society's means among different agricultural and mineral industries of the State.

The races will be the grandest ever known in the South, the purse being the largest ever offered.

Farmers, stock growers and everybody will patronize the Fair, thereby contributing to their own prosperity.

Ample and liberal arrangements will be made with all the railroads, giving one an opportunity to visit the immense exhibition. The building will be placed in first-class condition, and such new ones erected as experience and the demands of the occasion may suggest.

THE STORAGE PLAN.

President Adams of the State Alliance Calls a Meeting to discuss it.

The last issue of the Alliance Herald the agricultural State organ of the Farmers Alliance, contains a call from President S. M. Adams for a meeting of the representatives of every Alliance in the State, to be held at Montgomery October 2, to consider the proposed plan whereby the farmers can store their cotton and hold it for better prices, and get money advanced on it by foreign capitalists.

The call says: The action taken in other States and the efforts now being made by the National Cotton Committee necessitate that each county organization should have a representative to meet at Montgomery at the earliest practical moment, in order that plans may be systematized and efforts perfected to enable farmers to secure better prices for their cotton or to store it.

After many months it seems to be gradually dawning upon our morning cotemporary at Montgomery that its especial pet and protegee, Governor Lane, of the Huntsville Mercury, is in the Democratic party for no other purpose than to create discord in its ranks on sectional lines, or in any other way if such plan will not work. He is working the little north Alabama racket for all it is worth just now, and among other things wants a north Alabama press association and another congressman for North Alabama. It would be well to let the doughty Governor (?) do some of the heavy work in the party before paying quite so much attention to his wits.

CONTRACT CLOSED.

A Couple Secured for the State Fair Balloon Bridal.

Mal. Burke, Gen. Manager of the State Fair, has closed a contract with a couple for the balloon bridal tour. The couple are Mr. Thos. J. Mims and Miss Gertrude M. Pittman, of Brewton, Ala. They will be married in the car of a balloon on the Fair Grounds at Birmingham, Oct. 23d, and make a bridal tour in the clouds.

Ample arrangements have been made for the transportation of visitors to the Fair Grounds this year. Four long extra trains will be run between the city and the grounds in addition to the seven regular trains; the extras will make the round trip in 20 minutes. There will be no delay no matter how big the crowd may be. The citizens of Birmingham are making up a good list of special passes for running races, and several large parties have already been received.

Needling a tonic, children who want building up, should take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. It is pleasant to take, cures Malaria, Indigestion, Biliousness and Liver Complaints.

If you are suffering with weak or injured eyes, or granulated eyelids, you can be cured by using Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve.

Indigestion results from a partial paralysis of the stomach and is the primary cause of a very large majority of the ills that humanity is heir to. The most agreeable and effective remedy is Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pills. 25 cents a box.

For Malaria, Liver Trouble, or Indigestion, use BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Compound and Blood Purifier, by its vitalizing properties, will brighten pale cheeks, and transform a pale, haggard, dispirited woman into one of sparkling health and beauty. $1.00 per bottle.

ADMINISTRATOR'S Sale of Land.

I, as administrator of the estate of Elijah Mims, Sr., deceased, and by virtue of a decree of the Probate Court of Chilton county, Alabama, will on the 27th day of October, 1890, at Walnut Creek Church, in said county of Chilton, sell the following described lands belonging to the said Elijah Mims, Sr., at the time of his death: Southwest quarter of Northwest quarter of section thirty-two; the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section thirty-one; and the southeast quarter of the south east quarter of section thirty, all in township 22, range 15, in said county, for division among the heirs of said Elijah Mims, Sr.

TERMS CASH.

A. BAKER, Sr., Administrator.

Dissolution.

By mutual agreement the firm of Rainey & Taylor is dissolved.

W. A. Rainey will collect all amounts due the firm, and pay all the indebtedness of the firm.

W. A. RAINEY, W. J. TAYLOR, Maplesville, Ala., Sept. 1st, 1890.

Barber Shop.

Mr. H. A. Logan, who has his barber shop upstairs in the Allen Building, solicits the patronage of the good people of Chilton. He does good work and is well fixed up for the business.

Sick headache is the bane of many lives. To cure and prevent this annoying complaint, use Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pills. They are agreeable to take and gentle in their action. 25 cents a box.

Far better than the harsh treatment of medicines which horribly gripe the patient and retard the curing of the stomach. Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pills cure by mild yet effective action will cure. Sold at 25 cents a bottle.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which cause burnt cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

A free and easy expectoration is produced by a few doses of Dr. J. H. McLean's Tar Wine Lung Balm, in all cases of hoarseness, sore throat or difficulty of breathing.

The way in which our patrons pay for their paper is much appreciated, and demonstrates that they themselves are properly appreciative, and as they are the only constituency that we care to please we are satisfied.

The VIEW man and his good wife are recipients of a complimentary season ticket to the Southern Exposition. There will be nothing small about the coming exposition, and it bids fair to eclipse everything and anything of its kind ever held in Alabama. There is no doubt of this fact. So we hope to be there.

We would call the attention of merchants and farmers to the card of the Union Warehouse Co., of Montgomery. In connection with the warehouse the Farmers Alliance Exchange and the Farmers Co-operative Union form a combination that is the strongest and most reliable to be found. Mr. F. H. Merritt is the genial and experienced manager of the warehouse.

Dan DeJarnette, the negro whom Birdseye Graham stabbed two weeks ago was assaulted by Graham again on Friday night last, and was cut across the stomach and shot in the thigh by Graham. DeJarnette seems to take it all with such submission that by the time he gets on his legs again Graham may suddenly appear and finish him up. Graham has vanished again to let DeJarnette recover.

Once a colored preacher was conducting a Methodist class meeting and some one played him a trick. He took away his hymn book and put a dime song book in its place. When the preacher began he said: "Bred'ren, let sing the seventy-sixth hymn bred'ren and looked over his spectacles to see if all had it."

"As I was walking down the alley I met a gal her name was Sally. 'Bred'ren I made a mistake, it was the sixty-seventh hymn.' 'Shoe fly don't bother me, For I belong to Company D.' 'Bred'ren, bless if some one ain't taken away de Methodist hymn book and put a Baptist hymn book in its place.'"

My Life A Burden.

I was afflicted from infancy with catarrh and with eruptions on my face for ten years. I was attended by the very best physicians, and tried a number of blood purifiers without permanent relief. The mineral ingredients settled in my bones, and caused Rheumatic trouble. My life was a burden to me, and my case was declared incurable, when I saw S. S. S. advertised. Eight bottles cured me entirely, and I feel like a new person.

A Present to our Subscribers.

It is with pleasure that we announce to our patrons that we have made arrangements with that wide awake illustrated magazine, the AMERICAN FARMER, published at Fort Wayne, Ind., and read by 200,000 farmers by which the publication will be mailed direct, FREE, to the address of all subscribers who will come in and pay up all arrearsages on subscription and one year in advance from date, and all new subscribers who will pay one year in advance. This is a grand opportunity to obtain a first-class farm journal free. The American is a large 16-page journal of national circulation, which ranks among the leading papers. It treats the question of agriculture and the rights and privileges of that vast body of citizens—American Farmers—whose industry is the basis of material national prosperity. Its highest purpose is the elevation and ennobling of Agriculture through the higher and broader education of the men and women engaged in its pursuits. The regular subscription price of the American Farmer is $1.00 per year and IT COSTS YOU NOTHING. From any one number ideas can be obtained that will be worth three times the subscription to you or any member of your family, yet you GET IT FREE.

Unfortunate Boy.

A reporter was coming into Anniston on the northbound E. T. V. & G., train yesterday, when he saw a young man, apparently about twenty years of age, get on the train at Alpine, with a badly mangled and bloody hand. The reporter, not from a desire to get a "dot," but pure sympathy, (?) went over and asked the young gentleman about his hurt. His was the same old story; he had been raised on the farm, but growing tired of the life that his father had led before him, he signed for the blue coat and brass buttons, of a railroad man. He got 'im big valise and after three weeks railroading, he goes back home on the farm for his poor old father and mother to nurse him back to health, perhaps until death, for he has a badly crippled hand. Boys, take warning and stick to "dad" and the farm.

The blood must be pure for the body to be in perfect condition. Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood and imparts the richest bloom of health and vigor to the whole body.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper.

Abolish the Normal Schools.

The question of abolishing the State Normal Schools is being agitated. Such a step would be a wise one for the next Legislature to make. The appropriation for the normal schools in the State could go to the public schools, and to a further purpose equally as important and at this time a crying need. We allude to the establishment of a reformatory school for young criminals, or there should be two of these schools one for the whites and one for the negroes, where all criminals under twenty-one years should be placed. The schools should be in the country with a farm attached and these young criminals should be learned to plow and hoe, Alabama has a great disgrace hanging over her in sending children to the penitentiary because the law makes no other provision for their punishment.

Col. Joseph Hodgson, editor of the Mobile Register, makes some suggestions on needed legislation in reply to a circular letter of the Montgomery Journal to leading journalists of the State. He thinks "the first duty of the legislature should be to entrench the suffrage in such manner that no force acts of Congress can subject intelligence and property to the rule of ignorance and vice," and thinks the Mississippi convention has pointed out a practical and honest way to accomplish this. He makes an equally as good suggestion in the matter of reformatory schools. On this subject we quote from his letter:

The practical plan for state aid to cotton factories which I would suggest, is the inauguration by our legislature of industrial reform schools, in which the principal training and occupation should be the manufacture of cotton.

The need of reform schools to meet the cases of misdemeanor and juvenile convicts is so apparent to the Christian sentiment of our people that I will not dwell upon it. The limit of this letter precludes any but a cursory allusion to the subject. The civilized world has adopted the reform school system, and the result has been a wonderful amelioration of the criminal class, a conversion of offenders and a diminution of crime.

It is the duty of the State to remove the misdemeanor convicts—especially the juvenile convicts—from contact and association with felons.

I think that the legislature should establish at least four reform schools to begin with, at points in the State most in need of such institutions. They should be thoroughly equipped with ample machinery of the most approved style, and with land sufficient for vegetables, fruits and food to supply the establishment. It should require one million of dollars to equip these four schools, the State would save money by the appropriation. The interest upon the reform school bonds would be but $40,000, whereas the state paid in 1889 over $70,000 for feeding prisoners in the county jails. In my judgment these schools could be made not only self-supporting, but productive of a revenue greater than the interest of the bonds.

Among the advantages which I claim for these schools are the following:

1. Reduction of expense upon the State and the tax-payers for the care and food of misdemeanor convicts.
2. The punishment of minor offenders which now escape because of the want of degree in punishment.
3. The reformation of youthful offenders, and the relief of the destitute and vagrant.
4. The education of the pupils in practical arts thus supplying the State with a trained body of artisans.
5. The development and enrichment of our cotton interest, which is the basis of our agricultural wealth.
6. The stimulus that would be given to cotton manufacturers by increasing the home demand for cotton, and thus advancing its value in foreign markets.

In concluding this summary of a subject which might be expanded into many pages I assume that this expenditure on the part of the State falls clearly with in her public powers, and is not repugnant to any constitutional inhibition.

Very Respectfully,
JOSEPH HODGSON.

The London Reporter already contains twelve announcements for the various county offices to be filled in Marengo in 1892. The candidates are in a hurry.

Another Plan.

Still another plan by which farmers may raise money on their cotton has been published by Mr. Geo. F. Gaither manager of the State Alliance Exchange. It is a plan to advance $35 a bale on cotton which is to be shipped to the spinners as the cotton is needed by them. As to the merits of this plan the farmers themselves can be left to judge. The Montgomery Advertiser warns them that it will virtually be selling the cotton at 7 cents a pound as the spinners will soon get control of enough cotton to beat the price down to that figure, and the $35 will be all they will get on their cotton. This looks like good reasoning. But the reply of Mr. Gaither may be that it is nobody's business but that of the farmer and in this free country he has the privilege of doing what he pleases with his own, and judging for himself as to what it is best for him to do.

Kansas on the Decline.

The State of Kansas is on the verge of agricultural and financial ruin. An exchange contains the following concerning the condition of affairs in that State.

What is the cause? It is hard to tell. Some people say droughts, others, mortgages, and others, and the majority, prohibition. It is a common occurrence for the thermometer to register 105 or 106 degrees, but as the air is very light, sunstrokes are very rare. On such days the query, "Did you feel any hot wind?" was frequent. The question was always solemnly asked, and just as gravely answered; "Not today, but if this kind of weather lasts much longer there certainly will be."

THE BREATH OF DESTRUCTION.

I shall never forget the day I first heard the answer to the affirmative. All through the day the question was repeated by hundreds, and when night came it appeared as if some dire calamity had befallen the State, which it was a calamity for a hot wind such as sweeps over the prairie means death to corn. Year after year the farmers have plowed and sowed, harrowed and drilled, only to see their crops, after making a luxurious start, shrivel under the burning rays of the sun, shining weeks at a time from a cloudless sky. As they have watched the horizon for a sign of hope, they have been mocked by the breath of the dreadful "hot wind" rushing over the plains. This wind had finished the work of destruction, and the farmer has had to turn away from his blasted fields and transfer his field of hope to the next season. Occasionally a crop has been secured, and this has been enough to encourage the unfortunate to hold on and hope for the best, but that hope is now dying.

There are those who attribute the trouble in Kansas to prohibition. This however, will not fool any of the prohibitionists. They will want to know if whiskey saloons would cause the hot winds to subside. It is a ludicrous argument for the anti to make, but it is a fair sample of such arguments.

From present indications the Alabama State Fair and Exposition is going to be the most successful affair of the kind ever held in the South. The exhibits will be magnificent in character and quantity and will furnish the best possible illustration of the wonderful natural resources of Alabama and the progress made recently in industrial development.

Probably the most attractive feature of the fair, to most visitors, will be the races, to which special attention has been given. Eight thousand dollars in purses has been offered by the association and this will be supplemented by a number of large special purses for running races, offered by citizens of Birmingham. The mile track at the fair grounds has been pronounced by experts the equal of any track in the country and the fastest time ever made on a Southern track is expected. Already several handsome special purses of $250 each have been offered for running races by the citizens of Birmingham.

XXX MORE ATTRACTIONS.

New and Novel Features for the State Fair.

The Races at the State Fair are going to be one of the chief attractions. Special purses are being added to the already long list, and some of the fastest horses in the country will be there.

A purse of $300 has been offered for a two mile dash running race.

The anti-lottery law is being enforced with especial vigor if not with partisan vengeance. Several newspapers published in this State are already "in the toils" for continuing lottery advertisements a few days after the law went into effect.

GRAVEL ROADS.

Experience Shows Them to be More Popular Than the Macadamized.

For the further benefit of the people of the State we will say that the gravel roads are more popular than the macadamized. Having time rock in abundance in localities, we used them in the construction of the macadamized roads, but where gravel beds were attainable, the river or creek gravel used, were cheaper than stone, and the roads more profitable. We refer to these facts to show what can be done, and we take it that there are but few counties in Alabama that can't furnish creek or river gravel, in fact they are substantially the same thing. A general law authorizing the commissioner courts of the respective counties to build good and sufficient roads by letting contracts upon specification, would be advantageous to every interest in Alabama. The advantage derived by the farmer, in absolute increase of intrinsic value will more than pay the tax and will leave a handsome profit there to. Now the question with every Alabamian is, we will continue to see the roads wash away, the ditches deepen, the fences falling down, the roofs tumbling in, or will they call a halt, about face and travel in the other direction, making good roads, stopping ditches, putting on a new roof, cleaning up the briar patches and giving new life and vigor to our State. If so, now is the accepted time. Will the newspapers lead in prayer?—Huntsville Mercury.

The Great Southern Exposition.

We notice that there is to be a grand re-union of the Alliance of the State at the Southern Exposition, Nov. 11 and 12. An official call has been sent out by President Adams, and such speakers as Col. Polk, the National president; Gov. Buchanan, of Tenn.; Gov. Tillman, of South Carolina; Col. Livingston, of Georgia, and possibly others of National reputation will be present and address the assembly. Besides the addresses from the eminent men named above, the Exposition Company with that zeal and public spirit for which they are noted, have succeeded in getting together what promises to be the finest exhibit ever known in the South. Their attractions of an innocent nature will well repay a visit.

The famous Major Lillie (Pawnee Bill) the leader of the Oklahoma Boomers, has been engaged with his troupe of Cow Boys, Indians and Bronchos, and will give one complete free exhibition in front of the grand stand each day.

A balloon race between two noted aeronauts will take place each day, weather permitting. Another attraction is the chariot trapeze. This is entirely new, has only been exhibited this season and the Exposition Company are the first South to secure it. While horses are running at full speed round the track the daring gymnast performs almost miraculous feats on his swinging trapeze. In addition to the above three, grand races will take place each day.

All in all no such combination of attractions has ever heretofore been placed before our people. The arrangements deserve patronage and we hope to see our people turn out and give them a large crowd. A rate over the railroads of 1 cent a mile has been arranged for the 11th and 12th, and on other days a one-cent rate has been secured. However, the management are perfecting arrangements for 1 cent rates on Old Veterans' day, which comes off on the 13th, also on several others which will be duly advertised.

A New Swindle.

The Farmers' Review warns its patrons of a rare swindle in the following: "Farmer's should keep an eye open for a new swindle said to be at present practiced in Connecticut. It is done by means of a double fountain pen, one end of which is filled with good substantial ink, the other with ink that fades in a day or two. The sharper writes his agreement, contract, or whatever peculiar document he may have chosen, with the ink that fades, and his victim signs with the other end of the pen, the ink that lasts. In a few days the ink with a sharp with nothing on it but a good signature, over which he writes any sort of a note that he can most readily turn into cash."

Barber Shop.

Mr. H. A. Logan, who has his barber shop upstairs in the Allen Building, solicits the patronage of the good people of Clanton. He does good work and is well fixed up for the business.

State Treasurer John L. Cobbs has just returned from his recent Fall business trip to New York. The Dry Goods Chronicle says:

We had the pleasure of meeting John L. Cobbs, of the firm of John L. Cobbs & Co., Montgomery, Ala., in the market during the week. Mr. Cobbs is accompanied by his son, Claude, whom he is initiating into the mysteries of buying dry goods. This is the second trip to New York for his son, while Mr. Cobbs himself can add fifty to that. He has served as State Treasurer for one term, and was recently re-elected, indicating that his administration had been eminently satisfactory to the voters of that progressive southern commonwealth. Recently, Mr. Cobbs informs us, in placing a large amount of State bonds upon this market, he was obliged to sign his name 67,000 times as State Treasurer.

Secretary Blame.

Has been invited to attend the Fair and deliver an address, and it is believed by the management that he will accept the invitation. Several other distinguished gentlemen have been invited and many of them will no doubt attend.

Cure for a Bad Temper.

The wife went to dervish for a charm that should cure her husband of his bad temper. She told the wise man that they disagreed daily, and that in the end he always flew into a passion and beat her, though at other times he was fond and kind. The wise man took from his bundle a full bottle and gave it to the woman saying:

"Here is a charmed liquid. The minute you see signs of anger in your husband, fill your mouth with it, and be careful to hold it there until the least trace of ill temper has disappeared. When this is gone come to me for more."

A month later the woman came back all smiles and thanks, with a great piece of gold to exchange for more of the precious liquid.

"Father" she said, "I would not be without your charm for my life. The moment my husband begins to fret I run and fill my mouth: All I have I will give you for that precious water."

The dervish smiled and said: "My daughter, the charmed liquid was only water. Go you to the well and fill your bottle when you will. The only charm is silence. You could not talk back; and in all my experience, it has taken two to make a quarrel."

If you are suffering with weak or inflamed eyes or granulated eyelids, you can be cured by using Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve.

Indigestion results from a partial paralysis of the stomach and is the primary cause of a very large majority of the ill that humanity is heir to. The most agreeable and effective remedy is Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pills. 25 cents a vial.

For Malaria, Liver Trouble, or Indigestion, use BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

The Primitive Baptist Association met at Bethel church last Sunday. A large crowd from Clanton attended.

Rev. Claude Chilton, son of Mrs. E. F. Chilton, preached two excellent sermons at the Methodist Church here last Sunday.

Mr. Tipton Mullins returned to Nashville Friday where he will remain another session at the Penitentiary Normal Institute.

In a communication in this issue, Mr. L. A. Thornton makes some practical suggestions concerning the improvement of our county roads.

Dr. J. P. Robinson and his family, of Birmingham, were in Clanton last week to pay the last sad tribute to the memory of his son, Mr. W. R. Robinson.

Jno. M. Scott, Esq., left Monday night for Birmingham, which city he will make his future home. Mr. Scott is a young lawyer of fine character and ability, and of much solid worth. If he does not let his innate modesty overcome his other excellent qualities he will be sure to attain success in the magic city.

Generous Neighbors.

It will be remembered that on the 21st inst., Mr. W. Sims, living near Clanton, lost his house and kitchen by fire. Before the next Sunday came the good people of Clanton and Providence had taken up a subscription and built Mr. Sims a brand new house of three rooms, and presented him with a new stove and kitchen outfit. This is the kind of religion that St. James said was pure.

A Mother.

Children who are troubled with worms may be quickly relieved by giving them Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Vermifuge. It kills and expels worms.

OUR COUNTY ROADS.

Some Suggestions Looking to their Improvement.

For the CHILTON VIEW.

This subject being much discussed through the press of the State, and having been solicited to contribute a few thoughts is my excuse for this presence. We are nearing the end of the nineteenth century and when we reflect that scientific progress has accomplished more in the century than all the ages before, and that our common highways are no better than they were when it began, we may well lament our slothfulness in this progressive age.

Look about. Get in line, and march on with this rushing, bustling age of improvement.

The only question we need to discuss is the "How to do it?" We have but to solicit our honorable Probate Judge to consult the county court of Jefferson county, take a ride over her one hundred miles of elegantly graded roads radiating in all directions from Birmingham, her county seat, obtain all the data as to cost of engineer, cost of grading per square yard cuts and fills, and it would also be well to visit Madison county officials, or open correspondence with them upon the same subject. It would also be well to sound the money market as to what Madison county road bonds sold for and the probable price ours would bring should we wish to build on credit.

Jefferson and Madison county are the only two counties in Alabama that have waked up from our one hundred years of slumber, and are building; Jefferson by taxation, 10 cents on the $100, and Madison by issuing bonds and building on the proceeds of their sale.

We should inform ourselves as to the advantages or disadvantages of both, and adopt the best or possibly both plans in part. We should by all means profit by the experience of those two counties. The wise learn by the experience of others, the otherwise by their own, and the "John Seely d-d fool" by neither.

Ten years ago I traveled over the old plank road in Elmore county. It was graded 40 years ago, and where it is in use to-day, is the best road I have seen in Alabama, except the roads now being built in Jefferson and Madison counties.

A road graded as well as all we need in our county, except in a few places like the Eastern approach to Mulberry Creek near Besen. Such places would have to be graded, but there are very few places that will require it.

With the information obtained as suggested above, we would know what we needed and how to proceed to obtain it.

I think the next Legislature should pass a general law authorizing each county that wished to do so, to either tax the property in the county 10 cents on the $100 for road purposes or to issue 20 year bonds for the same purposes.

provided the interest to be paid did not exceed 6 or 8 per cent. My individual preference would be taxation and pay as we go.

We should first after providing the necessary funds employ a competent engineer and survey one road from Adams' Ferry to Clanton and on to Maplesville and on to the county line beyond. Also one from Higgins' Ferry to Verbena, and on west to some point on the Alabama Midland Railroad and beyond to county line, and another beginning at the county line near Montevallo, and on to Clanton and beyond to a junction with Adams' Ferry Road. These three roads being the most important for general travel, should be built first, and let the other roads follow as fast as possible.

The engineer should be charged not only with the survey of those three roads, but the supervision of the building of said three roads, and the working of all the others by the present system, the bonds to work the full ten days in the year the same being done under the supervision of the engineer and according to his survey. The work would not be lost when the same roads come to be built up to full grade roads.

The value of good roads is practically unknown in our State as we have never had them. The "old soldier" has a pleasing recollection of the elegant roads in Virginia, Kentucky and parts of Tennessee. The money invested comes back by the enhanced value of the land, and solid comfort, and the removal of the mighty load of guilty consciousness of cruelty to animals.

Maplesville Dots.

We have had a detective who has succeeded in bringing a colored boy to justice who near here last February placed a rail on the railroad track. He was tried here and sent up for ten years.

Mr. Hill Foshee's young lady friends regret that they do not enjoy his Chesterfieldian howls as of yore, because of his affliction of boils on his neck.

We have succeeded at last in having our church organ repaired which is very gratefully presided over by our kind little friend, Miss Gertrude Woolley.

The mate to the huge rattler killed by our energetic friend N. A. Saporitas several months since, has been lately killed near where the mate was.

Mrs. Gullahorn has been visiting friends in Calera.

Mrs. Jackson, of Randolph, is with friends here.

Mr. Frank Kelley, of Selma, is on a visit here to Miss Lucy Len Crumpton.

Those in this locality who planted corn latest made the best crop. Cotton is not turning out so well as once hoped for.

Mr. Tom Foshee's new gin is doing good business, adding much to the life-like appearance of our town.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Death of Mr. W. R. Robinson.

The death of Mr. W. R. Robinson at his gin near Verbena on Friday last was a particularly sad one. The morning previous to his death Mr. Robinson had his arm caught in his gin and badly mangled to the elbow. Physicians were not able to check the bleeding and death resulted Friday morning. Mr. Robinson was a useful and respected citizen of this community, and his death is deeply lamented by a large circle of friends and connections. He leaves a wife and four small children. The stricken widow and little ones have the deepest sympathy of the community.

The Secret of Happiness.

The most common error among men and women, is that of looking for happiness somewhere outside of useful work. It has never yet been found in that way and never will be while the world stands. And the sooner this truth is learned, the better for every one. If you doubt the proposition, just glance around among your friends and acquaintances, and select those who appear to have the most enjoyment in life. Are they the idlers, and the pleasure seekers, or are they the earnest workers? We know what your answer will be.

Of all the miserable human beings on God's green earth it has been our fortune of misfortune to know, they were the most wretched who "had retired from useful employments" in order to enjoy themselves. Why, the slave, at his enforced labor, or the hungry toiler for bread, were supremely happy in comparison.

Earnestly would we press upon your minds the truth we have stated. It lies at the foundation of all well-doing and well-being. It gives tranquility and pleasure to the youth just stepping across the threshold of rational life, as well as to the man whose years are beginning to rest upon his stooping shoulders. Be ever engaged in useful work if you would be happy. This is the great secret.—Author's Magazine.

Our Little Child.

A Present to our Subscribers.

It is with pleasure that we announce to our patrons that we have made arrangements with that wide awake illustrated magazine, the AMERICAN FARMER, published at Fort Wayne, Ind., and read by 200,000 farmers by which the publication will be mailed direct, FREE, to the address of all subscribers who will come in and pay up all arrearsages on subscription and one year in advance from date, and all new subscribers who will pay one year in advance. This is a grand opportunity to obtain a first-class farm journal free. The American is a large 16-page journal of national circulation, which ranks among the leading papers. It treats the question of agriculture and the rights and privileges of that vast body of citizens—American Farmers—whose industry is the basis of material national prosperity. Its highest purpose is the elevation and ennobling of Agriculture through the higher and broader education of the men and women engaged in its pursuits. The regular subscription price of the American Farmer is $1.00 per year and IT COSTS YOU NOTHING. From any one number ideas can be obtained that will be worth three times the subscription to you or any member of your family, yet you GET IT FREE.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

GRAY IS FASHIONABLE.

Gray, of the clear dove tint, that has always been numbered among the artist's colors, is more fashionable than ever before, not only for house, but for, coaching and driving dresses. Heretofore silver and steel predominated, have been used in trimming the hats with a gray gown; now white is chosen in silk mull, marabout, braid and lace borders. —New York Sun.

WHEN AN ARAB WIDOW MARRIES.

An Arab woman, when left a widow, mourns her husband devoutly, but, like other widows, if she has the opportunity she may be married again. The night before her second marriage she pays a visit to her first husband's grave. There she kneels and prays him not to be offended. As, however, she feels he will be offended, the widow brings with her a donkey, laden with two goats' skins filled with water. The prayer ended, she proceeds to pour the water on the grave, to keep the first husband cool under the circumstances about to take place, and, having well saturated him, she then departs. —Chatter.

FASHION'S NEWEST COLORS.

A long time ago people used to think that blue was essentially a color for blondes and angels. Nobody can dispute its being the color for angels, but it certainly is not the one to be chosen by a blonde. The fair skin looks cool enough, and when blue, especially pale blue, is put near it the effect given is very undesirable, because what was clear white before becomes a pallid rose. Blondes had much better wear any of the rose shades, bright scarlet, warm brown, or dark green, leaving the very trying pale blue to the brown-haired beauties. A bright color, or the warm brunettes whose skin does not know the unsightly touch of sallowness. Everybody like a rose-colored lining, and to be in vogue this season everybody ought to have a rose-colored frock—in cotton or wool, in silk or tulle. It is always most charitable in bringing out one's best features and toning down one's worst. Combined with white the pink shades are as dainty as a bit of old china, and will suggest the pretty pink and white ladies who Watteau painted on fans, who played at little Trianon with Marie Antoinette, laughed and jested, and yet did not fear when they had to face death on the guillotine for the sake of the King and Queen. —Ladies' Home Journal.

A WOMAN ENGINEER.

Chicago has a female engineer who runs an engine at a laundry. The fact has been brought into prominence by a complaint made to the Board of Examining Engineers that she is working without a certificate. The law provides that all engineers shall procure certificates of ability, which shall be issued to them upon their passing an examination, with which requirement this young woman has failed to comply. She has had charge of the engine for two years, and does her own firing, her own mending of broken machinery, and is, in fact, an all-around mechanic of no mean ability. This phenomenon is good-looking, not over twenty-five, and has a pleasant, herself looking charming, even at the grimy work of her choice. She had, previous to her debut as an engineer, worked at the laundry, and, proving her mechanical ability by numerous tinkering of machinery, when the superintendent found himself short of an engineer, trusted with the charge of the little engine. All she needed was a trial, and now she reigns supreme, the goddess of the engine-room. "I expect to get a certificate for her," said the superintendent, "she will have no trouble in passing the required examination, as she knows more about the machinery than half the male engineers." —New York Telegram.

FASHION NOTES.

Necklaces of all kinds have been revived. Bonnets are as small and hats as large as it is possible for woman to wear them. Deep girdles, well boned after the peasant bodice, are put on the new toilets of white and figured silk. Narrow handkerchiefs have been liked, with trimmed of the popular and all-around Valenciennes lace. In outfitting stripes are the rage, but plaids are also popular. They come in chevrons, Madras, flannel, silk and other material. In blouses, solid colors are rather driving out the stripes, which have grown to be too old-fashioned to become monotonous, if not common. The striped wool-and-cotton flannels are liked for summer petticoats, with stripes of color on white, and the edges scalloped with color. Dresses are no longer made of piece lace, but flouncings of both white and black. The old-time flouncings of real lace are very desirable. Brown is the favorite color for shopping, walking or traveling gowns. The material is one of the lightest woollen made for summer wear. These come in plaids, checks, stripes and figured effects, or polka dots. Some of the prettiest dotted Swiss muslins have large worn spots over the greater part of their surface, and a wide border of open embroidery in designs of eyelets with scallops of eyelets on the edge. This scalloped border is used on the waist to form a fitted corset, its scalloped edge coming up high around the bust, and its seams joined by beading or ladder stitching; above this finishing out the high-necked waist, is a full guimpé made of bias-puffed white muslin joined by beading, with a double ruffle of Valenciennes lace around the neck.

Diamonds From the Skies.

It is one of the most singular facts in scientific history, that while meteoric stones have fallen to the earth in every age and country, yet it is only within the past hundred years that men of science have been convinced themselves that such a thing is really possible. Meteors are simply part of the forces of space that the earth gathers as it rushes along with the sun. They bring us strange things—iron in a condition which we cannot produce upon the earth, nickel and more than twenty other known substances, including carbon, which in some instances at least appears in the form of minute diamonds. —San Francisco Review.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

The heart acts promptly, reason slowly. Tranquillity is the synonym of power. The price of knowledge is disengagement.

It is at the inception of evil that we should halt. Credulity, like kittens, are born blind, but, unlike them, it never gets its eyes open.

Even in the house of innocent delight there is hidden the skeleton of misery. A rich man lives under a microscope, which exaggerates both his virtues and his vices.

Don't descend to equivocation; if you must lie, do it like an accomplished secondhand.

Most falsehoods, like poorly lighted fires, will go out of themselves if we cease to blow them.

Necessities are reasoned by natural desires, but to enjoy luxuries we must force the appetite. The latter demands find sacrifices not expressed in the original transfer.

Pursuit is an enduring pleasure, gilded by hope, possession is but a brief disappointment. When we capture the gaudy butterfly it is found that we have crushed out its beauty.

Gave Up His Life for His Dog.

A remarkable suicide has just come to light in Anneton, Ala. Nearly two months ago, Robert E. Edwards, a young man about eighteen years of age, and the son of Mr. E. Edwards, a prominent citizen, and Secretary and Treasurer of the Anneton Street Railway Company, came home from school. His leaving school was at the suggestion of the President of the institution to the father of the young man, giving as a reason that he was fond of his dog and gun that he was making no progress in his studies. Upon his arrival his father gave him a gun, but kind talk with the view of inspiring him with a laudable ambition to be a man, and make for himself a worthy character in the world, and ended by telling him he must give up his gun and dog. The young man had been heard to say before he would part with his dog, he would kill himself, but no one attached any importance to the remark.

After his father had ceased talking to him he went to his room and got his gun and large splendid setter dog, and went out toward the mountain.

When he failed to return his father became uneasy, and diligent search was made for him in the vicinity, and along where, but no trace could be found of the missing youth until Thursday night, when his dead body, the body of his faithful dog and his fine breech-loading shotgun were found on the mountain, about one mile from the city, among the rocks, the scrubby oaks and the wild flowers. The indications were that he killed his dog and then reloaded his gun and shot himself, shattering his head to pieces.

He left a sealed letter to his father and his father, which he had put under an oak tree in a manner to protect the contents from the weather. His father and mother were at Blowing Rock, N. C., spending the summer, and were notified by telegram of the finding of the body of their son. —New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Gems of the Past.

The most famous extinct gems are perhaps the Gemma Augustus in Vienna, a sardonyx nearly a quarter of a yard long, on which the triumph of Augustus is in the rarest workmanship by Dioscorides of Rome. There are magnificently cut antique amethysts, though rock crystal was, and is, mainly used for vases and cups. I saw a beautiful modern vase in the shape of a shell, with a rim of fourteen inches long—chiefly, however, flaring me with regret for the vanished beauty of the one perfect crystal out of which it had been cut. The man asked $3 for it. A much larger cameo, though the Gemma Augustus was lost in the storm of the Tuleries in 1848. About the largest extant gem—a sardonyx worked in five layers and representing Tiberius and Livia and various other personages—there is an old story. It is called La Camee de la Sainte Chapelle, and was given to St. Louis of France, who set it in the Ste. Chapelle as a representation of Joseph's dream.

The art of cutting gems lingered on in Constantinople after the fall of the empire, but few stones were cut in Western Europe. Charlemagne used as his seal an antique gem with the head of Jupiter Serapis; Pepin le Bref used a Bacchus on it. In 1559, however, Giovanni Bernini cut stones so beautifully for Lorenzo de Medici that he was called Giovanni delle Caniole, and a contemporary of his was named Domenico dei Kamei. The Picklers, Tyrolse artists, settled in Rome in the eighteenth century, cut gems so perfectly that they had to sign their names to prevent their passing as veritable antiques. —Blackwood's Magazine.

Powerful Lord Arthur Cecil.

"With references to your statement that the new Westphalian strong meat 'Goliath' once laid a cow upon its back by its horns, it may interest your readers," writes a correspondent, "to know that Lord Arthur Cecil, a half-brother of Lord Salisbury, once told me a similar incident in connection with himself. Lord Arthur, though a short man, is of giant physique and enormous strength. He was one day walking through a field on his farm at Lutterworth, when a young bull rushed at him. Instead of turning tail, Lord Arthur coolly seized the animal by the horns and pushed him back, wriggling and struggling, inch by inch, till he had got him into his stall, where he left him cowering and trembling all over."

"This," continues our correspondent, "is not a cock-and-bull story. It was Lord Arthur who on one occasion when traveling by rail rode his new man-servant get the tickets, the man did, procuring two first-class tickets and seating himself in the same carriage with his master. Lord Arthur said nothing at the moment, but next time he bought the tickets himself, one first-class, one third, and, giving the man the first-class ticket, he traveled third himself." Our correspondent seems to think that heretofore Lord Arthur daily scored. But really, to round off the tale, it ought to be added that on the next occasion the servant, being intrusted with the task, took two third-class tickets. —Pull Mail Gazette.

Nature with a worm is a wonderful condenser. She has the hole thing in a nutshell.

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

THE BOOK CURE FOR BALKERS.

There was a very balky horse in Dover, N. H., which nobody could drive. A kind gentleman undertook to drive him through the White Mountains. His owner laughed, and said: "You cannot drive him out of the mountains. He said quietly: 'I think I will manage him,' and he did, in this way: He filled the carriage-box with books, and when the horse balked he quietly flung the reins on the book, took out a book and began to read, and waited patiently until the horse saw fit to start. This he did two or three times, and the horse was cured. —Our Dumb Animals.

AGRICULTURAL MACHINERY MUST COME.

The next advance in mechanical appliances for the outdoor worker must be in the horticultural field, so dependent, until a few years ago, upon hand labor. Agricultural implements for breaking up the soil and pulverizing it are adopted, with modifications, to use of the orchardist. Special machinery has been made to stir the soil even better than for field crops, and to destroy weeds, and to work close to trees and vines. For ordinary pruning it is difficult to believe that any better can be made than the saw and shears now in use. There is room for invention in the field of gathering and preparing fruit for the market, also in that most difficult and expensive operation of the entire season—the thinning out of surplus fruit. American fruit-growers, gardeners and florists need the utmost perfection of mechanical contrivances, and it is a mistake to suppose there is not likely to be any special advance in that field. In California, for instance, prunes are now picked by machinery; then sorted and prepared for the drying trays. A machine now in use will pick 1200 cherries per minute, and one boy can attend to it. Every application of intelligent mechanics to the horticultural field reduces the cost of such products to consumers and advances the laborer, while still allowing the producer a better profit. —New York Tribune.

PRESERVING EGGS FOR MARKET.

An even temperature and protection from the air are the leading features in the preservation of eggs. The pores of the shell must be stopped for two reasons, to prevent evaporation and the consequent drying up of the contents of the shell and to prevent the entrance of the air which in due time adds the eggs. Of the various plans for stopping the pores the most popular and effective modes will be considered.

Lining is the most practical and effective method for preserving eggs in large quantities. This method consists in placing the eggs in a wooden box, lined with paper, and covering the box with a layer of straw or sawdust. The eggs are left in this line water until they are required for use or for sale, when they are carefully dipped out into open cartons, washed and drained. The milk of lime is made by dissolving quicklime in water at the rate of about one peck of lime to eight gallons of water. Seal and a small quantity of cream of tartar are often added. Say one and a half pounds of salt and five ounces of cream of tartar to eight gallons of lime water. The lime water should be run through a sieve and the hard lumps either crushed or removed. Where smaller quantities are used, the mixture may be made in a French pan of enameled fresh eggs with a mixture of olive oil and beeswax works well. In eight ounces of hot olive oil dissolve four ounces of beeswax and rub this over the eggs, then pack them in a box lined with paper, and cover with straw or sawdust. It is imperative that the eggs be fresh when packed and that the packages be kept in a cool place, where the temperature will be even as possible. —New York World.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

Now some turnips. Thin out the root crop. Keep preparing for the fair. Hoe your cucumber bushes as you do the rest of the plants in the garden.

There is no more healthy summer drink than good, fresh buttermilk. In banking up celery be careful not to get soil into the hearts of the plants.

Remember that one of the most important cares of the farm is the care of health. Whoever depends upon the public for a market must consult the wants of the public.

The kerosene emulsion will kill all kinds of plant lice. Try it on your cabbage.

Generally the nearer the market the better the product when it reaches the consumer.

There is no benefit in applying to your soil any ingredient which it already has in abundance.

Early varieties of snap-beans and beet roots will give you a nice dish before frost—try a few.

Common sense urges farmers to give themselves and the teams a good long rest after the midday meal. Rarely is work so pressing as to make the non-observance of this rule profitable.

Education does more for a poor farm than fertilizers. It grows better crops and breeds better stock. What many a poor farmer, with his scanty cattle and fowl, wants is a heavy application of brains.

Look out for your hogs. When they are full give them a cool, comfortable place to sleep. This will make them grow and get fat rapidly, because they are satisfied. The place must be dry, clean and well ventilated.

What the Tomato is Good For. The tomato is finding a great run in London as a medicinal agent, especially for biliousness. One correspondent sends a leading journal that he found in the tomato a specific for a chronic throat trouble, and if there is any virtue in the vegetable as a hair renewer and corn cure the extensive experimentation now going on will surely bring it out. —Philadelphia Times.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

HOUSE WASH FOR INFANTS.

Infants are very often troubled with sore mouth. It is an annoying complaint, but yields readily to treatment. A very good wash is prepared as follows: Put in a teaspoonful of pulverized alum, the same of borax, half a teaspoonful of powdered nuxgala, a tablespoonful of honey. Pour over it boiling water until the cup is two-thirds full. When it settles wash the mouth with a clean linen rag and repeat the application three or four times a day, using a fresh rag every time. Nurses who have had experience with infants recommend this treatment. —New York World.

SALT AS A MOTH EXTERMINATOR.

For moths salt is the best exterminator. The mites in one of the hospital cases have tried everything else with no success, and their experience is valuable, as they have so much clothing of the sick who go there, and strangers when dying often leave these quantities of clothing, etc. They had a room full of them, which were sent there for pillow-making, and they were in despair, as they could not exterminate the moths until they were advised to try common salt. They sprinkled it around, and in a week or ten days they were altogether free from them. They are never troubled now. —Chicago Herald.

WAXING FLOORS.

All preparations for waxing floors are heated by setting the kettle containing the mixture into another containing boiling water. By this means the beeswax becomes incorporated with the turpentine and other ingredients. The floor will be "sticky" if the wax is properly rubbed in. The best article for rubbing in oil or wax is a parquet brush, such as are sold by manufacturers of parquets, and at large house furnishing stores. These brushes are furnished with long handles and have heavy-weighted backs of solid iron. They cost $5 but will last a lifetime. They are moved back and forth on the floor like a mop, and the wax is rubbed in by the even the small (or $5) size, but it is less laborious to rub in wax or oil by this means than by hand. It does not require so much rubbing to get an oiled floor into proper condition for use as a waxed one. Unless the surface of the floor is either case is thoroughly polished, smooth and glossy, a residue of oil or wax will be found on the surface, which will catch the dust and make the floor unfit for use. —New York Tribune.

POULTRY MARKING IS AN ART.

To make a poultry according to a celebrated medical authority is quite an art. This is what he says on the subject: The common practice in making poultices of mixing the linsed meal with hot water and applying it directly to the skin is a mistake, because if we do not wait to burn the patient we must wait until a great portion of the heat has been lost. The proper method is to take a flannel bag—the size of the poultice required—to fill this with linsed poultice as hot as can be made and so put between this and the skin a second piece of flannel so that there shall be at least two thicknesses of flannel between the skin and the poultice itself. Above the poultice should be placed more flannel or cotton-wool to keep the heat from escaping. By this method we are able to apply the linsed meal boiling hot without burning the patient, and the heat, gradually diffusing through the flannel, affords a grateful sense of relief which cannot be obtained by the common method. By this way in which such marked relief is given to abdominal pain as by the application of a poultice in this manner. —New York World.

FLAVORED VINEGARS.

Flavored vinegars are a great convenience to the housekeeper, and being easily prepared should always be on hand, writes Mrs. A. R. Parker, in the Courier-Journal.

Celery Vinegar—Mix a quarter of a pound of celery seed, a teaspoonful of granulated sugar, one or two drops of salt and a quart of vinegar together; put in a porcelain-lined kettle and bring to a boil. When cold, put in a large bottle, and shake every day for two weeks; cork bottle and use.

Chili Vinegar—Take three dozen small red peppers, put in a jar, pour over a pint of vinegar and let stand for two weeks; then pour off, and a tablespoonful of sugar and a tablespoonful of oil.

Horseradish Vinegar—Scald a quart of strong vinegar, grate a teaspoonful of horseradish, pour the vinegar over, add two tablespoonfuls of white sugar and a tablespoonful of salt. Let stand two or three days, strain and bottle. Serve with cold meats.

Tarragon Vinegar—Grate fresh tarragon leaves, put in a wide-mouthed glass jar, cover with vinegar, fester in a cool place for a week, then strain and set in bottles, cork and keep in a cool dry place. This vinegar is an excellent addition to salads and fish sauces.

Onion Vinegar—Grate half a dozen onions, mix with half a teaspoonful of granulated sugar, one or two drops of salt and a quart of vinegar together; put in a porcelain-lined kettle and bring to a boil. When cold, put in a large bottle, and shake every day for two weeks; cork bottle and use.

Herb Vinegar—Take two dozen small red peppers, put in a jar, pour over a pint of vinegar and let stand for two weeks; then pour off, and a tablespoonful of sugar and a tablespoonful of oil.

Pepper Vinegar—Take two dozen red peppers, put in a porcelain-lined saucepan, cover with salt water, and boil tender, drain, and add two points of grated horse radish, two chopped onions, a teaspoonful of salt, tablespoonful each of celery and mustard seed and a teaspoon of brown sugar, pour over a quart of strong vinegar, let simmer over a slow fire ten minutes, strain and bottle.

Aromatic Mustard—Take six tablespoonfuls of ground mustard, one of flour, two of sugar, a teaspoonful each of salt, pepper, cloves and cinnamon. Mix with boiling vinegar and let stand before using.

One of the prettiest places at Long Branch, N. J., is the Garrison villa, now owned by Major F. H. of Philadelphia, who paid $50,000 for it. He is said to spend $50,000 a year in keeping up the establishment.

Hints for Housewives.

Cabbage and greens are an agreeable addition to animal food. The simple boiling of cabbage, greens, broccoli, turnip tops, are all done exactly alike, except as to time. Young summer cabbages take about a quarter of an hour, old ones half an hour. Broccoli from ten to fifteen minutes. Turnip tops a quarter of an hour or twenty minutes; it is best to try them with a fork; directly they are tender they should be taken up before they lose their color.

Always be careful that greens are nicely picked and washed before cooking, not only to remove dirt, but also to dislodge insects. The surest way of doing this is to have ready a pan of warm water and a pan of cold; wash the greens first in the warm water, a handful at a time, then throw them directly into the pan of cold; when all are in the cold water, wash well and change to another cold water. They should never soak for a moment in the warm water, the warm water loosens the insects, and they will drift out into the cold, and sink to the bottom of the pan. Some people put salt into the washing water, this kills the insects, but makes them inedible. After this procedure they should be well drained from the cold water so that the boiling water will not be checked more than possible. Have ready a saucepan with plenty of water quite boiling, add a little salt—about two tablespoonfuls to a gallon of water—and a small bit of soda about the size of a common nut; this will keep them a nice green color, but if too much is used the greens will be spoiled both in appearance and flavor. Throw the greens into boiling water and make the saucepan boil up again at once, and keep it boiling fast with the cover off, and partly off, not to shut in the steam. Care must be taken that smoke from the fire does not get in. Smoky vegetables are extremely disagreeable; push down the greens occasionally with a fork or spoon, so as to keep them covered, and cooked equally; when the stalks are tender they are done.

Lettuces form the chief part of the summer diet throughout the spring and summer. The two chief kinds are the cabbage and the cos-lettuce, the former coming into season in the early spring, the latter during the summer. This lettuce is one of our most digestible salads, very wholesome, and considered useful when taken at night by bad sleepers.

Persons who are weak and debilitated give a very great risk if they fail to give attention to the diet. When the system is weak, it is almost sure to result in pneumonia, a timely use of Smith's Tonic Syrup at the very beginning of a cold will check it at once. Mrs. R. McLin has moved to Montgomery, and Mr. John Goodgame has rented her residence in Clanton.

Mr. W. A. Collier and daughter, Inez, left Monday for La Grange, Ga., where Inez will attend school the coming season.

Miss Farris Deadwilder has taken a school at Kincheon. We congratulate the citizens of Kincheon upon securing her services in such capacity.

Bill Smitherman, a negro, was arrested Sunday and jailed for knocking his wife in the head with a billet of wood. The woman is not seriously injured.

We learn that the next legislature will be asked to amend the law providing for a town government for Clanton in such way that the law may be carried into practical effect.

Mr. T. J. Broadhead died at his home near Dixie, this county, on the 24th ult. He leaves a wife and four children. His age was about 40 years. He was a brother of Mr. J. R. Broadhead, our market man.

Mr. Broadhead the market man keeps the meat and choicest of meats, and one of his aims is to please his customers. His beef is always nicely butchered. He will pay highest prices for good beef cattle.

Joe Gibson, a thirteen year old son of Maj. Gibson, of Verbena, died on Thursday night last. He was a bright and promising boy, and his sad death will be keenly felt by the large number of friends and relatives of the family. The remains were carried to Montgomery for interment.

The paper that said this spoke by the card: The home paper is a constant advertisement of the town and section, and no matter what is said in foreign papers, persons desiring to locate in a place first write for sample copies of the town papers. The town is judged by them, hence the importance of giving good patronage to your home paper.

Mr. Dennis, of Elmore, preached at the Methodist Church last Sunday morning and night.

There will be a spelling match at the court house Friday night. Go out and hear the good spellers of Clanton.

Mary Jeff, an old negro woman, died Monday night on Mr. B. H. Chesnut's place, where she has been employed for a number of years.

We are requested to call a meeting of those citizens of the county who are interested in public roads and who may have suggestions to make concerning a new road law to assemble at the county court house on Saturday, Oct. 27th for the purpose of discussing the question of improved roads and a new road law. Our representative is expected and is especially invited to attend this meeting.

We understand that to-day (Thursday) is the day for the Alliance men to bring their cotton to Clanton and ship in hundred bale lots direct to Liverpool from this point. This arrangement is through the Alliance Exchange. All day yesterday wagons were coming in loaded with the staple and the depot platform and all the wagon yards were crowded before noon.

Home Raised Tobacco.

Mr. A. G. Dake brought to our office Friday a tobacco leaf taken from a plant which he raised. The leaf measured three feet in length and one foot and a half in breadth. Mr. Dake says some of the leaves from the same plant were three inches longer than this one. It is useless to say that Mr. Dake raises his own tobacco. He exhibited a sample of his raising which was prepared for chewing. It was in a clean and beautiful twist, and while we are not a user of the weed, and could not judge of its taste, yet we can say that it was a better looking sample than is generally seen on sale, and the beauty of it is that the grower knows that it is clean and not adulterated.

Providence Points.

The protracted meeting at Providence closed last Thursday night after having continued a week. The meeting was a complete success, and the church was increased by twenty members. Rev. Johnson Bone conducted the services. He, together with his brother and Rev. John Taylor, should have credit for the efficient manner in which the meeting was conducted. The audience was exceedingly large and unusually quiet. The congregation deserves special credit for good behavior and close attention. The church is now well lighted by two chandeliers which were recently obtained. Mr. John Gullahan and his brother Tommie, of Clanton, have the thanks of the people for the lights. The church is in a most thriving condition and promises a bright future.

Dixie Dots.

So much rain has greatly damaged the open cotton. Rust had already injured the crop and now the rain is still worse on it.

Mr. Thomas Broadhead, after an illness of three weeks died a week ago.

Mrs. McGee has been very sick but is now up.

Mr. W. O. Broadhead who is working on the railroad came a few days ago sick, but we are glad to see him up again.

Master Dearmand Crum and his little sister have returned to Montevallo. They will soon leave for Florida again.

Mrs. M. A. Hare is on a visit to Montevallo and Verbena.

Cotton is coming into Dixie at a lively rate.

Grounds and Buildings Now Open.

Of the State Fair Association for exhibits. All the improvements are about completed and there is quite a change in the aspect.

Special prizes aggregating $2000 have been added to the regular association purse. A two mile dash for $500 another specialty.

The Ballroom Bridal for Oct. 23 is a certainty, and Rev. S. M. Adams, Pres. of the State Alliance will perform the ceremony.

Everything being now ready a good opening is expected, and from every portion of the State, the Alabamians will flock to view the grandest show ever in the State.

The blood must be pure for the body to be in perfect condition. Dr. J. H. McLean's Sanguinaria makes pure blood and imparts the richest bloom of health and vigor to the whole body.

Guard Your Habit's Boys.

Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, of New York, is a sensible man. He has thus far made what the world regards a success of life. In a talk before a number of railroad men not long since, he said:

"Twenty-five years ago I knew every man, woman and child in Peekskill. And it has been a study with me to mark boys who started in every grade of life with myself, to see what has become of them. I was up last fall and began to count them over, and it was an instructive exhibit. Some of them became clerks, merchants, manufacturers, lawyers, doctors. It is remarkable that every one of those that drank is dead; not one living of my age. Borrowing a few who were taken off by sickness, every one that proved a wreck and wrecked his family did it from rum and no other cause. Of those who are church-going people, who were steady, industrious and hard-working men who were frugal and thrifty, every single one of them, without an exception, owns the house in which he lives and has something laid by, the interest on which, with his house would carry him through many a rainy day. When a man becomes debased with gambling, rum or drink, he doesn't care, all his finer feelings are crowded out. The poor women at home are the ones who suffer—in their tenderest emotions; suffer in their affection for those whom they love better than life."

MY MOTHER'S PRAYER.

As I wandered round the homestead,
Many a dear familiar spot
Brought within my recollection.
Scenes I'd seemingly forgot.
There the orchard meadow yonder,
Here the deep old-fashioned well,
With its old moss-covered bucket,
Sent a thrill no tongue can tell.
Tho' the house was held by strangers
All remained the same within
Just as when a child I rambled
Up and down and out and in,
To the garret dark ascending
Once a source of childish dread,
Peering through the misty cobwebs
Lo! I saw my trundle bed.
Quick I drew it from the rubbish,
Covered o'er with dust so long,
When behold I heard in fancy
Strains of one familiar song,
Often sung by my dear mother
To me in my trundle bed,
"Hush my dear, lie still and slumber,
Holy angels guard thy bed."
While I listened to the music
Stealing on in gentle strain,
I am carried back to childhood,
I am now a child again.
'Tis the hour of my retiring
At the dusky even tide,
Near my trundle bed I'm kneeling,
As of yore by mother's side.
Hands are on my head so loving,
As they were in childhood's days,
I with weary tones am trying
To repeat the words she says,

'Tis a prayer in language simple,
As a mother's lips can frame,
'Father, thou who art in heaven
Hallowed ever be thy name."

Prayer is over, to my pillow
With a good night kiss I creep.
Scarcely waking while I whisper,
"Now I lay me down to sleep,"
While my mother, o'er me bending
Prays in earnest words but mild,
"Hear my prayer, oh heavenly father Bless oh, bless my precious child."

Yet I am but only dreaming,
Ne'er I'll be a child again,
Many years has that dear mother
In the quiet church yard lain,
But her blessed angel spirit
Daily hovers o'er my head,
Calling me from earth to heaven,
Even from that trundle bed.

Twenty-three Years in the Drug Business.

I have been a druggist twenty-three years, and have sold all the patent medicines which are known in this country and can truthfully say that I have never known a remedy for Blood Diseases of more value than S. S. S. (Swift's Specific). Mr. A., a customer, was troubled with an eruption of the skin on the back of his hands, and had in vain sought relief of the best local medical talent, also of some of the most noted specialists in New York, and as a last resort spent some months in Paris, France, under treatment of the physicians there, and had secured only temporary relief. After all this treatment he was finally cured, sound and well by Swift's Specific.

Another customer, Mr. B. had suffered for many years with Blood Poison and thought he had been cured by mercurial treatment, but the disease returned, accompanied by rheumatism of a bad type. A dozen small bottles of S. S. S. made a perfect and lasting cure. W. H. DEASWAY, Old Fort, N. C.

ONE KIND OF COURTSHIP

It was the same old story, that never grows old in the telling.
She stood on the flower-wreathed veranda of one of those lovely old houses that always seem a fitting habitation for a "honey country" lassie.
The four of course she would not be standing there alone, or at least there would not be enough romance to please her if she were) was excavating the gravel walk with his cane, evidently endeavoring to dig for wisdom to reveal to her, or at least understand her last word.
"I suppose you will be up to see the clock at the club every night this week," Edith murmured. "I think I shall be most happy to, I mean you," answered Ralph, hastily. "I'll be there," he went on as he looked down into her glistering eyes, that were looking longingly at him. "If I can't follow my own inclination I shall call on you every evening in the week."
"Why don't you?" sprang from Edith's lips, and then, when she faltered, "I should like to see you."
"I'll be there," rather brusquely said Edith. "It is almost time for my dinner. I must be going down to the kitchen. Bye-bye till I see you again."
"Bye-bye," softly murmured Edith, and immediately went into the house.
The game door swung behind Ralph only leaving a moment to the faithful companion and friend who had been towards the station, and then he went to the city.
As he lay back in the "smoker," he noticed somewhat as follows:
"I would like an affidavit that Edith loves me, and yet the boys lose no opportunity of dining into my ears that she is engaged to my intimate friend Frank Norton, and she herself adds weight to their remarks by going everywhere with Frank, and otherwise seems to delight in a sort of mysterious proprietorship in him."
"What is a fellow with any sense of honor going to do anyhow? Make love to an engaged girl? Pah! It makes me tired. I'll drop the whole business and never see her again if I can help it."
Just how well he kept this last resolution may be surmised from the fact that a couple of evenings after he was rowing a light boat across the moonlit waters of a little lake, just at the back of her house, and the girl who was pulling stroke on the seat just in front of him looked amazingly like Edith Jordan.

They soon slackened their pace, and very soon the oars were hanging along the side of the boat, and somehow or other, almost before they were aware of it, she laid her head back on his shoulder, or perhaps he had thrown his arms around her first, but be it as it may, their hips met in a long and fond caress, which made all doubts fly from Ralph's mind and caused him, while holding her lovingly in his arms, to slightly draw back his head, and while looking lovingly into her eyes, to say:
"Edith, I want to ask you a question?"
"No answer."
"Are you engaged to Frank Norton?"
A negative shake of the head.
"Do you love Frank Norton?"
Another shake of the head, only far more positive.
Then, in a hesitating tone, he murmured: "Do you like me a little bit?"
Another shake of the head.
At this the bewildered Ralph quickly drew back his arms, and almost roughly resumed his rowing, and they had reached the tiny boat-house before either one said a word.
"I hope you have had a pleasant time?" Ralph rather formally remarked.
"Well, I haven't, not one bit," said the slightly inconsistent maiden, and as Ralph helped her from the boat he heard a half-suppressed sob.
"I'm an awful brute," he apologetically said, "and deserve to be thrashed for acting as I have done to you."
"You do, indeed," said the now openly-sobbing girl.
"Well," said Ralph, bristling up, "a girl that acts as you do deserves to be treated!" but he could go no further, and quite tamely remarked:
"I'm awfully sorry that I angered you by asking that question out on the lake."
"You did not anger me," softly said Edith, and looking up at him coyly, "do like you."
"Then why didn't you say yes, when I asked you if you did?" said Ralph.
"Well, because I do not like you a little bit."
And then as the truth slowly dawned on him, and after she was in his arms with her head pressed against his breast, she murmured: "I like you a great deal."
Some how or other Frank Norton and Ralph are still good friends, and the brotherly love between Frank and Edith goes on undisturbed; but Edith wears Ralph's ring, and there are rumors that a pretty little house that is being built within easy walking distance of her mother's is for a young man in business in the city.—[Chilton.]

Condensed Milk.

Condensed milk is made as follows: The milk, as soon as drawn, is taken by the farmers to the dairies, which are established in each village or group of villages. The dairies are run by a syndicate with which the manufacturers deal, and establish the fixed prices. Here the milk is cooled. On reaching the factory, the milk is warmed for the first time in a water bath, and a second time in copper vessels, where the temperature reaches eighty degrees centigrade. It is then sweetened by adding the best quality of sugar in the proportion of thirteen to one hundred in weight, the sugar being forced into vacuum pans by means of a pump.
These vacuum pans are for condensing the milk, and are similar to those for condensing the beet root, having a double bottom and spiral pans, in which the steam circulates. The water contained in the milk is removed in the form of vapor by means of a jet, which is connected with the top of the vacuum pan, and which is operated by means of a pneumatic pump. When the milk has been sufficiently condensed, it is removed from the vacuum pans and cooled in vessels placed in reservoirs of running cold water. It is only necessary now to pack the milk into tin boxes, cylindrical in shape and hermetically sealed, the box and contents weighing one English pound, and being in condition for shipment to any part of the world.
In the preparation of the condensed milk it may be observed that the milk, as taken directly from the cow, has on the one hand simply been deprived of the water it contained, while on the other hand the only addition consisted of pure sugar, which is designed to preserve the milk better. It contains all the elements of the fresh milk, which has practically undergone no modification, the boiling of the milk under slight pressure having never passed eighty degrees centigrade. It can be affirmed, therefore, that the condensed milk possesses all the nutritive qualities of fresh milk.—[La Nature.]

Chinese Executions.

The following is the manner in which executions in China are fixed. In other countries the criminal knows beforehand the day of his death, and has time to prepare for his fate. But in China all is different. Had the Hebrew prophets lived in that country they would certainly have chosen an execution as the emblem of sudden destruction. At Pekin the vermillion pencil marks the death warrant, which is immediately handed to a courier, who instantly mounts a horse and rides off to his destination. The posts supply fresh horses, and he goes onward, sleeping and eating in his saddle, never halting by day or night, in sun or rain. After riding 700 miles he reaches Soo-Chow and delivers the warrant to the Governor.
Three messengers are immediately dispatched, one to the district magistrate who presides at the execution and who repairs at once to the place, a second to the camp for an escort, and the third to the jail. The victims are bound, dragged before the image of the Lord of Hades, which is in the prison, and pay their respects. They are then placed in cages, carried on coolies' backs, and at a rough trot the cortege sets out for the execution ground. The nerve and blade of one executioner is never trusted in Soo-Chow to take off more than three or four heads. If there is a greater number of criminals assistants are employed. There are generally from fifty to one hundred executions per annum in Soo-Chow, where all the criminals of the Province of Kiang-Soo, with a population of 21,000,000, are executed. They are mostly pirates.—[New York Dispatch.]

Hope for Graduates.

Business Man (to applicant for position)—Your references as to character are very good, sir, and although you have had no experience I will try you.
Applicant—Thank you. I forgot to tell you that I have a college education.
Business Man—Well, don't worry about that. You'll soon forget it.—[Good News.]

A Generous Highwayman.

"He was the most gentlemanly highwayman I ever encountered."
"In what way?"
"He stole $100 in bills from me, and then in a spirit of generosity paid me five dollars for my watch."—[Bazaar.]

ALABAMA STATE NEWS.

GRIST GROUND OUT BY THE BUSY WHEELS OF PROGRESS.

The Alabama Midland railroad has passed into the hands of the Plant system. There are five announced candidates in Tuscaloosa for the office made vacant by the resignation of Probate Judge Browne. It is said to be a probability that still others will enter the race.
The government work on Muscle Shoals canal is well under way again. Since the recent appropriations of congress the present force has been increased to 200. Everything is being done to complete the canal and prepare for an early opening.
The Tredgar Brick and Tile Company, with a capital of $20,000, which was recently organized at Jacksonville, is now in full blast. It is said that several more large manufacturing establishments will be secured in a few days for Jacksonville.
The auditor has received the abstract of assessment from Tallapoosa county, which shows a total assessment of $2,325,147, which is an increase in value of $17,965. The total revenue produced amounts to $10,100.58, a decrease in revenue of $731.74.
A meeting of a party of capitalists, with the officers of the Jacksonville Mining and Manufacturing Company, resulted in the consummation of a steel plant deal which will put Jacksonville to the front with the largest establishment of its kind in the United States.
Thursday being the day fixed by the county alliance for shipping of cotton in 100-lb. lots, from a point direct to Liverpool, Clanton was crowded with all-alienances and their cotton. Every wagon yard and old shed was filled with bales. Manager J. B. Harris, of the cotton committee, superintended the shipping.
A big deal is reported in Walker county real estate. It involves the town site of Jasper, several coal mines and many thousands of acres of mineral and timber lands. An English limited liability company is said to be the purchaser. The price paid by the Englishmen for the princely domain is about $1,000,000, and the property will be stocked for $3,000,000.
The president of the board of convict inspectors has about completed the biennial report of the convict department, which shows that the number of state convicts on hand on October 1, 1889, was 740. Since that time 900 state convicts have been received, and 29 convicts have been pardoned, making the total state convicts in the penitentiary for the two years covered by the report 1,669.
The new Memphis and Charleston swine bridge across the Tennessee river at Florence has been swung with the most satisfactory results. A new bridge of Alabama steel and iron, 412 feet long, The big structure cost in the neighborhood of $100,000 and has been about sixteen months in building. This practically opens the stream to navigation as far as Muscle Shoals canal, which will be opened in a few weeks' time. The Memphis and Charleston company contemplates putting in a new bridge in the next year or two.
It seems that Monroeville is about to have a railroad. A special in the Montgomery Advertiser says: A new railroad to be known as the Escambia Railway, will soon be put in operation from Sullivan Station, on the Mobile and Montgomery division of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, to Monroeville. This road will be forty miles in length, and seventeen miles are already completed. The remainder will be pushed through at once.
There was a large meeting at the Real Estate exchange in Birmingham Friday morning. The question to be considered was the proposed New York completion to furnish $500,000 for the completion and enlargement of the Henderson steel plant located at North Birmingham, if the city would raise $50,000. The following resolution was passed: "Resolved, That the Birmingham Real Estate exchange looks with favor on one proposition of the Henderson Steel Company, and feel authorized to say that $50,000 can be assured whenever satisfactory assurance shall have been furnished the exchange that $500,000 will be forthcoming from the New York capitalists."
The new wharves of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad, at the foot of Beauford street, in Mobile, are rapidly approaching completion. The two front bulkheads, each 100 feet long, have been completed. The ship has been dragged to a depth of 16 feet. This branch of the work was full of difficulty on account of the large number of snags logs encountered. When completed, the ship will be 240 feet long, 100 feet wide and 30 feet deep at low water. It will be sunk on a stone side

GRIST GRINDS OUT BY THE BUSY WHEELS OF PROGRESS.

The Alabama Midland railroad has passed into the hands of the Plant system.

There are five announced candidates in Tuscaloosa for the office made vacant by the resignation of Probate Judge Browne.

The government work on Muscle Shoals canal is well under way again. Since the recent appropriations of congress the present force has been increased to 200.

The Freedmen Brick and Tile Company, with a capital of $30,000, which was recently organized at Jacksonville, is now in full blast.

The auditor has received the abstract of assessment from Tallapoosa county, which shows a total assessment of $2,028,147, which is an increase in value of $117,968.

A meeting of a party of capitalists, with the officers of the Jacksonville Mining and Manufacturing Company, is now in full blast.

Thursday being the day fixed by the county alliance for shipping of cotton to Liverpool, Clanton was crowded with alliences and their cotton.

A big deal is reported in Walker county real estate. It involves the town site of Jasper, several coal mines and many thousands of acres of mineral and timber lands.

The president of the board of convict inspectors has about completed the biennial report of the convict department, which shows that the number of state convicts on hand on October 1, 1889, was 740.

The new Memphis and Charleston swing bridge across the Tennessee river at Florence has been swung with the most satisfactory results.

It seems that Monroeville is about to have a railroad. A special in the Montgomery Advertiser says: A new railroad to be known as the Escambia Railway, will soon be put in operation from Sullivan Station, on the Mobile and Montgomery division of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, to Monroeville.

There was a large meeting at the Real Estate exchange in Birmingham Friday morning. The question to be considered was the proposition of New York capitalists to furnish $350,000 for the completion and enlargement of the Henderson steel plant located at North Birmingham.

The following resolution was passed: Resolved, That the Birmingham Real Estate exchange looks with favor on the proposition of the Henderson Steel company, and feel authorized to say that $50,000 can be secured whenever satisfactory assurance shall have been furnished the exchange that $350,000 will be forthcoming from the New York capitalists.

The new wharves of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad, at the foot of Beauregard street, in Mobile, are rapidly approaching completion. The two front bulkheads, each 100 feet long, have been completed. The slip has been dredged to a depth of 16 feet.

This branch of the work was full of difficulty on account of the large number of muckers log encountered. When completed, the slip will be 340 feet long, 100 feet wide and 80 feet deep at low water. It will be backed on a steel slide.

TRADE REVIEW.

DEAN & CO.'S WEEKLY STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION OF BUSINESS.

The weekly circular of D. G. Dean & Co. says: Business in all branches shows an improvement and speculation in breadstuffs is stronger, but the stock market has been liquidating and quotations have declined.

The street is no longer a barometer and the industries and trade of the country pay no attention to the stock exchange. The prices of commodities are a shade stronger than a week ago, grain and oil having advanced with many kinds of manufactured products, but the general advance since Oct. 1st is not a quarter of 1 per cent as yet.

The movement of cotton being remarkable, the price of cotton is very heavy. The money market is nowhere a source of embarrassment, and the feeling of confidence everywhere increases.

Southern reports are generally bright, the movement of cotton being remarkable, the price of cotton is very heavy. The money market is nowhere a source of embarrassment, and the feeling of confidence everywhere increases.

The abstract of assessment of the counties of Colbert and Jefferson have been received in the office of the auditor, showing a total valuation of $30,102,156. The total value of the property in the state as shown by the abstracts of assessment on file in the office of the auditor amounts to $298,973,741.

The gross increase in values in the counties of the state amounts to $14,398,196, from which must be deducted decreases in valuation reported from four counties, amounting in all to $1,331,133, which leaves a net increase in valuation over last year of $13,067,063.

The gross decrease in revenue amounts to $58,580,14, which when added to the net increase in valuation of $13,067,063, leaves a net decrease in the revenue of the state compared with last year of $70,667,067.

A Second Dick Hawes.

Ozark and vicinity were shocked beyond measure Friday morning, by the startling information that five people were dying from poison.

Nine miles southwest of Ozark, and three miles northeast of Newton, a station on the Alabama Midland railroad, and far from a highway, was enacted a drama in which five persons lost their lives.

In a barren spot at a little log cabin, and in that cabin lived Clayton Loyd, his wife, mother-in-law, and four children. Loyd, for about twenty years been employed in the cotton trade as a watchman of a sawmill. He is a native of Alabama.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

THE EAST HAS THE HONOR IN BOTH LEAGUES.

BRUNNELL, of Boston, leads the League and Players' League pennants.

WILSON and TIERMAN succeeded in making fourteen home runs each.

WILLIAMSON has been practically released by the Chicago Players' Club.

NINETEEN consecutive victories is the best record made by a pitcher this year.

LOWE, of Cincinnati, led the League with twenty-three triples.

MANAGER FRASER, of the Syracuse Club, has between $5000 and $10,000 this season.

RICHARDSON, of the New York Players, leads the country with sixty sacrifice hits.

SECRETARY BRUNNELL estimates the Players' loss this season at between $50,000 and $60,000.

SHINDLE, Beckley and Vinner, of the Players, have each made twenty-two triples this season.

FOGARTY, Hardie, Richardson and Griffin are the best outfielders in the Players' League.

PARRELL and Sanders, according to the figures, form the best battery in the Players' League.

The Players' League managers seem to be drawing heavily upon the Association for playing talent.

HANCOCK is entitled to the credit of being the League's greatest star. He pitched twenty-two wins.

ROBINSON, of the Pittsburgh Players' Club, went to first on base ninety-four times in ninety-four games.

THE DEAD JUDGE.

JUSTICE MILLER, OF THE U. S. SUPREME COURT, PASSES AWAY.

Justice Samuel F. Miller, of the Supreme court of the United States, was stricken with partial paralysis Friday afternoon about 3 o'clock while on his way home from the capitol, in Washington, and after hovering in an unconscious condition between life and death for four days, passed peacefully away at 10:30 o'clock Monday night.

He surprised his physicians by the wonderful vitality he displayed. He was born in Richmond, Ky., in 1816, and was graduated from the university of Transylvania. After studying and practicing medicine for a few years, he turned his attention to law, in which he made progress. In 1852 President Lincoln appointed him justice of the supreme court, and he had served on the bench ever since, taking rank with the foremost jurists as a constitutional exponent.

A COMBINED MOVE.
OF ALLIANCES TO ESTABLISH AN INDEPENDENT STOCK YARD.

A dispatch from Kansas City says: The intended extension of its business by the Farmers' Alliance of the southwest was covered Tuesday when H. Palmer O'Neill, that they will treat his team loan outfit as a business proposition.

The old players of the Louisville club who were with the club when the famous record of 111 games lost was made have wired J. Palmer O'Neill that they will treat his team loan outfit as a business proposition.

According to average the best fielding team in the Players' League would be made up as follows:—Ewing, catcher; Daley, pitcher; Potts, first base; Quinn, second base; White, third base; Sanford, short stop; McCaskey, left field; Griffin, center field; Fogarty, right field.

A New Trick of Sharpers.
A new scheme to victimize retail jewelers has been devised in New York.

A young man enters a jewelry store and after pushing his elbow through the show case begins to apologize to the owner for the alleged accident and argues that the glass must have been very thin. When he professes the utmost sorrow for the occurrence the jeweler demands reimbursement for his loss, but the man claims he has no money with which to pay.

As he speaks the victim notices a $20 bill peeping from the stranger's pocket, and in an instant has snatched it and is handing the man $17 in change, saying as he does so that he has deducted $3 for the damage. The swindler appears satisfied and leaves the store with a sorrowful expression on his countenance. Presently the jeweler takes another look at his cash, and then discovers that the bill he has taken was one of $5 mislaid to $20.

This game was recently successfully operated, and when arrested the swindler claimed that he had committed no crime, as the bill had been taken from his pocket. (Jeweler, Weekly.)

The largest chess game made in the United States has been put in progress at the Chess Palace at New York. It is a five day game and weighs two tons; 25,000 pounds of milk were used in its preparation.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE GREAT ORGANIZATION.—LEGISLATION, NOTES, ETC.

The Alliance Exchange, Henrietta, Texas, is giving satisfaction.

The Farmers' Alliance will build a large flouring mill at Graham, Texas.

The Alliance is educating the masses, which makes the politicians tremble with fear.—Lans.

West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Michigan and New Mexico are the latest Alliance States.

The Citizens' Alliance of Kansas, now has more than 10,000 members, and is rapidly increasing. It is now proposed to make it a national order.

The sub-alliance of Floyd county, Ga., have a movement on foot looking to the building of co-operative stores. They have the money on hand for the purpose.

The Gibson (Neb.) Reporter says: The "hayeria" are numerous in Nebraska this year. The independent movement might be called an uprising of the common people against their oppressors, who are robbing them of the fruits of their labor for the past twenty-five years.

The Farmers' Alliance of Kansas, which now numbers over 10,000 members, has organized a mercantile department, and propose to handle their own grain and live stock. They have appointed agents who will handle their shipments in the markets of Kansas City, Chicago and St. Louis, by which transaction the farmer will save the commission which he usually pays the middle man.—Texas Labor Union.

The National Alliance (Houston, Tex.) says: "The Louisiana Farmers' Alliance expelled nine members, who were also members of the legislature, because they had voted in favor of the lottery bill. The Farmers' Alliance means business. If it isn't political, and the farmers are not to be taken in by the politicians, it will not injure the people unless they want to be retired from public service. The colored Alliance are working in perfect harmony with the white Alliance, and are helping to settle the question by united effort along lines where all can agree."

Among other things the Labor Journal (Ky.) says: "The sub-treasury bill may be faulty, but it is a step in the right direction, and every true member of the Order from Maine to Texas, from Florida to Washington, should extend for its enactment into law. If the individual member, if any State, county or organization is allowed to antagonize it, the national movement of relief formulated, endorsed and set forth by the National Union, admitting it impracticable, even absurd, as some say, how can we expect should we hit upon a plan that is practical and free from absurdities, to secure that unity of action so necessary to the attainment of our aims and purposes."

Farmers, now is the time to use your influence where it will benefit you. There never was a time when the people had the leverage they now possess. The balance of power is in your hands, and if you use it you are sure to win. A third party for you than you can do for yourself by holding the balance of power which is now in your possession. The Times is in favor of any movement that gives promise of success, and therefore it favors the plan of selecting for the office the men who are the best fitted, rather than by organization of a people's party before the farmers are strong enough to make it a success. Let us make no mistakes in the beginning.—The Alliance Times (Ind.).

A Topeka, Kan., dispatch of Wednesday says: On the arrival of the train bearing Poik, Livingston, Wilson and Stone, delegates to the Topeka State Alliance, there was a time when the company of old veterans to welcome and escort them to the hall. On the entrance to the hall 300 delegates rose to greet them, and three cheers were given for Georgia, her representatives and Colonel Poik. Colonel Poik was first introduced, and made a ringing, captivating speech of fifteen minutes. Before taking his seat he introduced Colonel Livingston as the representative Alliance leader of Georgia. Livingston caught the crowd, and for twenty minutes held them. Livingston then introduced Wilson and Dr. Stone. Both gentlemen made some happy remarks and were greeted with applause. These representative men have, indeed, had a royal welcome.

The following are some of the resolutions adopted at the last session of the State Alliance of Georgia: Resolved, That this Georgia State Alliance, now assembled, do reaffirm our allegiance to our National Alliance platform, and do most earnestly and unanimously demand that all members of the Georgia legislature do not vote for any man as United States senator unless he or they subscribe to the Georgia State Alliance platform, to-wit:

"To a reduction of state and national taxes. "That our representatives in the national legislature shall advocate the passage of such laws as will prevent speculation and combine, that seek to interfere with prices of prime necessities and production. "To an abolition of the national banking system, and the substitution of legal treasury notes in lieu of the national bank notes, and in sufficient volume, in conjunction with gold and silver, to do the business of the country on a cash basis. "That the anti-treasury bill of the National Alliance, now pending in Congress, be passed."

The following are among the resolutions and demands reported by the Michigan State Alliance, recently organized at Lansing: Resolved, We demand the abolition of national banks and the substitution of legal tender treasury notes in lieu of national bank notes, issued in sufficient volume to do the business of the country on a cash basis, as the business interests of the country expand, and that all money issued by the government shall be

JUMPED TO DEATH. A SIX-STORY HOTEL BURNS, CAUSING FEARFUL LOSS OF LIFE.

What proved to be the most disastrous fire that has visited Syracuse, N. Y., for many years, was discovered in the Leland hotel, at 1230 North Thursday morning. An eye-witness of the fire says it is possible that at least twenty-five persons have lost their lives, and many more have been more or less injured. A majority of the victims were killed in jumping from the windows. So great is the confusion and excitement that the identity of those killed and injured is wholly unknown. The building will be a total loss. It was built two years ago at a cost of $450,000. It is six stories high and contained 400 rooms. It is impossible to learn how many guests were in the hotel at the time the fire broke out. The total loss will not fall short of $500,000, and the building is partially covered by insurance.

ON FRENCH SOIL. MEMPHIS, O'BRIEN AND DUFON AT LAST BEARD FUM.

A cablegram from Tipperary, Ireland, says: During the proceedings in court here Wednesday, Mr. Healy, one of the counsel for the defendants in the conspiracy case was handed a telegram. Tearing the envelope open he found it contained a dispatch from Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien, France. The utmost reticence was maintained among the nationalists as to the manner in which Dillon and O'Brien eluded the vigilance of the police and effected their escape from this country. It is the intention of the government to endeavor to learn who aided them to escape, and if their accomplices are discovered they will be criminally prosecuted.

FEARFUL EXPLOSION.

POWDER MILLS BLOWN UP DEALING DEATH AND DESTRUCTION.

A workman in one of the packing mills connected with the "Upper" yards, was receiving a can of hexagonal powder to be shipped for the use of the United States government, when in some way a spark communicated to the can, and it blew up. Instantly the packing mill exploded, and other mills in the upper yards, seven or eight in number, followed in intervals of less than one second from the concussion. The shock was simply terrific, and was felt even in Philadelphia, thirty-five miles away, and in New Jersey and elsewhere.

The "Upper" yards, where the explosion occurred, are some fifty houses, inhabited by employees of the powder mills, clustered together, and they are all wrecked. The office of the Dupont company is a complete wreck, and their mills are in ruins. All buildings within a radius of half a mile are damaged, and the concussion even broke windows in some parts of Wilmington, four or five miles away. About fifty families are rendered homeless by the disaster. Following is a partial list of the killed: Martin Dolan, James Dolan, William McGarry, John Hartigan, William Dennison, John Dietz, John Hartigan, Frank Donoherty, William Green, John Nowell, Ross Dougherty. Several others are missing, and many more are seriously injured. The dead were all employees of the company and were in and about the mills that exploded.

The directors of the Mobile and Spring Hill railroad, on Wednesday, filed notice in the office of the secretary of state at Montgomery, Ala., that they had authorized the issue of $100,000 in 6 per cent bonds to pay off a mortgage debt of said company. Notice was filed in compliance with the latest Alabama regulating railroad corporations.

The census office, on Thursday, made public the following figures: Jackson, Tenn., 10,022; increase, 4,645; per cent, 39.39. Memphis, Tenn., 64,360; increase, 30,991; per cent, 48.15. State of Texas, 2,232,220; increase, 640,471; per cent, 40.24. State of Tennessee, 1,763,723; increase, 321,341; per cent, 18.25.

Lowenthal and Son, wine merchants of Nashville, Tenn., announced that Tuesday evening that they had won the case which had been instituted against them, as proprietors of a store in Louisville, for selling inferior packages.

The judge decided that packages containing inferior wine sold by the firm had been sold under conditions with which the firm had complied. The firm was under 108 indictments and a bond of $40,000.

General Reuben Davis, of Aberdeen, Miss., died suddenly at Huntsville, Ala., Tuesday. He was on his way home from Chattanooga, ailing from a "Recollections of Mississippi and Mississippians." He was eighty-two years old. A few minutes before dying he was out on the streets walking around. Apoplexy is supposed to be the cause. He was a second cousin of ex-President Jefferson Davis and a distinguished man of his day.

JUMPED TO DEATH. A SIX-STORY HOTEL BURNS, CAUSING FEARFUL LOSS OF LIFE.

What proved to be the most disastrous fire that has visited Syracuse, N. Y., for many years, was discovered in the Leland hotel, at 1230 North Thursday morning. An eye-witness of the fire says it is possible that at least twenty-five persons have lost their lives, and many more have been more or less injured. A majority of the victims were killed in jumping from the windows. So great is the confusion and excitement that the identity of those killed and injured is wholly unknown. The building will be a total loss. It was built two years ago at a cost of $450,000. It is six stories high and contained 400 rooms. It is impossible to learn how many guests were in the hotel at the time the fire broke out. The total loss will not fall short of $500,000, and the building is partially covered by insurance.

ON FRENCH SOIL. MEMPHIS, O'BRIEN AND DUFON AT LAST BEARD FUM.

A cablegram from Tipperary, Ireland, says: During the proceedings in court here Wednesday, Mr. Healy, one of the counsel for the defendants in the conspiracy case was handed a telegram. Tearing the envelope open he found it contained a dispatch from Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien, France. The utmost reticence was maintained among the nationalists as to the manner in which Dillon and O'Brien eluded the vigilance of the police and effected their escape from this country. It is the intention of the government to endeavor to learn who aided them to escape, and if their accomplices are discovered they will be criminally prosecuted.

ENGINEERS MEET. THE INTERNATIONAL BROTHERHOOD ASSEMBLED AT PITTSBURGH.

A Pittsburgh dispatch says: The twenty-seventh annual convention (international) of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was called to order at the old city hall by Chief Engineer Arthur, Wednesday morning. There was a large attendance of delegates, every division of 450 in the organization being represented. The entire day was devoted to calling the roll, receiving credentials and perfecting organization. The convention will be closed at least two weeks.

2018 FIRST AVE. 2020.

BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA

No Quarter.
A sage once said to me:
"Of two things warn I thee,
And one is Death.
No skill can stay his arm,
Against him avails no charm,
Prayers are but wasted breath."
When Death is standing near,
All vain is friendship's tear
Or love's wild woe;
Then turn thee to the wall,
Away from friends and all,
Only to wait his blow.
"That other thing is Want,
To curb and blight,
To make the soul to daunt,
To curb and blight,
On him that hath not gold,
The very sun shines cold,
And maketh no day bright.
"Friends will to see thee die,
From poverty they fly
Nor heed its call,
From poverty they fly,
The poor can truly say:
"We have not lived at all!"

THE OLD CHIFFONIER.

My Louis XV. chiffonier is a very handsome and graceful piece of furniture. It is inlaid and polished, with looks of burnished copper, and always seems to be smiling, as if its red and blue mosaics were merry rosy lips. It was given to me by my grandfather, who inherited it from his grandfather, and I verily believe that it once stood in a boudoir of the palace of Marly.

Never was an innocent little piece of furniture abused and rated so mercilessly as my chiffonier was when I changed to think of it one day during my sojourn at the Piræus in Greece. You will, no doubt, ask why I thrust my trembling hand through my hair and cried out "Miserable idiot," without stating whether the epithet was applied to myself or to my chiffonier. Good heavens, the only wonder was that I left a single hair on my head! Judge for yourself.

I had been so fortunate—some time before—as to be loved by the most charming of women. I shall not attempt to describe her, not even by the color of her hair; it is sufficient to say that for two years I called her "my angel" and "bright image of my dreams." At the end of that period I loved one of my friends to say to me, in speaking of her, "How couldst thou be such a fool!" She sent me my letters, and I neglected to return hers, but put the whole lot into a drawer of my old chiffonier, without taking to turn the key.

That chiffonier was in my room; my in-laws in my mother's chateau; my mother's chateau was eight hundred miles away, in the middle of France. In setting off unexpectedly on a romantic mission, I had completely forgotten to destroy those remains of attachment which had been dearest as long as it lasted.

When I accidentally called out the story of those letters from some corner of my brain, I started in surprise and shame, for I knew my thoughtlessness was a wrong to a man who had done nothing to deserve such treatment at my hands. I felt that my conduct had been unbecomingly of a gentleman, and in a fine way I rushed out of the house, bound for the first steamship bound for Marseilles, took passage, and listening to nothing but the voice of my conscience, returned to France.

"Will you have my valise sent to my room, Mother dear?"
"Certainly, my son; you must be tired out," she answered. Then summoning a servant, she said, "Take my son's baggage to the blue room, Pierre."
"You mean the green room," I added.
"No, the blue room," persisted my mother.
"But the green room is my room."
"It was yours once, George," she said, smiling.
"And whose is it now?" I asked in surprise, and my mother pointed to the door, saying merrily:
"Here comes the present occupant."
"Gabrielle!" I cried, going to meet my cousin, the loveliest and most charming of girls, with abundant blonde hair, eyes as blue as heaven, a smile of childish innocence, and teeth like pearls. It was she, of all persons, who was occupying the green room, and who, no doubt, had ransacked the drawers and cupboards.

Gabrielle, gay, artless and confident, though a trifle shy, gave me her hand, looking delicious as she said:
"How do you do, cousin George?"
My face must have betrayed my confusion as I took her hand, and looked searching for some sign of dissimulation in her soft eyes. Had she found the letters, had she read them? To tell the truth, Miss Gabrielle read them, and had expressed her sentiments in writing, running the gamut of oh's and ah's with plentiful exclamations pointed at the attached thereto. And suppose little Gabrielle had read them—I blushed at the thought.

But quite calmly she said, "How do you do, cousin George?"—that was all, and in my great pain lay a soft, cool maidenly little hand.
Ah, but what abyss is deeper than a woman's heart, as the Psalmist says: "suppose she had read the letters! The only way to make sure was to go into the room and look for them. Gabrielle's room! What sweet melody in the words, yet I dared not enter that sanctuary, although I had known my cousin since she was a child.

"Come, George, and see how pretty I have arranged your room," she said suddenly.
Joy, bliss, ecstasy filled me as she spoke; I was saved.
My former room was perfectly charming, decked out in blue and white, and with no odor of cigars anywhere. The little bed was modestly draped with snowy curtains which looked like the wings of guardian angels. I looked round anxiously for the old chiffonier; there it stood as usual.

"May I have some water, Cousin Gabrielle, I am dying of thirst," I said.
She took up the carafe, but I, artful demon, had already observed that it was empty.
"Wait a minute. I will get you some water," she said, and left the room.

I rushed to the chiffonier, and opened the drawer—horror! it was empty! The next instant my cousin returned, gave me a glass of water, then showed me her album, and then we talked merrily just as we used to do when we were play-fellows.

But where were my letters? Had she found them, and hidden them away, or had she burned them?
As soon as I could think of a pretext I left Gabrielle, and in the hallway I met my aunt, her mother. She greeted me joyfully, then shook her finger at me in a mysterious way, and with a very knowing air whispered:
"Come with me, you naughty, careless boy." I followed her into her room, where she opened a drawer, saying meanwhile:
"And we don't arrive here; it fortunately occurred to me that before putting a young lady into a bachelor's room it would be well for me to look about a little. I have had some experience of young men and their ways." Here she put a package into my hands, Heavens and Earth!—my letters!

I threw my arms around my aunt's neck, kissed her rapturously, and confessed everything. Oh, how happy I was! My dear little cousin Gabrielle—how happy I was!

A week passed. One morning when I got up I found a tiny piece of paper lying on the floor as if it had been slipped under my door. I picked it up, it was a letter.
"What does this mean?" I thought, and then I unfolded it and read:
"Dear Cousin—Why do you not tell Mamma all about it?" What does she mean? Dear Cousin; it is from Gabrielle!

I did not understand it at all and waited anxiously for the breakfast-hour. When I heard my cousin go down stairs, I darted out and was going to speak to her, but she blushed, turned her face away and putting a piece of paper into my hand said hurriedly:
"Take back your letter and speak to Mamma."
My letter! I rushed out into the garden and read the missive. It was my writing, my style, my name—

You are adorable, therefore I adore you. Will you listen to me? Will you let me devote my life to you? A word from you, and I throw myself at your feet—George."
It was indeed my letter—it was number one of my effusions to the ex-queen of my heart. It had slipped out of the package of letters, and Gabrielle, finding it in the chiffonier, thought that I had placed it there for her, and her answer was: "Speak to mamma." The result of the accident was: I spoke to "mamma," and I married Gabrielle, I adore her, and am the happiest husband in the world.—The Epoch.

Spain's Famous Bull-Fighter.
The most famous bull-fighter in Spain has just retired from the profession. His name is Frascuelo, and he is as rich as a Cæsar. He was a fearless matador; nineteen times he has been wounded right unto death. The last time he barely contrived to pull through. All the time he lay sick at his house in Madrid the nobility and grandees sent thrice a day to learn of his condition. His farewell benefit was a notable occasion. The railways organized excursions from all over Spain: the arena simply swarmed with people. Twenty dollars was the price demanded for even the poorest seat. When Frascuelo appeared the people stood up and cheered for half an hour, deluging him with flowers and lace and gold pieces. The spectacle itself was an ordinary bull-fight. Frascuelo's percentage of the gate receipts was $6000. When he came to leave the theatre 200,000 people stood in the street to see and greet the popular idol.—[Chicago News.

NEWS OF THE SOUTH.

BRIEF NOTES OF AN INTERESTING NATURE.

Lightning set fire to and totally destroyed the sawmill of the Tampa Lumber Company at Tampa, Fla., Thursday morning. Loss, $25,000; insurance, $8,000.

More than 50,000 copies of the "Life of Jefferson Davis," by Mrs. Davis, have been sold by subscription. Mrs. Davis will receive a handsome royalty on each copy sold.

The Presbyterian synod of North Carolina convened in its seventy-seventh annual session at Wilmington on Wednesday. The attendance of delegates and visitors was very large.

The census office, on Thursday, announced that the total population of the State of Florida to be 229,438, an increase of 120,942, or 43.38 per cent; population of Jacksonville 17,100; increase 9,510, or 124.31 per cent.

Books of subscription to the Opelika, Ala., waterworks company were opened on the 21st instant. Three companies are applying for the franchise, and the establishment of this important enterprise seems to be a certainty.

Amistad, Ala., is about to experience a coal famine, and it is all on account of the strike of the coal miners. The coalmen there have had orders in force since the 1st of September, but the coal has not been delivered.

Bankers of the state of Tennessee to the number of seventy-five, representing about $200,000 of capital, convened in Memphis Wednesday morning for the purpose of forming an association for the protection of the banking interests.

The American Humane Association, in session at Nashville on Thursday discussed the transportation and care of animals. The association has decided to send a committee to the World's Fair in Chicago to see that animals are properly fed and watered while in transit.

The annual meeting of stockholders of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was held at Baltimore Tuesday. All the directors were present, with the exception of George G. Scott, of New York, who is succeeded by Deatur Astell, of Richmond, Va.

The secretary of the treasury has awarded a gold life-saving medal to Thomas M. Webb, of Wilmington, N. C., for rescuing Miss J. J. Hayes and Miss Irene Jackson from drowning at Wrightsville Beach, N. C., in August last.

The Presbyterian synod of South Carolina, in session at Yorkville, has unanimously adopted the report of the intersynodal committee favoring the establishment of a Presbyterian university in one of the south Atlantic states.

The iron and steel delegates arrived at Rochester, N. Y., yesterday evening. They spent Thursday night gazing the coal mines at Pocahontas and the mineral outburst in Gossan fields. This is really the termination of the party's investigation of American mineral resources.
A special agent of the interior department for the collection of census statistics regarding tobacco, says he finds that North Carolina is this year leading all the sixteen states in which tobacco is grown, in the increase of acreage, the average value of the product and in the quality of the tobacco.

The freight depot of the Mobile and Birmingham railway at Mobile, Ala., was totally destroyed by fire Wednesday. Loss, $10,000 on building. Fifty quarters of powder exploded, blowing out the brick walls, two cars of coal and a car of lumber were destroyed.

Phosphate finds and phosphate property around Ocala, Florida, have taken on new life since the successful negotiation of the hard rock phosphate property in Citrus county to Mr. Rodata, representing the phosphate trust, Germany, syndicate. The new deal makes a payment of $25,000 cash, and a royalty of $1 per ton, the company agreeing to mine 175,000 tons per year for the term of ten years.

A Florence, Ala., special of Wednesday says: Much excitement prevails over the discovery of natural gas, seven miles from this city, by H. O. Wells.

and others. It has been known for months past that gas existed in this section, and several surveys have been made for this purpose. Prominent geologists and experts are relied for on indications for finding gas, which has at last been accomplished.

The Mississippi constitutional convention proceeded Tuesday morning to the consideration of the report of the committee on corporations, which was adopted. The first section reads as follows: "Corporations shall be formed only for general laws only, which have in view from time to time to be altered or repealed. The legislature shall have the power to alter or amend any charter or corporations now existing and amendable and any that may hereafter be created, whenever in their opinion it may be for the public interest to do so, provided, however, that no injustice shall be done to the corporations, and no charter for any private corporation for pecuniary gain shall be granted for a longer period than ninety-nine years."

Application has been made to the treasury department by importers who had tobacco in the bonded warehouses prior to the passage of the act of October 1st, 1890, for permission to withdraw the same at the weights as ascertained at the time of said withdrawal. These applications are based on the second proviso of section 50 of the tariff act, which prescribes that "when duties are based on the weight of the merchandise deposited in any public or private bonded warehouse, said duties shall be levied and collected upon the weight of such merchandise at the time of its withdrawal." Assistant Secretary Spaulding says that after a careful consideration of the matter, the department is of the opinion that such application cannot be granted, inasmuch as under the first proviso of said section special privilege is conferred upon merchandise which, like tobacco, is subject to increase duties under the new tariff act, of allowing it to be withdrawn for consumption at any time prior to February 1st next, upon the payment of the duty at the lower rates prescribed by the old tariff act.

Secretary Dickinson, of the World's Columbian exposition, has prepared an elaborate plan for the exercises and ceremonies for the dedication of the world's fair building on October 12, 1892. The plan has received the endorsement of each member of the committee, and will doubtless be adopted. Mr. Dickinson proposes to give, on the grounds and in the buildings, a great interstate and international military encampment and band tournament. He will have the exercises begin on the first Monday in October and conclude a few days after October 12th. The plan suggested, Mr. Dickinson believes, will bring together all the crack military organizations and the finest bands in the country. The committee will be asked to act as $100,000 for prizes and $100,000 for extra.

FRANCE'S TARIFF BILL.
ADMITS COTTON, RAW SILKS AND WOOL FREE OF DUTY.
A Paris dispatch says: M. Roche, minister of commerce, introduced in the chamber of deputies, Monday, a general customs tariff bill. It provides a maximum tariff applicable to products imported from countries not conceding commercial advantages to France, and a minimum tariff reserved for countries conceding to customs regulations. It is calculated to benefit French trade. Agricultural products figure exclusively in the maximum clause with no consideration in any arrangement with the powers. Among the raw materials those will be exempt from duty which are indispensable to the great manufacturers. The products thus admitted free include raw silks and wool, raw hides and raw cotton.

ANARCHIST MEMORIAL.
EXERCISES TO BE HELD AT CHICAGO IN NOVEMBER.
A Chicago dispatch of Tuesday says: The anarchists will commemorate on November 11th the death of Spies, Fischer, Engel and Parsons, who were hanged in that city three years ago. The program outlined includes a visit to the anarchists' graves at Waldheim, where Mr. Schultz, of New York, will speak in German; Mr. Mikshaus in Bohemian, and probably Professor Gardine in English. A large hall will be secured for memorial exercises, and arrangements made for a big street parade.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE BUSY WORLD.

A SUMMARY OF OUTSIDE AFFAIRS CONDENSED FROM NEWS DISPATCHES FROM UNCLE SAM'S DOMAIN AND WHAT THE CABLE BRINGS.

Two shocks of earthquakes were felt at Cape Girardeau, Mo., Thursday.
The University of Cambridge has conferred a degree upon Henry M. Stanley. Amount of silver purchased by the treasury department Wednesday, 515,000 ounces.

The total population of South Dakota is 327,848, an increase in ten years of 229,384.
The troubles between the ship owners and employees at Liverpool will probably be a lockout.

Mayer Grant, of New York city, has written a letter to Secretary Noble asking for a federal record of New York.
Advices of Wednesday from the village of St. Anne des Monts, Quebec, report two feet of snow on the ground there.

Secretary Windom has written a letter to President Palmer, of the world's exposition, in which he says the salaries of the officers have been placed at too high a figure.

The Press club of Chicago has extended an invitation to ex-President Cleveland to speak at the auditorium under the auspices of the club.
The navy department has decided to award the contract for furnishing the forges for the batteries of the new battleships to the Bethlehem Iron Works of Bethlehem, Pa.

A number of German capitalists have promised to subscribe 5,000,000 marks to aid Barva Wiseman's project to construct a railway from Dar-es-Salaam to Bagamoyo, in Africa.
The members of the Window-Glass Manufacturers' Association, who held a preliminary meeting in Chicago several weeks ago, convened again Wednesday, and elected officers. It was decided that the general offices of the company shall be in Pittsburgh.

A convention of railroad clerks of the United States will be held in Cleveland, Ohio, on October 29th, for the purpose of organizing the National Association of Railroad Clerks. Delegates are expected from Boston, Troy, Buffalo, Kansas City, St. Louis, Cairo, Ill., Detroit and several points in Texas.

A Chicago dispatch says: Michael Brizzi, an aged and respected resident of the suburban town of Des Plaines, was brutally murdered by three tramps Thursday evening. They beat him to death in his barn and took his pocket book, which contained $1,000 cash and about $5,000 in notes and checks.

At a meeting of the local board of directors of the world's fair at Chicago, Wednesday night, it was ordered that the work of filling and piling the lake front should begin as soon as the contracts can be let. About sixty acres of submerged land will be used. $300,000 will be provided for the purpose.

Tuesday morning every window glass factory in Findlay, Ohio, went into the new trust which has been organized to control the production and sale of window glass. This trust embraces all the window glass houses in the United States west of Pittsburgh, with the single exception of that at Selma, O., which is owned by Findlay parties.

A Washington dispatch of Wednesday says that Assistant Attorney General Tynner, in a letter to the New York postmaster, has decided that the advertisement in Frank Leslie's relative to the distribution of prizes dependent upon the sale of European premium government bonds, renders that newspaper unavailable.

A Pittsburgh, Pa., dispatch says: Thursday's session of the Protestant Episcopal missionary council was taken up almost entirely with a discussion of southern missions. A resolution was adopted, providing for the appointment of a commission, consisting of three bishops, three ministers and three laymen, to consider what can be done to further the mission among the colored people of the south.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

DOWN & CO., REPORT GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN ALL DIRECTIONS.
The weekly review of R. G. Dunn & Co., says: In all directions the business outlook improves, and the recent enormous increase of circulation, notwithstanding the money markets, are growing stringent. Exports have become remarkably large, and domestic trade is such that the exchanges outside of New York exceeded last week's by 155 per cent. Trade is strong everywhere. The output of cotton is increasing. The shoe trade is brisk. The supply of leather equals consumption. Almost all trade is good in Philadelphia. Throughout the west trade is fair to good. At St. Louis trade is strong. At Savannah trade is brisk.

The increase in the output of pig iron in September, according to The Iron Age's report, was 44 per cent, and the weekly output, 172,885 tons, was 18.5 per cent larger than a year ago. Yet four more Virginia furnaces are to begin work within a few weeks, with a capacity of 3,500 tons weekly. Of the textile industries the increasing demand for cotton and wool bears witness, though the production of print cloth at prices is held unprofitable.

The number of hogs packed at the west from March 1st to October 1st was 7,965,000, against 5,920,000 last year, an increase of nearly 35 per cent.
Speculation in wheat has made further progress this week, the price rising 15 cents on small sales. But exports are practically stopped; in September only 365,239 bushels, against 2,223,104 last year, went from Atlantic ports. Corn also goes abroad but little, having advanced during the week only 1-8 cent, while wheat have risen 14 cents. But the export movement of cotton is extraordinarily large in 8 p.m. 207,000,000 pounds, against 170,000,000 pounds last year, and in October thus far there is a large increase, helped by a yielding in price of 1-16 cent this week. Exports of provisions are also very heavy in September, $11,918,416 in value, against $8,707,845 last year, and this also continues, prices being steady.

The new tariff has caused an advance in prices of some kinds of goods which, together with the rise resulting from the partial failure of crops, has moved up the general level of prices materially, though less than 1 per cent on all commodities since October 2.

Failures number 198 compared with the corresponding week of last year of 182.

DEAD AND DYING.

A YEARLY RAILROAD COLLISION NEAR BIRMINGHAM.
A dispatch of Tuesday from Birmingham says: A passenger train on the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railway, which left here at 8 o'clock last night, westbound, went out leaving a sleeper and the conductor in the depot. Discovering that fact, some six miles out of town, the engineer began backing into Birmingham. At Thomas's furnace, three miles out of town, the backing train met an out-going freight train and there was a terrible collision. Several passengers in the rear coach were killed and a number wounded. Those wounded were brought to Birmingham. Four or five dead are reported to be under the wreck, but the names are not yet ascertained.

FLORIDA ALLIANCEMEN.

CALL UPON CONGRESSMEN TO VOTE FOR THE SUB-TREASURY BILL.
The State Farmers' Alliance of Florida, in annual session at Monticello, on Thursday, adopted the following: Resolved, That this party is not wedded nor allied to any political party and has no room on its platform for partisan politics or partisan politics. Florida's representatives in the national legislative were also called upon to vote for the bill abolishing the national banking system and substituting for its use a legal tender treasury note, also to support the sub-treasury bill or something better.

The View enters upon its tenth year with this issue.

Some great mind has evolved that a country newspaper man has three stages of development. At first he runs his paper for glory; dissatisfied with the results, he runs it for spite; and when he gets tired of this he runs it for revenue. It is hardly necessary to state that our paper has been in the revenue stage, such as it is, for quite a while. There is too much genuine hard work about the business to keep at it just for the fun.

We have alluded to the fact that the View succeeded in a field which proved a graveyard for other ventures of the kind. In rustic parlance it was "a hard row to hoe" for a time, yet we held out in appreciation of the fact that it would be a God-forsaken country indeed that would fail to sustain such a good paper as the View. And on this, our birth-day, we are reminded of a thought of Emerson's: "All we have seen teaches us to trust the Creator for all we have not seen."

The supreme court of Minnesota is reported to have lately rendered a decision declaring that "bank checks are not cash, and do not possess legal value as money until cashed."

Rutledge Waver, Messrs. Sidney, Earnest and Ed. Stough, of near Highland Home picked one day last week 677, 476 and 406 pounds of cotton respectively, or the total of 1,660 pounds. If there is another trio of brothers in the State that can pick a bale a day, let us hear from them.

The best explanation of the significance of the congressional elections of next month was given by Congressman McAdoo, of New Jersey, when he said: "Drop a vote into the Republican slot and see the taxes go up." This is the view that many workmen, who have until now voted the Republican ticket, will take of the situation.

The Southern Express company has instructed its general counsel, Messrs. Chisholm, Erwin & Du Bignon of Savannah, Ga., to institute suit for the recovery of its money, which Rube Burrows has from time to time invested in lands. So it seems that Rube's children are not to hold undisputed possession of their father's ill-gotten gains.

Here is a piece of advice to voters given by a Georgia paper. It is timely during any and all campaigns: "If your man is elected to the legislature it will not add a single bale of cotton or a bushel of corn to your crop next year. If he is defeated, it will not cut off your crop a bale or a bushel. So keep cool and let your hair grow, go to bed at the regular hour, sleep soundly, attend to your own business, and our word for it, you will never know the difference, no matter who goes to the legislature."

The Alabama Baptist and Sam Jones together have been waging a vigorous warfare on the "powers that be" in Montgomery. The Journal alluded to the attacks of the Baptist in flaming head lines under the head "A Billious Editor." It is now in order for the Journal in the superabundance of its grit to hit the Rev. Sam for his temerity. Or is it the case that the Journal's circus-pole back-bone is not large enough nor long enough to knock such big persimmons?

The great Southern Exposition opens next Monday. The managers promise the best show of its character ever held in the State. Most of the exhibits at the State Fair in Birmingham, will be carried to Montgomery, and there will be a vast array of other exhibits that could not get to the Fair. The exposition has a small array of indefatigable workers laboring in its behalf, and each individual seems bent on making his department the best that could be seen. The indications are that the exposition is going to be a surprise to the people of Alabama in its immensity and in the wealth of display of the State's vast resources. Reduced rates on all railroads will draw crowds from all sections to visit the great show.

The Muddy Stream.

Esop, in his methods, was a genius, whether his fables were written for the mere amusement of the infantile mind, or for the broader application of simile to the various conditions and vicissitudes of more mature life.

The title of some men toward others more successful is very much akin to the amusing interview between the wolf and the lamb on the borders of the hitherto limpid stream. The former, through lack of pluck, perseverance and self-denial, endeavor to drag down to their own level those who through diligence and application have attained the goal of honor and success. If they succeed not, others must not succeed. Death to all successful forms of business enterprises in which they have no management, is their implied sentiment.

Give these same people a chance, and place them in the positions they so much deery, and what unscrupulous and unrighteous tyrants the most of them, in their new circumstances, would become!

A ONE-HORSE FARMER.

The individual agricultural display of Mr. J. R. Beard, of Chilton county, Alabama, ought to be seen by every farmer in the state. In all the fair there is nothing more creditable. Mr. Beard is literally a "one-horse farmer." His farm is just outside the town of Verbena. He cultivates but twenty-five acres of high, sandy land. Mr. Beard ploughs one horse, and does all outside help, his farm work being done by himself and a fifteen-year-old son. Most of his fertilizer is home-made. Mr. Beard's wife is quite blind, and the household duties fall upon their daughter, Miss Annie Beard, a charming young girl of sixteen, and she deserves a string of gold medals reaching from the crown of her head to the soles of her feet. The catalogue of this remarkable display was made out by her, and it is a model of neatness, order and precision, the handwriting being beautiful and the arrangement perfect. The totals show that in the exhibit there are 345 articles, divided into: Field crops 141, home industry 101, and forest 108. The variety of field crops seems extraordinary, but no more so than the items set down to home industry. While the father and his son have filled the fields to a wonderfully good purpose, the youthful housekeeper has been busy about the happy home. While the men-folk have raised well nigh everything that one can think of as growing in the fields, the young lady has turned out everything that skill in the kitchen could produce. Alongside the corn, cotton and potatoes, and all the heavy as well as the light products of the field, must be placed the jellies, preserves, sauces, pickles, dried fruits, butter, vinegar, honey, wines, and so on, in endless variety; no less than eleven different kinds of good home wine. And there are cordials and brandy peaches and the like, so tempting in appearance that no one cares to linger around. She has thirteen different kinds of preserves, fourteen jellies, and four vinegars, yeast cakes, eggs, lard, tallow, beeswax, and well, it is impossible to think of anything that Mr. Beard, the noble farmer, and Miss Annie Beard, the model little housekeeper, can't show, and what they have got is so superior in quality that it would be impossible to excel their work. This sturdy, honest, sensible, hard-working, "one-horse farmer" and his brave, busy and skillful little daughter, not to be forgotten soon, teach a lesson to the farmers of Alabama which is of wondrous eloquence. Mr. Beard, Miss Beard and Master Beard are a farm trio that forty-four states can't beat. —Age-Herald.

ABOUT JONAH AND THE WHALE.

A Salt Lake Minister Gives An Explanation of the Story.

"Doctor," said a Tribune reporter yesterday to a city minister, "is there not a natural explanation of the whale's swallowing of Jonah?"

"Yes, in the first place there is nothing in the Hebrews to show that it was what we call a whale. The work translated into both the Septuagint and the new testament by the Greek 'Katos' means simply a sea monster; and this word was the one used by our Lord in his reference to this account of Jonah. (Matthew xii, 39-41). So far, therefore, as the Hebrew or Greek words are concerned, the fish may have been a whale, a shark, a sea serpent, or any other large monster of the deep. Hence, there is nothing incredible in the statement that Jonah, upon being thrown into the sea, was quickly over taken and swallowed without suffering any mutilation, providing the monster known that the waters through which a vessel in sailing from Joppa to any Spanish port must pass were frequented in early times, by a species of shark called sea-dog, having a throat large enough to swallow a man whole. The French naturalist, Lacépède, in his 'Histoire des Poissons,' states that sea-dogs have a lower jaw of 6 feet in semi-circular extent, which enables us to understand how they can swallow entire animals as large or larger than ourselves. Blumebach, the German zoologist, in his 'Manual of Natural History,' is authority for the additional facts that sea-dogs have been taken weighing five tons, and that a horse has been found whole in the stomach of a sea-dog. And Pliny, 50 A. D., gives an account of the skeleton of a sea monster 40 feet long, whose ribs were higher than an Indian elephant. This skeleton Pliny says was brought from Joppa, a city of Judea and exhibited in Rome by M. Scaurus."

The Home Paper.

When you got married to the prettiest and best girl in the county where did you look for that notice that meant so much to you, and so little to nearly everybody else? To your Home Paper.

When your home was invaded by the blue eyed girl, or the bouncing baby boy, to whom did you make it your business to convey early information as to the sex, the time and the weight? To the editor of that Home Paper.

In after years, when some manly young fellow takes the blue eyed girl to a home of his own, or your once bouncing boy—now a man—is given a partnership in the store because he just brought home somebody else's daughter and set up an establishment of his own to whom do you personally exhibit the wedding presents and lead up with the bride's cake, and to whom do you look for that complete description of the interesting event, down to the last pickle fork and individual salt, which once more means so much to you and a very few others, and so little to anybody else? To this same editor of that same Home Paper.

And when troubles come in the home, and add to your possessions that desolate bit of reality, the lot in the cemetery, and somehow the sun doesn't seem to shine just as it used to, and there's the flutter of arape at the door and the odor of the tulerose in the front parlor and the chair that has for years been beside yours at the fireside and opposite you at the table is vacant when all this happens, who makes it his business to write in tender strain of the one whose life has grown to be a part of yours, and whose sympathy and good deeds to others have long been known and recognized, if never publicly announced? The editor of the Home Paper; and he's only too willing to do the little that he can to help you over the hard spot in the road.

And all these years you've advertised in this Home Paper, and done what you could to help the editor fight your battles in municipal and county matters, and encouraged him as he has worked to build up the town and bring business to it? How is it? Have you?

Tuskegee special: Yesterday Mack Taylor and wife, colored, who live about a mile north of Tuskegee left home to pick cotton, leaving their 5-year old son in charge of the house. In the afternoon a colored woman near by heard the boy call and saw him in the door, his clothing in a blaze of fire. She ran to him and tried to put out the fire, but could not. She grabbed a bucket and ran for the spring to get water to throw on the boy, he screaming and running after her. Returning, with the water she found him in the path dead, the fire having enveloped his head.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias issued out of the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against A. H. Hunt as sheriff, lands and tenements of the said A. H. Hunt, I have levied on the following property, to-wit: About thirty-five thousand feet of lumber, four yoke of oxen, three bar drays, three log chains, one Lane & Bailey saw mill with all its fixtures, one forty horse power Atlas engine and boiler, one St. Louis Lath Machine and fixtures. Therefore, according to said command I shall expose for sale, at public auction all the right, title and interest of the above named A. H. Hunt, as surviving partner, etc., in and to the above described property, on the 30 DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1890, during the legal hours of sale, at Parr's Switch on the L. & N. R. R., and at Hunt's Mill about five miles west of Clanton, Chilton County, Ala. Dated at Clanton, this 15th day of October, 1890.

LEE HAYES, Sheriff of Chilton County.

Mr. J. F. Maull has moved his saw mill to Clear Creek, and has established the Clear Creek Lumber Co. Success to him.

Rev. J. E. Deer, of Brewton, preached two sermons at the Clanton Baptist Church Sunday last, according to announcement. He is expected to preach from the same pulpit again to-night (Thursday).

Rev. Jas. A. Mullins, of Jumbo, was in to see us Monday. The snows of 70 winters have now whitened his locks. He reports the people of his neighborhood cheerful though they were disappointed in not getting out a full crop.

The meeting on Monday to discuss a better road system passed off without much discussion of anything. The gentleman who asked the view to call the meeting did not put in an appearance to pour out his pent up eloquence upon the assemblage.

At the county court on Monday, a white man by the name of Geo. W. Townsend, was bound over to the circuit court in the sum of $1,000 to answer to the charge of criminally assaulting a white girl, in the Jemison neighborhood, recently.

We are glad to be able to state that Albert Smith, whose skull was fractured by his being struck by the tank pipe at Mount Creek while his train was passing the station Tuesday of last week, is now so much improved that hopes are entertained of his complete recovery. Dr. W. E. Stewart is attending him.

A negro boy who was at work for Mr. W. A. Collier took occasion Saturday to make way with Mr. Collier's watch which he picked up from a table where it was lying. He then took a free ride to Montgomery on the bumpers of a freight car. A telegram got ahead of him, and he was arrested and brought back and placed in the county lock up to await the action of the grand jury. The watch was secured by the owner.

A Good Exhibit.

The private exhibit at the State Fair of Mr. J. R. Beard, of Verbena, was a gratifying sight to those of our citizens who attended the Fair, and whose local pride delighted in such a fine array of products from Chilton county. Mr. Beard's cotton, grains, fruits, and collection of forest products, including woods, and Miss Beard's pickles, jellies preserves and wines, made up an excellent display, was a pleasing revelation and attracted general attention and much favorable comment. We republish what the Age-Herald says of the exhibit in this issue.

Stanton Notes.

An amusing incident occurred here Saturday morning, and if your readers were acquainted with the peculiarities of the parties, it would be indeed funny. Captain Jas. H. Prichard in company with Major J. A. F. Pyner armed with double barrel guns and a genuine Gordon setter started out for a bird hunt. The gentlemen are on the shady side of age, having heard the owls hoot over a half century ago, and their eyes are not as bright and clear as they were some years back. Well the captain and major had not preceded far from the latter's residence, before the setter came to a beautiful stand in the brush, the major being in advance and eager to bag the game, saw what he supposed to be the much coveted quail and turned loose a heavy cyclone and rushed into the bushes, exclaiming "I jolly've got him." On arriving he was paralyzed to find he had killed his wife's pet pig. Disgusted with his achievement, and fearing he might shoot somebody's horse for a red-headed peckerwood, he decided to give up the hunt till the sun got to shining more brilliantly.

AN OLD SORE HEALED.

I had a painful, annoying sore on my leg, near the knee, that troubled me for over two years. I tried various remedies, but the sore, instead of healing up, continued to grow larger, and to cause me more pain until I began to look for a crutch. Through the advice of a friend, who was cured of a similar trouble, I took S.S.S., and in a few weeks was cured entirely. The sore healed up, and there is not even a scar left to mark the place.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS OF THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE GREAT ASSOCIATION.—CHICAGO, N.Y., ETC.

The Farmers' Alliance (Ohio, Ind.) notes: "Farmers' Alliance newspapers are springing up all over the State of Ohio. Kansas doesn't seem to be the only State in the Union that is thoroughly awake to their own interest."

The Free Lanes (Ashland, Ill.) is the Alliance paper for several surrounding counties. It says: "It is a good wage that makes business prosperous, and under the present competitive system the thorough organization of the workers is the only means by which good wages can be maintained."

At a convention of the Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association of the State of Illinois, in Springfield, Wednesday, the following resolution was adopted: "We favor the passage of the Paddock bill, but oppose any measure of taxation such as the (Conger) compound land bill, which is class legislation, taxing one industry for the benefit of another."

The Territorial (Purcell, Indian Ter.) says: "All have now had an opportunity to read the Constitution and laws of the Industrial Union in these columns and satisfy themselves as to its object and methods. Its demands are just, temperate, and for the most part, in line with the policy of those who for years have fought the battles of the people. Rightly managed, as we are satisfied that it will be under the efficient leadership given in the Territory, this is destined to become an important branch of the army in the war between the people and the monopolists."

The Progressive Farmer (Mt. Vernon, Ill.) has the following: "We are not trying to organize a party. We are not carrying a cent about party. We are organizing relief, and we shall have to overthrow the bosses before we can get it. Those who imagine a new scheme of politics about the country are 'the parties' will be offended, but those who recognize in political parties a grand aggregation of honest people for the public good, will gladly aid in kicking the wire pullers and tricksters overboard, and freeing the parties from such burly incumbents."

The Farmers' Alliance (Jacksonville, Fla.) says: "It is most encouraging to note the great interest and activity manifested in all the counties in getting up creditable exhibits for the Alliance Exposition at Ocala."

It has also the following: "The Alliance in Florida has been quite modest in its demands for men in the present campaign; has been content to have the dominant party make the selections. Would it be immediate in the Alliance to put in a claim for a 'full blood' for the United States senate? That's the battle field and we want a Roman there."

The officers of the Farmers' Alliance of Alabama held a meeting at Birmingham Wednesday night, which was largely devoted to a discussion of the state laws governing railroads and the power of the railroad companies. A comparison of freight rates on several routes was made with the rates in Georgia and the rates in Alabama were found to be higher. It was the sentiment of the meeting that Alabama should have a railroad law similar to the one in Georgia and that the power of the commissioners should be enlarged. A committee was appointed to prepare a bill making the desired changes, which will be submitted to the next legislature for passage.

A letter in the Southern Alliance Farmer, signed "Georgetown," has the following: "To judge the Alliance movement correctly, and to form a just estimate of the influence it may be able to exert throughout the country, we should consider the four great principles which form the foundation upon which it has erected its political edifice. To state them briefly in their final analysis, they are: First: The overthrow of sectionalism. Second: A reduction of taxation to the needs of government economically administered. Third: State and interstate control and regulation of railroads. Fourth: A sound, stable and flexible currency, based upon the great staple crops and issued by the government in accordance with laws of supply and demand."

The following notice has been sent out to the county and sub-alliances of Georgia by President Peck, of the State Exchange: "It was decided in the meeting of the Board of Directors of the State Exchange on September 23d, 1890, that it would be advisable for each county or Sub-Alliance to elect from their ranks the best business man to act as treasurer and to make their purchases from the State Exchange, especially fertilizers, and that the Exchange would pay such agents 25 cents per ton on each sale of fertilizer, this being one-half the commission allowed by the commission for such sale, to be paid when fertilizers are settled for. Of course the goods are to be sold at manufacturers' prices. The County or Sub-Alliance is at liberty to pay such agent whatever additional amount it may think his services are worth. Such agent would be expected to be held responsible for the proper execution of all contracts and business papers, as well as collections of notes and money due the Exchange, or merchandise companies. Each agent would be required to make a bond to the Exchange for the proper discharge of his duties, which amount would be determined by the Exchange. It is advisable for such agents to be elected as soon as possible, and who are at all convenient for such agents to come to Atlanta and familiarize themselves with their duties, as well as to get fully posted with the working of the Exchange. Arrangements cannot be made too early in the matter of fertilizers for the coming season if we would avoid the numerous troubles experienced this year."

ACCOURSED FOR. "How do you like your new minister, Oren?" asked his father. "Oh, he's just splendid. He draws twice as large congregations as the Rev. Mr. Oldman," whom he succeeds.

"I suppose he is much more eloquent and impressive than Mr. Oldman."

"Oh, no. He is rather an ordinary and tiresome speaker, but he's young, handsome and unmarried."

"Oh, yes, I understand," said his father. "The increase in the congregation is made up wholly of young women."—(Montevideo Herald.)

In the days of Columbus, learned men boldly asserted that if a ship should reach India she would never get back again, because the rotundity of the globe would present a kind of mountain, up which it would be impossible to sail even with the most favorable wind.

The Chemical Analysis of Man. An eminent physician and surgeon of London has lately analyzed a man for the benefit of his class in chemistry. The body operated upon weighed 154.4 pounds. The lecturer exhibited upon the platform 23.1 pounds of carbon, 2.2 pounds of lime, 23.3 ounces of phosphorus, and about one ounce each of sodium, iron, potassium, magnesium, and calcium. Besides the solid residue, Dr. Lancaster, the analyst, estimated that there were 5395 cubic feet of oxygen, weighing 15.4 pounds; and fifty-two cubic feet of nitrogen, in the man's body. All of these elements combined in the following: One hundred and twenty-two pounds of oxygen, 16.5 pounds of carbon, 2.2 pounds of lime, 23.3 pounds of phosphorus, and 8.8 pounds of iron and sodium, and 7.7 pounds of phosphorus of lime and other minerals.—(Democrat.)

Petroleum. Considering the various theories in regard to the origin of petroleum, Mr. Edward Orton, in the last report of the United States Geological Survey, finds the following to be the best supported propositions: 1. Petroleum is derived from organic matter. 2. It is much more largely derived from vegetable than from animal substances. 3. Petroleum of the Pangean type is derived from the organic matter of bituminous shales, and is of vegetable origin. 4. Petroleum of the Canadian and Lima types is derived from limestone, and is of animal origin. 5. Petroleum has been produced at normal rock temperatures (in Ohio, Illinois, and elsewhere) from the remains of marine organisms. 6. The stock of petroleum in the rocks is already practically complete.

A Gigantic British Peer. The most gigantic member of the British peerage is the Marquis of Drogheda, who is sixty-five years of age, and who stands six feet four inches in his stockings. The Marquis is the life and soul of the marriest of the merry parties at Punchstone races. Though he has given over racing himself, he still breeds a thoroughbred or two at Moore Abbey, County Kildare. He is an excellent and therefore resident landlord, and owns some 20,000 acres, worth some $50,000 a year. A staunch conservative, he resembles Mr. Gladstone in one point, in his love for wielding the ax. He is, moreover, second cousin to Mr. Parnell, for the Marquis's grandfather and the National leader's grandfather were brothers.—(Chicago Herald.)

A Quack Passenger. While unloading bananas from a steamer from Port of Spain at New York, a quack passenger, David Plouffe, found a quack creature, supposed to be a "wombat." In a large bunch of the fruit, it seems to belong to the same species as our common rat, possessing a body like it, with a head and face similar to that of an opossum, long hairy legs, black, globular protruding eyes. The paws resemble a human hand, having a thumb and four fingers, and its tail, a foot long, is partially covered with brown hair. It will be presented to the Philadelphia Zoo.

A tarantula and a nest of snakes were found in a plowman's eye the same week ago.—(Washington Star.)

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

FERTILIZING APPLE ORCHARDS.

Apple trees will bear fruit of fine quality and in considerable quantity with very little fertilization, and because they will practice of neglecting to fertilize them has become common, or, more correctly, has always been so. Nearly all apple orchards are in grass, which is mostly cut for hay and removed from the land. Some pasture sheep in the orchard. That is better than cutting the grass for hay. Sheep enrich the soil, and eat the wormy fruit that falls to the ground, thus helping to keep the codlin moth in check. Some owners fertilize their orchards by top-dressing with barn manure, wood ashes, or superphosphate. It is doubtful, however, about the trees getting a very large share of such dressing. The grass forms a thick, tough sward, through which the fertilizer penetrates with difficulty, as well as is very slowly absorbed by the grass roots before it gets down to the apple tree roots. If very heavily dressed repeatedly, perhaps the trees will receive considerable benefit after awhile, but ordinary dressings probably reach very little below the grass roots, so that actually the trees are less benefited by them. It is surprising how much fruit some orchards will produce under the treatment to which they are subjected. Yet no doubt under better treatment there would be a great improvement in the quality of fruit produced, as well as in the quantity. The quality of fruit from a well-fed tree is much better than the fruit from a half-starved tree as the beef from a well-fed steer is superior to that of a poor, half-starved one. An apple tree, from the time it is planted in the soil, should always be well supplied with essential plant food. It will not do to set trees in poor soil, and allow them to struggle on, making a small, stunted growth, or a part of them dying within a few years. After growth has once been checked in young trees it is very difficult to get them into a thrifty condition. Trees that have fallen into an unhealthy condition are less able to withstand the ravages of insects and the vicissitudes of climate. By having the soil in good condition before the trees are planted, and keeping it in good condition, the trees will grow rapidly and soon attain a good size for bearing fruit. Much of the ill-health and vegetation observed in apple orchards is due to the fact that the soil is not rich enough, is not kept well cultivated, and is not sufficiently enriched to maintain a continuously thrifty growth. No one can afford to wait the slow growth of trees in poor land, insufficiently fertilized. It is better to start with a good growing rapid, and bring them to a size large enough for bearing as soon as can be done without injury to the trees. The danger of injuring the trees by too rapid growth is seldom realized in this part of the country. Our soil is not naturally rich enough to be in any danger of being injured by too much fertilization. Where one orchard is injured by being fertilized too much, there are hundreds stunted by not receiving enough fertilization and cultivation. An orchard that is kept thrifty growing will produce enough fruit, before a less thrifty orchard begins to produce much, to pay for the extra care and cost. There is some difference of opinion as to the best method of fertilizing an orchard, whether by top-dressing or by mingling with the soil. If the surface is cultivated, there would be little difference in the effect produced, either by cultivating and dressing in, or by applying to the surface. If applied to the surface, the rains would dissolve the soluble portion and distribute it to the soil, and the next time that the surface was plowed or cultivated the whole would be well mixed with the soil. The best treatment for young trees is to keep the soil cultivated and to keep the trees at least. Then the land may be seeded to grass, if desired, and pastured to sheep. Or the surface may be mulched with hay or straw, and fertilizers applied by top-dressing. Upon a mulched surface the fertilizers would readily find their way into the soil and reach the roots of the trees. The roots of the trees should be near the surface, and there would be no grass roots to gather up the fertilizers before they reached the apple tree roots. Even when grass is allowed to grow in orchards, it is much better to mow it and allow it to decay on the surface, serving as a mulch, than to remove it. A mulched surface is very favorable to the attainment of the best results in apple production. If trees are too close together in the orchard, so that they are crowded, the difficulty can be remedied in part by mulching and fertilizing freely, supplying abundant plant food to secure good crops of fruit. With-out it many orchards are worth more for firewood than for fruit.—(American Agriculturist.)

CHEESECAKES.

The real old-fashioned cheesecake requires the curd of milk for a basis. They are great favorites with the Jewish people and are liked by many Americans as well. The recipe given here is from a Jewish lady famous for her cookery of many national dishes. Rub the curd from one gallon of milk in a coarse cloth, and then work into it six ounces of butter, one and a half ounces of cracked rolled fine and an equal quantity of bread crumbs; add half a teaspoonful of cinnamon and a little salt, the yolks of five eggs and the whites of three; six ounces of fine sugar, a tablespoonful of lemon juice and half a pint of cream. Mix these ingredients thoroughly and rub through a coarse sieve before adding half a pound of washed and dried cranberries and half an ounce of citron minced very fine. Line pie dishes or patty pans with rich paste, fill with the mixture and bake in a rather brisk oven. Twenty minutes should suffice.—(American Agriculturist.)

PURE OF GREEN PEAS.

Shell on green peas to fill a two-quart measure. Sift them through a colander with holes large enough to allow all the small ones to pass through. Of these save a pint, of even size, leaving the rest in cold water. Put all the rest into three quarts of boiling water containing two tablespoonfuls of salt and boil them fast until they are tender, drain them in a colander, wash them well, and lay them in cold water. Put the pint first selected from the colander into a quart of boiling water with a teaspoonful of salt; boil them until tender, drain them, wash them in cold water and let them stand in it. As soon as you put them on to boil begin to "make the soup by stirring over the fire two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour, and stirring constantly until it is free from lumps. Then add one quart of boiling water, season with pepper and nutmeg, but do not add any salt until all the peas are in. Set it where it will keep growing rapidly, and bring them to a size large enough for bearing as soon as can be done without injury to the trees. The danger of injuring the trees by too rapid growth is seldom realized in this part of the country. Our soil is not naturally rich enough to be in any danger of being injured by too much fertilization. Where one orchard is injured by being fertilized too much, there are hundreds stunted by not receiving enough fertilization and cultivation. An orchard that is kept thrifty growing will produce enough fruit, before a less thrifty orchard begins to produce much, to pay for the extra care and cost. There is some difference of opinion as to the best method of fertilizing an orchard, whether by top-dressing or by mingling with the soil. If the surface is cultivated, there would be little difference in the effect produced, either by cultivating and dressing in, or by applying to the surface. If applied to the surface, the rains would dissolve the soluble portion and distribute it to the soil, and the next time that the surface was plowed or cultivated the whole would be well mixed with the soil. The best treatment for young trees is to keep the soil cultivated and to keep the trees at least. Then the land may be seeded to grass, if desired, and pastured to sheep. Or the surface may be mulched with hay or straw, and fertilizers applied by top-dressing. Upon a mulched surface the fertilizers would readily find their way into the soil and reach the roots of the trees. The roots of the trees should be near the surface, and there would be no grass roots to gather up the fertilizers before they reached the apple tree roots. Even when grass is allowed to grow in orchards, it is much better to mow it and allow it to decay on the surface, serving as a mulch, than to remove it. A mulched surface is very favorable to the attainment of the best results in apple production. If trees are too close together in the orchard, so that they are crowded, the difficulty can be remedied in part by mulching and fertilizing freely, supplying abundant plant food to secure good crops of fruit. Without it many orchards are worth more for firewood than for fruit.—(American Agriculturist.)

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Burned camphor will drive away mosquitoes.

One tablespoonful of liquid makes one-half ounce.

Roasted coffee is one of the most powerful disinfectants.

White clover, it is said, will exterminate the moth.

Lard may be made perfectly sweet by boiling a parrot potato in it.

Jelly bags should be made of flannel and pudding bags of linen.

Cider water may be purified by charcoal put in a bag and hung in the water.

Fruit picked just at maturity will keep much better than when picked sooner or later.

Salt will remove the stain from silver caused by eggs, when applied dry with a soft cloth.

A tablespoonful of turpentine boiled with white clothes will greatly aid the whitening process.

Hot, dry flannel applied to the face and neck is a very effective remedy for a jumping toothache.

To best white of eggs stiff with case they should be cold, with a very small pinch of salt added.

Lunch baskets to be used in traveling should have a cheap cotton lining to protect the lunch from dust.

When acid of any kind gets on clothing, rub it with a piece of flannel moistened with spirits of ammonia will kill it. Apply chloroform to restore the color.

Fruit or rust stains on table linen or other white clothes may be removed by soaking in a weak solution of oxalic acid.

Do not put soap in the water with which you clean glass. It is almost impossible to polish the glass if soap is used.

Cold ham may be carved as to attract or repel, and there is real art in carving the slices in the most artistic manner.

Milk porridge, carefully prepared and almost as thick as a custard, is a delicacy when properly sweetened and flavored, enjoyed alike by invalids and the robust.

For group use kerosene oil. Wet a piece of flannel and apply. It gives almost instant relief. Remove when the skin becomes very red, or it will blister.

Water which contains impurities will turn milky white when nitrate of silver is dissolved in it. If "chemically pure" there will be but a trifling discoloration.

It is a fallacy to suppose that the cravings of a patient are mere whims, which should be denied. The stomach often needs, craves and digests articles not found in any dietary.

When it is necessary to take charcoal medicinally, put it in a wide-mouthed bottle, pour in an inch of water, cork it and shake it thoroughly. A few seconds will suffice to mix the charcoal and water.

To Wash Fancy Hosiery.—Dissolve some borax in the water, a teaspoonful to two quarts, soak the goods in this an hour or more, then add soap to the water till good suds is made. Pass the silk handkerchiefs and neckties may be washed in the same way.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

A RICH APPLE CHEESECAKE.

Stew some cored and peeled apples till quite tender with a piece of thinly cut lemon rind, a very little water and sugar. When quite soft the pulp let it stand till cold. Then beat up a couple of eggs till light and mix them with the apples together with an equal quantity of fresh buttered and broken bread. Have ready a buttered mold, sprinkle it very thickly with baked bread crumbs, fill up with the apples, etc., and then add a thin layer of bread crumbs. Bake in a slow oven, turn out carefully and serve sprinkled with pulverized sugar, if liked, cream or a plain custard.—(Washington Star.)

CHEESECAKES.

The real old-fashioned cheesecake requires the curd of milk for a basis. They are great favorites with the Jewish people and are liked by many Americans as well. The recipe given here is from a Jewish lady famous for her cookery of many national dishes. Rub the curd from one gallon of milk in a coarse cloth, and then work into it six ounces of butter, one and a half ounces of cracked rolled fine and an equal quantity of bread crumbs; add half a teaspoonful of cinnamon and a little salt, the yolks of five eggs and the whites of three; six ounces of fine sugar, a tablespoonful of lemon juice and half a pint of cream. Mix these ingredients thoroughly and rub through a coarse sieve before adding half a pound of washed and dried cranberries and half an ounce of citron minced very fine. Line pie dishes or patty pans with rich paste, fill with the mixture and bake in a rather brisk oven. Twenty minutes should suffice.—(American Agriculturist.)

PURE OF GREEN PEAS.

Shell on green peas to fill a two-quart measure. Sift them through a colander with holes large enough to allow all the small ones to pass through. Of these save a pint, of even size, leaving the rest in cold water. Put all the rest into three quarts of boiling water containing two tablespoonfuls of salt and boil them fast until they are tender, drain them in a colander, wash them well, and lay them in cold water. Canteenkeepers should not be kept in a refrigerator. They impart bad odors to an otherwise sweet compartment and tend to make milk and cream sour. The best way to give freshness to the breakfast canteen is to hide it away on the grass plain or up the hill. The dove will taste. Children take it without objection. By druggists.

Basal Cough Medicine. Recommended by Physicians. Cures who have all else failed. Pleasant and agreeable to the taste. Children take it without objection. By druggists.

A LEVEL HEAD.

The Advantage of Presence of Mind in an Emergency.

During the late strike on the New York Central Railroad, the millia were ordered to be in readiness in case of a riot, but they were not called out.

In an interview Mr. Hill said the troops were not to be called upon except in case of an emergency. The emergency had not arisen, therefore they would not be ordered out. He remarked that this was the first great strike with which he had had experience, and he did not propose to lose his head; the only point at which there had been serious trouble was at Syracuse and there a deputy sheriff had lost his head and precipitated an encounter.

Cooking Recipes.

CABBAGE PICKLE.

Cut cabbage in quarters, if large, in eighths, boil fifteen minutes, pack in jars, with small cucumbers, soaked from the brine. Small onions, a few large peppers from which the seeds have been removed, a few small roots of horseradish bruised or split, and a handful of black mustard seed. Over this pour vinegar sufficient to cover; after boiling and adding to it a gallon of water, a cup full of sugar, half an ounce of cloves and half an ounce of cinnamon.

SPLICED GREEN TOMATOES.

Take one dozen large green tomatoes, slice and put over the fire, in a tin vessel with water enough to just cover, and when the water has boiled add vinegar to give it quite an acid taste, say a tumbler full of vinegar to a quart of water. Let the tomatoes boil hard for ten minutes. Lift out and drain. Make a dressing of one quart of good strong vinegar, one tumbler of water, a large cup of sugar, half an ounce each, cinnamon and cloves. Put in the tomatoes and simmer or boil slowly quarter of an hour.

CHOW CHOW.

Two large cauliflower; two quarts of green peppers; three quarts of green tomatoes; three quarts of green cucumbers (small); three quarts of green onions. Slice each an inch thick, sprinkle with salt lightly in layers. Boil the cauliflower five minutes. Set over night. In the morning pour over a gallon of water. Let them drain well, and place in jars. Add a quart of vinegar, a half pound of mustard, quarter of a pound of black pepper, one tablespoonful turmeric, one ounce of cloves whole, one pint of sugar, one gallon best vinegar, boil for four hours.

WATERMELON SWEET PICKLE.

Scrap all the soft and the outside from nice-sliced watermelon rinds. Put them to soak over night in just enough water to cover them, in which has been dissolved a lump of alum the size of a parrot egg to each gallon, after which pour off the water and add vinegar to give it quite an acid taste, say a tumbler full of vinegar to a quart of water. Let the tomatoes boil hard for ten minutes. Lift out and drain. Make a dressing of one quart of good strong vinegar, one tumbler of water, a large cup of sugar, half an ounce each, cinnamon and cloves. Put in the tomatoes and simmer or boil slowly quarter of an hour.

The Perils of Youth.

How few have any maternal sympathy for youthful peril.

They are three evils that threaten the youth of our country.

They are the power of the devil, the power of the devil, the power of the devil.

They are the power of the devil, the power of the devil, the power of the devil.

They are the power of the devil, the power of the devil, the power of the devil.

They are the power of the devil, the power of the devil, the power of the devil.

They are the power of the devil, the power of the devil, the power of the devil.

The Lower House of the next Congress will be Democratic, and the force bill is surely dead.

Tom Woolfolk, the Georgia monstrosity, who was hung last Wednesday for the murder of his family was a saloon keeper in Macon. He had failed in business and wanted the family estate to get another start on. Another horror worked by whiskey.

It is somewhat singular that Washington drew his last breath in the last hour of the last day of the last week, of the last month, of the last year, of the last century. It is what we have read in a book. In it's talk, it may be only the author's last lie.

In England and other parts of Europe, horseshoes are now in use made of cowhide instead of iron. The shoes are composed of three thicknesses of the hide, which is pressed into a steel mold and afterwards treated by a chemical preparation. The shoe is quite smooth on the outside surface, no calks being needed as the shoe adheres firmly on polished pavements. It is claimed this shoe is much lighter than the iron one, lasts longer, and that the hoofs of horses wearing them never split.

H. W. Morgan, a visitor to the Birmingham fair from Charleston, S. C., was robbed of $110 and other valuables at the depot Tuesday morning by two pickpockets during the rush to get off the train. The artists jerked his vest open and took the money from his inside vest pocket. He did not discover his loss until fifteen minutes afterward. He put the police on the lookout for the rascals. Morgan says he and his wife coming out of the car, he in front of her, when one of the men pulled him aside saying, "Let the lady pass." It was then they jerked him aside that they snatched his purse.

Tuscaloosa is by far the largest town in Alabama with only one railroad. Greenville and Marion come next in order, but the population of the Oak City would nearly, if not fully double that of either of the others mentioned, though Greenville was ahead of Tuscaloosa by the census of 1880. This growth, with but one railroad, speaks well of the advantages of Tuscaloosa, and indicates that with better transportation facilities, a bustling young city will spring up at the head of navigation on the Warrior. Another railroad being assured in the near future, Birmingham may then expect to find in Tuscaloosa her only rival.

The Huntsville Mercury like the people of Madison County, knows what the real value of good public roads is to a country, and it says:

"The improvement of public roads will be one of the leading questions before the next legislature. For years past, Alabama has been cursed by a most outrageous road law, and we earnestly hope that the action of the legislature on the new road law will be well considered. There is nothing more calculated to advance the interest of Alabama, both by increasing the comfort of the people as inviting emigration more than good public roads. To live in Alabama and travel the present average road is misery enough for any man."

We concur with the Selma Mirror in the following lines:

The large amount of valuable space given by the newspapers to the recounting of the exploits of such characters as Dick Haves, Rube Burrows, Tom Woolfolk and other mock heroes, has done more to encourage the commission of crime than could reasonably be imagined. Like the effects produced by the reading of dime novels, the heroes are invested with a certain degree of merit for their bravery, skill or cunning that has a demoralizing effect upon weaker minds, and inexperienced depraved persons, who are more or less influenced to imitate the examples of these notorious characters. The long and expensive trials and the degree of notoriety attending their publication, flatters the vanity of lesser criminals and encourages them to continue in their evil course.

THE ELECTION.

Enough is known of Tuesday's election to insure a Democratic House of Representatives in the next Congress. Even New Hampshire is claimed by the Democrats. Mr. McKinley with his little tariff bill, Mr. Conger with his little hard bill, and Mr. Lodge with his little force bill have thus served us a good turn.

Alabama will return a solid Democratic delegation.

In the fifth district, because of no opposition, general apathy prevailed. But Judge Cobb got all the votes cast and is safe enough.

At Clanton box which has over 200 straight Democratic votes and nearly 500 as a total vote, only 66 ballots were cast, which, to say the least, is a reflection upon good citizenship.

REPUBLICAN GESE.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean was aptly enough when it tried to make its readers believe that merchants increased their prices at the request of the Democratic national committee, but the Des Moines Register goes far beyond the Chicago fool when it says:

The "Cobden Club, of London, England, and New York," has instructed every Democratic manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer to advance his goods and tell customers that the advance is due to the passage of the McKinley tariff law.

Is there a single reader of the Register who supposes that any American manufacturer or dealer would change his prices at the "instruction" of the Cobden Club, or the Psychological Research Society, or any body else? Is there one of them that supposes that the Democratic manufacturers and dealers could raise prices if the Republican manufacturers and dealers didn't? Besides, cheapness is the evil to remedy which the McKinley bill was passed. There never was anything more idiotic in politics than for the Republicans to pass a bill intended to increase prices, and then, when the increase came deny it for a while, and when denial was no longer possible attribute it to the Democratic newspapers or Mr. Brier's committee or the Cobden Club.

Representative Dorsey, of Nebraska, must be about as big a fool as the Inter Ocean and the Register, for on Monday of last week he telegraphed Quay: "Have manufacturers quote lower prices and deny that the McKinley bill raises prices. If this is not done it will cost thousands of votes in Nebraska. Are business men of this country in the habit of running their affairs in accordance with directions from political committees and bosses? What did the manufacturers get the McKinley bill passed for if they are now to quote lower prices?"—National Democrat.

Monday the Board of Revenue purchased the farm of Mr. G. W. Dawson at Jewson, where the county poorhouse will be established and the county paupers domiciled. This was a move in the right direction. In Tuscaloosa and perhaps other counties the poorhouse farm more than supports the county paupers, and a burden is thus removed from the taxpayers.

A few nights ago in Montgomery, Rev. Sam Jones preached a sermon to gamblers, whiskey sellers and whiskey drinkers. During his discourse he said:

"Every saloon in Montgomery is a child of the city, as much so as your sons and daughters are your children. You support them by your patronage and license. I have more respect for a saloon keeper than the church member who votes for whiskey and signs its petitions. The saloon keeper is in business to support his family, while the church member divides profits with him by giving him license in return for money to lessen his taxes. In this light the saloon keeper is a gentleman, and the taxpayer a vagabond. Whenever I can't pay taxes rather than do that I'd move my family to the poorhouse. If church members would quit patronizing and signing their petitions, half the saloons in this city would close up business. I want to see the day when this traffic is put on the level where it belongs, when none but the lowest scoundrels will sell liquor, and none but the lowest dogs will drink it. I came to the conviction long ago that none but scoundrels would sell it, and only infernal fools would drink it. Will any but an infernal scoundrel engage in a traffic which will cause a man to leave his home and family and in cold blood murder his fellow man; that will cause its victim to murder his own children?"

WHO GOT THE PRIZES.

The Committee of Judges awarded the prizes in the agricultural department of the State Fair Monday evening. The Birmingham Age Herald says:

The first prize of $250 for the best individual display was awarded to Mr. J. R. McLendon, the noted farmer of Montgomery county. Mr. McLendon also got several prizes, amounting all told to $400 or $500.

The 2d prize of $150 for an individual display goes to Mr. Beard, the now famous one-horse farmer of Chilton. Mr. Beard also gets a number of other prizes, including $10 as second prize for the best bale of cotton. Miss Annie Beard, Mr. Beard's clever and accomplished 16-year-old daughter, got the prize of $40 for her remarkable display of home-made wines.

The first prize of $300 for the best county display goes to Madison, and second prize of $300 for county display to Bullock. The county of Butler gets the second prize for a club display, and J. H. Thornton, of that county gets third prize for individual display. The display of Mr. J. K. Vansandt was ruled out as individual and he gets a prize for county display.

From all portions of the State come complaints against the negro servants. There seems to be some agreement between them as to how long and how much they shall work arising from the fact that they believe the white people cannot get along without them. White servants can be secured nearly as cheap as the negro and efforts are being made in several cities of the State to secure them. That is the only way the trouble can be removed. Let us remedy it that way.

Huntsville is shipping sweet potatoes to Chicago, for the first time, which promises to develop a large traffic in one of the largest crops of the south.

TETTER AND BOILS.

For years I was afflicted with an aggravated case of Tetter. I tried lotions, salves, soaps, and other outward applications, without any beneficial results. In addition to the Tetter, Boils commenced breaking out all over my body, causing me so much pain that I had to quit work and go to bed. I then decided that I had started wrong, and instead of using external treatment I ought to go to the seat of the disease and purify my blood, as it was obviously bad blood that caused both the Tetter and the Boils. I took several blood purifiers without any good effects. About the time my case was declared incurable I commenced taking S. S. S. In a few weeks the Tetter was cured, and one by one the Boils disappeared, until I was entirely and permanently cured. This was three years ago, and since then I have been free from any skin eruptions. My skin is now, and has been for three years, as smooth as any man's. S. S. S. not only cured me of the Tetter and Boils, but also restored my appetite and general health, causing me to increase in weight and improve in every way.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

We are told by Prof. Harwood that Gen. R. C. Jones, President of the State University, has selected the Camden Military School as one of the six preparatory schools for the University. Students securing a certificate from this school will not be required to stand an entrance examination. This is an advantage to young men preparing to enter college, and Gen. Jones has made a wise choice in making this selection. It is a compliment to Prof. Harwood and is a well deserved one.—Wilcox Progress.

The Camden Military school is in charge of Capt. J. A. Harwood, formerly of Stanton, this county.

LOCAL LAYONS.

Trade and business is improving as the fall advances.

The county board of revenue was in session Monday.

Mrs. Dr. Patton, of Montgomery, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. A. Collier.

We very much regret to learn of the death of Mr. John E. Collier, at Dixie, last week.

Many subscribers are taking advantage of our $1 proposition. Now is the time to subscribe.

Rev. Luther Hicks, of Six Mile, will preach at Plantersville next Saturday and Sunday at 11 a. m.

Miss Sadie Bentley, of Rockford, is visiting the family of her brother, O. P. Bentley, Esq., in our town.

Mr. W. M. Gore, of Jumbo, gave us a pleasant call Saturday and brought two new subscribers to the View.

It hardly looked like an election day at Clanton Tuesday, everything was so quiet around the courthouse.

Mrs. E. C. Lawrence has returned from a protracted visit to relatives in Northport, Tuscaloosa and Greensboro.

Mr. Richard Phillips and Mr. Alex. Penn, of Hillsboro, Ga., are visiting relatives, Mr. Deadwilder and family, near Lily.

The Malone-Parkins Shoe Co., of Birmingham, won the premium at the State Fair on their exhibit of fine shoes. Their exhibit was an exceedingly attractive one.

It is probable that more than a thousand people from this county will attend the exposition in Montgomery. The exposition opened Tuesday, and every train leaving this place for Montgomery is crowded.

Our handsome young friend, Lucien Day, now of Selma, has been in town this week on a visit to friends in his old home. We are glad to learn that he is prosperous and well pleased with his present position.

Mrs. A. M. Adams, formerly of this place, but later of Montgomery, is now a resident of Tuscaloosa, to which city she has moved that her children may take advantage of the educational institutions of that widely noted educational center.

Verbena is to have a circus soon and the small boys there rejoice. We suppose the Sheriff's presence will be needed to settle the thimble-rig performances. A country circus is forced to have this attachment to make any money, and if the law officers would keep a sharp lookout at every point and do their duty they could soon bankrupt such nuisances.

General Merchandise,
At Clanton, Ala.

Respectfully solicits your patronage. Good goods at reasonable prices.

Mr. W. H. Phillips and wife have again become residents of our town after two years sojourn in Montgomery. Mr. Phillips will carry on a retail grocery business in the old drug store building, and will handle a choice stock of family groceries and provisions. He solicits a share of public patronage.

Rev. J. L. Sampey died in Louisville, Ky., Tuesday night. The remains will reach Clanton Thursday morning to be buried in our cemetery. The deceased was well known here where he resided several years. He is the father of Mr. W. L. Sampey and Mrs. A. J. McRee, of this place. He leaves a large number of friends and relatives who will be deeply grieved at his death.

We had a call Friday from a gentleman of the old time whose card read, "Major M. M. O'Sullivan, 10th Tennessee, Gregg's Brigade, Walker's Division." The "Major" at 65 years of age, is a member of that great army of pedestrians known as tramps, and the brilliant hue of his nose is doubtless the cause of his constant perambulations. We can but wish him sobriety and with it will come better fortune.

A philosophical young lady recently made the following observation in regard to young men:

The line of conduct chosen by a young man during the five years from fifteen to twenty will, in almost every instance, determine his character for life. As he is then careful or careless, prudent or imprudent, industrious or indolent, truthful or dissimulating, intelligent or ignorant, temperate or dissolute, so will he be in after years, and it needs no prophet to calculate his chances in life.

Maplesville Dots.

Our public school will be taken charge of by Prof. Garner, of Montevallo. Success to him.

From the way our young townsmen are visiting Randolph lately it is conjectured they find an attraction there.

Mrs. McGary has recovered from her fall and returned to her home in Birmingham.

Mrs. Quilla Goodwin and Mrs. Anna Dabbs are visiting Mrs. N. Goodwin.

It has been remarked by strangers that our eccentric young friend, Tom Foshee's gun, adds more to the life-like appearance of our town than anything else. His gun is crowded with custom. Mr. N. A. Sarporas has been visiting the Misses McGuire of Welch's mill.

Poplar Spring Dots.

The people in this neighborhood are very far behind gathering their crops on account of rain.

Several of our citizens took a flying trip to Birmingham to the fair, they report seeing quite a small hog, weighing 12 hundred pounds only.

We think in a few more weeks, we will be able to open Sabbath School at this place. We wish the interest of everybody.

Your correspondent had a pleasant call from some Lily friends the past week.

Montgomery, Tuscaloosa and Memphis.

F. M. Craig, chief engineer, of Montgomery, Ala., writes as follows: The M., T. & M. railroad is projected to run from Montgomery, Ala., via Prattville, Maplesville, Centerville and Tuscaloosa, Ala., to Artesia, Mississippi, a distance of 359 miles. On the section from Montgomery to Tuscaloosa a distance of 109 miles, 50 miles of the grading have been completed, and work on the remain 59 miles is under way, 200 teams and a large force of men being now at work. The earthwork averages about 30,000 cubic yards per mile, maximum grade 25 per cent, and maximum curve 6 degrees. There are bridges across the Alabama, Cahaba and Black Warrior rivers, 800 ft., 200 ft., and 525 ft., respectively. The surveys for the section from Tuscaloosa to Artesia will be commenced this fall. The principal business of the road will be through western traffic and the transportation of cotton, lumber, naval stores and minerals.

Tracklaying is expected to commence about Nov. 1. The work is in charge of the chief engineer—Engineering News.

SPECIAL OFFER.

For thirty days from October 25th we offer the View at $1 a year. Those subscribers who have kept their subscriptions paid up can take advantage of this offer. By sending us a dollar they will get a year's subscription from the date to which their last payment runs. Money must be sent with each name, as this is a cash in advance proposition.

2018 FIRST AVE. 2020

BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA

Happiness.

"Then shall be happy?" So I told my heart, the summer morning many a year ago. "Then shall be happy, thou shalt have thy part Of mirth and feasting in the great world's show."

Then shall have health and wealth, high fame and praise. The place shall be with those who sit at ease. Then shall have sunshine on the dullest day. And, best of all, my heart, thou shalt have love.

Days, like morning, of my days, I wake. The world is all before me, and I can make for myself a new world, as I wish. So we set out, my heart and I, in mirth, to seek for happiness upon the earth.

God gave us health and wealth, and we were fast. For, for a season, waiting joys to come; God gave us fame and praise, a little and we were, my heart and I, amid the hum of voices, looking on, till one, more dear than all the rest, spoke gentle words and soothed.

Then we grow jubilant with right good things. And happiness came on with flying feet. Draw near, I said, my heart, my heart and I. We could not hold the radiant wanderer fast. One look at her, her lips smiling, was one vision of heaven's bliss—the first, the last. She will return, we said, with love's new law. I am must be happy for us on earth.

We all fair health, my heart and I, and I. There shall be sorrowful, fond dreary ways. We lost our wealth, and none drew near to tell. Of content waiting us in better days. But where is happiness? Alack! we find she is not ours to be won as we list. We have no magic spell wherewith to bind her, none, bright visitant to earth. We need. The road leads to happiness; but lo! Something is saved us from the wreck of fate. We have content, though doubtful blessings last. And we see entwined our crosses great and small. We learn, my heart and I, the world's true worth. And seek for happiness—but not on earth. —All the Year Round.

LOCKED OUT.

"George, what are you going to do with all those latch-keys?" said young Miss Brown to her husband. She was a five weeks' married, and one week mistress of a flat, so she had the right to ask questions and have them answered, too.

George spread the keys out on the table.

"That's for you," and he pushed one toward her. "Five for myself."

"Why five for you?" said the little woman with a point that became her very much.

"Well, you see," he answered, "off I only kept one and gave you the others you would lose them all in turn. I am a very careless person; then some day I would lose mine, and it would depend on you whether I ever got in or not."

"Oh, men are so extremely clever!" said Mrs. Brown mockingly.

"Well, you must admit I have you here," and he tossed the keys in his hand.

Not very long after that George had to go out of town and was kept away all very late.

"By the way," he said, as he sat at breakfast, "if your mother comes down to-day you ought to go back with her. You will be very lonely here this evening. It might be even better if you remained up there all night."

"Perhaps," said Mrs. Brown, "he kissed her and went away."

It was 10 o'clock the next morning when his train stopped at the long tunnel into the Grand Central depot. At half past six he was at the door of his flat in West Forty-ninth street.

"So she did go up to her mother after all," he said to himself as he looked up at the transom from which not a glimmer of light came. "I am very glad; she would have been anxious about my being so late."

He deposited his Gladstone bag on the floor and produced his keys. But the door refused to be opened by the little Yale key; he turned and twisted it; turned his fingers with matches examining it; turned it gently and twisted it vigorously, but the thing would not turn as it ought to in the lock. He ended by sitting down on the stairs and wiping the perspiration from his forehead.

"Well, I'm hanged if this isn't interesting!" he exclaimed.

After while he got up like a giant refreshed and proceeded to make a last effort. As he shook and even kicked the obstinate door he heard a gruff voice from below.

"What's all that row about?"

"I can't get into my room," growled Brown over the stairs, at a man who came up with a light. This was the new janitor.

"Here," said Brown, "I want to get into these rooms of mine, and this blooming key won't open the door. The janitor took the key and tried his hand at it.

"Why, this key doesn't belong to this lock at all," he said, taking it out. "I tell you it does," said Brown angrily, "and if I can't get in here, you will have to let me in by the fire-escape." The next day happened to be unoccupied at the time.

"Look here," said the janitor, "you had just better get out of this. It strikes me you have come to the wrong house. Queerer things than that have happened before now in New York. The last janitor told me to look out for such as you."

"Do you mean that I am trying to queer business?" burst in Brown, with his last remnant of temper utterly gone. "These are my rooms; my wife is away, and I must get in, I tell you."

"I don't know you," said the other. "I am not going to lose my job for you. You will just have to get out."

Brown rushed at him, grabbed him by the collar, and threw him down the stairs.

The janitor picked himself up and ran down to the street to get a policeman. The other looked after him on precisely the same quest.

Now Mrs. Brown had not gone to her mother's at all.

While her late husband was fumbling at the door she had been sitting in the parlor listening to his efforts and laughing softly to herself. After a while she heard another voice. Then came the noise of something falling, which quite put an end to her amusement.

A little, white-robed figure opened the door and looked out, but there was nobody there and nobody down stairs—nothing but George's bag lying on the floor.

What should she do? She did not know anybody in the other flats. Perhaps George would come back soon. At any rate, she made up her mind that she could do nothing but wait.

The hours passed by till finally it was 8 o'clock, and she was in a state of terror.

At about 9 o'clock a policeman from Yorkville police court came looking for her. He said her husband was up there and had sent him to fetch her, though without much expectation of finding her there.

Brown was put forward just as she got in court. The little woman hurried down the aisle followed by the burly messenger. It was plain that so dainty a figure appeared in that dingy place. The listless police on the benches stared at her. The big policeman opened the wicket to let her pass with as much deference as if she were the greatest lady in the land.

"Come up here," said his honor, putting on his glasses, and looking at her with great interest. "Do you know the prisoner?"

Little Mrs. Brown half smiled through the tears that more than threatened to come into her own eyes.

"Oh, yes, that is—my husband."

"Where do you live?" said the justice.

"At 1001 West Forty-ninth street."

"That is very strange," said the justice. "He is charged with trying to break into a flat in that very house last night and assaulting the janitor."

"Oh! it is all a mistake," half sobbed Mrs. Brown. "It is all my fault. George and I were talking about—about—latchkeys, and he said men were much cleverer than women, so I got my brother, when he called yesterday, to change the lock. It was all a joke. I only wanted to—to keep him outside for a few minutes, and—oh, dear, I am so sorry!"

"Discharged!" said his honor as he tore up a little slip of paper which he held in his hand.

"Oh, thank you," said little Mrs. Brown, and the big policeman at the dock forgot to call the next case, he was so interested in watching the pair go down the court together.

"I think he will forgive her," said the judge.

"Anybody would," said the clerk.—(New York Sun.)

Her Opinion of Tom Thumb.

There is a little maid of eight summers living in Pittsburgh who is a bright child, judging by the smart things she says. A few Sundays ago her teacher asked the children to tell her the next time they met who was the greatest man who ever lived. When this young lady came home she at once submitted the question to her papa and mamma. The mother suggested St. Paul, but the father differed and named some other biblical character. The discussion finally became spirited between the parents, and when the child thought they had gone far enough she claimed Tom Thumb was the greatest man.

"Tom Thumb!" exclaimed the mother, curiously. "Why how can you say that?"

"Well, mamma," replied the precocious infant, "the Bible says that the least on earth shall be the greatest in the kingdom of heaven."—(Pittsburgh Dispatch.)

New York's Nickname of "Gotham."

New York is called Gotham because the inhabitants thereof were such wiseacres—the allusion being the three wise men of Gotham "who went to sea in a bowl." Gotham is a parish in Nottinghamshire in England, the inhabitants of which were famed throughout England for their stupidity. They are said to have heard a cuckoo singing in a bush, and never having seen the bird, to have built a fence around the bush, so that the cuckoo might not escape. The name was first applied to the city by Washington Irving, and James K. Paulding, in their "Salmagundi," the last number of which appeared in 1808.—[New York Dispatch.]

Average Length of Life Sentences.

Fifteen years is about the average lifetime sentence. Very few convicts, though sentenced for life, serve more than that period. They die or are pardoned.

In the Missouri prison there are five to-day pardoned every year granted by the Governor. One white and one negro convict are pardoned on the Fourth of July, and two white and one negro convict on Christmas. The long termers get the benefit of this clemency. This I heartily endorse. If fifteen years does not reform a man fifty years will not.—(Globe Democrat.)

TELEGRAPH AND CABLE.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE BUSY WORLD.

A SUMMARY OF OUTSIDE AFFAIRS CONCERNED IN THE NEWS OF THE WEEK FROM UNCLE SAM'S DOMAIN AND WHAT THE CABLE BRINGS.

The original package houses in Toledo, Kansas, closed Saturday.

Silver purchased by the treasury department Monday amounted to $15,000 ounces.

The sale of seats for Stanley's lecture at the Metropolitan opera house, New York, occurred Saturday. They brought over $10,000.

The damage by fire to the steamship Leona, of the Mallory line, will not exceed $5,000. There were about 300 bales of cotton damaged.

The Arkansas Transfer, published in Chicago, and edited by Otto P. Reed, humorist, has been taken possession of by the sheriff on an execution issued on judgments aggregating nearly $1,500 in favor of the Eagle Paper Company and J. A. Fowler. The paper alleged for $1,500 in back issues of the Arkansas Transfer.

THE SOUTH.

BRIEF NOTES OF AN INTERESTING NATURE.

FIFTY ITEMS FROM ALL PORTS IN THE SOUTHERN STATES THAT WILL ENTERTAIN THE READER—ACCIDENTS, FIRES, FLOODS, ETC.

Fire Sunday morning partially destroyed the freight depot of the Florida Southern, in Gainesville, Fla.

The Grand and Davenport hotels, in San Francisco, were destroyed by fire Monday. There was no loss of life, but several very narrow escapes. Loss, $1,500,000.

The Mississippi constitutional convention adjourned Saturday night, it being the eighty-second day of the session. The constitution was adopted with only seven dissenting votes.

The Oxford Land and Improvement Company at Raleigh, N. C., has set on foot a plan for a cotton factory at that place to cost $100,000. The company has been fully organized.

The Evening News says: A company of Northern men are in communication with J. B. Northrop to secure a site for extensive locomotive works in Chattanooga. They have a capital of $500,000 to invest this way.

The Chattahoochee Valley exposition opened at Columbus, Ga., Wednesday, under the most favorable circumstances. Side attractions are unusual in large. Everything points to a complete success of the enterprise.

The North Georgia and Alabama exposition began Wednesday morning. The agricultural display is splendid. The mineral exhibit and manufacturing products are extensive. The outlook for great crowds is splendid.

A dispatch of Monday says: The schooner Ciona, which left New York on September 24th for Savannah, Ga., has not yet arrived, and nothing has been heard from her. She was loaded with railroad iron for the South-Bound road.

A scheme for the building of a new hotel on a first class scale in Raleigh, N. C., is being most favorably considered, and its early consummation is looked for. The site most talked of is in the immediate vicinity of the capitol. The estimated cost is placed at $150,000.

The members of the Alliance had collected about 5,000 bales of cotton at Atlanta, Ala., and sold in a lump on Friday. Buyers representing Luman, Howell and the Alliance buyer, Mr. J. B. Harris, paid the highest price, an average of 9 5/8 for the lot, and shipped it to Liverpool.

The monthly report of the agricultural department of Tennessee states that the situation is not materially changed since the last report. The corn crop, however, falls below the estimate, it being reduced to 37,000,000 bushels. The cotton crop shows an increase; the estimate is now placed at 325,000 bales. The peanut crop is placed at 450,000 bushels.

The contract for erecting the Noble monument at Anniston, Ala., has been let to F. W. Durham, of Charlotte, N. C. It is to be of North Carolina granite, and will cost $5,000. The contract calls for the monument to be in place by the fourth of next July, when it will be unveiled. The monument is to the late Samuel Noble, the founder of Anniston, and one of the first iron workers in that section.

A dispatch of Sunday from Knoxville, N. C., says: The Lenoir Improvement Company has just finished the location of a road between Linville and Blowing Rock, Ark., along the southern face of Grandfather mountain. It is thought that this road upon completion, which is expected by June, 1891, will be the finest mountain drive in the eastern states, the length being sixteen miles through most beautiful scenery.

COTTON MOVEMENT.

OCTOBER STATEMENT SHOWS THE LARGEST BUSINESS KNOWN FOR ONE MONTH.

The October crop statement issued Saturday by Secretary Hester, of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, shows the largest movement of cotton during any single month in the history of the trade, the total number of bales brought into sight during the thirty-one days having reached 1,731,893, against 1,641,219 in October, 1889, an increase of 100,484. Statistics of the trade, prior to the current year, show that on only two occasions have the monthly movements reached as high as 1,600,000. These were in October and November, 1889, and in December, 1887.

The movement from the 1st of September to October 31st includes the total receipts at 21 United States delivery ports of 2,084,073, against 1,884,053 last year, and 1,485,284 in 1888. The net overseas movement by railroads across the Mississippi, Ohio and Potomac rivers is 1,641,219, against 1,282,390 last year, and 1,172,077 the year before last. The southern mill takings, exclusive of the quantity consumed at southern ports, is 99,840, against 100,696 last year, and 90,364 the year before last. The total movement in excess of those held at the movement of the season 234,671, against 168,169 last year, and 217,002 year before last. These make the total amount of the cotton crop brought into sight during September and October 2,083,37 against 2,300,397 last year, and 1,989,937 year before last, an excess during this year of 288,120 bales over the corresponding amount of 1889, and 268,889 ahead of the same period in 1888.

WE ARE GREAT.

SIXTY-TWO MILLIONS OF PEOPLE IN OUR GLORIOUS BULLETIN.

The twelfth Census Bulletin, issued Saturday, says: The population of the United States on January 1, 1890, as shown in the first count of persons and families, exclusive of which persons in the Indian Territory, Indians on the reservation and Alaska, was 62,640,549. These figures may be slightly changed by later and more exact compilations, but surely changes will not be material. In 1880 the population was 59,234,768. The absolute increase of population in the ten years intervening was 12,254,767, and the percentage of increase was 20.88. According to these figures the absolute increase in the decade between 1870 and 1880 was 11,890,412, and the percentage of increase was 20.08.

BUSINESS REVIEW.

DUN & CO.'S REPORT OF TRADE FOR THE PAST WEEK.

The weekly review of trade of R. G. Dun & Co., says: The approach of the elections has caused some slackening of trade at many points, which is obviously temporary. At a few cities, notably St. Louis, there is observed a reaction from the great activity which prevailed just before the new tariff went into effect, the demand for the same having been satisfied by dealings in anticipation of that measure. But at nearly all a new trade continues remarkably large. Foreign trade for the month will certainly prove much the largest known, and the great industries are all unusually active.

At the south business is thriving. New Orleans reports large receipts of sugar and rice and good prices, though the baling of cotton is hindered by the weather, but at Galveston trade improves with better weather and orders are free, and at Savannah receipts are 55,737 bales of cotton, 15,078 casks of rosin and 3,483 of turpentine. At Jacksonville trade is rather dull, but in the northern Atlantic states decidedly active. The great industries are doing more on the whole than at any time in the past. While iron production is at its maximum, and the market at Philadelphia is "very mixed," iron seems stronger and steel weaker.

Cotton is a quarter lower, with goods unchanged and in active demand, and takings by northern spinners fully up to last year's. The general average in prices, because of the advance in breadstuffs, potatoes and dairy products, is a fraction higher than a week ago, and 8.6 per cent higher than a year ago. Exports from this port for four weeks have been $19,000,000, larger in value than last year, when October exports for the whole country were nearly $20,000,000, which indicates for the month much the largest movement on record. Imports here also show an increase over last year of $15,000,000, so that the aggregate for the month may reach $39,000,000.

Failures for the week in the United States are 190, compared with 227 for the corresponding week last year.

SIXTY DROWNED.

VESSELS COLLIDE AND MANY PASSENGERS FIND A WATERY GRAVE.

A New York dispatch of Friday says: The captain of the steamer Humboldt, from South American ports, which arrived here today, reports that at 6 o'clock this morning, six miles east of Barnegat, he sighted a wreck, and bore down to it. The wrecked vessel proved to be the steamer Vizcaya, which sailed hence yesterday for Havana. He saw several persons in the rigging, and sent a boat to their rescue. The chief officer, second officer, surgeon, one engineer and eight of the crew, were taken off and brought here. The persons rescued state that on the evening of the 30th instant, at 8 o'clock, the steamer was run into by a four-masted coal laden schooner supposed to be bound northward. Both vessels sank within five minutes. Captain Cunill, of the Vizcaya, was drowned, as were also a part of her crew, in all about sixty-one persons, sixteen of whom were passengers.

A dispatch of Sunday says: Seven of the crew of the wrecked steamer Vizcaya arrived here last night. A wrecking steamer has returned from the scene of the disaster. On account of the rough weather she was unable to send divers to examine the cabins in search of bodies.

A DENIAL.

OF THE REPORT THAT MEXICO HAS PLACED A DUTY ON AMERICAN CATTLE.

A dispatch of Sunday from San Antonio says: John H. Truitt, a prominent Mexican stock dealer, who has his headquarters at Eagle Pass, Tex., states that there is no truth in the report that Mexico has placed a duty of $2000 a car on American cattle. There is, however, a Mexican cattle. There is, however, a Mexican cattle. There is, however, a Mexican cattle.

CAHNEEN'S

Special Advertising.

Our famous stock of Fall Goods masters of others as to low prices, quality and selection! We are second to none in the South. Our stock is bought cheaper than others from the simple reason that we pay spot cash for our stock as we buy it. Manufacturers very often need the cash, therefore we buy a great part of our stock somewhat less than manufacturers' prices. Our stock is a great deal, by 500 per cent, more numerous than others. We buy and sell larger quantities than others. Our styles are exclusive and we control several exclusive lines of popular goods, which the public will buy because they want the best and cheapest.

Ex-Gov. E. A. O'Neal died at his home in Florence, Ala., last Friday.

Detroit Free Press: The statement in an exchange that "stockings come higher than they did last year," does not refer to any change in the fashions, but to the results of the McKinley tariff.

The elections last week resulted in a Waterloo defeat for the Republicans. The lower house of Congress will have 124 Democratic majority, and Cleveland will again be made President in 1892, if he lives.

The citizens of Tusculum are endeavoring to get the Government to locate a gun factory in that city. The enterprise of the people is to be commended and we hope they will get what they ask for.

A correspondent of the Livingston Journal advocates the holding of a road congress in Sumpter county looking to the improvement of the public roads and the public road system. The idea is a good one. One that not only every county should take hold of, but the State itself. We need better roads and to secure them must have a better system than the present—Tusculum Gazette.

The Geneva Record tells of a smaller man than the Baldwin county dwarf who exhibited himself at the state fair. It says: Major Alonzo Weeks, assistant telegraph operator at this place, stands in his shoes just three feet and four inches high and weighs 59 pounds. The major is manly, bright, and a general favorite. He has just turned 21 years of age, is unmarried, but has an eye for the beautiful in muslin and red ribbons.

If there were to be many Federal elections during his incumbency it is possible that U. S. Marshall Walker, of the Montgomery district, would have the honor of dying while in office. At the election in Montgomery he threatened to remove the election managers appointed by the State authorities and substitute appointees of his own. The Advertiser says that he was forcibly reminded that the State had rights in the premises, and that the lodge bill is not yet law.

"War horses to the rear" is the cry recently started by would be reformers. We have ever favored reform, but we have no patience with this cry. It is not reform, but the echo of base ingratitude prompted by unfounded prejudice. The Jacksonville Republican says: "The man who utters it, proclaims his shameless ingratitude to the men who offered their lives for the South, and who for four long years suffered the pangs of hunger and cold and wounds for their country. Nay, it is a reproach to the gallant Confederate dead who would start in amazement from their graves if they could but hear it from the lips of Southern men. Leave the filiation of the Confederate war horses to the Tom Reeds and other bloody shirkers of the North."

The Anniston Argus tells a very interesting story of a nickel. Ladies try the experiment and give the proceeds to the church. The Argus says: Some time ago the Ladies Aid Society of this city agreed to "invest a nickel in some kind of article and sell it at a profit and reinvest in something else and so on, speculate on this capital for two weeks and see how much each one could make."

One lady on the same evening of the meeting bought a cabbage with her nickel. She carried it home and sold half of it to her neighbor for a nickel. She invested that in vinegar and pickled the remaining half and sold the pickle for 25 cents. She then bought 20 cents worth of cloth and a spool of thread and made it up into three aprons which she sold for 25 cents each, and took the 75 cents and bought molasses and gave a candy pulling to the children, making them pay 10 cents a plate for the candy. The molasses made 21 plates of candy, which made $2.10 cents on one nickel in two weeks' time. How money will grow if properly used.

Total Vote of the County.

The total vote of the county cast for Judge Cobb for Congress on the 4th inst., was only 350 as the following shows:

Mallins	11
Providence	15
Benison	21
Macdonald	12
Chapman	27
Verbiem	91
Kimcheon	33
Mapleville	17
Dixie	15
Total	350

At the State election two years ago the total vote of Clanton beat alone was 100 more than the total vote of the county on the 4th, being about 450, and at the Congressional election two years ago, Judge Cobb received 1800 votes in Clanton county.

AUTAGA RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas, our next legislature will elect a United States senator to succeed Senator Pugh, whose term of office soon expires, and desiring to have a voice in the selection of his successor, therefore be it

Resolved, That our representatives in the legislature be respectfully requested to vote for no man to fill that responsible office who does not approve and endorse the sub-treasury bill or financial plan as advocated by the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union, or some substitute embodying the principles of that bill.

Resolved, further, that our secretary be instructed to forward copies of this resolution to Hon. M. A. Smith and P. A. Wood, our senator and representative in the legislature.

The above resolution was passed by the Autauga county Alliance at its last meeting. Representative P. A. Wood has written an open letter in reply to the resolution in which he states that he will not be governed by it, and that he will not vote for any man for senator who favors the sub-treasury bill.

The Alabama Baptist describes a scene during the San Jones meeting in Montgomery. The service last Sunday afternoon for men only, was the grandest sight ever witnessed in Montgomery. There were present about five thousand men. After a powerful sermon by Mr. Jones, he invited all to come forward who would change their course of living and be reconciled to God and live consistent members of the church. A song was sung, led by the matchless singer, Prof. E. O. Excell, and at least four or five hundred men shook hands with the preacher, with tears flowing down their cheeks, and sobbing and crying from their very souls. It was a grand sight, the like of which we have never witnessed before. Old men, steeped in sin, folded each other in loving embrace and wept and rejoiced. Both white and colored rushed forward and grasped the preacher by the hand and asked him to continue to pray for them, until the large crowd was a moving mass of souls pressing to the front to vow obedience to God and his church. Two old men, who have lived lives of sin and wickedness, clasped each other in their arms and bathed their cheeks in each other's tears. It was a touching scene. No one present, even among the preachers, ever saw such a sight. The spirit of God moved upon the people and the angels sang songs of rejoicing as they saw sinners returning to God. It was a beautiful sight and one that memory will carry to the grave.

MARSHALS AT THE POLLS.
Montgomery Advertiser.
There were scenes in this city yesterday which should arouse the indignation and disgust of every true white man in Alabama. The United States marshal himself at the polls threatening to remove and replace managers appointed and selected as the state law provides, in force, he thought there was unnecessary delay in allowing the colored troops to cast their ballots. That was the spectacle presented to freemen at the polls in this city yesterday, the United States marshal himself endeavoring to override the law. Just such conduct as this is what unites and holds together the white people of Alabama, and so long as they continue there can be no division. The marshal so far forgot himself as to imagine that he could intimidate Mr. Reed, and make a little law to suit the case, but he found that there were other people who knew their rights, and who had the courage and the manhood to maintain them.

Unique Marriage Notice.

The New York Herald of June 1, 1840, contains the following remarkable notice, penned by the paper's editor and proprietor, James Gordon Bennett:

TO THE READERS OF THE HERALD.
Declaration of Love—Caught at Last—Going to be Married—New Movement in Civilization.

I am going to be married in a few days, the weather is so beautiful. Times are getting so good, the prospects of political and moral reform so auspicious that I cannot resist the divine instinct of honest nature any longer.

So I am going to be married to one of the most splendid women in intellect, in heart, in soul, in propriety, in person, in manner, that I have yet seen in the course of my interesting pilgrimage through human life.

I cannot stop in my career, I must fulfil that awful destiny which the Almighty Father has written against my name in the broad letters of life against the wall of Heaven. I must give the world a pattern of happy wedded life, with all the charities that spring from a nuptial love.

In a few days I shall be married according to the holy rites of the most holy Christian church to one of the most remarkable, accomplished and beautiful young women of her age.

She possesses a fortune, I sought and found a fortune—a large fortune. She has no Stenographic shares or Manhattan stock, but in purity and uprightness she is worth half a million of pure coin. Can any swindling bank show as much? In good sense and elegance another half million; in soul, mind and beauty millions on millions; equal to the whole specie of all the rotten banks in the world.

Happily the patronage of the public to the Herald is merely $25,000 per annum, almost equal to a president's salary. But property in the world's goods never my object. Fame, public good, usefulness in my day and generation, the religious associates of female excellence, the progress of true industry—these have been my dreams by night and my desires by day.

Into the new and holy condition into which I am about to enter with the same reverential feeling as I would enter Heaven itself, I anticipate some signal changes in my feelings, in my views, in my purposes, in my pursuits, what they may be, I know not; time alone can tell. My ardent desire through life has been to reach the highest order of human excellence by the shortest possible cut.

Associated night and day, in sickness and in health, in war and in peace, with a woman of the highest order of excellence, must produce some curious results in my heart and feeling, and these results will develop in due time in the columns of the Herald.

Meantime, I return my heartfelt thanks for the enthusiastic patronage of the public, both of Europe and America—the Holy estate of wedlock will only increase my desire to be still more useful. God Almighty bless you all.

Baby Cured.
My baby had the worst case of Catarrh that I ever saw a small child afflicted with. The nasal discharge was very large and very offensive. Having some personal knowledge of the curative properties of S. S. S., I gave the baby a course of S. S. S., using nothing else.

In a short time the discharge from the nose stopped, and the Catarrh was cured entirely and permanently, as there has been no return of it since.

ELECTION ECHOES.

DEMOCRACY CLAIMS THE DAY.

LATEST DISPATCHES SAY THE NEXT HOUSE WILL HAVE A DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY OF 100 MORE THAN THE SENATE.

NEW YORK.—The Sun says: It is a clean democratic sweep this way, and indeed, all over the country, so far as the Sun's dispatches indicate. Tammany has elected Grant by 38,000 majority, along with its entire city ticket.

MONTGOMERY, ALA.—Reports received at the headquarters of the democratic party here indicate that all democratic congressmen in this state have been elected.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.—The election was quiet and without incident here and only along half the vote was polled. Terry, democratic, for congress, running 1,483 to 1,148 for Harrison, republican.

MEMPHIS, TENN.—Over 100 towns show only a loss of two legislators to the republicans, and as they have sixty-six on joint ballot, it cannot now be changed.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA.—A heavy vote was polled everywhere, but it may fall short of previous years by the reason that large numbers of electors were disqualified for non-payment of poll-tax. Up to midnight returns from over 100 towns show an increase in Democratic majorities, and indicate that the State has gone Democratic by 15,000 or 16,000 majority.

LOUISVILLE, KY.—The election passed off quietly. It is reasonably certain that out of eleven congressional districts in Kentucky, ten have gone Democratic by increased majorities. The clearest is in doubt.

JACKSON, MISS.—The Democratic state committee has received returns enough to secure the election of a solid democratic delegation to congress. No trouble reported anywhere. Only about 60 per cent of the white vote came to the polls. The negro vote came to the polls.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—The day was perfect throughout the entire state, clear and crisp, and in cities and towns generally a holiday. A prominent feature was the working of the new Australian ballot system, curiously as to its operations serving to bring out a large vote which otherwise showed, symptoms of being apathetic. In this city there was a heavy vote early.

DETROIT, MICH.—Eighty four districts including twenty-four in Detroit, give Turner (republican) for governor, 9,941; Wilson (democratic) 7,867. The gubernatorial candidates are making a close run with chances in favor of the republican nominee, though he is running behind the rest of the ticket. The present indications from private sources of information are that the democratic forces have carried the first, second, fifth, seventh, eighth and ninth congressional districts, while the republican has carried the third, fourth, sixth and tenth.

THURSTON, N. J.—Democratic senators were elected in Essex, Union, Monmouth, Somerset and Warren counties, which give them control of the senate. The house will also be democratic.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—The Democratic state committee claim that there is no doubt whatever that the Democratic party will have a solid congressional delegation.

MINNESOTA.—The Republican state central committee claims the state by 8,000 to 10,000 plurality, the estimate based on returns received up to 11:30 p. m. The Democratic committee will not concede it. The Democrats claim three congressmen in the first, third and fourth districts, and are hopeful of a Republican, is elected by a small plurality.

CHARLESTON, S. C.—There was no bloodshed in the election, and the regular Democratic ticket is elected by a comfortable majority. Returns come in slowly from the seceded counties. Enough have been received, however, to show that Tillman carried all of them except, perhaps, Beaufort, where the vote is very close.

OMAHA, NEB.—At 10 o'clock returns from over the state are to the effect of the election of Boyd, democratic, for governor, and the choice of three democratic congressmen and the defeat of prohibition.

NEW ORLEANS.—At 10 o'clock, as far as known at this hour (4 p. m.), have been quiet throughout the state. The vote was comparatively light. The present incumbents, all democratic, have been undoubtedly elected in the third, fourth, fifth and sixth congressional districts.

BALTIMORE.—A dispatch to The Sun says that McKim, democratic, is probably elected in the seventh congressional district. He took McKim in his own (McKim's) county by 100 majority. Returns from the fourth congressional district give McKim, democratic, a majority of 6,600 over Goldsborough, republican. The third congressional district gave McKim, democratic, a majority of 6,612 over Pullman, republican.

CINCINNATI.—Seven hundred and fifty-two precincts outside of Hamilton county, give Ryan, republican, 129,912; Caskey, democratic, 122,447; Lockwood, 8,876. The same precincts in 1890: Foraker 123,880; Campbell, 127,960; Hewing, 5,728. Ohio elects eight republicans and twelve democrats. The sixteenth district to bear from. Early returns from nearly every section of the state indicate a republican victory on minor-state officers by majorities ranging from 15,000 to 20,000.

BOSTON, MASS.—The republicans concede Russell's election for governor by 5,000 to 7,000 plurality. The following congressmen were elected: First district, Russell, republican; second district, Russell, republican; third district, Russell, republican; fourth district, Russell, republican; fifth district, Russell, republican; sixth district, Russell, republican; seventh district, Russell, republican; eighth district, Russell, republican; ninth district, Russell, republican; tenth district, Russell, republican; eleventh district, Russell, republican; twelfth district, Russell, republican.

TEXAS.—A great interest is manifested in the election in Texas. The judgment of all parties is that 800,000 votes were polled. Intense interest is centered in four congressional districts, the first, third, sixth and seventh. In Orange county many Farmers' Alliance men deserted the Alliance candidates and are voting for Humphrey, republican, for governor, and Robinson, republican, for congress. Similar reports come from Marshall and Cloud counties. The indications are that for the first time in many years Kansas sends a broken republican delegation to congress.

CHICAGO.—Of the twenty congressional districts in Illinois, the indications, at 10:30 p. m., point to the undoubted election of ten republican congressmen and six democratic congressmen, with four districts of the state still in doubt.

NASHVILLE, TENN.—The day passed off very quietly, so far as heard from, with a light vote in middle and western Tennessee, democratic stronghold. The Australian ballot law is working beautifully, barring the fact that comparatively few negroes know how to vote under it. The poll-tax qualification also has a tendency to reduce the vote. Buchanan, democratic, candidate for governor, virtually has a walk-over over Baxter, republican, and Kelley, prohibitionist.

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—Indications point to a democratic victory in the congressional and gubernatorial districts.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—When the polls closed at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the most exciting and exciting political struggle in the history of Milwaukee came to an end. The feature of the day was the activity of the Catholic and Lutheran clergy, in marshaling their forces against the Bennett law. The republican loss one congressman, Mitchell, a democrat, being elected in this district. The democrats claim the election of Peck and the entire democratic state ticket, but returns are too meagre to warrant the claim, and the republicans think Howard is elected.

RALEIGH, N. C.—The election returns have come in slowly and estimates of the result will have to be given in nearly all cases. Heavy gains are made by the Democrats in the first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, ## WE ARE MASTERS OF THE SITUATION!

Room is what we want. We must have it. How do we intend to get it? We will sell Dry Goods, Millinery, Gents' Furnishing goods, House Furnishing goods, so low that they will just simply fly out of our large establishment.

A VISION OF LOVELINESS! A HOUSE FULL OF CONVINCING TRUTHS!

Our Fall and Winter business is starting out under very flattering auspices! We can so far look ahead that we can see what a grand success this season will be with us. We are doing the best business of our line in the city, in the past, now, forever and always!

2018 FIRST AVE. 2020

CAHREEN'S

Our famous stock of Fall Goods masters of others as to low prices, quality and selection! We are second to none in the South. Our stock is bought cheaper than others from the simple reason that we pay spot cash for our stock as we buy it. Manufacturers very often need the cash, therefore we buy a great part of our stock somewhat less than manufacturers' prices. Our stock is a great deal, by 200 per cent, more numerous than others. We buy and sell larger quantities than others. Our styles are exclusive and we control several exclusive lines of popular goods, which the public will buy because they want the best and cheapest.

The Songs That Mother Sang.
Go sing the songs you cherish well,
Each one and simple lay;
Go chime the notes till bosoms swell
With strains that softly play.
All are yours to sacred keep
Your choicest treasures' store;
But leave for me, till memory sleep,
The songs that mother sang.

When life's dark passions, plaintive' round,
Fall from the weary way,
To bring in soothing, mournful sound
The thrills of dismal day.
Then softly back lost strains will steal,
From cradle anthem rung,
To drown the woe that sorrow feels
In songs that mother sung.

When mirth and sadness—as they will—
Recall those times ago,
To wake the memories lingering still
Mid life's bright morning dew;
Then, dreaming vividly 'neath the rest,
As when our childhood clung,
We lie and listen, on her breast,
The songs that mother sung.

And when the ebb of twilight,
After across the strand,
Sets out where the willows ride,
Beyond life's shifting sand,
In soft refrain, above the roar
Of sea and mad waters flung
A back, bring back to me once more
The songs that mother sung.

ARNOLD'S WOOLING.

"I tell you, Arnold, you are making a fool of yourself."
"I know I am," said the individual addressed, with something like a groan, "but what can I do? If I only had the courage I would clear out of this cursed Narragansett this very night, but I can't and that's the end of it. Why should I stay? The girl doesn't want me, Johnson, that's all."
Johnson blew a big cloud of tobacco smoke, put his heels on the rail of the piazza, and answered with great deliberation: "It is not clear that the girl does not want you, but it is clear that you showed your hand too soon. The idea of a man proposing to a woman he has only known three days!"
"You need not say any more about it," said Arnold, throwing away his half-smoked cigar and picking up his hat.
"Sit down, old man," said the other, "I do believe that I have an idea. I am going to do you a good turn. I am going to find out for you what is the exact state of affairs."
"There is no use," said Arnold, "and besides, you'll make a fool of it. What is your plan, my boy?"
"Oh, it is very simple," said Johnson. "I shall not make a mess of it. I will supply her with a rival. It will be very easy to see from the way Miss Ralston takes it how you really stand in her eyes. Since women have no sense about employing artifice, why should we?"
"But what will the other girl say?" asked Arnold, dubiously.
"Oh, I'll make that square. My cousin, Miss Erskine, is coming down to stay with me. She is the dearest girl in the world, and would do anything for me. Just leave it in my hands. You shall see how she will enter into the spirit of the thing. But remember this, the success of the whole business will be in your chucking that infernal reserve of yours to the dogs. You must be as light as air, and go about with her as if quite oblivious to the fact that there is a Miss Ralston on the premises."
With many misgivings Arnold consented to be a party to the deception. He felt as if he were a prospective party to a burglary, or hatching conspiracy against the State.

On the evening of Miss Erskine's arrival he dressed himself with special care and went up to the house. He was prepared to be very ill at ease with his fellow conspirator. But the girl who was sitting beside Mrs. Johnson in the drawing room showed no signs of conscious participation, though the proposer of the scheme had told him that she had been told all about the situation, and had given her promise of assistance.

Among those who came in later was Miss Ralston. Johnson felt that his plot was going to be a success when he saw Arnold take no more notice of her than to bow stiffly. He wondered a little at the gift for realistic getting which his friend had suddenly and unexpectedly developed. To look at him and Miss Erskine you would have said they were friends of very long standing. His triumph was increased, though it was dashed by just a little remorse, as he saw Miss Ralston watching them with a peculiar look in her eyes.

"She does care for him," he said to himself, "but it serves her right to get this lesson."

Mr. Johnson gave her an opportunity of talking to him, but she made no allusion to the other couple for a long time. Finally she asked him how long Arnold and Miss Erskine had known each other. She seemed surprised, though she tried to hide it, when told that they had met for the first time that day.

During the next week the comedy progressed gayly. The hero and substituted heroine walked together, played tennis together, and were generally inseparable.

One evening on the pier Mr. and Mrs. Johnson saw them passing the place where the lady sat for whose benefit the play was arranged.

"We won't have to keep it much longer," said Mr. Johnson. "That is glorious!" said Mrs. Johnson. "That is glorious!" said Mrs. Johnson.

All Arnold's impishness had flown away, too. The consciousness of coming success seemed to have settled down on him. He was no longer impatient, and instead of being the worst, had developed into the best company in the world. Johnson one day told his wife that he believed Providence had cut him out for a diplomat. Every sign given by the person deceived, he watched with the keen eye of a doctor observing the details and development of a pet case.

Early next week he had to go up town. At the end of three days he came back. He was quite curious to know how the plot had progressed during his absence. Arnold was the first person he saw as he descended from the train. He knew that there was nothing wrong from the expression of his face.

"Well, how have things been going while I was away?" said he with a fine professional interest.

"Splendidly," said Arnold. "You shall be the first to congratulate me, old man. It was settled this afternoon."

"I do," said Johnson, wringing his hand with a vigor that made the other wince. "And I hope she won't be angry with me for planning the deception we played on her. Miss Ralston is a fine girl, old fellow, but a hard one to manage."

"Miss Ralston?" said Arnold. "Why, my dear boy, your cousin promised to marry me today."—[New York Sun.]

Every sign given by the person deceived, he watched with the keen eye of a doctor observing the details and development of a pet case.

Early next week he had to go up town. At the end of three days he came back. He was quite curious to know how the plot had progressed during his absence. Arnold was the first person he saw as he descended from the train. He knew that there was nothing wrong from the expression of his face.

"Well, how have things been going while I was away?" said he with a fine professional interest.

"Splendidly," said Arnold. "You shall be the first to congratulate me, old man. It was settled this afternoon."

"I do," said Johnson, wringing his hand with a vigor that made the other wince. "And I hope she won't be angry with me for planning the deception we played on her. Miss Ralston is a fine girl, old fellow, but a hard one to manage."

"Miss Ralston?" said Arnold. "Why, my dear boy, your cousin promised to marry me today."—[New York Sun.]

son in the drawing room showed no signs of conscious participation, though the proposer of the scheme had told him that she had been told all about the situation, and had given her promise of assistance.

Among those who came in later was Miss Ralston. Johnson felt that his plot was going to be a success when he saw Arnold take no more notice of her than to bow stiffly. He wondered a little at the gift for realistic getting which his friend had suddenly and unexpectedly developed. To look at him and Miss Erskine you would have said they were friends of very long standing. His triumph was increased, though it was dashed by just a little remorse, as he saw Miss Ralston watching them with a peculiar look in her eyes.

"She does care for him," he said to himself, "but it serves her right to get this lesson."

Mr. Johnson gave her an opportunity of talking to him, but she made no allusion to the other couple for a long time. Finally she asked him how long Arnold and Miss Erskine had known each other. She seemed surprised, though she tried to hide it, when told that they had met for the first time that day.

During the next week the comedy progressed gayly. The hero and substituted heroine walked together, played tennis together, and were generally inseparable.

One evening on the pier Mr. and Mrs. Johnson saw them passing the place where the lady sat for whose benefit the play was arranged.

"We won't have to keep it much longer," said Mr. Johnson. "That is glorious!" said Mrs. Johnson. "That is glorious!" said Mrs. Johnson.

All Arnold's impishness had flown away, too. The consciousness of coming success seemed to have settled down on him. He was no longer impatient, and instead of being the worst, had developed into the best company in the world. Johnson one day told his wife that he believed Providence had cut him out for a diplomat. Every sign given by the person deceived, he watched with the keen eye of a doctor observing the details and development of a pet case.

ARNOLD'S WOOLING.

"I tell you, Arnold, you are making a fool of yourself."
"I know I am," said the individual addressed, with something like a groan, "but what can I do? If I only had the courage I would clear out of this cursed Narragansett this very night, but I can't and that's the end of it. Why should I stay? The girl doesn't want me, Johnson, that's all."
Johnson blew a big cloud of tobacco smoke, put his heels on the rail of the piazza, and answered with great deliberation: "It is not clear that the girl does not want you, but it is clear that you showed your hand too soon. The idea of a man proposing to a woman he has only known three days!"
"You need not say any more about it," said Arnold, throwing away his half-smoked cigar and picking up his hat.
"Sit down, old man," said the other, "I do believe that I have an idea. I am going to do you a good turn. I am going to find out for you what is the exact state of affairs."
"There is no use," said Arnold, "and besides, you'll make a fool of it. What is your plan, my boy?"
"Oh, it is very simple," said Johnson. "I shall not make a mess of it. I will supply her with a rival. It will be very easy to see from the way Miss Ralston takes it how you really stand in her eyes. Since women have no sense about employing artifice, why should we?"
"But what will the other girl say?" asked Arnold, dubiously.
"Oh, I'll make that square. My cousin, Miss Erskine, is coming down to stay with me. She is the dearest girl in the world, and would do anything for me. Just leave it in my hands. You shall see how she will enter into the spirit of the thing. But remember this, the success of the whole business will be in your chucking that infernal reserve of yours to the dogs. You must be as light as air, and go about with her as if quite oblivious to the fact that there is a Miss Ralston on the premises."
With many misgivings Arnold consented to be a party to the deception. He felt as if he were a prospective party to a burglary, or hatching conspiracy against the State.

On the evening of Miss Erskine's arrival he dressed himself with special care and went up to the house. He was prepared to be very ill at ease with his fellow conspirator. But the girl who was sitting beside Mrs. Johnson in the drawing room showed no signs of conscious participation, though the proposer of the scheme had told him that she had been told all about the situation, and had given her promise of assistance.

Among those who came in later was Miss Ralston. Johnson felt that his plot was going to be a success when he saw Arnold take no more notice of her than to bow stiffly. ### NEWS OF THE SOUTH

BRIEF NOTES OF AN INTERESTING NATURE.

POITY ITEMS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTHERN STATES THAT WILL INTEREST THE READER—ACCIDENTS, FIRES, FLOODS, ETC.

The Memphis Appeal has purchased the Aralanche. The paper is now known as the Appeal-Aralanche.

Rube Smith, one of Rube Burrows' gang, was convicted of train robbing at Jackson, Miss., Thursday.

The eleventh annual convention of the American Mechanical Engineers convened at Richmond, Va., Tuesday.

H. W. Wise, one of the leading merchants of Savannah, Ga., failed Thursday. His liabilities are estimated at $35,000.

Savannah's total cotton receipts since September 1st, upland and sea island, passed the half-million mark Thursday.

The National Grange began its annual session in Atlanta, Ga., Wednesday. Many prominent members of the order were in attendance.

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the Georgia railroad directors was held at Augusta, Tuesday. Only routine business was transacted.

At Dallas, Texas, Wednesday, Solomon Richardson, a negro, was arrested for the theft of $14,000 from the Wells-Fargo cash and was sentenced to a dishonorable dismissal from the army.

The store of Abe Meyer, at Shreveport, La., was burglarized, Thursday night. The safe was drilled and $34,000 in notes, cash and mortgages were stolen. There is a clue. The job bears the imprint of experts.

Lieutenant George M. Turner, of the Eighteenth infantry, was found guilty by a court martial at Fort Clark, Texas, Wednesday, of embezzlement of bank funds and was sentenced to dishonorable dismissal from the army.

The National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union will convene at Ocala, Fla., on December 2d. The Louisville and Nashville railroad will transport delegates free upon all lines of its system to River Junction and return.

It was reported from Natchez, Miss., Wednesday, that a company of Boston and New York capitalists have purchased 14,000 acres of land in Concordia Parish, La. They propose to levee and make it the model cotton plantation of the world.

The seventh annual session of the Southern Homoeopathic Medical Association convened at Birmingham, Ala., Wednesday. The attendance was the largest in the history of the association, and many visitors from northern cities were present.

A dispatch of Wednesday from Huntsville, Ala., says: Madison county has been awarded the first premium of $300 on agricultural exhibits at the Southern Exposition at Montgomery, which entitles her to the honor of the banner county in the Southern States.

The tobacco growers of Kentucky, and the warehouse trust of Cincinnati and Louisville, held separate meetings in London, Wednesday, to discuss the proposed consolidation of the Cincinnati and Louisville warehouses for the purpose of controlling prices and products.

A dispatch of Wednesday, from Charleston, S. C., says: The contracts for the sale of the Barronville and Backsville and the Alston and Newberry railroads to the West Shore Terminal, have been signed, and Receiver Chamberlain, of the South Carolina railway, has gone to New York to close up the business.

Governor Powell, of North Carolina, was informed Thursday by the contractors that the executive mansion will be ready for occupancy by the end of the year. He has, therefore, decided to hold his New Year's reception there. It will be the first public reception of the kind by a governor in that state in twenty-five years.

Argument in the Hemingway case began at Jackson, Miss., Monday. Judge Calhoun opened the argument. Three hours will be allowed on a side. Judge Calhoun and A. J. McLaure will be the only speakers for the defense, and Attorney General Miller and Williamson for the State. The defendant was in court and seemed cheerful.

The stockholders of the Dallas Manufacturing Co. organized at Montgomery Tuesday evening and elected directors. The officers will be elected at a later day. This is Huntsville's million dollar cotton factory. Work begins on erecting buildings January 1st, next. New York and Baltimore capital is also represented in the factory.

At a meeting Wednesday, of the committee on ceremonies for laying the corner stone of the Girl's Industrial school, which takes place on the 27th, at Millidgeville, invitations were extended to Georgia legislators to take part in the exercises.

A Washington dispatch says: In three weeks from Monday congress will again be at work. The principal efforts will be exerted in the direction of enacting the appropriation bill, and passing the force bill through the senate. The latter has already passed the house. If the senate passes it, then all necessary to make it a law is the president's signature. The chances are that this measure will be one of the first called up for action when the senate convenes, and a later fight may be looked for.

WITHIN THREE WEEKS
CONGRESS WILL AGAIN CONVENE—THE PROBABLE PROGRAM.

A Washington dispatch says: In three weeks from Monday congress will again be at work. exercised. The citizens are almost wild in their determination to make the event a memorable one, and the programme is very interesting.

A Chattanooga dispatch of Thursday says: The South Tredgar Iron and Nail works, one of the oldest plants of Chattanooga, but which has been practically idle for two years, has been sold to the Cardiff Land Company, and will be moved to Cardiff, Tenn., in the very near future. The first intimation of the deal was circular issued by the Cardiff company asking subscriptions of stock to the South Tredgar works.

An opinion of great importance to building associations in Tennessee was rendered by Chancellor Allison, of Nashville, on Tuesday. The county trustees of Davidson county assessed associations for taxes on real estate mortgages held by them. The associations carried the case to the chancery court. The chancellor holds that such mortgages were legally assessed, and are subject to taxation. The cases will go to the supreme court.

A special from Charleston, W. Va., says that Bul McCoy was waylaid and killed and William Dyre and Ples McCoy, on Peters creek, Pike county, Kentucky, Wednesday. The vicinities passed them, when they turned in their saddles and shot him through the back, firing several shots into his head. McCoy fell from his horse. The murder stirred up tremendous excitement among the McCoy and Hatfields.

The board created by the last congress, to report on a location for a heavy gun factory to be established at some point in the Gulf States, arrived in San Antonio, Texas, Tuesday. They were shown over the city, and were so favorably impressed that they will make a favorable report, understood, to the war department.

San Antonio was selected as the site for the proposed factory, which will require an outlay of $1,500,000, and when in operation will employ one thousand men.

The reports made Wednesday to the Baptist state convention at Shelby, show that there are now in North Carolina seventeen hundred Baptist Sunday schools, with one hundred and twenty-five thousand pupils. There are now at the nine stations in Mexico, China and Africa twenty-seven missionaries from North Carolina, and three more will leave next month for China. There are one hundred and four missionaries at work in the state, they being located in thirty-two of the thirty-nine associations.

TIGHT MONEY
CAUSES SEVERAL BUSINESS DISASTERS—TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY.

A New York dispatch of Wednesday says: William Nelson Cromwell, assignee of Decker, Howell & Co., who went to the city Tuesday, makes the following statement: "Liabilities are between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000, most of which is due to banks and bankers on loans. Assets are largely in excess of the liabilities, and nearly every loan is well secured by collateral. The failure was due to the extreme money stringency which prevented it from completing its daily amount of borrowing."

The North River bank, at the corner of Dey and Greenwich streets, closed its doors Wednesday afternoon, the state bank examiner taking charge of it at once. The bank is a member of the clearing house. It operates under a state charter granted in 1842. Last week the clearing house circular showed the North River bank as having a capital of $340,000, surplus of $118,500, loans, $2,000,013; deposits, $1,975,000, cash on hand, and $270,000. It loaned too much money, and the cause of the present difficulties is simply tight money."

Charles M. Whitney, Frank M. Larcher and Edwin L. Larcher, three members of the board of directors of C. M. Whitney & Co., at 90 Broadway, which assigned Tuesday, filed separate assignments Wednesday forenoon to George H. Quintard, who is also an assignee of the firm.

A Richmond dispatch says: H. H. Meyer, dry goods dealer, assigned Wednesday. Liabilities, $70,000; assets, unknown. Among the preferred creditors is Samuel Sideliers, of New York, for $4,000.

The weather has for sometime been very favorable for gathering, but it now threatens destruction to unharvested crops.

We saw in the last issue that a man had caught 20 opossums with two little dogs but we know one, Mr. T. L. Roberson, who has caught 45 with only one dog.

Mr. Elijah Roberson has resumed work on his new residence which will be an ornament to the settlement when completed.

Many of our citizens attended the Southern Exposition and were so forcibly struck with the importance of the same that they talk of having a county exhibit which the farmers would do well to consider.

The people have contributed liberally to Mr. John Baker whose house was burned with all its contents. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Mr. J. B. Wells is having his face treated by a doctor from Montgomery. The doctor guarantees a cure or no pay. If a cure is effected he will be paid not only with money but with good will also. It seems to be a cancer incurable.

A correspondent makes a complaint against us that when a poor man visits Clanton the View does not always notice him in the locals as it does a rich man. If this is true (we don't know but one or two rich men in this part of the country) we are between the "devil and the deep blue sea" sure enough. About every well-to-do and influential citizen of the county has the tact and good judgment to be a subscriber to this paper, and we feel under obligations to all such for their encouragement, besides if friends they generally call at our office when in Clanton, another exhibition of good judgment, as they know we have no time to run around and hunt them up, even if they are "rich" men. It is this tact and sagacity in things small and great that makes men well-to-do and influential. We were invited to join a labor organization and were told that we would be boycotted and things would be made unpleasant for us if we did not. We did not join when we learned that we would be expected to raise a howl every week against a certain class, simply because its members were not poor men, as the world sees them, the great majority being our friends and patrons, and having placed us under obligations to them by substantial encouragement. The boycott may have come, but we could never know that it did, as our patrons did not seem to be concerned in it. This does not mean that we have no poor men among our patrons, for many of our best patrons are of that class. Our correspondent has simply jumped at a conclusion on account of an imagined slight. It is a fact that he is not a patron and has not been in our office in over three years, and we would kindly suggest to him that he take more interest in every enterprise in the county public or private, and then hustle around and make his presence known and felt, if he would improve his condition and keep his name before the public. We have run the View upon the principle that both the rich and the poor need all the kindness they can get in a selfish world, and we have never taken part in growling at either class simply because it was rich or poor. We mention this only to satisfy the wonderful degree of egotism displayed by our correspondent. If he comes around and subscribes we shall stick his name in the View every time the "local" or the "devil" can lay eyes upon him, in order that all the world may know that he is "still alive and still a'kickin'."

WOMAN'S WORLD.

FLORIAN LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

COURTLY HAIR.
It is related that one Parisian woman, whose hair had reached the length of six feet, refused an offer of $10,000 for it. The present market value of pure white hair, of four centures, in France, is about $500 per ounce, and the price is constantly advancing. Next to the pure white, and coming next to the pure white, is that of "virgin gold."
—Gossard-Journal.

NEW PHASE OF THE SERVANT GIRL QUESTION.

One of the oldest contributions to the really large body of literature called forth by the "servant girl question" is the proposal of Mrs. Frances Darwin, in an English magazine, that the servant girl when applying for a situation, should have the same right to ask for references from her mistress as the mistress has to ask from her former servants. This assumes a judicial-mindedness and power of expression on the part of the servant which hardly ever passes, and it assumes, too, that the servant girls do not already ask for references from their mistresses for each other. The truth is, that nearly every employer's character, as an employer, is pretty well known to all the servant girls in the neighborhood. They describe the ways of the people they live with to one another at their Sunday evening conferences with a minuteness and prolixity which leaves nothing to be desired in the way of information about dress, habits, kind, and amount of work. It would be a waste of labor for any employer to appoint standing referees, because their judgment would either be superfluous or ineffective, and would, besides this, be highly colored for the reasons of the referee for leaving or staying in the house.
—Argonaut.

ANOTHER EMPLOYMENT FOR WOMEN.

An amateur photographer of the Listener's acquaintance tells him that it is next to impossible to get a picture from the photographic printers under six weeks, so utterly unprecedented has been the demand for pictures from the printers with the negative which represent their vacation photographing. Certainly there have never been so many amateur photographers abroad in the land as the present season; and as of course only a few of these immense army of photographers print from their own negatives, the printing has to be done after they come back to town, and they all wait it done at once. Result, a dreadful congestion of negatives at the printers, and hope deferred that makes the best sick and dazed fingers are especially adapted; and some few of them have worked into it very well. The Listener knows of one young woman who put $2000 in the bank last year, representing the clear profits of one year's work in printing photographs. And evidently this year this year is on a larger scale than last year. Women's work in this branch is acknowledged by photographic experts to be superior to that done by men. But perhaps it will be with this business as with so many others; the success of some encourage others to enter it, and at last it will be overcrowded and precarious. But even then there will be "room at the top," as usual.
—Boston Transcript.

PAMINO NOTES.

As many women as men now wear the Gossard suit.

Underdressed white kid gloves, with gauntlets to the elbow, are now very much in fashion.

The Amazon cloth appears with a new face, for, besides the plum colors and the speckled surfaces, they are checked.

From Paris comes the news that coral is again in vogue, and is appearing in the ballroom and the theatre dress.

Holland twills and place molars in handsome coloring appear among the stylish traveling dresses for this season.

Among the importations are black velvet sailor hats, with a Prince of Wales collar of black ostrich plumes set up in front.

A new ribbon girle used on light silk dresses made with French waists requires eight yards of the two-inch gros grain. The belt is stiffened with erioline; the ends, which tie in front, are finished with double ruffles made of the ribbon.

The leading characteristic of this season's millinery is richness of ornamentation, an elaboration and showiness of effect that have not been equalled in recent years. Amazez, this trimming shows an endless variety of new details.

Although good goods are much used, smooth tuffs, cashmere and fad cloths, will be used, not only for household house goods, but also for street wear. The pattern dresses that come in boxes with the trimming already applied are favorites with the fashionable.

Plaids of mighty size appear in large quantities among the recent importations. A novelty among these is a plaid of astrakhan on plain goods, the curled loops being like those of astrakhan fur. The most chic of these is beige and brown, plaided with black astrakhan crossbar.

Astrakhan promises to be in special favor in many ways. It forms a part of the figure of applied trimming; is used for the cuffs and collar of bodies and as a band about the skirt. It enters into the trimming of hats and bonnets and is to be used for a part or the whole of outdoor garments.

Bordered dress goods are much liked. A late wrinkle is a border of black astrakhan on different colored cloths. There are graduated ball borders either in black or color or of the same color as the dress goods; and also bordered and still others that are narrow and are like shaggy selvages.

There is a full yield of apples only in a circumscribed section of the West. Almost all the good apples this season are west of the Mississippi River.

The Atlantic breakers have a force of three tons to the square foot.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Love is more than emotion.

Love has no inside pockets.
Honeybees never sting one another.
To live forever apologizes for coming.
The truth never apologizes for coming.
Men who can drink or eat it alone, generally do it.

A woman with a wart on her nose has a looking glass.

The world is crowded with people who are misanthropes.

No man is right who is willing to give wrong home room.

The most far-sighted people are those who see the unseen.

When you want to see a great way, keep your eyes shut.

The result of a man's life will depend upon what he loves.

One way to do a great deal of good, is to do a little every day.

Keep your heart cheerful, and you will soon have a face to match it.

The man who knowingly does wrong is the biggest of all cowards.

Character is something other people's lives have brought out in us.

A barfooted soldier is not much account in either marching or fighting.

A man's goodness is not very vital if it never reaches beyond his own door sill.

The people who would have done so and so, if they had been there, never get there.

People who know a thing themselves, are sure to make somebody else think about it.

The way to get your children to go where you want them to, is to walk the way you point.

Virtues of the Sunflower.

Riding on an Erie Railroad train I overheard a commuter tell a fellow-passenger how much he had suffered during the past week with malaria fever. "You could easily remedy that," said the man spoken to. "How?" asked the sick man.

"Why, by simply planting sunflowers around your place. They will soon absorb the dampness of the soil, as well as the poisonous gases in the air about your house," replied the fellow man.

A large florist of Jersey added: "The sunflower absorbs the emanations from swampy lands as well as the gas which arises from bogs, and has been found a preventive for intermittent fevers arising from those causes. It is a very hardy plant and easy to grow."

The experiment of planting these flowers for the prevention of malaria fever was first successfully tried by a man named Murray, in Washington, years ago. He planted the flowers around one of the Government buildings which stood on a hundred feet from a marsh caused by the overflowing of the Potomac River.

The Erie Railroad employees have also become aware of the virtues of the plant, and hundreds of them are growing around the signal tower at the Bergen end of the Erie tunnel. They have been planted some five years, since which time none of the men constantly employed about there have suffered from malaria fever.

"The best land in the South does not have there," said my informant, "for its seeds are useful for the oil which they contain, and which is converted into salad oil, and can also be burnt. For fattening chickens there is no better food than these seeds. The petals of the flower contain sections of which bees are very fond, and are also used in the manufacture of chrome yellow. In China, where the plant is plentiful, from the stalks a fibre is obtained, with a mixture of silk into clothing. I can even tell that the seeds, when dried, crushed, and scalded with hot water, make a fair beverage, but I have never tried that particular branch of the plant's usefulness."

Agriculture in Ancient China.

In 1100 B. C. the prime minister of the Emperor Wen-Wang, Tchou-Kung, constructed norias or hydraulic machines of simple design and working, by which water was raised to a height to which it had never been carried before, and made reservoirs and canals for irrigation. Water was conducted, by means of machinery, from the wells to the dry hills, and water provision was assured for times of drought. Agriculture, in consequence, flourished. Other measures of Tchou-Kung comprised the propagation of laws respecting the boundaries of properties and the prevention of trespasses. The fields were divided into squares called wells from their resemblance to the Chinese character, signifying a well, surrounded and furrowed by ditches arranged in eight families, each filling his own tract, united in cultivating the ninth, interior tract, which belonged to the State, and the produce of which paid their rent.

The system succeeded to a marvel. Each tenant was proprietor of about fifteen acres, the whole product of which belonged to him, while the State was really proprietor of the whole, and had, as a landlord, the income of the ninth tract. Besides this, each farmer had some 3500 square metres of ground for his farm-yard and his mulberry-trees. Thus he always enjoyed a surplus of provision, of pork and poultry for food, and silk for clothing. No one at this time was richer or poorer than another, but a complete social equality existed, and every one, they say, was satisfied.

The Cat's Lesson.

During his stay at Freelsburg, Prince Albert, a son of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, diverted himself by tormenting the life out of the Cat's favorite dog. One day the Emperor of Russia, as he was passed along the shore of the Lake of Karom, which bounds the park of Freelsburg on one side, perceived the young Prince in the act of taking up his dog in his arms and throwing him into the water. Half in sport, half in anger, Alexander III. ran posthaste to the young man—who is his nephew by the by—and, seizing him by the coat collar, threw him into the lake in his turn, saying: "As you seem to be so fond of water, I'll give you a taste of it for once."

Since this occurrence, Prince Albert has given the Cat's pet dog a wide berth.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE FARMERS' ALLIANCE FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE GREAT ORGANIZATION.—EXCERPTS FROM THE REFORM PRESS.

The annual meeting of the Colored National Farmers' Alliance and Co-operative Union is for the same date as that of the Supreme Council of the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union, at Ocala, Florida.

The Houston (Tex.) Echo says: "The farmers will not begin to legislate for the lawyers. When they do, what have there will be with the mountains of pre-empted piled up in every State by the numbers of lawyers."

The Patrons' Enterprise (Big Rapids, Mich.) says: "The most encouraging thing regarding the farmer and laboring man is that he is thinking. The majority have in the past let others do it for them, and they are beginning to think for themselves."

The Industrial Free Press (Winfield, Kan.) says: "It is said that while the Alliance delegation of old soldiers was receiving Polk, Livingston, and the rest of the Southern delegation of Tophis last week, there was not a dry eye among those old veterans, both North and South. The tears rolled down those furrowed cheeks in streams. It was a meeting never to be forgotten by eye witnesses or those who took part in the greeting."

The Alliance Visitor (Sulphur Springs, Texas) says: "A great many just at this time are denouncing the sub-treasury plan, when in reality half of them don't know what the plan is, why they oppose it. They only know that a bill called the sub-treasury bill was introduced into congress, and that Mills and others said it was 'unconscionable' and that many other sections in regard to it that they cannot sustain by the facts in the case."

Col. Livingston spoke Wednesday at Montgomery to 20,000 people from every section of Alabama. He demonstrated the Southern Free Press and the Visitor were very much the cause of the signal victory to the Democratic party, and he said the Democratic party owed a debt of gratitude to the Alliance move. He presented a check for $100,000 to the Alliance of the people of Alabama. He demonstrated the Alliance platform with the Democratic platform, and declared that the success of the one was the assurance of the other.

The Chick County Farmer (Beaver Dam, Ky.) says: "A recent meeting of the Alliance of Alabama, it was decided to hold their year of cotton until a fair price could be had for it. The meeting resolved that where members were in debt, that they store the cotton and money be advanced them that they may hold their products against the power of the oppressor. They are getting into effect the sub-treasury plan before it has been passed by congress. If the brotherhood of Alabama is not the farmer, they are the people who are the cause of their example and experience, we would soon be able to dictate prices on our tobacco, corn, wheat, etc., as they do on their cotton. More co-operation is what we need."

The following resolutions were voted down in Hickman (Kentucky) County Alliance by only a small majority: Resolved, That this County Alliance appoint a committee to petition the members of all denominations, requesting them to denounce the rich for their covetous greed and oppression of the poor as laid down in the Divine Law, m. v. l. 2, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

State Treasurer Jno. L. Cobbs has our thanks for his official report for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30th.

Mr. Chappell Cory, of the Birmingham Age-Herald, was married to Miss Marietta Armstrong, of Gadsden, on the 26th inst. There is great interest in this match. May their union be one great result.

Judge W. J. Wood, of Evansville, Indiana, has been appointed third vice-president of the Louisville and Nashville railroad to succeed Mr. E. B. Stahman, resigned. Judge Wood is an Alabamian, an ex-Probate Judge of Lauderdale county, and the eldest son of Gen. S. A. M. Wood, of Tuscaloosa.

It is announced authoritatively from Berlin that Prof. Koch has fully succeeded with his experiments in the destruction of the bacillus of consumption, and that it is now possible to cure patients of this disease, one of the greatest scourges the world has ever known and which destroys more lives annually than any other malady.—N. O. Times Democrat.

The Alabama Baptist says: Let the 350,000 Christians of Alabama send in petitions to their legislators to pass suitable temperance laws at this session. Let our Methodist brethren send in a strong committee to act in concert with the 100,000 white Baptists in the State. Let every community that now has prohibition see that the law is effective. Let others that have not had prohibition see to it that they have it in the future. Let us work all along the line; success will then be ours.

The Republican papers of Tennessee, claim their defeat in that State was caused by the operations of the Dorth law. This law makes it necessary, we believe, for all voters to be able to read their tickets, and as thousands of their voters could not do so, they could not tell whether they were voting for Baxter, Buchanan or Kelley, as no one was allowed to place tickets in their hands, but had to select their own tickets when they went to vote. It would be a good idea for the Alabama Legislature to take this matter into consideration during the present session.—Florence Banner.

In Illinois there is an instance of a man being sent to Congress against his will. Hon. Lew Stewart was pressed into service by his party friends, when no one else would accept the nomination, which was thought to be certain defeat. Mr. Stewart said if the people wanted him they might elect him, but he would do nothing towards securing his election; refusing to pay any assessment, and when informed that it was for printing tickets, he sent the committee word to leave his name off. Notwithstanding he was elected in the great Democratic tidal wave which swept the country in November.

Constance J. H. Evans walked up among a large crowd at Stengel's stables yesterday, saying that he had witnessed a thing out a bit on one of the roads leading to the city, that beat anything he had ever witnessed. "What was it?" was asked eagerly by several in the crowd. "Well," said Evans, "I saw a wood hauler coming in with a load of wood, when one of the hind wheels of the wagon broke down. The driver unloaded the wagon of its wood and put the broken wheel on as best he could. He then shouldered the wood stick by stick, and drove his animal on to town with the empty wagon." "Oh, get out, Jim, nobody will believe that," said one man. "I would not have believed it myself, if I had not seen it," said Jim, "but I'll swear it is the truth and can prove it by others who saw it." "Great Scott!" exclaimed another man; "who was he and what sort of a team did he have?" "Jim was just then about to mount his horse, and as he seated himself in the middle, he said to the gaping and astounded crowd, 'It was a boy, gentlemen, who was driving a goat,' and he galloped off."—Baltimore Times.

Will Be Treated as Democrats.

Speaking of the Farmer's Alliance, Representative Springer says that he thought it almost certain that all but eight of those elected to the next House, would act with the Democrats and probably there would be no exceptions. In the organization of the House every Allianced man, he said, would be treated as a Democrat, whether he went into the Democratic caucus or not. In making committee assignments the Allianced men would be treated as Democrats in matters of chairmanship and assignments on the majority end of the committee. Not only in Congress but throughout the country, Mr. Springer thought the Alliance would act largely with the Democrats. He said he thought there was enough common ground in the platforms of the Democracy and the Alliance to satisfy the latter for some years to come. The reduction and equalization of the tariff, the passage of an act for the free coinage of silver and the insurance of greenbacks to take the place of national bank currency as fast as retired, were things that the Alliance wanted and as to which they could make common cause with the Democrats. He had no doubt the Democrats would pass all these measures in the next House.

Governor Seay's Message.

Governor Seay's message was presented on yesterday to the general assembly of Alabama. The message states that the amount of cash now in the treasury amounts to $200,944.81, and on this account the governor urges the reduction of the State tax, and at the same time recommends the increase of salaries of the executive and judicial officers of the State. Of course the message refers to the vexed question of convict labor and very strongly, and we think properly, recommends that the legislature make provisions for the appointment of a convict commissioner whose duty it shall be to make a thorough investigation of the convict system and to note the workings and necessary changes in the system. It is devoutly hoped by the people of the State that the word "finis" be written on the inexhaustible subject of the convict labor.

The message also, catching the popular spirit of the people, deals largely in the matter of recommending the improvement of our public roads. This is as it should be. Now the Mercury desires to see this legislature do something—besides introduce bills—about our public roads. Let us have more work and less talk. But the governor presents in strong and plain language the vital necessity of the present legislature inaugurating and establishing ballot reform. The Mercury in a recent editorial called the attention of the legislature to the same subject. We congratulate Governor Seay that he has boldly grasped this important subject. Great good will come from the position Governor Seay has taken on the suffrage question. And last, the message recommends the calling of a constitutional convention, because, the governor says, the present constitution is an obstacle in the way of progress and improvement. Taken from a fair and full consideration, the message is one of the best state papers ever presented by Governor Seay. It is clear and decided in its recommendations and is free from clap-trap tendencies. It treats of practical subjects and gives practical reasons for recommendations made. We congratulate Governor Seay on this his last message to the Alabama legislature.—Huntsville Mercury.

Too Many Elections. The general verdict of our best people is that we have too many elections. We hardly recover from the demoralizing effects of one election, before another campaign is on hand, and we have again to go through the excitement incident upon it. Business has been demoralized for a month past. The country has resumed its normal condition again, and things will go on as usual, irrespective of the success of one party or the other; but business is partially paralyzed, and trade suffers. The politicians, who make their living out of politics, and the "bum" element, who manage to subsist from one election to another, are in their glory in these off-recurring contests, but nobody else is benefited. The country suffers by the repetition of these things. We are hardly off with one before we are on with another. It is time to call a halt and make a change. If we didn't have an election oftener than once in five years, we would be better and happier. If the interval were made ten years we wouldn't suffer much. We expend a great deal of nerve power and much money in a harmful way, but the great majority of business men are not gainers thereby. We have too many elections. They can be curtailed to the profit and advantage of the people.—New Decatur Advertiser.

THE WAY THE VOTE STOOD.

Official Returns Give Alabama Eight Democratic Congressmen.

The official returns from the congressional elections in Alabama give all the Democratic nominees a safe majority. The vote by districts was as follows: First District—R. H. Clark, Democrat, 10,071; F. H. Threant, Republican, 2,448; A. J. Warner, Republican, 1,890. Second District—H. A. Herbert, Democrat, 10,611; S. A. Pilley, Independent, 2,681. Third District—William C. Oates, Democrat, 10,268; Trendwell, Republican, 930. Fourth District—Louis W. Turpin, Democrat, 9,595; G. W. McCall, 3,809; J. V. McDuffie, 4,931. Fifth District—James E. Cobb, Democrat, 5,548—no opposition. Seventh District—William H. Forney, Democrat, 10,054; W. C. Butler, Independent, Alliance candidate, 6,060; A. J. Logan, Republican, 862. Eighth District—Joseph Wheeler, Democrat, 16,821; R. W. Austin, Republican, 12,076.

A Great Invention.

Tuscaloosa Times. Messrs. M. I. and Fitz Burton have filed a caveat in the patent office at Washington making application for a patent on a most wonderful invention in the way of a steamboat. The invention practically solves the problem of shallow water navigation, sets at naught all impediments in the nature of snags, sandbars, etc., and, in short, can navigate a stream under any and all conditions. The boat is built on the "grasshopper" plan. Drawings of the invention may be seen by applying to Mr. M. I. Burton and subscribing to the oath of secrecy.

The Constitution Escaped.

Some of our Allies in Alabama have recently passed resolutions asking that all offices from U. S. Senator down to constable be made elective. The Montgomery Journal alludes to the first effort to carry out this program in the Alabama Legislature as follows: The Constitution of the U. S. had a narrow escape in the house this morning. A resolution was introduced referring the election of the United States Senator to the people. Mr. Brewer called attention to the fact that the Constitution of the United States provided for the election by the legislature, and the resolution was withdrawn. Will an amendment to the U. S. Constitution be the next step?

NOT ABLE TO WALK.

I was confined to my bed for six months with Rheumatism, not able to walk a step. All of the remedies usually prescribed for this disease having been employed to no effect, I commenced taking S. S. S. I have now taken 11 bottles of this excellent medicine and am on my feet attending to all my house work as of yore. I feel that I cannot sufficiently express my thanks for the benefit I have received from the use of this medicine. Mrs. H. A. Woodward, Webb City, Mo.

GAINED EIGHTEEN POUNDS.

I consider S. S. S. the best tonic in the market. I took it for broken down health, and gained eighteen pounds in three weeks. My appetite and strength came back to me, and made a new man of me. Wm. Gerlock, Belleville, Ohio.

LOCAL LACONICS.

Prof. J. M. Corderie was in Clanton last week.

Mrs. E. C. Lawrence is visiting relatives in Montgomery.

Three marriages are on the tapis among our young people in December.

Rev. Waverly Briggs, of Florence, visited relatives here the past week.

Dr. J. P. Robinson, of Birmingham, visited relatives here this week.

Mr. O. T. Grimes was in Clanton Saturday looking after lumber shipments.

Tom Foshee, of Maplesville, was in Clanton Tuesday on important business.

Mr. H. W. Herbert was down from Jemison Saturday on business.

Representative Northington paid Clanton's capital city a brief visit Monday.

Mr. A. J. Marlar is taking a course of medical lectures at Memphis medical college.

Mr. D. J. Waterworth, was summoned to serve on the Grand Jury, but was excused and returned home Monday.

Mr. J. M. Dawson has gone to Birmingham for a short time where he will be employed in building.

Mrs. J. D. Bivings brings us a box of strawberries of fall raising. The late fall brought her a second crop.

Many friends have called at the office this week, and they have our thanks for encouragement in words and otherwise.

We are pleased to learn that Mrs. D. F. Jones, of Jumbo, who has been a cripple from paralysis for five years has improved sufficiently to walk about the house.

We are sorry to learn Mrs. E. F. Chilton will return to her old home, Montgomery, the first of December. Mrs. Chilton is beloved by all who know her in our community.

Justice A. A. Dyer and Robert Martin, of Stanton and Maplesville beats were on hand early Monday morning with their reports to the grand jury. Several others came in Tuesday.

Postmaster Edwards has sold his residence and will shortly remove to Birmingham. We understand that he is only waiting for the appointment of his successor in the fat office which he now holds before taking his leave of Clanton.

Chilton in the Legislature.

Mr. Northington has introduced a bill to repeal the act creating the Chilton county Board of Revenue.

Also, a bill to amend the law requiring trains to stop at the nearest telegraph station to the county seat.

A bill has been introduced in the Alabama Legislature to prohibit the sale of cigarettes to minors. We'd like to see it become a law, but "young America" would get his cigarettes all the same. These very useful kids even now get some colored friends to purchase their smoking materials for them, and they would just continue to do business along that line and laugh and puff smoke in the faces of the law. However, we hope some good may be accomplished in this matter, as there is no doubt of the fact that the boys of the present generation are laying up untold ailments for themselves by the persistent use of the cigarette. Greenboro Watchman.

Mr. Northington's bill provides for the contingency mentioned by the Watchman and that any party procuring the cigarettes will be made particeps criminis to the sale.

Died.

Albert Smith who was seriously injured by being knocked from the top of his train by an overhanging tank pipe at Mountain Creek, and who lingered in an unconscious state for some weeks, expired on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The deceased was a hard working and deserving young man. The remains were interred at the Clanton cemetery Saturday. We extend sincere sympathy to the bereaved relatives.

Death of Mrs. VanDerveer.

Mrs. M. E. VanDerveer died Monday night last at 8 o'clock at her son's residence, Clear Creek, Chilton county, Ala. Her remains will arrive in this city this morning on the 7:30 train and the funeral will take place in the old cemetery. Mrs. VanDerveer was for many years a resident of Montgomery and a devoted member of the First Baptist Church. The funeral ceremony will be conducted by Rev. Dr. M. B. Wharton. The announcement of her death is a source of deep sorrow to many friends in this city. She was the widow of the late Maj. W. P. VanDerveer.—Advertiser.

Jemison Locals.

An Editor's Duties.

We apologize for mistakes made in all former issues and say that they were inexcusable, as an editor has to do to inform news, and clean the rollers, and set type, and sweep the floor, and pen short items, and fold papers, and write wrappers, and make the paste, and mail the papers, and talk to visitors, and distribute type, and carry water, and saw wood, and read the proofs, and correct the mistakes, and hunt the shears to write editorials, and dodge the bills, and don the delinquents, and take cussing from the whole force, and tell subscribers we need money. We say that we've no business making mistakes while attending to these little matters, and getting our living on gopher-tail soup flavored with imagination, and wearing old shoes and no collar and a patch on our pants, obliged to turn a smiling countenance to the man who tells us our paper isn't worth a cent anyhow, and that he could make a better one with his eyes shut.—Sank Rapids Sentinel.

If you feel weak and all worn out take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 21 Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper.

Providence Points.

There is supposed to be a drinking saloon traveling on the Coosa river. It was seen by two reliable men last week near the cove.

Farmers are later gathering this fall than they have been for many years. Their excuse in September and October was too much rain, but now it's too much warm dry weather.

A dark living near Coosa river reports having caught an opossum which weighed twenty-four pounds after being dressed for the pot. We don't give this to the public as being absolutely true for we never saw one that weighed over eight pounds, but any person believing that it was an opossum that drew twenty-four pounds, would do well to go to the Coosa hills to hunt.

IN HIS TRUE COLORS.

BY AMY RANDOLPH.

"A subscription?" said Doctor Angell, his frank face all smiles, "spray walk in, ladies, I am delighted that an officer is so highly honored. Yes, as I often say, clarity is one of the few luxuries in which we struggling professional men can afford to indulge. Pray be seated by the window, Miss Wallis—take the sofa, Mrs. Estcourt!"

It was all very well for Doctor Angell to call his office "a poor little bachelor's den," but no one else would have ventured to admit any such nomenclature to it. The floor was covered with a tiny patterned Persian carpet; the windows were draped with golden beads and but curtains, on a ground of crimson; the book-case and sideboard of inlaid walnut were crowded with antique trinkets, and a painted china jardiniere near the fireplace was filled with freshly cut hot house roses and ferns.

Lacy Estcourt looked around with glancing eyes; she liked pretty things, and the exquisitely ordered place gratified her senses as one of the Palace's marble or Church's paintings might have done. And Blanche Wallis secretly toiled within her self to have such a "love of a jardiniere" in her own boudoir, before she was twenty-four hours older.

"Yes," said Mrs. Estcourt, who was the spokeswoman, a young widow. "We are giving funds for a home for Indigent Widows. Squire Alan has promised us his old stone house by the plantation, free of all rent or charge, and our idea now is to furnish it, and engage a matron without loss of time. Only think how much good we can accomplish!"

"It is a noble idea," said young Dr. Angell, with kindling eyes. "Yes," said the pretty widow, adjusting the links of her jet chain, "I think it is a capital plan myself! And if you gentlemen will, help us with a little ready money, we ladies will undertake to furnish the house, china and homely-keeping ware!"

Dr. Angell smiled. "Dear ladies," said he, "I shall not attempt to disguise from you the fact that I am poor! But, as I said before, clarity is the one extravagance in which I delight to indulge myself. Pray allow me!"

And taking a ten-dollar bill from one of the drawers of the inlaid secretaire, he laid it in Mrs. Estcourt's hand.

"Only with it were more," said he, with a graceful deprecatory motion, as she made a haste to thank him. "But I hope you will accept it in the spirit in which it is given!"

"There, Lucy," said Miss Wallis, triumphantly, "what did I tell you? Don't he look exactly like papa's picture of St. John, with that noble forehead, and the wavy, brown hair brushed so artistically away from it?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Estcourt, "and how laudably he expressed himself about the luxury of giving! I do like a man to use select language, instead of plunging headlong into all manner of a slang, like poor Cousin Jack!"

"And his velvet smoking-cap, tasseled with gold," added Blanche, enthusiastically. "Did you see it on its peg? And the carved Swiss glove-box on the mantel? And the sweet Turkish chibouk, with its enameled standard and amber mouth-piece; and, oh, Lucy, the perfectly fitting boots that he wore?"

"My dear Blanche, what nonsense you are talking!" said Mrs. Estcourt, with the superior smile which became a married woman, and one who was full of lighted months, older than her companion. But, for all that, the pretty widow thought a good deal about Dr. Angell and his deep blue eyes and St. John forehead, as she sat at her needlework that afternoon.

"Jack," she said to the much-enduring cousin who had been hopelessly in love with her ever since she was a school-girl in a sun-bonnet and bronzed kid boots, "why don't you ask Dr. Angell to join your hunting club?"

"Because he's such a humbug!" said Mr. Jack Warren, snipping away at the bit of paper with the widow's scissors.

"Do not put those scissors down, Jack!" said Lucy, a little impatiently. "A—humbug! Dr. Angell?"

"A regular dead end," nodded Jack. "Good-looking, but shallow—no more, but false."

"Well, it's true," said Mr. Warren, or platonically. "How do you know?"

"From the fellow's looks, to be sure!"

"Now, Jack," said Mrs. Estcourt, frowning up to the roots of her golden hair, "that is all jealousy! Nothing in the world but jealousy!"

"Just as you choose to have it," said Jack, severely. "It don't matter a pip to me, either way. Only mark my words, Lucy, the Silver Falls people will find him out after a while."

"Find him out?"

"Exactly," nodded Jack. "He's running old Dr. Jennings out of practice now. People prefer his soft voice and wavy yellow hair to the old fellow's bray-ways and rusty wig. But there'll be an end to his popularity one of these days."

"He gave me a ten-dollar bill for the Indigent Widows' Home," cried Mrs. Estcourt, indignantly.

Jack only whistled. "It's a humbug, for all that," said he.

Poor Jack! He was no reader of feminine character, else he would never have fanned the flame of his pretty cousin's envious fancy with the tales of opposition. He would have agreed with her, in toto; he would have loaded the young doctor with praises, and echoed every word of commendation that she spoke. But Jack Warren had always blundered through the world, and he was true to his character in this instance.

"His fluffy forehead and yellow hair and soft voice don't make an Angel Gabriel of him," said Jack; "and so you'll find out."

And Lucy Estcourt was so nettled that she rose up and whisked out of the room, work-basket and all.

It was the afternoon of the next day that she took to her capricious little head to visit a favorite old pensioner; an ancient, toothless crone who lived in a tenement house in the very dingiest part of the pretty little town of Silver Falls, and who was destined to occupy one of the rooms of the Home for Indigent Widows, when that beneficent vision came a reality.

"Well, Mrs. Midgerton, and how are you?" said Mrs. Estcourt, rustling softly into the room, a radiant apparition of smiles and golden hair and at-tar-of-roses.

Mrs. Midgerton dropped her knitting, and turned a manlike pair of silver spectacles toward the new-comer.

"I'm as well as ever I expect to be, my pretty dear," said she. "Only I'm clean worried out of my mind!"

"Worried, Mrs. Midgerton?"

"With the scolding, deary, and the confusion in the room next door, with a partition between, deary, as is no thicker than a sheet of paper. Listen yourself, and you'll hear."

Lacy Estcourt listened, and became aware of a vague confusion of voices.

"What was it, Mrs. Midgerton?" said she, half alarmed.

"It's poor Lizzie Wade, deary, as is dying of consumption. And she ain't been able to pay her doctor's bill, as how should she, poor thing? and the doctor, he's a-takin' away of her sewing-machine by main force, the only thing as stood between her and starvation."

"The old wretch!" cried out Mrs. Estcourt, excitedly. "Why will people employ Dr. Jennings when there is such a noble, generous physician as Dr. Angell in town?"

"Eh?" said Mrs. Midgerton, staring through the haze, silver spectacles. "But it ain't Dr. Jennings, child."

"Hush!"

Lacy held her forefinger with an authoritative air, for at that instant the voice of Dr. Angell himself was distinctly heard, uttering the words:

"There's no use whimpering or making a scene. You give me fifty dollars, and I will be paid. You haven't got the money? Very well; I can sell the machine. And, as for starving, I should starve, if anybody swindled me out of my bill, as you have done. Here, cartman, take this thing down-stairs."

"Doctor! Doctor!" pleaded a faint voice. "Pray don't take my daughter's only bread-winner away from us! Have a little compassion, and wait until we are able to pay you!"

"And that will be when?" interrupted the doctor, with a coarse laugh. "Cartman, go you hear? Take it away at once, before these women have a chance to make any more scenes."

At that moment Lacy Estcourt opened the door of Mrs. Wade's apartment, and stood there like a beautiful avenging angel.

"Cartman," said she to the sympathetic Irishman, who stood vacillating in the middle of the room, "put the machine back into its place. Here, Dr. Angell, is the forty dollars owed you by that poor invalid. Take it, and enjoy it, if you can. And here, also, as the young physician covered beneath the inguinal fire of her eyes, is the donation you yesterday gave us for the Indigent Widows' Home. We want no contributions unless they are given in a spirit of true charity."

And without waiting a tick for Elizabeth Wade's thankful thanks or Doctor Angell's ready apologies, she went back to Mrs. Midgerton's room and began to cry.

And this incident was Doctor Athanasius Angell's death-blow, so socially and professionally speaking, in the town of Silver Falls. At the quarter of eight he took down his sign, and left the place to Doctor Jennings and his rusty wig.

As for Cousin Jack, Lucy was so sweetly gracious to him during the next few days, that he actually took courage to ask her if she would have him.

And he never was more astonished in his life, when she said: "Yes!"—(The Leader.)

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE GREAT ORGANIZATION.—ECHOES FROM THE REFORM PRESS.

There are 34,000 Alliance lodges in the United States.

There are 2,163 Farmers' Alliances in North Carolina.

The Farmers' Alliance newspapers are on a boom in the way of numbers in Nebraska.

The Farmers' Alliance State convention met in Des Moines, Iowa, last week. The body numbered 600 strong, earnest men.

The Colored National Farmers' Alliance met in Des Moines, Iowa, at Ocala, Fla., December 1st.

The Alliance is moving. From Maine to California the people are awakening, and each succeeding year finds the ranks of the labor organization stronger and stronger. In Tennessee the order is 118,000 strong; in Texas it has 175,000; Indiana has 9,000; and our own state has between 50,000 and 100,000, and the number is still larger every day.—Kentucky Union Organ.

The Florida Alliance has shown commendable enterprise, which might be imitated by others to great advantage, in establishing a farmers' store or exchange at 333 Broadway, N. Y. The store at business methods and square dealing of the manager in charge has established quite widespread confidence and we learn that quite an extensive trade is carried on for Alliance organizations in nearly every state in the Union.

At the annual session of the Farmers' Alliance of South Dakota, on Wednesday, President Luck was re-elected. At the close of the session, S. W. Cozand asked upon members of the Alliance to contribute money to send Chairman Goodfellow, of the independent state committee to Pierre to be present when the state canvassing board shall do its work. He stated that it was the intention to file a contest against the entire republican ticket, alleging that the republicans will use $100,000 in their campaign, while the independent party used but $2,300.

The Farmers' Free Lunch (Ashland Ill.) says: "It is the object of the Farmers' Alliance to unite the farmers of Illinois and of the United States on all matters pertaining to their interests, and to devise ways and means whereby they may more effectively promote their general welfare; to improve the mode of agriculture, horticulture and stock-raising; to adopt and encourage such a rotation of crops as will improve rather than impoverish the soil; to devise and encourage systems of concentration as may diminish the cost of the production, and to generally educate the farmer, so that he may be better qualified to perform his duties in a business manner."

The Alliance Advocate (Indianapolis, Ind.) says: "Now that the smoke of battle has partially cleared away, how has our cause fared in the rush for victory? From reports received from far and near it is learned that the farmers' candidates have pulled through upon otherwise defeated tickets; which plainly shows the handwork of the great farmers' organization. And to 'cap the climax' news comes that the State of Kansas has been won by the Farmers' Alliance. Who shall say now that the 'humble farmer' is to be ignored? But let not the first success of the farmer be the last; let us work and study upon the topics relative to our cause, and to be able to give a reason for every vote cast."

DR. C. W. MACURE ON THE SENATORIAL ELECTION.

In the Southern Alliance Farmer of the 25th of November, Dr. C. W. Macure, a prominent Alliance official, in a two-column letter on the result of the Georgia senatorial contest, says: "In conclusion, we must accept the result as the wisest and best that could have been done under the circumstances. Governor Gordon is and always has been a friend to the farmers, and although a majority of the farmers of Georgia voted against him a majority of the whole people have elected him, and it is in perfect accord with his high and many attributes to expect him to represent the whole people to the best of his ability. The order, Mr. Calhoun and Judge Elwell are to be congratulated upon the fact that they have made no war on Governor Gordon. It is possible that this may

TELEGRAPH AND CABLE.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE BUSY WORLD.

A SUMMARY OF OUTSIDE AFFAIRS CONDENSED FROM NEWSPAPERS DISPATCHES FROM UNCLE SAM'S DOMAIN AND WHAT THE CABLE BRINGS.

An epidemic of influenza is prevailing in Hungary.

A cablegram of Wednesday from Pesth says: An epidemic of influenza prevails at Budapest, Hungary. One thousand persons in the place are suffering from the disease. Many cases of the disease resemble typhus fever, while others are attended with a copious hemorrhage from the intestines.

Wednesday night Robert P. Porter, superintendent of the census, presented the statement of the secretary of the interior, giving the population of the states and territories of the United States, as finally determined. The verified population of the United States in 1890 is fixed at 62,633,283. This total gives an increase of 141,710 from that obtained in the report of the census office under date of October 23, 1890.

NAVASSA RIOTERS AGAIN.

THE U. S. SUPREME COURT DECIDES THE QUESTION OF JURISDICTION.

In the supreme court of the United States, Monday, Justice Grey announced the decision of the court in the case of the Navassa rioters who are under sentence of death in Baltimore, for a murder committed on the island of Navassa, in the Caribbean sea, in 1892, where they were employed by a Baltimore firm in working guano beds. The case was brought to the supreme court on an appeal, the question raised involving the jurisdiction of the United States over the island. The court decides that the United States have jurisdiction over the island and affirms the decision of the lower court.

BISHOP BECKWITH DEAD.

A GRAND AND NOBLE LIFE BROUGHT TO A CLOSE.

Right Rev. John W. Beckwith, bishop of the diocese of Georgia, died at his home in Atlanta, on Sunday morning. His death causes universal sorrow throughout Georgia and the entire South in the death of Bishop Beckwith the Episcopal church loses one of its brightest lights, and the South one of its most brilliant pulpits.

AUGUST BELMONT DEAD.

THE MILLIONAIRE, BANKER AND POLITICIAN DIED IN NEW YORK.

August Belmont died at New York Monday morning. His death is noted from a severe cold he contracted at the Lake House Hotel. He had lived until the 8th of next month. Mr. Belmont would have been seventy-four years old.

Our famous stock of Fall Goods masters of others as to low prices, quality and selection. We are second to none in the South. Our stock is bought cheaper than others from the simple reason that we pay spot cash for our stock as we buy it. Manufacturers very often need the cash, therefore we buy a great part of our stock somewhat less than manufacturers' prices. Our stock is a great deal, by 200 per cent, more numerous than others. We buy and sell larger quantities than others. Our styles are exclusive and we control several exclusive lines of popular goods, which the public will buy because they want the best and cheapest.

There is nothing like a fair distribution of profits. This is how it works in one line of trade. For a bushel of corn a distiller gets four gallons of whiskey which retails at $16. The governor gets $3.00 the farmer who raises the corn gets 40 cents, the railroad gets $1 the manufacturer gets $1 the retailer gets $7, and the customer gets drunk.

People have been wondering all these years where Indians get their outlandish names. They get them through a most peculiar process. When a new Indian is expected to arrive in this world, a entry is placed without at the door of the lodge, and the first object he sees after the birth of the child is given it as a name. That accounts for their terrible names.

Beaumont Journal Silver has a very reviving effect on some people. Last evening a woman was found in her room apparently dead from morphine. Her body was tied up a little, silver half-dollar put on her eyelids, and the corner and undertaker sent for. The corpse wriggled the dollar off and would probably have rushed the growler with it if she had not been discovered. She will recover.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says that the Southern States now have 121 members in Congress, but that you could blot out this number, and still the Democrats would have a majority of 20 to 25 in the next Congress. This shows that many of the Northern States are turning Democratic. The recent political cyclone will go far, no doubt in silencing the cry of a Solid South. From the returns it would seem as if the Democrats are getting to be solid all along the line.

In a very readable article in the October issue of the Statesman, Mr. Ed. B. Pritchard advances the novel but reasonable theory of restitution for crime. Mr. Pritchard argues that if a burglar breaks in a man's house and steals, say one thousand dollars worth of property, it is very poor satisfaction for the victim to see the thief convicted and sentenced to five or ten years in State's prison. Mr. Pritchard suggests that the convict be put to work at hard labor, and from the results of this labor, be compelled to pay not only their expenses to the State, but, in so far as possible, make restitution to their victims for the money or its equivalent of which the crime has deprived them. It is a suggestion worthy of serious consideration, and though the article is a brief one, Mr. Pritchard presents his argument in a clear, forceful fashion, which is very convincing.

The Selma Mirror, an Alliance organ, wants a ballot reform law passed by the present Legislature. Considering the probable passage of the Federal election law at the present session of Congress, it is clear that the great majority of the white people of the State are in accord with our contemporary on this question. Senator Pugh in his speech thanking the Legislature for his re-election referred to the force bill and expressed his apprehension of its passage. Should the obnoxious measure become a law a different method of voting will be absolutely necessary to the preservation of white supremacy in the black belts of the South. It is true that the Lodge bill only contemplates the control of Federal or Congressional elections by the Republicans. Yet this will mean that a Republican Congress will be returned to aid in depriving the States in the near future of the control of State elections. Then we may as well bid good-bye to this Republic and prepare to bow down to the Czar. Let us have a ballot reform law after the plan of the Dorch law in Tennessee. It was that law which at the last election redeemed from the Republicans the congressional district in which Chattanooga is situated, and which would have continued to be represented in Congress by a Republican had it not been for this law requiring that the voter should be able to read his ballot or expect to have it cancelled. A free and untrammeled ballot that will insure protection to property and intelligence will obviate future Federal interference with State elections.

Senator Pugh Re-elected.

We give the final ballot in the Legislature or U. S. Senator, which was taken Friday at noon. It will be seen that Chilton's representative voted for Mr. Pugh:

Those who voted for Mr. Pugh were Senators Hargrove, Berry, Bloch, Compton, Davis, Grant, Goffey, Harbison, Hox, Milner, Parker, Parks, Reynolds, Skeggs, Smith, of Autauga, Stallworth, Stangall, Wadell, Wiley, Williams—29. And Representatives Speaker, Adams, Alexander, Almon, Amoson, of Tallapoosa, Appleton, Armistead, Ayres, Barrette, Bass, Brewer, Buck, Burford, Clayton, Coleman, Cooper, Cornelius, Crews, Cox, Davidson, Davis of Lamar, Edwards, Forman, Foster, Gilchrist, Gordon, Harrell, Harris, Henry, Hill, Howie, Huffman, Jackson, Kelly, Kemp, Langley, Lee, of Barbour, Lee of Conecuh, Lewis, Long, Loushore, Lyles, Meador, Moore of Baldwin, Moore, of Madison, Northington, Parker, Poole, Powell, Purify, Quarles, Ramsey, Rather, Roscutt, Sayre, Scott, Screws, Simmons, Smith of Russell, Steele, Sullivan, Townsend, of Pike, Tucker, of Crenshaw, Wade, Walters, Whaley, White, Wood, Young—63. Total 92.

Those who voted for Mr. Seay were Senators Bradley, Coran, Handley, Harris, of Hale, Hayes, Hundley, Minge, Smith, of Mobile, Stansel, H. and Representative, Amerson, of Sumpter, Avery, Bain, Bevis, Bishop, Blackwell, Brown, Clanton, Davis, of Fayette, Davis, of Winston, Finch, Gass, Guthrie, Johnson, Jones, Judge, Lane, Leigh, Parks, Peacock, Pettus, Smaw, Smith, of Dallas, Sparkman, Tasher, Townsend, of Limestone, Tucker, of Lauderdale, Webb, Wilson, 29. Total 40.

Senator Hayes changed from Seay to Pugh, which made the election of Mr. Pugh unanimous. The President ruled the motion out of order, as the vote was a matter of record and could not be made unanimous except by reconsideration of the ballot just taken. The President of Senate thereupon declared that Hon. James E. Pugh, having received a majority of all the votes cast, was duly and Constitutionally elected Senator in the Congress of the United States for the term of six years, beginning on the 4th of March next.

Senator Harris, of Hale, has introduced a bill in the Senate to fix the legal rate of interest in Alabama. His idea is to have 6 per cent, as the stated legal interest, but to allow parties to contract with each other for as much as 9 per cent, but not higher. This question of money-lending and charging interest thereon is a very hard one to settle. There is no doubt in the world that some people do impose upon others by making them pay more interest than they can possibly afford, but at the same time they are in a tight place and must have the money at any cost. The money-lender sees this at once, and many of them do not forget to take advantage of the situation. Now, such fellows as these ought to be made to forfeit both principal and interest when caught at this sort of business. Twenty and twenty-five per cent, and sometimes much more, is entirely too steep for a poor man, or a rich one either, as for the matter of that, to pay for money. It can't possibly be made worth that much to the borrower in anything he can engage. — Greensboro Watchman.

"What is a home without a newspaper?" A home without a newspaper is no home at all. It is a dreary den—a rendezvous of bed bugs and fleas, where the inhabitants believe in blissful ignorance of what the world is doing. It is inhabited by a class who do not know who is president or what he is president of—who never find out a thing has happened until long after every one has forgotten it. The children grow up in ignorance and dirt, while the wife generally finds consolation in darning socks and tugging a pipe loaded with green tobacco, and the man generally lives because he can't die and is too lazy to kill himself. He goes out on election day and does not know who he is voting for, but just takes the ticket bearing the name his grandfather voted for.—Exchange.

Save the small paper bags carefully which groceries come in; they are useful in many ways. Slip the hand in one when you black the stove and you will not soil it. When flies abound, slip them over clean lamp chimneys during the day. After fruit is canned draw them over the can and label them plainly; the action of the light causes more fruit to spoil than any other one thing. — American Agriculturist.

THE LARGEST YIELD EVER SECURED.

One Hundred Bales on a Two-Acre Farm.

LAGRANGE, GA., November 11. [Special.]—George Truitt brought in his one hundredth bale of cotton today. The average weight of the hundred is 167 pounds. He informed your correspondent that he would probably get two more bales.

He has gathered 1,000 bushels of corn from ten acres averaging 100 bushels to the acre, and 200 bushels of potatoes from one acre, though potatoes are not his specialty.

All this being done on a two-acre farm, eighty acres being devoted to cotton. Truitt is the champion farmer of the South, and Troup is proud of his record. Has this record ever been equalled. Ten years ago this land was so poor it was not worth tending. One-half of Mr. Truitt's cotton crop will be clear profit.—Southern Farmer.

In dismounting from the tripod of the Marion Standard, the retiring editor, Col. Thomas Hudson pointed out:

Having started into the business with only a few hundred dollars in money and without a particle of experience in the work, my position was no secure and the burden was necessarily a heavy one, but I am thankful to an All-wise Providence for helping me to pull through. I know that I have made enemies by my course, but what man will not do so who has established convictions of right and duty and the manhood to carry out these convictions? I am proud of the enemies that I have made in carrying out my convictions of duty and have no apologies to offer for my course. Must I confess also that this hard work of long years has been chiefly a labor of love and without bearing any financial fruits. I have labored faithfully for the good of Marion, in and out of season, and yet there are business men in the community who think they have done well by the paper by subscribing for a copy of it and forcing the editor to take out the subscription in trade, never thinking of such a thing as giving the paper support and encouragement by advertising.

Thos. G. Jones, our new Governor inaugurated on the 1st inst., gave out an interesting inaugural address. He does not favor a new constitution. We believe the majority of the people would not sustain the Governor if they could vote on the question.

Chilton in the Legislature.

Mr. Northington has introduced a bill to authorize the Court exercising the powers of the Court of County Commissioners of Chilton county to issue bonds of said county to an amount not exceeding $25,000 for the purpose of building a courthouse for said county.

The cigarette bill has passed the house and will almost certainly pass the Senate and become a law.

Our young friend Jim Thrasher is back in Dothan, just from a visit to Oklahoma. Jim says the people in Oklahoma are as a rule in a destitute condition, with nothing to do and nothing to eat, and are calling on the governor for aid.—(Dothan Sentinel).

From St. Joseph's Hospital.

A young girl here had been suffering for 12 years with blood diseases until she had lost the use of her limbs, and was subject to many troubles incident to the disease. The physicians declared her case incurable, and predicted that her life would come to a speedy end. After taking S. S. S. she recuperated so fast that it was plain that she had obtained a new lease on life, and she has continued to grow better until her permanent cure is assured. Many other patients in our hospital have obtained signal benefit from S. S. S., and it has become quite a favorite in our home.

Cured Himself and Her Child.

S. S. S. has relieved me of a terrible Scrofula, from which I had suffered for years. It affected my nose first as a cancer, then carried off the bone, and continued to eat until it destroyed the soft bone in the right side of the nose, then went to my throat and later on to my lungs, and it looked as if I was doomed. S. S. S. has cured me, and has also cured my little daughter of the same disease.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

THE LAW-MAKERS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES MET AT WORK—ROUTINE OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE—EACH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS TENSELY TOLD.

About thirty public building bills passed the house Tuesday afternoon. They appropriate a total of $4,000,000. Among them were the bills for buildings at Savannah and Rome, Ga.
In the house, on Wednesday, on motion of Mr. Henderson, of Illinois, J. W. Hallway was elected postmaster of the United States at Chicago, Ill.
Mr. McKimley, of Ohio, stated that he had been directed by the committee on ways and means to report the resolution for the distribution of the president's annual message, and, upon his motion, the house resolved itself into a committee of the whole for its consideration, but it was deferred. The house then went into a committee of the whole on the bill reported from the committee on Indian affairs. Only one bill was passed for the relief of the mission Indians in California, when the house adjourned.
The house, on Thursday, went into a committee of the whole on the bill, introduced by Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, in the chair of the fortification appropriation bill. The bill was read and agreed to without discussion, and the committee having risen, the bill was passed, together with the bill appropriating $10,000 to meet the deficiency in the appropriation for public printing and binding. In the morning hour the committee on judiciary called up and the house passed the bill, amended section 531 of the revised statutes. An amendment provides a penalty for any person having the custody of ballots and returns, after an election has been held, who shall after such returns or the name of any candidate for representative or delegate in congress from the ballots in his custody, or in any way interfere with the same with the intent to defeat such election. Consideration of the bill to endow purchasers of swamp lands, and to reimburse the states for lands then under the swamp lands act, occupied the greater part of the afternoon, but finally went over without action. Mr. Holman, who is the principal opponent, having raised the point of no quorum, and the house adjourned.
In the senate Tuesday morning Senator Plafie, of Kansas, who has all along been opposed to a radical election bill, and who wants to delay the present emergency financial situation, introduced a bill in the senate for the retirement of a national bank notes, and providing for the issue of silver. This looks like a serious move, and has decided to put the bill in the hands of the committee on finance, and pass a free coinage bill at once. Senator Berry, of Arkansas, and Senator Daniel, of Virginia, spoke against the free coinage bill. So far no republican has been heard from. Mr. Hearse gave notice that he would ask the senate Wednesday to set into the evening the debate on the bill was closed. After executive session, the senate adjourned.
In the senate, on Wednesday, Mr. Plumb offered a resolution for the retiring of the senate daily at 10 o'clock a. m., with recess from 3:30 till 8. Laid over. On motion of Mr. Aldrich, the house authorized the payment of the drawback or rebate on tobacco, to correct the omission in the tariff bill was taken up. After some discussion the bill was passed, and it now goes to the president for his approval. The senate then, at 1:15 o'clock, resumed the consideration of the election bill. Mr. Gore, of Mississippi, took the floor against the bill. He occupied four full hours in the delivery of his speech. The bill was then taken up by Mr. Wilson, of Iowa. Mr. Hearse, referring to the notice which he had given Tuesday of asking for a night session to continue the debate, and that he would not make that motion now, Mr. Plumb offered a resolution, which went over till Thursday, directing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire and report whether the right to vote for presidential electors, representatives in congress and executive and judicial officers of the state, or members of legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants in any state, being twenty-one years of age, or in any way bridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime. A brief discussion arose regarding the reporting of the election bill, and the senate, at 5:40, adjourned.
In the senate, on Thursday, Mr. Mitchell offered a resolution, which was agreed to, instructing the postoffice committee to inquire into the feasibility and advisability of the law for postal savings banks in connection with all or certain classes of postoffices throughout the country. The resolution offered Wednesday by Mr. Plumb, for daily meetings of this senate at 10 o'clock a. m., and for recess from 3:30 till 8 o'clock p. m., was agreed to.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE ORDER OF AGRICULTURE.—ECHOES FROM THE REFORM PRESS.

The Alliance committee has been completed by the committee, and was reported Wednesday. It appropriates $24,642,020.
Two bills imposing a tax upon compound land were reported Tuesday by Senator Padlock, without recommendation, from the committee on agriculture.
On Wednesday the house committee on rivers and harbors formally declined to prepare river and harbor appropriation bills during this session of congress.
The appointment bill, providing for 326 members of the house, was finally decided upon as the best bill to pass by the republican members of the senate committee Tuesday.
The president, on Thursday, nominated Naval Constructor Theodore D. Wilson, United States navy, to be chief of the bureau of construction and repair, and chief constructor of the navy, with the relative rank of commodore.
The senate committee on agriculture, on Wednesday, reported the compound land bill to the senate without recommendation. The chances are that the bill will be defeated in the senate if it ever reaches a vote.
The president, on Thursday, nominated the following to be postmasters: South Carolina—Philip Gerlach, Orangeburg; Alabama—Cornelius Taylor, Jr., Bloston; Georgia—Duncan Jordan, Culberty.
The senate, on Thursday, confirmed the following nominations: Romaldo Pacheco, California, minister to the Central American states; C. A. Dougherty, of Nevada, secretary of the legation to Mexico; Postmaster, Georgia—Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, Dalton; T. G. Meekin, Cedarwater.
The house committee on banking and currency, met Thursday morning, and there was a general discussion of the financial situation. There was considerable difference of opinion manifested. Mr. Merrill, of Kansas, was authorized to report favorably the bill to subject national banks and United States treasury notes to state taxation.
ALLIANCE EXCURSION.
MEMBERS OF THE CONVENTION MAKING A TOUR OF FLORIDA.
The Alliance excursion, composed of the delegates of the late national convention, and their friends, began leaving Tuesday on their tour through to the south. A special train of the Florida Southern railroad was crowded with Alliance men, ladies and newspaper men, numbering in all 233 persons, from thirty-five different states. The trip was a continuation of the tour to the south. They were met at the stations along the route, and at Jacksonville a procession of public school children, headed by the coronet band, met the excursionist at the depot and escorted them to the courthouse square, where a banquet of 100 persons awaited them. At Leesburg the party stopped long enough to hear a welcome speech by the mayor. Colonel Folk, in his response, after thanking the people of Leesburg for the reception, said the time had come when it must be decided to have self government. A Brookville, Colonel Livingston, of Georgia, said the farming masses have never had such an ovation before, and they would appreciate it. He then ruled this country for a decade at Tarpon Springs Tuesday night. He was amazed with the number of the Alliance men, and the houses were brilliant, illuminated and decorated with Chinese lanterns. Wednesday they went by steamer from Port Tampa to Port Tampa and from there to Kissimmee and Orlando.
BOARD OF CONTROL.
THE MEN APPOINTED TO LOOK AFTER THE INTERESTS OF THE GREAT SHOW.
Wednesday afternoon President Thomas W. Palmer, of the national world's fair commission, made public his appointments for the eight members of the board of control on behalf of the commission. They are as follows: President, Thomas W. Palmer, a republican of Michigan; vice chairman, J. A. McKee, a democrat of Kentucky; commissioner at large, William Lindsay, a democrat of Kentucky; commissioner, E. B. Meritt, a republican of Indiana; commissioner, J. W. St. Clair, a democrat of West Virginia; commissioner, G. W. Macey, a republican of Delaware; P. M. Walker, a democrat of Connecticut; commissioner, M. H. DeYoung, a republican of California.

TELEGRAPH AND CABLE.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE BUSY WORLD.

A SUMMARY OF OUTSIDE AFFAIRS CONDENSED FROM NEWSPAPERS DISPATCHES FROM THE CABLE BRINGS.

The failure of Colburn, Chauncey & Co., was announced on the New York stock exchange Tuesday.
Whitney Burdett & Young, clothing, Boston, made an assignment Tuesday. The firm is rated by Bradstreet at $503,000.
The anti-lottery law has seriously affected the pressed glass trade, as it prohibited the giving away of china by baking powder and tea houses.
Dispatches of Thursday say: Colonel Corbin, of General Miles' staff, says the tension of dispatches to the Indian country leads him to believe the bottom is dropping out of the threatened uprising.
A cablegram of Wednesday, from Manchester, England, says: The Guardian's editorial article says that the financial stringency in the United States and the recent failure in the India trade have had a subduing effect upon the market.
The entire force of Clark's thread mills in Newark and Kearny, New Jersey, went on a strike Wednesday morning. Over 3,000 men and girls are out. The strikers who decided to remain until discharged were reinstated.
Mayor Creiger, of Chicago, on Tuesday signed the ordinance giving $3,000,000 to the World's Columbian exposition, and it will at once be placed in the hands of President Harrison, who can then issue his proclamation to the world.
The loan committee of the clearing house at New York, on Tuesday, issued $187,000 additional, making the total to date $1,412,000. The Farmers' Loan and Trust Company has circulars stating that on January 1st it will discontinue the practice of having its checks passed through the clearing house.
A special of Tuesday from Erie, Pa., says: The failure of Delamater, of Medville, has reached Erie through the business relations of the senior Delamater. State Treasurer Boyer has entered judgment against Noble Rowles & Co., owners of extensive coal and ore docks, valued at $75,000. The company of the firm is George B. Delamater, who has other interests in Erie.
Wednesday morning fire broke out in the leased oil works of Kittie & Co., San Francisco, caused by a vat of oil boiling over. The flames could not be checked and the entire establishment, with all its contents, was destroyed. The loss will probably reach $200,000. Insurance about $100,000. The same establishment was burned out several months ago and had recently been rebuilt.
The total population of the country, including Indians, etc., will reach 63,000,000. Already the census office has actually returned, in round numbers, 315,000 Indians and whites in Indian territory. These with the population of Alaska, which Special Agent Petroff estimates at 38,000, will bring up the total population of the country to 63,000,000, a numerical gain of 18,000,000 for the decade.
Three persons were instantly killed at the state university station, of the Great Northern road in Minneapolis, Wednesday morning. They were in the act of boarding a Great Northern train when they were run down by an Omaha train. The victims were Ed. Todd and wife of Sioux City, Ia., and their daughter, Mrs. Slayton. Mrs. Slayton was the wife of the master mechanic of the Kansas City road, and lived in Minneapolis.
M. L. Avery and Raphael Simms, conducting a business under the firm name of N. L. Avery & Co., at Osceola, Ark., were killed by a train at Blytheville, Ark., and N. L. Avery, at Frenchmen's Bayou, Ark., made an assignment Wednesday afternoon at Osceola, Ark. They were the principal merchants of that town. Liabilities $60,000, due principally to Memphis and St. Louis creditors. Assets nominally $60,000. The failure is attributed to poor crops and inability to make collections.
There is considerable excitement in Raleigh, N. C., over the shortage of C. D. Upchurch, the late republican probate judge of that county, in the guardian funds. Postmaster A. W. Shaffer, who is one of Upchurch's bondsmen, said he expected to pay $15,000, the full amount of the bond. He has taken possession of Upchurch's residence, which is one of the handsomest in the city, but which is heavily mortgaged.
Frank W. Gregory, manager and editor of The Evening Democrat of Memphis, Tenn., has been indicted by the federal grand jury for violating the lottery law. After the last drawing of the Louisiana lottery The Democrat's New Orleans correspondent wired that paper the winning numbers held by the Memphis people. A proof sheet was submitted to Postmaster Patterson, who wired the attorney general at Washington. His decision was that its publication would criminate the publisher. The Democrat published not only its experience with the postoffice department, but also the objectionable list. Hence the action of the grand jury.

A RAILROAD COLLAPSE.

THE THREE "C's" ROAD PLACED IN THE HANDS OF A RECEIVER.

A Knoxville, Tenn., special of Tuesday says: The three "C's" railroad is in the hands of a receiver. Judge Smith, the bondsman, has appointed Samuel Tate, of Memphis, receiver. He is a member of the firm of McDonald, Shea & Co. The road is one which passes through Johnson City, and surveyed to go to Minneapolis, Va. There are about thirty miles of the track, laid in Tennessee from North Carolina north. It is said the company owes about $800,000 to the contractors and engineers. The Massachusetts and Southern Construction Company, which is building the road, goes into the hands of a receiver also. It is said the road owes McDonald, Shea & Co., early $200,000. Mr. Tate will take possession at once.
PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.
ITS ANNUAL SESSION—SOME OF THE REFORMS ADVOCATED.
The State Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry began its annual session at Madison, Wis., Wednesday. Grand Master Carr, in his address, advocated the election of United States senators by the people; prohibiting stock gambling; passage of the Conger land and Paddock pure food bills, and government control of telegraph and express companies. He contended that a combination or trust had been formed by manufacturers on binding twine to raise the price on that article beyond the reach of poor men to purchase in 1891. Could our legislature do a wiser thing than pattern after Minnesota, and establish a twine plant in our own state prison? The state would be no loser, as it would be getting the same for convict labor as it does now.
A FARMER SENATOR.
IS WHAT THE CONFEDERATION OF ILLINOIS WANTS.
The representatives of the confederation of farmers and laborers' organizations of Illinois, including the State range, Patrons of Husbandry, Farmers' Mutual Beneficial, Farmers' Alliance and the Knights of Labor, held a secret conference at Springfield, Wednesday. It understood that the only question under consideration was covering the election for United States senator. The following resolution was adopted:
Resolved, That we have full confidence that those elected through our combined influence, work and votes, will stand firmly by us and make a united effort for our grand success by electing a practical farmer for our United States senator for this great state.
IT IS IRBY.
SOUTH CAROLINA'S NEW SENATOR—A VICTORY FOR THE FARMERS.
After a long and exciting contest over the senatorship, the South Carolina legislature, on Thursday, elected Hon. L. M. Irby, speaker of the house, to that important and responsible position. This means a victory for the farmers. The result was reached amid intense excitement. Up until the last moment the more sanguine friends of Hampton anticipated a break in favor of the old chief, but the breaking never came. The vote stood:
Irby.....105
Hampton.....42
Donaldson.....10
Mr. Irby will, in all likelihood, be the youngest member of the United States senate.

NEWS OF THE SOUTH.

BRIEF NOTES OF AN INTERESTING NATURE.

FIFTY ITEMS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTHERN STATES THAT WILL INTEREST THE READER—ACCIDENTS, FIRES, FLOODS, ETC.
R. H. Walker & Co., tobaccoists at Clarksville, Tenn., made an assignment Thursday.
The corner-stone of the Grady Hospital at Atlanta, will be laid with imposing ceremonies on Christmas day.
The annual meeting of the Lumbermen's Association has been changed to the third Wednesday in February, at Memphis, Tenn.
There is an impression at Raleigh, N. C., that Colonel L. L. Polk, of the Progressive Farmer, will be chosen public printer if he concludes to accept.
There will be an earnest effort made at the coming session of the North Carolina legislature to have a house of reformation established in connection with the state penitentiary.
A trust has been formed by all the leading lumber men of Georgia to control the world's supply of long-leaf yellow pine. It is an immense combination, involving millions of dollars.
Hon. Patrick Warfield, on Tuesday, declined the appointment as one of the Warm Springs Indian commissioners. The position was tendered him a few weeks ago by President Harrison, without his seeking it.
Judges Maw and Baker, in New Orleans, on Tuesday, sustained a motion to quash the indictment against the Hennessy assassins, because of the presence of a stenographer in the grand jury room. The prisoners were remanded to the sheriff.
Dan Williams, an old negro living eight miles from Quincy, Ill., was lynch by negroes Thursday night. The houses and outbuildings of several negroes have recently been burned, and it is thought he was the guilty party.
A Raleigh, N. C., dispatch says: The new executive mansion is now about completed, and is ready for the reception of the governor early in January. It is expected that the old-time custom of "receptions" will be revived.
W. H. Persons was put on trial at Memphis, Tuesday, charged with the murder of his wife in September. The parties are prominent. The killing was most brutal. The case creates intense excitement, and the city is greatly wrought up over the affair.
A Norfolk, Va., dispatch says: R. R. Taylor, a prominent lumber inspector, was assaulted Thursday evening and his throat cut. He will probably die. The cause of the affair is a mystery yet, but the parties are known to the police and will be arrested.
The employees of the United States Rolling Stock Company at Annapolis, Ala., with a few exceptions, quit work Thursday evening on account of not receiving their back pay. A large meeting, composed of citizens and employees, was held during the evening to secure an adjustment of the trouble, but nothing was decided on.
A Columbia, S. C., dispatch says: A warrant was sworn out Thursday by N. G. Gonzales against Y. J. Pope, attorney general of South Carolina, charging him with a misdemeanor and violation of the laws of the state. His offense is discharging an employe of the state for political reasons. The case against him is very plain. The punishment is fine and imprisonment.
A Jackson, Miss., dispatch of Tuesday says: Marshal Mosely, with two trusted assistants, and accompanied by Detective Jackson, the sleuth hound who ran the Burrows gang to earth, left last night with Rube Smith, the only living one of the outlaws, for Columbus, O., where Rube was sent by Judge Hill for life. Governor Stone willingly delivered him over to the government.
The local board of insurance underwriters of Athens, Ga., held a meeting Thursday. The prevailing opinion was that the passage of the Whitefield bill before the legislature would work harmfully to their companies and policy holders alike, and for this reason a committee was appointed to write Clarke's representative, and ask that he use his influence in defeat of the bill.
REMARKABLE DIVIDEND.
ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY PER CENT. IN ONE YEAR.
The board of directors of the American Live Stock Commission Company of Chicago, after lengthy executive session Tuesday night, voted to declare a dividend of 150 per cent. to the shareholders of the company, payable Saturday next. Other business, it was declared, had been transacted except to vote this remarkable dividend.

TEXAS GETTING READY.

FOR A MAMMOTH DISPLAY OF HER RESOURCES AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

A Houston, Texas, dispatch says: When the world's fair convention was called to order Wednesday morning, there were 1,070 delegates present, representing every state and territory of the Panhandle to the Gulf. In the assembly were recognized the mayors of all the leading cities of the state, every business interest had its exponent. The temporary organization was made permanent, and then the at work began. Resolutions of every sort, kind and description were introduced, among which the most important was that the Texas legislature be memorialized to appropriate $1,000,000 for the purpose of having the vast industries of Texas represented. The demand is that Texas have a separate building, and that the exhibit from the Lone Star state be made the grandest of all. The iron men, the lumber men, the cotton men and the sugar men will all contribute liberally, and when the exhibit is made Texas will be foremost in the galaxy of states.

PARNELL DEFIANT.

AN ATTEMPT TO RETIRE HIM FROM LEADERSHIP OF THE IRISH PARTY.

A London dispatch of Saturday says: At a meeting of the Irish members of the house of commons, Barry, Sexton and Healy made a determined attempt to bring about a final settlement of the question. They insisted that there be an immediate division of the members on the main question before the meeting, namely: Retirement of Parnell from the leadership of the party. Finally Sexton gave Parnell his ultimatum to the effect that if a decision on this question was delayed by Chairman Parnell, a majority of the representatives of the party would hold a meeting of their own and depose him from the office. A scene of great excitement followed this announcement. Mr. Abraham moved that Mr. Parnell vacate the chairmanship of the party. Mr. Parnell refused to allow the motion to be put, whereupon Mr. McCarthy, followed by forty-four other members, left the room.

INSURANCE MEN.

OF NORTH AND SOUTH CAROLINA MEET AND CONFER.

The general life insurance agents of North and South Carolina held a meeting at Charlotte, Friday, and organized the "Life Insurance Association of the Carolinas." The following officers were elected: J. D. Church, of Charlotte, president; W. J. Roddy, of South Carolina, and John C. Drowery, of North Carolina, vice presidents; S. L. Adams, of Durham, secretary and treasurer. A big convention was appointed to be held at Charlotte the third Tuesday in January.

ADVERTISE WITH US. IT WILL PAY.

Our famous stock of Fall Goods masters of others as to low prices, quality and selection! We are second to none in the South. Our stock is bought cheaper than others from the simple reason that we pay spot cash for our stock as we buy it. Manufacturers very often need the cash, therefore we buy a great part of our stock somewhat less than manufacturers' prices. Our stock is a great deal, by 200 per cent., more numerous than others. We buy and sell larger quantities than others. Our styles are exclusive and we control several exclusive lines of popular goods, which the public will buy because they want the best and cheapest.

CHILTON COUNTY
The geographical center of Alabama. The Louisville and Nashville, the E. T. V. & G. and the Montgomery, Tuscaloosa and Memphis-Railroads pass through the County, and the Coosa river is the boundary line on the east. The chief industries are farming and saw milling. Population 15,000.
Clanton, the county seat, is on the L. & N. R. R., 55 miles south of Birmingham and 40 north of Montgomery. Several large saw mills are located in the vicinity of the town.

SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

THE LAW-MAKERS OF UNCLE SAM'S DOMAIN. A DAY AT WORK—ROUTINE OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE—EACH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS BRIEFLY TOLD.

About thirty public building bills passed the house Tuesday afternoon. They appropriate a total of $4,600,000. Among them were the bills for buildings at St. Louis and House, Ga.

In the house on Wednesday, on motion of Mr. Henderson, of Illinois, J. W. Hallaway was elected postmaster of the house. Mr. McKinley, of Ohio, stated that he had been directed by the committee on ways and means to report the resolution for the distribution of the president's annual message, and, upon his motion, the house resolved itself into a committee of the whole for its consideration, but it was referred. The house then went into a committee of the whole on bills reported from the committee on Indian affairs. Only one bill was passed for the relief of the mission Indians in California, when the house adjourned.

TELEGRAPH AND CABLE.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE BUSY WORLD.

A SUMMARY OF OUTSIDE AFFAIRS CONDENSED FROM NEWSPAPERS, DISPATCHES FROM UNCLE SAM'S DOMAIN AND WHAT THE CABLE BRINGS.

The failure of Colburn, Chauncey & Co., was announced on the New York stock exchange Tuesday.

Whittem, Burdett & Young, clothing, Boston, made an assignment Tuesday. The firm is rated by Bradstreet at $504,000.

The anti-lottery law has seriously affected the present glass inasmuch as it prohibited the giving away of china by baking powder and tea houses.

Dispatches of Thursday say: Colonel Corbin, of General Miles' staff, says the tenor of dispatches from the Indian country leads him to believe the bottom is dropping out of the threatened uprising.

A cablegram of Wednesday, from Manchester, England, says: The Guardian's commercial article says that the financial stringency in the United States and the recent failure in the India trade have had a building effect upon the market.

The entire force of Clark's thread mills in Newark and Kearny, New Jersey, went on a strike Wednesday morning. Over 3,000 men and girls are out. The strikers who decided to remain until discharged were reinstated.

Mayor Creiger, of Chicago, on Tuesday signed the ordinance giving $5,000 to the World's Columbian exposition, and it will at once be placed in the hands of President Harrison, who can then issue his proclamation to the world.

The loan committee of the clearing house at New York, on Tuesday, issued $187,000 additional, making the total to date $1,415,000. The Farmers' Loan and Trust Company has circulars stating that on January 1st it will discontinue the practice of having its checks passed through the clearing house.

A special Tuesday from Erie, Pa., says: The failure of the company of the Mendville, has reached Erie through the business relations of the senior Delamater. State Treasurer Boyer has entered judgment against Noble, Rowles & Co., owners of extensive coal and ore docks, valued at $75,000. The company of the firm is George B. Delamater, who has other interests in Erie.

Wednesday morning fire broke out in the linsed oil works of Kittie & Co., San Francisco, caused by a vat of oil boiling over. The flames could not be checked and the entire establishment, with all its contents, was destroyed. The loss will probably reach $200,000. Insurance at Springfield, Wednesday, 11th, was burned out several months ago and had recently been rebuilt.

The total population of the country, including Indians, etc., will reach 69,000,000. Already the census office has actually returned, in round numbers, 31,000,000 whites and Indians in Indian territory. These with the population of Alaska, which Special Agent Pease estimates at 38,000, will bring up the total population of the country to 69,000,000, a numerical gain of 18,000,000 for the decade.

Three persons were instantly killed at the state university station, of the Great Northern road in Minneapolis, Wednesday morning. They were in the act of boarding a Great Northern train. The victims were Ed. Todd and wife of Sioux City, Ia., and their daughter, Mrs. Slayton. Mrs. Slayton was the wife of the master mechanic of the Kansas City road, and lived in Minneapolis.

N. L. Avery and Raphael Simms, conducting a business under the firm name of N. L. Avery & Co., at Osceola, Ark.; Avery & Simms, at Bytherville, Ark.; and N. L. Avery, at Frenchman's Bayou, Ark., made an assignment Wednesday afternoon at Osceola, Ark. They were the principal merchants of that town. Liabilities $60,000, due principally to Memphis and St. Louis creditors. Assets nominally $30,000. The failure is attributed to poor crops and inability to make collections.

There is considerable excitement in Raleigh, N. C., over the shortage of C. D. Upchurch, the late Republican probate judge of that county, in the guardian fund. Postmaster A. W. Shaffer, who is one of Upchurch's bondsmen, said he expected to pay $15,000, the full amount of the bond. He has taken possession of Upchurch's residence, which is one of the handsomest in the city, but which is heavily mortgaged.

Frank W. Gregory, manager and editor of The Evening Democrat, of Memphis, Tenn., has been indicted by the federal grand jury for violating the lottery law. After the last drawing of the Louisiana lottery The Democrat's New Orleans correspondent wired that paper the winning numbers held by the Memphis people. A proof sheet was submitted to Postmaster Patterson, who wired the attorney general at Washington. His decision was that its publication would criminate the publishers. The Democrat published not only its experience with the postoffice department, but also the objectionable list. Hence the action of the grand jury.

TRADE REVIEW.

DUN & COMPANY'S REPORT FOR THE PAST WEEK.

The weekly circular of R. G. Dun & Co., issued Friday, says: The stringency in commercial loans, noticed last week as the chief cause of the present disturbance, is now almost the only remaining cause. The influence of European troubles has passed. Foreign commerce is heavily in favor of the country. While imports at New York for November exceed last year's, which were usually light, by 12 per cent, the increase in exports here has been 84 per cent, though last year's were remarkably heavy, so that the excess of exports for the month is probably over $30,000,000. In domestic affairs there has been a distinct improvement in the disposition of banks and money lenders to give necessary support to legitimate business, curtailing speculative advances as far as possible. The volume of trade is still surprisingly heavy.

Reports from other lines show that the cheapness of cotton at the south and the delay of winter weather at the north have somewhat reduced transactions and caused more tardiness in collections than heretofore, but colder weather and the approach of the holiday season already point to a favorable effect at many points.

Business failures of the week number 283, against 271 for the corresponding week last year.

TEXAS GETTING READY.

FOR A MONUMENT TO DISPLAY HER RECORDS AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

A Houston, Texas, dispatch says: When the world's fair convention was called to order Wednesday morning, there were 1,000 delegates present, representing every section of this great state from the Panhandle to the Gulf. In the assemblage were recognized the mayors of all the leading cities of the state, every business interest had its exponent. The temporary organization was made permanent, and then the real work began. ### NEWS OF THE SOUTH.

BRIEF NOTES OF AN INTERESTING NATURE.

FIFTY ITEMS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTHERN STATES THAT WILL INTEREST THE READER—ACCIDENTS, FIRES, FLOODS, ETC.

R. H. Walker & Co., tobaccoists at Clarksville, Tenn., made an assignment Thursday.

The corner-stone of the Grady Hospital at Atlanta, will be laid with imposing ceremonies on Christmas day.

The annual meeting of the Lumbermen's Association has been changed to the third Wednesday in February, at Memphis, Tenn.

There is an impression at Raleigh, N. C., that Colonel L. L. Polk, of the Progressives Farmer, will be chosen public printer if he concludes to accept.

There will be an earnest effort made at the coming session of the North Carolina legislature to have the office of reform established in connection with the state penitentiary.

A trust has been formed by all the leading lumber men of Georgia to control the world's supply of long-leaf yellow pine. It is an immense combination, including millions of dollars.

Hon. Patrick Walsh, on Tuesday, declined the appointment as one of the Warm Spring Indian commissioners. The position was tendered him a few weeks ago by President Harrison, without his seeking it.

Judges Maw and Baker, in New Orleans, La., Tuesday, refused a motion to quash the indictment against the Henney assassins, because of the presence of a stenographer in the grand jury room. The prisoners were remanded to the sheriff.

Dan Williams, an old negro living eight miles from Quincy, Fla., was lynched by negroes Thursday night. The houses and outbuildings of several negroes have recently been burned, and it is thought he was the guilty party.

A Raleigh, N. C., dispatch says: The new executive mansion is now about completed. It will be ready for the reception of the governor early in January. It is expected that the old-time custom of "receptions" will be revived.

W. H. Persons was put on trial at Memphis, Tuesday, charged with the murder of his wife in September. The parties are prominent, and the killing was most brutal. The case creates intense excitement, and the city is greatly wrought up over the affair.

A Norfolk, Va., dispatch says: R. R. Taylor, a prominent lumber inspector, was assaulted Thursday evening and his throat cut. He will probably die. The cause of the affair is a mystery, yet, but the parties are known to the police and will be arrested.

The employees of the United States Rolling Stock Company at Ansonia, Ala., with a few exceptions, quit work Thursday evening on account of not receiving their back pay. A large meeting, composed of citizens and employees, was held during the evening to secure an adjustment of the trouble, but nothing was decided on.

A Columbia, S. C., dispatch says: A warrant was sworn out Thursday by N. G. Gozales against J. J. Pope, attorney general of South Carolina, charging him with a misdemeanor and violation of the laws of the state. His offense is discharging an employee of the state for political reasons. The case against him is very plain. The punishment is fine and imprisonment.

A Jackson, Miss., dispatch of Tuesday says: Marshal Moseley, with two trusted assistants, and accompanied by Detective Jackson, the sleuth hound who ran the Burrows gang to earth, left last night with Rube Smith, the only living one of the outlaws, for Columbia, O., where Rube was sent by Judge Hill for life. Governor Stone willingly delivered him over to the government.

The prevailing opinion was that the passage of the Whitefield bill before the legislature would work harmfully to their companies and policy holders alike, and for this reason a committee was appointed to write Clarke's representative, and ask that he use his influence in defeat of the bill.

A RAILROAD COLLAPSE.

THE THREE "C'S" ROAD PLACED IN THE HANDS OF A RECEIVER.

A Knoxville, Tenn., special of Tuesday says: The three "C's" railroad is in the hands of a receiver. Judge Smith, at Johnsonsboro, has appointed Samuel Tate of Memphis, receiver. He is a member of the firm of McDonald, Shea & Co. The road is one which passes through Johnson City, and surveyed to go to Minneapolis, Va. There are about thirty miles of the track laid in Tennessee from North Carolina north. It is said the company owes about $900,000 to the contractors and engineers. The Massachusetts and Southern Construction Company, which is building the road, came into the hands of a receiver also. It is said the road owes McDonald, Shea & Co., nearly $500,000. Mr. Tate will take possession at once.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.

ITS ANNUAL SESSION—SOME OF THE REFORMS ADVOCATED.

The State Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry, began its annual session at Madison, Wis., Wednesday. Grand Master Carr, in his address, advocated the election of United States senators by the people; prohibiting stock gambling; passage of the Conger land and Paddock poor food bills; and government control of telegraph and express companies. He contended that a combination or trust had been formed by manufacturers on binding twine to raise the price on that article beyond the reach of poor men to purchase in 1891. Could our legislature do a wiser thing than pattern after Minnesota, and establish a twine plant in our own state prison? The state would be no loser, as it would be getting the same for convict labor as it does now.

A FARMER SENATOR.

IS WHAT THE CONFEDERATION OF ILLINOIS WANTS.

The representatives of the confederation of farmers and laborers' organizations of Illinois, including the State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, Farmers' Mutual Beneficial, Farmers' Alliance and the Knights of Labor, held a secret conference at Springfield, Wednesday. It understood that the only question under consideration was covering the election for United States senator. The following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That we have full confidence in the ability and integrity of our combined influence, work and votes, will stand firmly by us and make a united effort for our grand success by electing a practical farmer for our United States senator for this great state.

IT IS IRBY.

SOUTH CAROLINA'S NEW SENATOR—A VICTORY FOR THE FARMERS.

After a long and exciting contest over the senatorship, the South Carolina legislature, on Thursday, elected Hon. L. M. Irby, speaker of the house, to that important and responsible position. This means a victory for the farmers. The result was reached amid intense excitement. Up until the last moment the more sanguine friends of Hampton anticipated a break in favor of the old champion, but the breaking never came. The vote stood:

Irby.....105
Hampton.....42
Donaldson.....10

Mr. Irby will, in all likelihood, be the youngest member of the United States senate.

AN ARKANSAS TRAGEDY.

FIVE PERSONS KILLED AND THE MURDERER SOICIDES.

A special of Thursday from Fort Smith, Ark., says: Charles Joplin shot and killed five persons today at Joplin last night, twelve miles from here, and then committed suicide by shooting himself. Those killed were John Miller, his wife, his grown daughter, Louella, Dr. Stewart, a prominent physician, and a man whose name is unknown. The shooting occurred late in the day and details are meager.

Chilton in the Legislature.

The question of a committee to sit during recess which has been voted on several times came up again Tuesday. The senate passed a joint resolution to raise a joint committee to consider necessary amendments to the constitution, suggested by Gov. Jones' inaugural and provided that the committee should be authorized to sit during recess. When the resolution was reported to the house and on motion by Mr. Northington the provision allowing the committee to sit during recess, was stricken out. The senate sent into the house a message notifying that body that the senate refused to concur in the house amendment. When this message was read to the house Mr. Sayre offered a motion that the house recede from its amendment.

Mr. Northington offered as a substitute a motion that the house insist on its amendment. The ayes and nays were called on the substitute and it was adopted, ayes 58, nays 13, and the house refused to concur in the committee sitting during recess.

After this vote Mr. Adams took the floor and asked the speaker and the house to excuse him from service on the joint committee. He stated that when the proposition first came up in the house to allow the committee to sit during recess, he opposed it because he did not believe it right, but since that time he had talked over the matter with gentlemen well informed, and he had become convinced that should this matter be considered hurriedly, a constitutional convention might be ordered and the state put to much greater expense than that to be incurred by the sitting of this committee during recess. As a general rule his experience had been that very little good ever resulted from the sitting of committees during recess, but for the reasons assigned he now believed that the present was an exceptional case, and as the house had applied a gag to the usefulness of the labor of that committee he did not desire to serve on the committee. He felt that he had been unjustly arraigned on the floor of the house yesterday because of his change of opinion on this subject. He repudiated the implied charge that his change of opinion was influenced by the fact that he had been placed on the committee, and in conclusion asked the house to excuse him from serving on the committee.

Mr. Northington said that he was the author of the amendment to the resolution and that he did not like to hear the term "gag law" applied to it, that he was free from any intention to apply the gag law to any measure. Messrs. Northington, Brewer and Davis, of Fayette, were appointed on the committee.

Briggs-Smith

Married, at the M. E. Church Prattville, Ala., on the 16th inst., Rev. A. J. Briggs, of Clanton, and Miss Maggie Lee Smith, of Prattville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Briggs, of Florence, a brother of the groom. After the ceremony the happy pair went to Eufaula to make a brief stay with relatives, from which place they will go to Florence to spend the happy Christmas holidays, and return to Clanton about the first of January.

Verbena Verbinge.

There are some changes going on W. A. Goodson, of Coopers Station, has rented the house and lands of Mrs. M. D. Logan and will move to this place. Mr. Horton, of Birmingham, has rented a residence here.

Mr. John Moody and Mr. Henry Bostwick have been quite sick, but are now much better and considered out of danger.

The Baptist Church has called another minister for the ensuing year.

Stanton Notes.

Last Tuesday was a sad day at Clanton, for Mr. Stockwell's 3 year old daughter while playing near the hearth had her clothes catch on fire. The child's mother was in an adjoining room and hearing her screams was quick to find the little thing all a blaze. She caught the child in her arms and laid her down and poured the contents on her, but it was too late the child was so badly burned, it died in a few hours.

Mr. Thomas Deason died near Clanton of typhoid fever last week.

Friday was a busy day with the Alliance folks 16 wagons teams were to be seen at the depot with cotton.

News was received here from Maplesville that Mr. Barden while testing the accuracy of his new Winchester rifle at a tree, missed his mark and killed a $125 horse belonging to Mr. Broadhead.

Dr. Edmonson and Mr. Matheson of Birmingham were in Stanton this week in the interest of the National Loan and trust association.

Rev. J. G. Sendee filled his regular appointment in the Presbyterian Church here last Sunday.

Providence Points.

Mr. E. Esterling, a long resident of this county passed away last Saturday. He was noted from his boyhood as robust, hearty and thriving. But when that fatal disease, consumption seized him he recognized that his manhood must leave.

He was long noted as a strictly honest man, responsible for his word upright in his dealings. Mr. Esterling served numbers of years as township superintendent, giving entire satisfaction. Having ascertained the fact that he must go, he had all his business settled satisfactorily paying all debts and claims held against him.

After clearing his record and conscience, he passed away leaving many friends to mourn his loss. He also leaves a wife and six children to feel the sympathy of his people. Mr. Esterling's life was a model one which his children would do well to emulate.

Our famous stock of Fall Goods masters of others as to low prices, quality and selection! We are second to none in the South. Our stock is bought cheaply than others from the simple reason that we pay spot cash for our stock as we buy it. Manufacturers very often need the cash, therefore we buy a great part of our stock somewhat less than manufacturers' prices. Our stock is a good deal, by 500 per cent, more numerous than others. We buy and sell larger quantities than others. Our styles are exclusive and we control several exclusive lines of popular goods, which the public will buy because they want the best and cheapest.

WE ARE MASTERS OF THE SITUATION!

WASHINGTON NEWS.

SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

THE LAW-MARKERS OF UNCLE SAM'S DOMAIN GOIN' AT WORK—REVIEW OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE—EACH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS TENSELY TOLD.

About thirty public building bills passed the house Tuesday afternoon. They appropriated a total of $4,000,000. Among them were the bills for buildings at Savannah and Rome, Ga.

In the house, on Wednesday, on motion of Mr. Henderson, of Illinois, J. W. Ballinger was elected postmaster of the house. Mr. McKinley, of Ohio, stated that he had been elected by the committee on ways and means to report the resolution for the distribution of the president's annual message, and, upon his motion, after an election held into a committee of the whole for its consideration, but it was referred. The house then went into a committee of the whole on bills reported from the committee on Indian affairs. Only one bill was passed for the relief of the Indians in California, when the house adjourned.

The house, on Thursday, went into committee of the whole (Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, in the chair) on the fortification appropriation bill. The bill was read and agreed to without discussion. The committee having risen, the bill was passed, together with the bill appropriating $10,000 to meet the deficiency in the appropriation for public printing and bookbinding. In the morning, the committee on judiciary called up, and the house passed the bill, amending section 5515 of the revised statutes. An amendment provides a penalty for any person having the custody of ballots and returns, after an election, to sell or loan, or to allow any candidate for representative to use the name of any candidate for representative in any way.

The committee on the land, with the intent to effect such election. Consideration of the bill to indemnify purchasers of swamp lands, and to reimburse the several states for lands due them under the swamp lands act, occupied the greater part of the afternoon, but failed to pass without action. Mr. Holman, who was its principal opponent, having raised a point of no quorum, and the house adjourned.

In the senate Tuesday morning Senator Plumb, of Kansas, who has all along been opposed to a radical election bill, and who wants to relieve the present emergency financial situation, introduced a bill in the senate for the retirement of United States notes. This bill looks like the silver senators have decided to pull with the democrats to shelve the free bill and pass a free coinage bill at once. Senator Berry, of Arkansas, and Senator Daniel, of Virginia, spoke against the free bill. So far no reply has been heard from Mr. Plumb. He gave notice of a motion to set aside the bill to the evening until the debate on the bill was closed. After executive session, the senate adjourned.

In the senate, on Wednesday, Mr. Plumb offered a resolution for the meeting of the senate daily at 10 o'clock a.m., with a recess from 5:30 till 1 o'clock p.m. The resolution was passed.

Mr. Plumb also offered a resolution to authorize the payment of the anti-slavery rebate on tobacco, to correct the omission in the tariff bill, was taken up. After some discussion the bill was passed. The senate then, at 1:15 o'clock, resumed the consideration of the election bill. Mr. George, of Mississippi, took the floor and read the bill. He occupied just four minutes in the delivery of his speech. The bill was then taken by Mr. Wilson, of Iowa. Mr. Hoke, referring to the notice which he had given Tuesday of a motion to set aside the bill to continue the debate, said he would not make that motion.

Mr. Plumb offered a resolution, which he would not make that motion. Mr. Plumb offered a resolution, which he would not make that motion.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE NOTES.

NEWS OF THE ORDER AND ITS MEMBERS.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE VARIOUS SECTIONS FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE GREAT ORGANIZATION.—ECHOES FROM THE FARMER PRESS.

The Alliance men of Texas are pushing their plan in the matter of a new cotton bagging factory. It has been located at Marble Falls.

An Alliance co-operative store is to be opened at Omaha, Neb., as soon as $15,000, the needed capital stock, is fully subscribed. One-third of the amount is already in hand.

The Alliance men of Kansas are pushing their plan in the matter of a new cotton bagging factory. It has been located at Marble Falls.

The Alliance men of Virginia, and North Carolina who grow peanuts have formed a protective union. Norfolk alone handled over a million dollars worth of peanuts last year. It is a profitable industry, and one worthy to be fostered.

Although the Colored Farmers' National Alliance has nearly or quite a million members, there is only one white man in the organization, and he is its general superintendent. His name is Rev. R. M. Humphrey, a Baptist minister of Houston, Texas, and he has been quite successful in his efforts to build up the organization.

Out in Kansas and Missouri there is a movement on foot to establish a large stock yard at Kansas City, Mo., to be owned and managed by Alliance men. It is claimed that if the Alliance finds profit in cotton and tobacco warehouses, cotton seed oil mills and guano factories, there ought to be profit in a stock yard for Alliance live stock breeders.

The Alliance tobacco growers of Kentucky and Tennessee have organized a Farmers' and Laborers' Union tobacco warehouse company, and located a warehouse at Clarksville, Tenn., a noted tobacco market. Recently they held a tobacco fair and tobacco press, and which steps were taken to prevent combinations against living prices for the tobacco crop.

The Alliance Sentinel (Lansing, Mich.) reports progress in that State. "Since the excitement attending the recent campaign has died away, there is a manifest enthusiasm for the Alliance. Reports are coming in from all quarters for new organizations, and the State Secretary is besieged with letters asking for information concerning this new and wonderful organization."

In Texas and some other states the Alliance is organizing district Alliances. These are composed of the Alliances in a congressional district and are organized in the same manner as county Alliances. This gives a five-fold combination—the local sub-Alliance, the County Alliance, the district Alliance, the National, each one growing in numbers and influence.

The Topeka, Kansas, News, considers this a critical period in the history of the Alliance, and offers this word of advice: "The Farmers' Alliance will do well to watch their leaders. There is great danger that they may get puffed up, arbitrary and foolish. It will be well for them to be modest and conservative. Don't be rash; don't make blunders. Beware of civil court suits."

Mr. F. A. Putnam writes to the Grange Home and New England Farmer, of Boston, Mass., that the active work of the Farmers' Political League, the tillers of the soil in that state have succeeded in electing to the legislature many earnest, practical and wide-awake farmers who, after the experience gained serving one or two terms in the house of representatives, will furnish good stock for first-class state senators.

It is a significant fact that the Baptist preachers are largely represented in the Farmers' Alliance. President L. L. Polk, of the National Alliance, is a Baptist preacher and so is President S. M. Adams of the Alabama State Alliance, and General Superintendent R. M. Humphrey, of the National Colored Alliance. Ex-President H. H. Jackson, of the Georgia State Alliance, is a Baptist preacher, and so is State Lecturer J. W. Jackson.

TELEGRAPH AND CABLE.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE BUSY WORLD.

A SUMMARY OF OUTSIDE AFFAIRS CONDENSED FROM NEWS DISPATCHES FROM UNCLE SAM'S DOMAIN AND WHAT THE CABLE BRINGS.

The failure of Colburn, Chauncey & Co., was announced on the New York stock exchange Tuesday.

Whitten, Burdett & Young, clothing, Boston, made an assignment Tuesday. The firm is rated by Bradstreet at $503,000.

The anti-lottery law has seriously affected the pressed glass trade, as it prohibited the giving away of china by baking powder and tea houses.

Dispatches of Thursday say: Colonel Corbin, of General Miles' staff, says the tenor of dispatches from the Indian country leads him to believe the bottom is dropping out of the threatened uprising.

A cablegram of Wednesday, from Manchester, England, says: The Guardian's commercial article says that the financial stringency in the United States and the recent failure in the India trade have had a subsidizing effect upon the market.

The entire force of Clark's three mills in Newark and Kearny, New Jersey, went on a strike Wednesday morning. Over 4,000 men and girls are out. The strikers who decided to remain until discharged were reinstated.

Mayor Creiger, of Chicago, on Tuesday signed the ordinance giving $5,000, to the World's Columbian exposition, and it will at once be placed in the hands of President Harrison, who can then issue his proclamation to the world.

The loan committee of the clearing house at New York, on Tuesday, issued $187,000 additional, making the total $4,419,000. The Farmers' Loan and Trust Company has circulars stating that on January 1st it will discontinue the practice of having its checks passed through the clearing house.

A special Tuesday from Erie, Pa., says: The failure of Delamater, of Newville, has reached Erie through the business relations of the senior Delamater. State Treasurer Boyer has entered judgment against Noble, Rowles & Co., owners of extensive coal and ore docks, valued at $75,000. The company of the firm is George B. Delamater, who has other interests in Erie.

Wednesday morning fire broke out in the lined oil works of Kittle & Co., San Francisco, caused by a vat of oil boiling over. The flames could not be checked and the entire establishment, with all its contents, was destroyed. The loss will probably reach $200,000. Insurance about $100,000. The same establishment was burned out several months ago and had recently been rebuilt.

The total population of the country, including Indians, etc., will reach 88,000,000. Already the census office has actually returned, in round numbers, 81,500,000 whites and Indians in Indian territory. These with the population of Alaska, which Special Agent Petroff estimates at 88,000, will bring up the total population of the country to 83,000,000, a numerical gain of 13,000,000 for the decade.

Three persons were instantly killed at the state university station, of the Great Northern road in Minneapolis, Wednesday morning. They were in the act of boarding a Great Northern train when they were run down by an Omaha train. The victims were Ed. Todd and wife of Sioux City, Ia., and their daughter, Mrs. Clayton. Mrs. Clayton was the wife of the master mechanic of the Kansas City road, and lived in Minneapolis.

N. L. Avery and Raphael Simms, conducting a business under the firm name of N. L. Avery & Co., at Osceola, Ark.; Avery & Simms, at Dyer, Tenn.; and N. L. Avery, at Frenchman's Bayou, Ark., make an assignment Wednesday afternoon at Osceola, Ark. They were the principal merchants of that town. Liabilities $60,000, due principally to Memphis and St. Louis creditors. Assets nominally $60,000. The failure is attributed to poor crops and inability to make collections.

There is considerable excitement in Raleigh, N. C., over the shortage of C. D. Upchurch, the late Republican probate judge of that county, in the guardian fund. Postmaster A. V. Shaffer, who is one of Upchurch's bondsmen, said he expected to pay $15,000, the full amount of the bond. He has taken possession of Upchurch's residence, which is one of the handsomest in the city, but which is heavily mortgaged.

Frank W. Gregory, manager and editor of The Evening Democrat, of Memphis, Tenn., has been indicted by the federal grand jury for violating the lottery law. After the last drawing of the Louisiana lottery The Democrat's New Orleans correspondent wired that paper the winning numbers held by the Memphis people. A proof sheet was submitted to Postmaster Patterson, who wired the attorney general at Washington. His decision was that its publication would criminate the publishers. The Democrat published not only its experience with the postoffice department, but also the objectionable list. Hence the action of the grand jury.

A Knoxville, Tenn., special of Tuesday says: The three "C's" railroad is in the hands of a receiver. Judge Smith, at Jonesboro, has appointed Samuel Tate, of Memphis, receiver. He is a member of the firm of McDonald, Shugart & Co. The road is one which passes through Johnson City, and surveyed to go to Minneapolis, Va. There are about thirty miles of the track laid in Tennessee from North Carolina north. It is said the company owns about $300,000 to the contractors and engineers. The Massachusetts and Southern Construction Company, which is building the road, goes into the hands of a receiver also. It is said the road was owned by McDonald, Shugart & Co., early $200,000. Mr. Tate will take possession at once.

ITS ANNUAL SESSION—SOME OF THE REFORMS ADVOCATED.

The State Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry began its annual session at Madison, Wis., Wednesday. Grand Master Carr, in his address, advocated the election of United States senators by the people; prohibiting stock gambling; passage of the Conger land and Paddock pure food bills, and government control of telegraph and express companies. He contended that a combination of trust had been formed by manufacturers on binding twine to raise the price on that article beyond the reach of poor men to purchase in 1891. Could our legislature do a wiser thing than pattern after Minnesota, and establish a twine plant in our own state prison? The state would be no loser, as it would be getting the same for convict labor as it does now.

A FARMER SENATOR

IS WHAT THE CONFEDERATION OF ILLINOIS WANTS.

The representatives of the confederation of farmers and laborers, organizations of Illinois, including the State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, Farmers' Mutual Beneficial, Farmers' Alliance and the Knights of Labor, held a secret conference at Springfield, Wednesday. It is understood that the only question under consideration was covering the election for United States senator. The following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That we have full confidence that those elected through our combined influence, work and votes, will stand firmly by us and make a united effort for our grand success by electing a practical farmer for our United States senator for this great state.

IT IS IRBY.

SOUTH CAROLINA'S NEW SENATOR—A VICTORY FOR THE FARMERS.

After a long and exciting contest over the senatorship, the South Carolina legislature, on Thursday, elected Hon. L. M. Irby, speaker of the house, to that important and responsible position. This means a victory for the farmers. The result was reached amid intense excitement. Up until the last moment the more sanguine friends of Hampton anticipated a break in favor of the old chief, but the breaking never came. The vote stood: Irby.....105 Hampton.....42 Donaldson.....10 Mr. Irby will, in all likelihood, be the youngest member of the United States senate.

AN ARKANSAS TRAGEDY.

FIVE PERSONS KILLED AND THE MURDERER SUICIDED.

A special of Thursday from Fort Smith, Ark., says: Charles Joplin shot and killed five persons today at Joplin lead mine, twelve miles from here, and then committed suicide by shooting himself. Those killed were John Miller, his wife, his grown daughter, Lenella, Dr. Stewart, a prominent physician, and a man whose name is unknown. The shooting occurred late in the day and details are meager.

NEWS OF THE SOUTH.

BRIEF NOTES OF AN INTERESTING NATURE.

FIFTY ITEMS FROM ALL POINTS IN THE SOUTHERN STATES THAT WILL INTEREST THE READER—ACCIDENTS, FIRES, FLOODS, ETC.

R. H. Walker & Co., tobaccoists at Clarksville, Tenn., made an assignment Thursday.

The corner-stone of the Grady Hospital at Atlanta, will be laid with imposing ceremonies on Christmas day.

The annual meeting of the Lumbermen's Association has been changed to the third Wednesday in February, at Memphis, Tenn.

There is an impression at Raleigh, N. C., that Colonel L. L. Polk, of the Progressive Farmer, will be chosen public printer if he concludes to accept.

There will be an earnest effort made at the coming session of the North Carolina legislature to have a house of reformation established in connection with the state penitentiary.

A trust has been formed by all the leading lumber men of Georgia to control the world's supply of long-leaf yellow pine. It is an immense combination, involving millions of dollars.

Hon. Patrick Walsh, on Tuesday, declined the appointment as one of the Warm Spring Indian commissioners. The position was tendered him a few weeks ago by President Harrison, without his seeking it.

Judges Maw and Baker, in New Orleans, on Tuesday, sustained a motion to quash the indictment against the Henney assassins, because of the pendency of a photograph in the grand jury room. The prisoners were remanded to the sheriff.

Dan Williams, an old negro living eight miles from Quincy, Fla., was lynched by a mob of whites. The houses and outbuildings of several negroes have recently been burned, and it is thought he was the guilty party.

A Raleigh, N. C., dispatch says: The new executive mansion is now about completed, and will be ready for reception of the governor early in January. It is expected that the old-time custom of "receptions" will be revived.

W. H. Persons was put on trial at Memphis, Tuesday, charged with the murder of his wife in September. The British are promising to send the killing was most brutal. The case creates intense excitement, and the city is greatly wrought up over the affair.

A Norfolk, Va., dispatch says: R. R. Taylor, a prominent lumber inspector, was assaulted Thursday evening and his throat cut. He will probably die. The cause of the affair is a mystery yet, but the parties are known, and the police will be arrested.

The employees of the United States Rolling Stock Company at Anniston, Ala., with a few exceptions, quit work Thursday evening on account of not receiving their back pay. A large meeting, composed of citizens and employees, was held during the evening to secure an adjustment of the trouble, but nothing was decided on.

A Columbia, S. C., dispatch says: A warrant was sworn on Thursday by R. G. Gonzalez against Y. J. Pope, attorney general of South Carolina, charging him with a misdemeanor and violation of the laws of the state. His offense is discharging an employee of the state for political reasons. The case against him is very plain. The punishment is fine and imprisonment.

A Jackson, Miss., dispatch of Tuesday says: Marshal Mosely, with two trusted assistants, and accompanied by Detective Jackson, the sleuth hound who ran the Burrows gang to earth, left last night with Rube Smith, the only living one of the outlaws, for Columbia, O., where Rube was sent by Judge Hill for life. Governor Stone willingly delivered him over to the government.

The local board of insurance underwriters of Athens, Ga., held a meeting Thursday. The prevailing opinion was that the passage of the Whitefield bill before the legislature would work harmfully to their companies and policy holders alike, and for this reason a committee was appointed to write the state representative, and ask that he use his influence in defeat of the bill.

REMARKABLE DIVIDEND.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY PER CENT. IN THE STOCKHOLDERS.

The board of directors of the American Live Stock Commission Company, of Chicago, after a lengthy executive session Tuesday night, voted to declare a dividend of 150 per cent. to the stockholders of the company, payable January 1st. No other business was declared, but was transacted except to vote on this remarkable dividend.

Chilton in the Legislature.

The question of a committee to sit during recess was brought up again Tuesday. The senate passed a joint resolution to raise a joint committee to consider necessary amendments to the constitution suggested by Gov. Jones' inaugural and provided that the committee should be authorized to sit during recess. When the resolution was reported to the house and on motion by Mr. Nottingham, the provision allowing the committee to sit during recess, was stricken out. The senate sent into the house a message notifying that body that the senate refused to concur in the house amendment. When this message was read to the house Mr. Sayre offered a motion that the house recede from its amendment.

Mr. Nottingham offered as a substitute a motion that the house insist on its amendment. The yeas and nays were called on the substitute and it was adopted, yeas 56, nays 13, and the house refused to concur in the committee sitting during recess.

After this vote Mr. Adams took the floor and asked the speaker and the house to excuse him from service on the joint committee. He stated that when the proposition first came up in the house to allow the committee to sit during recess, he opposed it because he did not believe it right, but since that time he had talked over the matter with gentlemen well informed and he had become convinced that should this matter be considered hurriedly, a constitutional convention might be ordered and the state put to much greater expense than that to be incurred by the sitting of this committee during recess. As a general rule his experience had been that very little good ever resulted from the sitting of committees during recess, but for the reasons assigned he now believed that the present was an exceptional case, and as the house had applied a gag to the usefulness of the labor of that committee he did not desire to serve on the committee. He felt that he had been unjustly arraigned on the floor of the house yesterday because of his change of opinion on this subject. He repudiated the implied charge that his change of opinion was influenced by the fact that he had been placed on the committee, and in conclusion asked the house to excuse him from serving on the committee.

Mr. Nottingham said that he was the author of the amendment to the resolution and that he did not like to hear the term "gag law" applied to it, that he was free from any intention to apply the gag law to any measure. Messrs. Nottingham, Brewer and Davis, of Fayette, were appointed on the committee.

Briggs-Smith

Married, at the M. E. Church, Prattville, Ala., on the 16th inst., Rev. A. J. Briggs, of Clanton, and Miss Maggie Lee Smith, of Prattville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Briggs, of Florence, a brother of the groom. After the ceremony the happy pair went to Eufaula to make a brief stay with relatives, from which place they will go to Florence to spend the happy Christmas holidays, and return to Clanton about the first of January.

Verbena Verbiage.

There are some changes going on at W. A. Gordon, of Coopers Station, has rented the house and lands of Mrs. M. D. Logan and will move to this place. Mr. Horton, of Birmingham, has rented a residence here.

Mr. John Moody and Mr. Henry Bostwick have been quite sick, but are now much better and considered out of danger.

The Baptist Church has called another minister for the ensuing year.

Stanton Notes.

Last Tuesday was a sad day at Clanton, for Mr. Stockwell's 3 year old daughter while playing near the hearth had her clothes caught on fire. The child's mother was in an adjoining room and hearing her screams was quick to come to the aid of the little thing. She caught the child in her arms and ran out in the yard to a large can and laid the little girl down and poured the contents on her, but it was too late the child was so badly burned, it died in a few hours.

Mr. Thomas Denson died near Clanton of typhoid fever last week. Friday was a busy day with the Alliance folks 16 wagons were to be seen at the depot with cotton.

News was received here from Maplesville that Mr. Barden while testing the accuracy of his new Winchester rifle at a tree, missed his mark and killed a $125 horse belonging to Mr. Broadhead.

Dr. Edmonson and Mr. Matheson of Birmingham were in Stanton this week in the interest of the National Loan and trust association.

Rev. J. C. Henderson filled his regular appointment in the Presbyterian Church here last Sunday.

Providence Points.

Mr. E. Esterling, a long resident of this county passed away last Saturday. He was noted from his boyhood as robust, hearty and thriving. But when that fatal disease, consumption seized him he recognized that his manhood must leave.

He was long noted as a strictly honest man, responsible for his word upright in his dealings. Mr. Esterling served a number of years as township superintendent, giving entire satisfaction.

Having ascertained the fact that he must go, he had all his business settled satisfactorily, paying all debts and claims held against him.

After clearing his record and conscience, he passed away leaving many friends to mourn his loss. He also leaves a wife and six children to feel the sympathy of his people. Mr. Esterling's life was a model one which his children would do well to emulate.

Married.

At the residence, of the bride's mother in Clanton, on the night of the 15th inst., Mr. Lucien Day of Selma, Ala., and Miss Lula Gul-lahorn, of Clanton. The bride is conceded the belle of the town, and has many other matchless qualities that go to make up the sum of feminine loveliness. The groom is an industrious and successful young railroad man of the Central City, well known here where he grew from boyhood to manhood. We wish the customary old shoe after them and wish them all manner of good luck and prosperity.

In our advertising columns will be seen the card of Messrs. Poin-dexter & Yelverton, furniture dealers of Montgomery. This is a new firm but the senior member is an old and well known citizen of the capital city. You can rest assured that you will be well treated in dealing with them.

LOCAL LAUNDRY.

Mr. H. Evans, of Bozeman, made us a pleasant call Monday.

The Christmas tree at the court house was a great success.

Miss Inez Collier spent the holidays with her parents in Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Rose, of Montgomery, spent Christmas in Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Holt, of Selma, visited their relatives in Clanton last week.

Mr. S. Holt, of Meridian, Miss., spent several days with relatives in Clanton recently.

Mrs. Dr. Stewart has been visiting relatives in South Pittsburg, Tenn.

We are glad to welcome Mr. J. R. Kemp and family as citizens of our town.

Lee Bivings came down from the Magic City to spend Xmas with his parents.

Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr., is building a new residence on his lot adjoining Mrs. Gullahorn.

There was a pleasant entertainment given the young folks at the Thornton House Christmas week.

Messrs. J. M. and Charles Bivings spent the holidays with their parents in Clanton.

The Clanton depot has been newly arranged and is now as neat as could be wanted.

Cadet Willie Adams, of the State University, visited relatives in Clanton during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Crosswell, of Montgomery, spent Xmas with Mrs. Crosswell's parents in Clanton.

Mr. A. J. Marlar spent Christmas with his family. He is attending the Memphis Medical College.

Chilton County Farmer's Alliance will meet at Weaver's Chapel three miles east of Planterville on the 7th of January.

Mr. B. H. Chesnut has qualified as postmaster and will enter upon the duties of his office as soon as his commission arrives.

Prof. S. J. Strook, of Harpersville, visited his parents at Verbena during Xmas. Thanks to him for a pleasant "reminder."

Messrs. Kirk and Charles Jackson, of Montgomery, spent Christmas with their sister, Mrs. W. H. Phillips, in Clanton.

Charles Brown came down to spend Christmas with his mother and sister. He is now engaged with the large washing machine works at Avondale, and is pleased with his new home.

The Clanton Baptist Church has called Rev. R. M. Hunter to fill the pulpit of the church here two Sundays during the month. It is understood that Mr. Hunter will accept the call.

Mrs. W. A. Collier and Mrs. Zella Givhan have returned from a visit to relatives in Montgomery county. They report Mrs. Collier's father, Mr. G. W. Haden, as improving, which his friends here will be glad to learn.

A meeting of the citizens of Clanton was recently held for the purpose of petitioning the Legislature to amend the incorporation law of the town so that a town government may be organized and the incorporation law be made effective.

It has been our custom to issue no paper Christmas week. We had desired to break into this custom and issue a regular edition last week, but Providence interfered by putting us upon a sick bed and so no paper appeared. We sent out to each subscriber a handsome calendar instead.

The great wholesale drug firm of Hains & Porter, of Birmingham, have built up a large trade in this section, and as every Christmas comes around they do not forget to send out to their friends and patrons a substantial remembrance with compliments of the season. The View makes its bow for being so remembered.

Little Olive, the baby daughter of Mrs. J. W. Gullahorn, met with a serious mishap the other day. While eating a coconut with a pair of scissors, the scissors slipped and the point stuck in one of her eyes. It was feared that she would lose the sight of the injured eye. She was carried to Birmingham for treatment and we learned Tuesday that her eye would probably be saved.

A destructive fire occurred at Verbena on the night of the 18th ult. The store of Mr. J. T. Mullins, occupied by Boykin & Williamson was destroyed with most of the stock of merchandise. There was no insurance on the store or stock. The residence of Mrs. M. P. Watt, of Montgomery, occupied by C. T. Zimmerman suffered total destruction but the loss was fully covered by insurance. The handsome residence of Dr. S. T. Williamson was also destroyed and was fully protected by insurance.

The business man who never advertises, saves a great many expenses. He saves clerk salaries, and needs but a small stock to supply his customers. This makes his insurance and taxes a very small expense. Only a small capital is required, and a very small building is sufficient for the proprietor, and then the money saved by not advertising will come so handy toward bearing the funeral expenses of a very dead business. — Indianapolis Ram's Horn.

The other day we did two jobs of printing for a good friend who did not want to send away from home to have the work done but wanted Birmingham or Montgomery prices. Our price was $2 for each job. He complained that it was too high and that he could get the two jobs done for $4. We of course took the work at that figure, being unable to see the difference between $4 and twice $2. It is always merely an imaginary difference in such cases and we saved him express charges. We have Birmingham, Montgomery, New York and Chicago price lists in our office, and ours being the same on ordinary printing, our patrons save freight charges by giving us the work.

Governor Jones, in his message, says that Alabama's "University and Agricultural and Mechanical College, with rapid strides, keep pace with the new demand for the education of youth, and leave no excuse for her sons going elsewhere." Her sons, oh! Governor! Yes! But what about her daughters? Tell us, oh! shepherd of the public fold, what will Alabama do for the sisters of those sons. They, too must live! They too, should have a chance in the home institution without going to Georgia or Mississippi. Now is your time Governor! The bill is before the Legislature. Will you put your shoulders to the wheel to push it through? — New Decatur Advertiser.

A Hale County Farmer.

The editor of the Uniontown Herald paid Mr. R. W. Drake, of Laneville, a visit a few days ago, and was charmed with his farm. He tells about it in the Herald of last week.

"Mr. R. W. Drake, of Laneville, has been a farmer all his life, and up to 1884 he lost money every year farming on the old method. In 1884 he concluded to adopt the intensive method, especially in raising cotton. He had no means to procure fertilizers, so concluded to try an experiment in improving the seed, and thereby secure a variety of cotton suited to ordinary, unimproved land. He secured the Peerless variety, and after the cotton matured he went over his field and selected the finest stalks, both as to size, fruit and early maturity, and planted only these seeds. The next year he again made a similar selection, and has kept it up every year since, until he now has cotton so much improved on the original variety, that he calls it the "Early Cluster." When he started to work the same land, with the same cultivation in 1887, he made 38 bales; in 1888, 46; in 1889, 53 bales; and this year he has already ginned and packed 35 bales, and nothing like half of his crop has been gathered. He carried us over his crop and we saw several acres that would make a bale and half to the acre. He showed us a six acre patch from which he picked six bales the first picking, and it is now as white as snow. On one side of a ditch, his neighbor had cotton that received as good, if not better cultivation, yet it would not make over a half bale to the acre, while he had already gathered a bale to the acre. Not only is he proving that cotton raising will pay, but Mr. Drake is succeeding in other departments of farming. He has a handsome drove of improved cattle and makes and sells from 50 to 100 pounds of butter a week besides raising poultry and vegetables of all kinds to sell. It is worth a trip out to his place to see his farm and to see that it is possible to make every acre of ordinary land, without fertilizers, yield a bale of cotton to the acre."

Baby Show.

We are requested to announce that there will be a baby-show at the residence of Mrs. Jno. Garner on the afternoon of Jan. 2, 1891. Hours from 2 until 5 o'clock. The public cordially invited.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became a Girl, she clung to Castoria.
When she married, she gave us Castoria.

On the Death of Henry Oden.

Dearest brother, thou hast left us,
Yes thy spirit took its flight
To the Father who bereft us
Just one year ago to-night.

Hard the trial was and bitter
Against thy soul did fight,
Now I feel to God I'm debtor
Since one year ago to-night.

Happy are we, darling brother,
Knowing thee an angel bright,
Sheddest from all worldly tangle
Since one year ago to-night.

God has not for us left us
All his plans are just and right,
Notwithstanding he bereft us
Just one year ago to-night.

Could we call thee back my brother,
From thy heavenly home so bright
Shouldst thou have greeted sister, mother
Since one year ago to-night.

Yet for thee we cease rejoicing
Knowing God is just and right,
For every child's a silver lining
Since one year ago to-night.

Yet my brother we will ever
Keep thee in our memory bright Ceased to miss thee we have never Since thy spirit took its flight.

Blue Creek, Ala. JANE ODEN.

UNDER THE HOLLY BOUGH.

Ye who have sinned each other,
Or injured friend or brother,
In this fast fading year,
Ye who, by word or deed,
Have made a kind heart bleed,
Come gather here.

Let sinners against sinning,
Forget their strife's beginning,
And join in friendship now;
Be links no longer broken,
Be sweet forgiveness spoken,
Under the holly bough.

Ye who have loved each other,
Sister and friend and brother,
In this fast fading year;
Mother and sire and child,
Young man and maiden mild,
Come gather here.

And let your hearts grow tender,
As memory shall ponder
Each past unbroken vow;
Old loves and younger wooing
Are sweet in the recalling
Under the holly bough.

Ye who have nourished sadness,
*Extracted from hope and gladness,
In this fast fading year;
Ye with overburdened mind
Made sad from your kind
Come gather here.

Let not the useless sorrow
Pursue your night and morn;
If e'er you hoped, hope now;
Take heart uncloud your faces,
And join in our embraces
Under the holly bough.

—Charles Mackay.

Romance of a Husking.

A CHRISTMAS STORY.

FARMER JENKINS'S husking bee the other night was the rollickingest, jolliest, merriest and gayest. In the first place, the farmer has the biggest barn and the prettiest daughter in the whole township, and, in the second place, his wife makes the sweetest doughnuts and the thickest pumpkin pies and the richest molasses cake of any one near here. And, in addition to all these attractions, a pretty little romance was brought to a charming finale in a most original and quaint manner just before the husking was done.

Janie Jenkins is a most bewitching bundle of wilful womanhood, with delicious, demure little ways that win your heart, but with a certain proud dignity that commands your respect. If ever she lifts her long, dusky lashes and reveals the wistful depths of her wonderful eyes, you feel like taking her in your arms as you would a baby that is sobbing; but if you so much as touch the tips of her fingers she flares a lot of scornful defiance from those same depths that would right about face a whole regiment of men. Even in her childhood's merry games of forfeits no daring rustic had ever presumed to claim his rightful kiss from Janie, for she didn't believe in kissing and nonsense and would have none of it, but she was a blithe, brave, bonny little maiden, who knew how to steer her own sled down the sparkling snow crust in winter and sail her own crazy skiff over the waves in summer, and thought no more of going out to the pasture to catch and mount the vixenish, perverse little mare she would persist in riding (though not a man on the place could handle her) than other girls think of picking a bouquet of roses for their corsage.

Every one felt a little bit of awe in Janie's presence, even the old biddies who knew she never would amount to anything because she would not learn to bake and brew; and the honest, country boy who admired her afar off, and, flushed with strange, eager joy, they couldn't understand when she smiled on them. But there was one person who wasn't afraid of Miss Janie, and that was Harrison Wilkins, whose mother's farm joined her father's, and who took her out in her little cart on the first journey she ever made in this world, when she was six weeks and he was six years old. It was Harrison who carried her little shiny dicker past to the school when she went to learn her A B C's; who taught her how to steer the sled and sail the boat; who buried her kitten when it died; who helped her break the spirit of the fractious mare, and showed her how to sit the saddle firmly and hold the bridle well down in her firm little hand. It was Harrison who took her where the first Mayflowers came in the springtime; who showed her where the first strawberries ripened in June, and who shook the first chestnuts down for her in October; who helped her with her sums in arithmetic and fought her battles, and who never feared her or heeded her pretty imperious ways at all. Perhaps it was the care that his father's death brought to him as a child that developed his strength and firmness and fearlessness; perhaps it was only the dignity of his great love for Janie that made him her master. The day they buried the kitten he told her not to cry, for she would be his little wife some day, and when she indignantly lifted her rown never, never to be anybody's wife, he only laughed and said: "That's all right, Janie, for now, but you'll change your mind some day."

Every one in Wilton thought Janie and Harrison were to be married—that is, every one but Janie—when there came upon the scene Adolphus Constock from a distant city, who was the son of her father's oldest friend. He came for the fishing and sketching, but he stayed for something else.

He knew women only through the conventional formal medium of society, and was such an exasperatingly cynical and indifferent creature that he plucked most women into displaying their frivolous and least attractive characteristics to him. He cared more for his pointers than for his sister's chattering friends; for a trout brook, his rod and flies than any moonlight excursion or picnic, with a galaxy of pretty girls who must be waltzed with and talked with. But Janie knew the favorite haunts of the speckled beauties herself, and could give him points on the fishing question besides. Harrison had taught her. She could pull her skiff steadily, and still to where there were schools of bass hid in the cool waters of the lake, and land the gamiest of them without a scream, and when she cleared a five-rail fence on the wicked little pony which he had seen her saddle and mount, his respect grew into wondering, piquant interest. He liked the proud reserve with which this little rural beauty met his advances, the pretty, scornful curl of the red lips at his finest compliments and the haughty pose of the small head as her eyes flashed charmingly negative to his proposals. He fancied what a wonder she would be once she learned her power; what a queenly beauty in the apparel which his wealth could give her; what a strong, tender woman once her spirit were broken and her heart melted.

FACED THEM LIKE A FRIGHTENED BIRD.

Harrison looked on grimly at all this wooing, ground his teeth sometimes as he role by with the handsome stranger, on the horse he taught her how to ride, but always sailed at last in cool contempt, and said to himself: "She will flirt with that city chap to the end of the chapter, but she will be my wife at last."

He told her so the day of the husking, when he was helping her fasten the oar festoons. Her face was temptingly near his as she raised it to lift to him some more of the greens, and they were just beneath the kissing wreath, too, but when he would have claimed his just and lawful dues she stopped him with a pretty protesting "pleases," and as she turned her flushed face away he could see with a sudden contraction, and the tips trembled frantically. They were all alone in a big fragrant place just for a minute, and when she suddenly and caught her with a nose of the green peas he was draping, and asked if she had forgotten that she was to be his wife some day, and when instead of the usual spirited protest, she only laughed and told him softly that when she was quite sure she was really she would give him the kiss she owed him, he freed her and went on with his hammering and whittling.

That had been a trying day for Janie. She had helped her mother with the baking and her father with the barn decoration. She had ridden twice into the village for some forgotten ingredient needed for the mysterious processes going on in the big, sweet pantry, and worse than all the rest, Adolphus Constock had proposed to her in the little parlor, where she sat polishing the scarlet apples for the supper. It was all so sudden, and everything was in such a flutter that she didn't know what she had told him, but was dimly conscious of turning away her face when he would have kissed her, and faltering out something about her giving him the kiss some time when she was sure she could be all to him that he asked her to be.

Janie was horribly afraid that night as she thought it all over, while she braided her long, glossy hair into a coronet for her graceful little head, that she had laid promise to marry two men, and the worst of it was she didn't quite know which one she did care most for. It was too bad of Harrison to say what he did when she had so much to do and no time to think it out at all, and after she had once proposed.

But already the people were coming, and there was no time to think then, so she flew into a dark blue gingham dress, with a broad collar turned back from her soft, white throat, and a knotted with scarlet ribbons, tied a red apron around her trim waist, and tripped lightly down the stairs and through the moonlight to the barn, where she met her guests with her merry, glad greeting, and there seated herself on a big corn shock, with her small, shapely hand outstretched against a wall of baldaquin or "castellies" of gold and enamel.

The gorgeous fabric was carried by the tallest of the king's guard, preceded by two huskies, one carrying a boar spear and the other a darning needle, and by two pages carrying mustard, which was indispensable as the boar's head itself.

ALABAMA NEWS NOTES

WOKED UP HERE AND THERE THROUGHOUT THE STATE.

The senate has confirmed the nomination of Cornelius Cadde, Jr., as postmaster, Bloctown.

Gov. Jones has appointed Wm Cunningham probate judge for Montgomery county, to succeed Judge Taylor, resigned.

The engineer in charge reports that the grading on the Chattanooga Southern railroad is practically complete. The line will be finished to Gadsden, by February, except as to a tunnel, which is over half done.

Governor Jones has granted an absolute pardon to Perry Morgan, who was convicted in Jefferson county of an assault to murder and sentenced to two years' imprisonment. The prisoner has been confined thirty-two years, and the pardon is issued because the judge, in the case and the solicitor prosecuting certify that there is some doubt as to his guilt.

About 150 coal miners struck at Fort Payne Sunday. All the coal mines except those who live in the company's houses went out. The miners have been paid by the day, but the company wanted to have the coal mined by the ton. Allowing what they say, this will give the miners good wages. The miners refused to work and come to the office of the company and were paid off. It looks somewhat as though the furnace would have to be banked if the mines shut down, as the supply of coke will be shut off.

Colored People's Protest.

It is learned from east-house employees, men of color, that a convention of prominent colored citizens of Alabama will be held in Montgomery in February to formulate plans for the guidance of their people in this state. The convention will probably endorse Governor Jones' position favoring a pro-railroad distribution of public money, and Mr. Lewis' bill for separate accommodation for the races on railroads, and will protest against the failure of the republican administration to properly recognize the colored people, and particularly the failure to appoint any colored person upon the World's fair commission.

Contesting the Will.

J. J. Perry, mayor of Greenville, this State, died suddenly about two years ago, leaving an estate valued at $90,000, and to his bookkeeper, J. M. Carroll, and to the children of his sister, Mrs. Hollenauer. Another sister, Mrs. Palmer, residing in Arkansas, began proceedings contesting the will. It alleges twenty charges of illegality, fraud and forgery. The trial in the United States circuit court lasted twelve days, during which time the attorneys for both sides presented six days in tearing the will and evidence to pieces. The decision was rendered last Saturday sustaining the will. The contestant's attorney took numerous exceptions during the progress of the trial, and the probate of the case will be appealed to the United States supreme court.

No Change.

Sunday's dispatches say: Practically no change in the situation of the coal fields. The operators seem to be as determined as ever not to yield to the demands of the men, and representatives of the latter say that there will be no trucking on their side. At the same time, the prospects for an early settlement of the trouble are not very bright. Many thousands of dollars a day are being kept out of circulation, and the influence on business is far-reaching. A large meeting of miners at Blue Creek Sunday, and reports from there are to the effect that the men appeared determined to remain firm. Nothing of a definite nature was agreed upon, and the meeting adjourned. Two days later a Blue Creek conference will be held by night.

SEABOARD AIR-LINE

WHICH IS TO BE BUILT FROM RICHMOND, VA., TO RICHMOND, VA.

A Raleigh dispatch of Thursday says: The Seaboard Air-Line will build a road from Richmond, Va., to Richmond, Va. It will be a direct line and will be a very important link in this great northern and southern system. Some years ago a road was projected from Richmond and Petersburg was nearly graded. This route will not be followed, but a new one will be surveyed, which is fourteen miles shorter. The Seaboard Air-Line will build a road from Richmond, Va., to Richmond, Va.
